THE OXFORD GROUP

By Homer Rorland

In beginning to write of what is known as the Oxford Group Movement, one is conscious of the host of articles and books that have been written by many experienced and clever men and women. These have been widely circulated and no doubt many readers of this article have read with interest and profit—Russel, Weatherhead, Kitchen and others. As a result, I am thrown back on what is the keynote of the Oxford Group—the statement of personal experience, as commanded by our Master, Jesus Christ, when he said, "Ye will be my witnesses ...." and "Go....telling the people all about this Life." (Moffatt).

The Oxford Group is a Fellowship of Christian men and women of all denominations (and of no denomination) brought together by the grace and power of Jesus Christ, and what God has done in their own lives. There is no appeal to the emotions whatever. "Changed lives" (conversions) are sought by witnessing to the power of Christ in the speakers' own lives and "sharing" with their contacts or interested people, their own sins, struggles and conquests through Christ, under "Guidance" from God. That is, there is no promiscuous assertion of sordid details of their past life, but an honest desire to show to a seeker, the sureness of God's power to meet any situation, and all circumstances in life. As a guide and check in living this quality of life, the four "Absolutes" are named —Absolute Honesty, Absolute Purity, Absolute Unselfishness, Absolute Love.

The statement of these Absolutes comes as a challenge to nearly everybody. It did to me. I thought I was a good Christian, but when I asked myself these questions, "Am I absolutely honest," etc., and answered them honestly, I found a capital "NO" to every one. If the question had been "very nearly honest," I would have said "Yes," as, according to the standards of the world, I believe I violated very few rules. Many Christians "salve over" the standards raised by Jesus by saying He merely stated ideals which we mortals cannot be expected to live up to. But I believe, and all Groupers believe, that Jesus meant what He said when He declared, "Be ye perfect, even as My Father in Heaven is perfect." I have heard business men say that Absolute Honesty cannot be practised in a successful business; but Jesus Christ also made the statement, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of Heaven and His righteouness and all these things will be added unto you." And to those who excuse impure thoughts on the score that one cannot help thoughts coming into one's head, I would reply first that Jesus said the sins of the Spirit were worse than the sins of the flesh, and second, in the words of a Chinese proverb, "You cannot keep the birds from flying about you, but can prevent them from making a nest in your hair." Jesus Christ has the power, and is willing to use it, to keep our lives clean and pure. A careful perusal again, of the I. Corinthians, chapter xiii. (preferably in Moffat's Translation) will show the requirements for Absolute Love, and though it may seem difficult, it is possible to practise it, with His help.

The Power of God manifesting itself in this year, 1934, is another point that strikes me forcibly in discussing the Group. Christian people have spoken of the Power of God, and prayed that it might be used. And then, have sought to do the thing in their own way, by their own will.

Non-Christians have scoffed at a remote Being (if there were one) having power in this world in which man has been able to accomplish so much. But both, coming into contact with the Group, have seen that Power remove—absolutely blot out—sins that were playing havoc with people's lives. I know of different men from whom the desire for liquor has been entirely eliminated by God; for they had attempted many times by their own will power, gold cures, and various treatments. God can remove any sin from anybody, the only requirement being a full surrender to Him —that His will may be done.

Many church people say they do not need the Oxford Group. I should like to repeat what a Grouper, himself a layman high in the councils of the church said,—that the standards of Jesus Christ, as presented by the Oxford Group can make a good Christian out of a Pagan, and (this is the point) that any Christian will be made a better one, by making a full surrender of themselves to God, and living the Quality of Life, practised by that Fellowship of First Century Christians, known as the Oxford Group.

Micaiah Speaks the Truth

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell
And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—I Kings, Chapter 22

Ahab, the most wicked of all Israel's kings, and Jehoshaphat, one of the best of Judah's kings, came together at Samaria to plan an attack upon the armies of Syria. Jehoshaphat was trying to be a good neighbor to the wicked Ahab.

The good king suggested that they inquire the will of God in the matter. So Ahab got 400 of his wicked prophets to say they should go. But Jehoshaphat asked for a true prophet of God and Micaiah was brought whom Ahab hated because he always told the truth.

Micaiah came before the two kings as they sat on their thrones in the gate of Samaria and said, "What the Lord says to me that will I say to you". And he spoke against going into battle, Micaiah was brought whom Ahab hated because had him imprisoned.

In the battle Ahab tricked Jehoshaphat into wearing his royal robes while he wore common clothes to escape danger. But some unnamed soldier shot an arrow without aiming at anything and God guided it to strike Ahab and kill him. Those who fight against God and truth meet justice.

A contract had been signed by the father, Olivia Dionne to show his five little children at the World's Fair, but the government intervened by appointing four guardians for the babies, including Dr. Dafoe, who now is optimistic over the chances of the five developing into normal infants.

Some Early Pages of Canadian History

By DEAN O'SULLIVAN.

THIS year we celebrate the 400th anniversary of the discovery of Canada by Jacques Cartier, and the planting of the Cross on Canadian soil. Next month many notables from England and France will visit us to join in the celebration of this auspicious event.

Much water has passed under the bridges since "from the seaport of St. Malo, in a smiling morn in May, the Commodore Jacques Cartier to the westward sailed away." His was a truly Christian expedition, for the historian tells us that he and all his associates assisted at solemn Mass in the Cathedral of St. Malo and received Communion from the hands of the Bishop before setting out on their journey. On July 24th, 1534, he landed on the Gaspe Peninsula. In a subsequent expedition, he navigated the St. Lawrence River as far as Stadacona and Hochelaga, the sites of the present cities of Quebec and Montreal. No permanent colonization, however, was accomplished at that time. It was not until nearly a century later, to be exact, in the year 1608, that Champlain founded the city of Quebec and New France came into being.

At the request of The Examiner, I am writing a series of articles giving a birdseye view of the development of our life as a nation from that far-off day that saw its birth down to Confederation. The original source of the current of our national life was the early emmigration from the shores of France, and the principal tributaries which since have enlarged and enriched it flowed from the highlands of Scotland, from the lowlands of England and from the hills and the valleys of the Emerald Isle.

Champlain.

History is best learned by grouping a period around one or two individuals who were the principal actors in the scene. Two names stand out most prominently at the very dawn of our history, the one that of a statesman and temporal ruler, the other that of a zealous shepherd of souls—Champlain and Laval. Every school boy and girl knows, or should know, the story of Champlain's life. The story of his wisdom, his perseverance, his courage, his valour, and above all, of his virtues which made him an exemplar for succeeding generations. We should have a special interest in him, for he passed down the Trent Waterway on his return from Huronia. I remember, as a boy, being shown the hulk of an old boat which local tradition held was abandoned by Champlain on this journey.

"The salvation of a soul," said Champlain, "is of more value than the conquest of an empire, and kings should think of extending their rule in infidel countries only to assure therein the reign of Jesus Christ." Acting on this principle, he brought missionaries to instruct and convert the Indian tribes. The first of these to reach Canada were the Recollets, a branch of the great Franciscan Order, whose members had followed in the wake of Columbus and had celebrated the first Mass in Spanish America nearly a century and a half before. It was one of these, Father Le Carron, who was the first to offer up the Holy Sacrifice in Ontario in the year 1615 at a spot marked by a monument, erected a score of years ago by the Knights of Columbus, near the town of Orillia.

Arrival of the Jesuits.

Finding themselves unequal to the task assigned them, they sought the aid of the Jesuits. Of these men Bancroft, the historian, wrote: "The horrors of a Canadian life in the wilderness were resisted by an invincible, passive courage, and a deep internal tranquility. Away from the amenities of life, away from the opportunities of vain-glory, they became dead to the world, and possessed their souls in unalterable peace. The few who lived to grow old, though bowed by the toils of a long mission, still kindled with the fervour of Apostolic zeal. The history of their labors is connected with the origin of every celebrated town in the annal of French Canada. Not a cape was turned nor a river entered but a Jesuit led the way." Martyrs' Shrine, near Midland, which many of our citizens have visited, was erected in memory of their labors and martyrdom. Through them Ontario enjoys the honor of having the first canonized saints in the North American Continent.

Laval.

For half a century after the founding of Quebec there was no bishop in Canada. During that period New France was an outlying portion of the Diocese of Rouen and St. Malo, and was governed by a vicar-general. In 1659, a bishop was appointed in the person of Francois de Laval Montmorency, the scion of a noble French family. He was made directly subject to the Holy See, and thus the Church in Canada became an independent entity. Thanks to the labors of such brave explorers as Marquette, Joliet, Hennepin, La Salle and Cadillac, the original Diocese of Quebec covered some territory. It embraced practically all Canada, in which there are now ten ecclesiastical provinces, and that portion of the United States lying west of the Mississippi River and the north of the Rio Grande. Space does not permit that I refer to the life of Quebec's first bishop, whose memory is perpetuated in some of our famous halls of learning. Let anyone who wishes a pen picture of this remarkable man read "Shadows on the Rock" by Willa Cather.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Religious and Social Questions Answered
By DR. WYLIE CLARK

Is it true that the faith of many Christians can be described as a "lazy faith?"—T.B.

A lazy person is one who is adverse to labor and indisposed to exertion. A lazy farmer may have a fine bit of land and know it, but his lack of energy prevents him from cultivating it properly. The weeds grow, the land loses its richness, crops dwindle and the results are meager—the possibilities are swallowed up by inactivity. The same is true in any line of business or method of development.

Dr. Wylie Clark

There is no pace where this is more true than in the spiritual realm. An idle faith cannot increase and certainly cannot accomplish anything in appropriating and using the gifts of God's mercy and love.

I am afraid that very many of us fall down and come far short of what we might be just because the germ of laziness is destroying the vitality of our faith.

What is meant by the "Recovery of Pentecost?"—M.B.

At Pentecost there was the baptism of the Holy Spirit accompanied by the gift of tongues and the power to testify. In other words, there came to them the possibility of God using them to manifest Himself as He had been revealed in the life of Christ.

The main thing was the power they obtained which enabled them to overcome their sins and live entirely in the service of the Kingdom.

To recover Pentecost would be to receive that power which came upon those who were waiting by the command of the Master for the coming of the Spirit.

It would not mean that now there would be the fire and the wind and the gift of tongues, but that we would be specially dedicated and devoted to the doing of God's will as it ought to be done to-day in the place where we live.

There is no doubt, but that if we could fully possess that power great things would happen in the churches and we would be hastened toward the day of spiritual victory.

Is it true that life is always at the mercy of death?—A.M.

It is true that death seems to be always near. In the springtime when all nature is alive the death dealing days of autumn are not far away and they are sure to come.

When we are in our youth and middle life the death bringing days of old age are already on the road to meet us.

Then beside these normal ways death has many other ways of slipping in and proving his nearness and determination. In nature there is storm, drought, frost, hail and pests—all of which take their toll.

With ourselves, there are calamities, accidents, wars and a multitude of diseases. These count their victims by the thousands, even by the millions.

Yet with all these doing their best to kill death is not triumphant. Life predominates. Not the dead, but the living, bury the dead. The living own and control the graveyards of the world—even in what seems to be the victory of death life rises up to conquer.

Spring follows winter, youth steps into the shoes of age and immortality destroys the grave.

What is meant by saying the world problem is men, not things.—P.M.

This question is really asking which is greater, man or his circumstances. A man should always be master of circumstances. The trouble is, he is not. He is often overcome by his conditions and sadly defeated by them. When that happens men are the playthings of events and are useless as builders of better things.

The need of the world then is men who will meet and master circumstances and force them to conform to the requirements of what should be instead of yielding and allowing the force of events to dictate to and rule over the intelligence and wisdom which make men the highest of created things.

Christ For Rural Ontario

TO make His presence and power realities in Ontario's rural districts is the task of the Ontario Evangelistic Band. The work is inter-denominational. Sectarian lines are ignored in a ministry that enlists the co-operation of all evangelical Christians. The great fundamentals of the faith are emphasized. Anywhere and everywhere witness is borne to the saving and keeping power of a living Christ. The Lord Jesus Christ as our personal Saviour, Sanctifier, Physician and Coming King, sums up the message given. The work is along faith lines. Your prayers and gifts are needed in this hour of widened opportunity. No ministry is more appealing than one which seeks to proclaim the Gospel to those otherwise unreached.

Mr. C. Troyer, the leader of this work, has recently moved to Campbellford. He plans to establish his centre here. From the Gospel Mission, on Rear street south, which will be opened shortly, Mr. and Mrs. Troyer will reach out into the communities round about. For the past two years they have been ministering in the Stoney Lake district, and during the winter were located near Apsley. Services were conducted in the provincial road camps between Burleigh Falls and Bancroft.

Watch for announcement of the opening evangelistic campaign next week.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

IT is pathetic to see the way humanity clings so fondly to its illusions. The illusion of separateness is based solely upon our lower animal instincts and is responsible for many evils that will continue to perplex us until we rid ourselves of the idea that our lower selves are in anyway lasting or permanent. Butperhaps the most distressing of the great illusions is the illusion of death. It is written that in the end death shall be destroyed and to the highly evolved mystic, this is so. He, by experience, KNOWS that there is no such thing, that it is but a "seeming" induced by the fallacy of separateness, that Life is One, and that he is a conscious part of that One Life. It is inevitable that the physical body should disintegrate and that its elements should return to the earth from which it was made. For that matter so does a suit of clothes, and to the mystic the body is no more than a suit of clothes, a piece of machinery by means of which the real man is enabled to function objectively in an objective world; a machine to be kept intelligently in good repair as long as possible, but no more than a machine. So that death, to the mystic, is no more than the discarding of a worn-out instrument and a passing from one room of the House of Life to another, and that without any break of continuity. That that other condition of Life is unknown to the majority is simply because the majority believe nothing that is not cognizable to the physical senses, forgetting that the things invisible outnumber the things visible. No man has ever yet seen a beam of light. We only see the reflection of a bare octave of the cosmic vibrations. There are sights that lie outside our range, sounds that we never hear with our bodily ears, and a whole universe lies around us, unknown, unseen, unheard, simply because our bodily organs cannot respond to the vibrational stimulus. We are in Life surrounded by Life both visible and invisible, and are a part indivisible of that Life. For in God we live, and move, and have our being.—Frater IX, Rosicrucian Order, San Jose, Calif.

be exhibited to the public, the babies will be provided with a new home, a modern in every way. It is understood. The new home probably will be constructed on the Red Cross farm between Corbeil and Callander.

A contract had been signed by the father, Olivia Dionne to show his five little children at the World's Fair, but the government intervened by appointing four guardians for the babies, including Dr. Dafoe, who now is optimistic over the chances of the five developing into normal infants.

WISCONSIN'S PLAN.

Wisconsin, long a leader in social legislation, has made a start in the direction of unemployment insurance, although in view of the duration of the world depression, it must be admitted that the plan that has been launched suggests trying to keep dry in a thunderstorm with a toy umbrella.

Briefly the Wisconsin system provides that all employers must place two per cent. of their pay-rolls in a reserve fund from which unemployed will draw from $5 to $10 per week for not more than ten weeks of enforced unemployment in any one year. The balance of the money required will be made up by the state.

There are two objections to this plan: in the first place, it does not call for contributions by the workers themselves, and in the second, it is impossible, after the experience of the last four or five years, to put much faith in a scheme that only provides some ten weeks of relief every year.

However, the proponents of the Wisconsin plan argue that the effects of a depression are mitigated and unemployment is bound to be less general if the purchasing power of a worker is not stopped immediately he finds himself without a job.

The fact that everybody laid off can count on ten weeks' unemployment insurance is counted upon to prevent hard times from developing to their fullest extent.

NOW THEY ARE WAR RESERVOIRS!

The silliest criticism of the relief work camps that have been operated for some time comes to light in a bulletin issued by an organization with the lengthy and high-sounding name of the "Canadian Youth Congress Against War and Fascism."

The bulletin contains this gem of thought appearing in an article under the heading, "Relief Camps Mean War and Fascism."

"Relief camps provide a reservoir of able-bodied men and boys for the armies of the coming wars."

The idea that these highway road camps, primarily established to take care of thousands of unemployed young men, have been planned and are being operated for the purpose of providing a nucleus for a war army for Canada is so ridiculous as to be laughable.

This "Youth Congress Against War and Fascism" need have no worry; if the rest of the world had made anything like the progress toward total disarmament that has been accomplished in this country, there would not be much danger of war.

As a matter of fact, we have reduced our militia to a mere skeleton, our little standing army is not much more than a police force, we have no navy worthy of the name, and make no contribution to Imperial naval defence, and our air equipment and personnel, while good, are trifling compared with what is to be found elsewhere.

In the face of that situation it is surely going a long way to conceive of highway work camps as reservoirs for war armies.

TOO RED FOR ELGIN COUNTY.

One of the worst blows the prestige of the hunger march has yet received is the action of the St. Thomas delegation in deciding to withdraw from the demonstration because of the Communistic nature of the affair and because they did not wish to embarrass Premier Hepburn by being seen in such company.

In explaining their decision President Gardner of the St. Thomas Unemployed Association declared that the march was "too Red" for them. "Most of those fellows on their way to Toronto appear to be out and out Communists," he stated. "Delegates from Windsor are wearing Communist badges carrying the picture of Tim Buck and the Internationale, the Red marching song, was sung repeatedly."

The Examiner has never been under any illusions as to the nature of this so-called "hunger march," which has been organized and carried out by Red leaders whose only object, as we have pointed out in previous articles, has been to stir up trouble.

The affair is coming out in its true light, and the action of Premier Hepburn's fellow-citizens from his home county of Elgin in declining to associate themselves any longer with such doubtful company should be an intimation to the Government that in encouraging this trek and in going to war with the Toronto municipal authorities over what privilege should be accorded the marchers, a mistake in judgment has been made.

Were this a genuine movement to improve conditions for the unemployed the picture would have been entirely different; but when the primary object of the leaders is to set up a Soviet Canada those in authority should be chary about fostering such ambitions.

CONSISTENT GAINS.

The Financial Post being commendably conservative in its statements, there should be general satisfaction over the fact that consistent gains in almost every area of the business front are reported in its half-yearly survey of economic activity in the Dominion.

Some of the improvements noted are listed as follows:

Business is now 46 per cent. above the depression low of March, 1933.

It is roughly 10 per cent. better than at the end of 1933.

It is 23 per cent. above the corresponding level a year ago.

The average level of business in the first half of 1934 was 37 per cent. better than the average level in the first half of 1933.

As the Post says, these are sound accredited yardsticks of the general trend of business in the Dominion; they are figures against which the average business may measure its progress since the improvement first became evident 15 months ago.

The figures for the first six months of the current year show:

Car loadings, 21 per cent. ahead of 1933.
Electric power output, 20 per cent. better.
Common stocks prices, 50 per cent. higher.
Construction contracts, up 35 per cent.
Bond sales, up 47 per cent.
Foreign trade, up 43 per cent.
Employment, up 18 per cent.
Business failures, lower by 28 per cent.
Newsprint production, up 41 per cent.
High-grade bonds, at highest level in 15 years.

Still another significant fact is the noticeable lessening of the gap in the price of farm products and the prices of manufactured articles in Canada.

BAD HOUSING IN UNITED STATES.

In these days when Great Britain, Canada to some extent, and the United States are promoting schemes of rehousing, it is interesting to know that a survey now being taken by the United States Real Property Inventory reveals that the standard of living in that country is not all it is cracked up to be. Data has been secured on one million homes so far, not metropolitan areas, but some 80 small cities which are the dwelling places of people of moderate means, but none of them villages, where housing standards are below par. The Inventory finds that:

More than 40 per cent. of the residential structures need repairs. More than seven per cent. of single units are sheltering more than one family.

In these 80 cities, 11 per cent. of dwellings have no electric or gas lighting; 21 per cent. have no modern sanitary facilities; 27 per cent. have neither bathtub nor shower; 32 per cent. do not cook with gas or electricity; 56 per cent. have no central heating; 34 per cent. have no mechanical refrigeration.

Most striking fact of all, more than 10 per cent. of the homes have no running water. Barely 60 per cent. have hot or cold running water.

As the Ottawa Journal computes, this would mean that over the entire country there are three million homes without modern lighting, and over 10,000,000 homes have neither bathtubs nor showers.

It is doubtful if, proportionately, the Dominion could show a better result.

There is much talk nowadays about overproduction, but if housing improvement schemes could be launched with government backing, which is part of the Roosevelt program, the lumber, brick, carpentry, plumbing and painting trades could give employment to many thousands of men, money would be put into circulation, and consequently into purchasing channels.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

DILLINGER'S EXIT.

The amazing story of John Dillinger, called "arch criminal" and "desperado," and the most dangerous man the United States has produced in a decade of high crime, came to an end when fifteen federal officers hemmed him in as he walked out of a Chicago theatre, shot him to death before he had any chance to fire his own revolver.

The extraordinary thing is that no effort was made to take the man alive. The police knew Dillinger was to attend a certain theatre on Sunday evening—obviously someone in his confidence had broken faith, no doubt for the reward. They saw him enter the lobby, watched him buy his ticket, waited outside for two hours, shot him down without a word. The chief of the federal men commends his moderation in not issuing shotguns and machine-guns, for fear spectators might be injured.

The information concerning Dillinger's plans for Sunday evening was so accurate that it seems probable they knew also where he was hiding. In any event it is impossible to escape the conclusion that they could have taken him alive had they wished. Why the "operatives" did not grab him as he bought his ticket, or as he walked down the sidewalk, is the question. Had they no confidence in their own courts and prisons to protect the public from his further activities if they took him alive?

On the same day threeof "the most desperate killers" in the Southwest States escaped from the death house of the Texas State Penitentiary at Huntsville, and a fourth similarly classified was shot down as he scaled the wall. Most of the convicts and guards were present at a baseball game "beside the walls" between a prison team and a team from outside. Thus the way to freedom was almost clear when one of the death-cell convicts held up a guard with two loaded revolvers—which could have come into his hands only through the most incredible looseness—and compelled him to unlock the doors. It was unfortunate, of course, that the ball game thus should have been rudely interrupted.

Perhaps there is a natural feeling among United States police that the risk attached to the process of taking their desperadoes alive is not justified by the results. They see and know the weaknesses in the judicial system which make conviction difficult and punishment uncertain. They see professional criminals released on bail or on parole to resume their professional careers. They are disheartened, no doubt, by the ease with which many desperate men have escaped from custody—Dillinger himself escaped from jail a few months ago by flourishing a wooden gun, and the case of the Huntsville killers freshly emphasizes the point. They know that convicts are petted and pampered in many institutions, that a prisoner with a distinguished record of crime is lionized by an unthinking public.

Perhaps these were the considerations which induced the federal men at Chicago to take no chances whatever with the celebrated Dillinger. But it would have been extremely awkward for them if it had turned out they had shot the wrong man, having given him no opportunity to surrender!—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Premier Hepburn is not a salesman. He should have used the Government building at the C.N.E. to advertise those cars he proposes to sell by auction.

One department that the new Government is not likely to close up is that entrusted with getting in all revenue.

It is apparent that Mr. Meighen does not need much legal assistance. He has been taking care of himself during the Hydro inquiry with both vigor and skill.

Port Hope authorities call attention to the fact that decent bathing costumes are called for by the town by-laws. It is the fashions and not the laws that dictate what is to be worn on the beach, however.

Heat waves, it is evident, do not prevent bank robberies. Those gun-toting bandits apparently work regardless of the weather.

NEWS OF OUR OWN VILLAGE

Many of the villagers seemed to have urgent business on Charlotte street, Tues. Beer went on sale at Graham's Hotel the same day, your scribe notes.

A deputation from here met Dave Croll, the new Minister of Public Welfare, at Toronto, west of here, Wed., but report no new relief policy, even in the matter of cheaper beer, which seems to be a live question with many, we opine.

The Havelock employees of Ed. Beatty's steam railway run an excursion to Toronto, west of us, Wed., and a good many from here paid a buck to spend the day in the town where the taxpayers pay the police and Mitch Hepburn runs them.

"What this here town needs is a bigger glass of beer for a dime," the Hall of Wisdom philosopher opined to your scribe in an unsought interview. Some other folks seem to think a small glass for a nickel might do the trick.

Ted Outram of the staff of this great family journal has win himself a $50 prize in a contest put on by a bicycle firm and the rest of the lads is anxiously waiting until Ted's holidays is over, by which time they'll likely be 5 or 6 places selling it in this berg.

Sam Newhall, our well-known Chief Constable, was in Toronto, west of us, Wed., watching the cops' athletic meet and getting his picture in the Globe of that place. Sam looked good too in the same, opine we.

Regattas is the order of the day in these parts, but while the scenery is different at each of these events, the list of prizewinners reads about the same everywhere, your scribe notes. They oughta be a law or something.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

THE UNITED STATES

CONGRESS while in session is costly. When adjourned, the 60,000 employees left in Washington to find a way out of the many tangles in the hundreds of issues Congress left indefinte is costly also. At five dollars a day the expense is $9,000,000 a month. They will be busy for six months, or until the first of January 1936. The neat little sum of $54,000,000 will be the cost of the work of this vast army of men and women. Some are expert and will receive much greater remuneration than five dollars a day. Fifty million dollars is far below the minimum. Out of the expenditure of this enormous sum of money, a solution of the issues that perplex the most, ought to be forthcoming. Instead of the economic problems being solved they grow the more difficult. The Department of Commerce has been the focus of the fiercest contention. Wealth holds the fort. In this department the larger issue between the people and predatory capital will be fought to the finish. The Treasury Department also has its troubles. The people of the whole nation have begun to express themselves in no uncertain manner. So strident is their voice that the officials shew signs of worry and uncertainty. The how to meet the demands is the ordeal.

The Budget

Washington is not talking much about a balanced budget. The Administration promised the nation a balanced budget as one of the first undertakings. Balanced is not the word. Hoover left the Treasury stable. After three months of the Roosevelt Administration, that is on June 30, 1934, the Treasury was unbalanced to the extent of $3,500,000,000. The income was only $3,100,000,000 The expenditures were $6,650,000,000. This statement does not include sinking fund payments. Nor does it include other large liabilities assumed by the government. The deficit, as this is being written, raises the national debt to the unprecedented level of $27,008,336,065. The burden of debt now resting on the taxpayers is greater than it was after the end of the Great War. From the Treasury comes the information that the expenditures forecast for 1935 will be even greater. A comment made by Hon. Edwin S. Harris, former New York State comptroller and the former Democratic leader of New York State is illuminating. "Such figures forecast the failure of the President in seeking the election for another term. There are not enough funds available in the United States to continue for the balance of the President's term such unprecedented spending of public funds. If he stops feeding and supporting millions who never before experienced living on public funds without working for a living, they will rebel."

Two possibilities confront the President. He is facing the possibility of the exhaustion of public revenue and all reserves, or a political rebellion. These possibilities have sent the President on a long cruise. He hopes to find a path to recovery before his return. Results must take the place of uneding experiments. It has ever been true that providential leaders have found the secret when the hour was the darkest. If it be true that the voice of the Divine is most distinctly heard in the silences. It is also true that the real needs of the people are most clearly visioned from a distance. The United States independent of party affiliations hope that the President will return from his sea voyage with a truer grasp of public affairs.

CRIME IN WASHINGTON

THREE social crimes have been on the increase since the abrogation of the laws which made the selling of intoxicating liquors a crime. The same crimes are being unleashed in Canada. Bootlegging and drunkenness and unchastity and broken homes are on the increase. Instead of the word increase a much stronger word might be written. This writer knows something of conditions in Peterborough which have prevailed since the beer discussion arose. But conditions in the United States have been intensified since the repeal. Not far from the Capitol, and even closer to the White House a once decent and well-known restaurant has been turned into a palatial gambling establishment. Washington was shocked when the news became public. This place became so drunkenly boisterous that the police made a raid and arrested some of the supposedly elite of Washington.

On Pennsylvania Avenue, two blocks from the White House, is another restaurant which has been turned into a Liquor House. The very same young women who served wholesome food to the fashionable, to hold their jobs, are compelled to serve all kinds of hard liquor. These young women in appearance and culture would grace any home. They are the kind the liquor vendor is eager to hire. He pays big wages to such. An old gentleman who knew this restaurant, well, on a recent visitor to the Capitol, on official business, one day stood in front of it. He looked through the glass front amazed and said: "I never believed the men who make laws in that noble Capitol building over there, would endeavour by legislation to fill the vaults of the Treasury by bringing young women, American girls, to the low estate of bar maids, serving their fellow youths, boys and girls in their teens, with liquor which destroy the best ideals and hopes of Americans." Between this restaurant and the United States Treasury there is only one building.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

VALLEYFIELD, QUEBEC.

This thriving town on Lake St. Francis has enjoyed numerous names since it began to exist in 1842. At that time it was known as Pointe-du-Lac, Sarenack or Saint-Cyriac and even Pointe aux voleurs, but in 1855 Valleyfield and the surrounding territory was incorporated as Parish Ste. Cecile.

In 1800, Alexander Ellice, who had purchased a parcel of land, a part of the Seigniory of Beauharnois, divided it into four parcels, named for his four daughters, of whom Catherine was one. For a time the settlement was known as Catherinestown, the actual present-day site then being occupied only by two Dutchmen named Knight, and it was known as Knight's Point.

In 1834 when Valleyfield was separated from Ste. Cecile parish and incorporated as a town, two factions wanted to officially name the place. The name of Salaberry, a famous French general, was suggested by one group, while Alexander Buntin, proprietor of a large paper mill, wanted it named Valleyfield, for his native town in England. They compromised and called the place "The City of Salaberry de Valleyfield."

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A SHIP OF SQUARE TIMBER.

On this date, in 1824, a unique vessel was launched at Quebec. Charles Wood, a ship designer, conceived the idea that a ship could be built of square timber, to be sailed across the Atlantic and then broken apart for disposal in British timber yards. The ship was built; she was 294 feet long, flat-bottomed and rigged as a four masted barque; but before that, of course, she had to be launched and this was made quite a ceremony. The "timber-drogher", as she was classed, was christened the Columbus on July 28, in view of 5,000 spectators, who cheered as the vessel took the water, to the music of a military band.

She made the trip to London without mishap, the only incident recorded being that on arrival there was 18 feet of water in her hold. Instead of carrying out the original plan the owners decided to send the Columbus back to Quebec for another load of timber. Therein they over-reached themselves, for, on coming up the St. Lawrence, the Columbus went ashore and was a total wreck, most of her timber being "salvaged" by residents along the coast.

A second ship of the same type, The Baron of Renfrew, was launched at Quebec in 1825 and sailed in safety to England, but grounded near Dover and finally broke up on the French coast. F. W. Wallace in "Wooden Ships and Iron Men" states that the owners recovered insurance to an amount of $3,389,040 on the two boats, so that if the scheme was not a commercial success it was at least not a financial failure.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 87c to 92c; oats, 36c to 38c; barley, 45c to 46c; corn, 77c to 80c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 59c to 60c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Butter prices were a little firmer on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday, while other prices remained steady.

Butter was priced at 19¼c to 19¾c a pound for fresh No. 1 in carlots or less, against 19¼c to 19½c. Quotations to the retail trade remained at 20c a pound for solids and 21c for prints. Receipts totalled 2,283 boxes.

On the cheese market, Ontario colored was 10¼c to 10½c a pound, while Quebec cheese brought 10c a pound, both unchanged. Arrivals totalled 6,293 boxes.

Eggs were unchanged in price, graded shipments in carlots or less being 21c to 23c a dozen for A large, 20c to 20½c for A medium, 19c for B and 15½c to 19c for C. Receipts were 834 cases.

The market for new Quebec potatoes remained steady, being quoted at 45c to 50c per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Buyers displayed greater courage in the grain markets yesterday, and at times pushed wheat up 2¼c a bushel, with corn up 1¼c.

Crop deterioration reports from Canada attracted increasing notice, and there was less heed taken of European political events. Word of black rust in two of the three Prairie Provinces added to misgivings in regard to the Canadian wheat outlook. Toward the end of the day, however, selling to realise profits formed the chief activity, and setbacks from top quotations were general.

The close for wheat, nevertheless, was firm at the same as Thursday's finish to 1c higher; corn, ⅛c off to ⅜c up; oats unchanged to ¼c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Selling that swept the pits Thursday and sent values sharply lower was absent in yesterday's session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, wheat futures prices closing with net gains of ⅝c to ¾c, July at 84¼c, October 85¼c, December 86¾c to 86⅞c, and May 90⅝c.

Most of the day's action was crammed into the first hour of trading that saw values climb 1½c above the previous close. Fractions gradually were whittled off this advance as futures traded sluggishly on the balance of the session. Most traders showed an unwillingness to commit themselves on either side of the market.

Strong Liverpool prices, effect of moderate export sales of Canadian wheat, and upturns at Chicago provided the incentive for the advance and as offerings continued light the advance was retained without difficulty. Liverpool ended ⅝c to ¾c higher. Export sales were estimated at close to 750,000 bushels.

Argentine clearances of wheat for the week totalled 3,273,000 bushels, which compares with 4,611,000 bushels last week, and the 3,000,000-bushel shipments of the same week a year ago. Shipments from Australia were 2,000,000 bushels.

No. 1 Northern featured cash grains but action in other varieties was limited, and spreads closed generally unchanged. Trading in coarse grains futures was featureless.

BACK TO LAND

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—If, like water, Canada must rise or fall with the world-tide, we can see our finish. But in a country with all its own raw materials and with efficient manufacturing and food supplies enough to earn its own living what sense is there in such a statement? It may be remembered that since 1929 I have been doing my little best to convince the public that so long as the tide of population continued to flow to the towns we would get more and more out of balance and that it would be only a matter of time until the great employed class went on the rocks. I have received a letter from one of the most prominent and active of Canadian statesmen acknowledging that the tide that left the land should, so far as is necessary to restore the balance, be induced to look landward again. Inventions have reached such a stage now that about one-fifth of the population could supply the rest with manufactures. Therefore in long run about four-fifths must get back to the land. How? By a comprehensive system of land purchase, equipment and instruction. We have always had a class that did not want to do anything, so that is nothing new, and it may continue as before the recipients of charity. This was so in the days of prosperity. It is not they who furnish the perplexing problem but the willing and efficient attempting to keep up prosperity by international trade is futile. That ought to be plain and if we cannot realize the situation as it is we will go down so far that I would hesitate to say what the state or condition into which we are coming to. We have wasted enough, surely, in futile and hopeless relief. Let us do something that we know will work. There is only one thing that we seem to be short of and that is brains and possibly common honesty.

ALL OF US

By Marshall Medin.)

THE OLD, OLD, OLD MAN.

When I was about 15 years old, which was the year Jeffries fought Jack Johnson and disappointed all the kids in the neighborhood, who'd been boasting of what Jim would do to Jack, I used to work at Christmas time in a jewelry store. . . . Sweeping out the place, putting the trays of rings and stickpins and watches in the safe, cleaning the silverware and running errands. . . . And in the jewelry store there also worked an old, old man.

He repaired watches, and we were good friends. The old watch repairer was good and kind, and we used to talk together. . . . But, of course, he didn't live in my world, you understand. He was too ancient. He had been born long before I was, and what could a kid of 15 have in common with an extremely aged man, even if he could ride a bicycle? . . . That used to rouse my admiration, the way that very old man used to ride his bicycle downtown to work and back home for lunch and downtown again, peddling along just as spry as can be. . . . To be sure, he didn't take his hands off the bars, and he couldn't do any tricks like riding backwards. . . . And when he carried things, he put them in a wire basket attached to the handlebars, and didn't hold them with one arm, as any of the kids could.

I remember thinking, too, that I had no intention of ever being old. Maybe I'd live to be 40, and I MIGHT stand 50 years of being alive—but what reason for living could anyone have after passing the half-century mark. It would be just putting in time, that's all, and no more.

But not long ago the old watchmaker called on me. He was in town visiting some relatives, and he came down to see me. It was quite a shock. For me, I mean, not for him. . . . Instead of being older than he had been, he was just as young as when I thought him ancient. . . . When I was 15 he was at least 75, and that made us 60 years apart. But now that I was 39, he was no older than 70, and we were less than a generation apart. . . . And so, you see, I'm older than I thought. The old watchmaker may think I'm hardly older than a boy, but the boys and girls know that I'm probably a younger brother of Methuselah and not worth bothering about because they can see I have only a few years to live, with one foot in the grave already. . . . It's rather startling.

Light Fruit Supply On Farmers' Market

William Saltern, from the buckleberry country up in Dummer Township, sold out a small supply of the fruit on the market this morning.

"We didn't get enough rain this season, and the crop was very light," Mr. Saltern told The Examiner. "It is a loss for some of us up there because the crop was not only light, but was only fair in quality."

Huckleberries sold at 20 cents a box; raspberries at 11 and 22 cents.

Bruce Johnston sold out twenty baskets of home-grown tomatoes at 70 cents a basket.

Chickens were a light offering at 15 cents. Eggs were ample for the demand at 19 and 20 cents, and butter was quoted at 20 and 23 cents.

Vegetables were abundant, with new potatoes at 20 cents a peck, and the first of the corn crop was on the stands at 20 cents a dozen.

TORONTO POULTRY.

TORONTO, July 28 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on live "A" grade poultry, as supplied by the United Farmers' Co-operative Co., were reported unchanged to-day.

TORONTO CHEESE

TORONTO, July 28 (C.P.).—The Toronto wholesale cheese market continued unchanged to-day, with dealers buying large, colored, paraffined and government grades at 10¾c.

Wholesalers offered cheese to retailers at the following prices: New large 11¼c; twins 11¾c; triplets 12c; old, large 17¼c; twins 17¾c; triplets 18c; medium, large 15¼c; twins 15¾c; triplets 16c.

ONTARIO HOG PRICES.

TORONTO, July 28—(C.P.) — Bacon hogs to-day continued their sharp decline, dropping to $7.75 to $8.40 a hundredweight f.o.b. shipping point, with $1 premium for extras. To-day's prices: Hull, Que., $8.50, down 25. Kitchener, $8.10, down 15; Peterborough, $7.75, down 50; Brantford $8.40, down 25; London, $8.50, down 15.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO MINING.

TORONTO, July 28 (CP).—Quiet accumulation of shares continued on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange in today's short session and prices were firm over the board and even strong in the golds.

Hollinger was again in the limelight with trading good on a price advance of 95 cents to 17.95. Bralorne and Pioneer were unchanged, while Dome and Lake Shore gained about 25 cents each. Teck was up 15 to 6.75 and Wright Hargreaves 5 to 8.90.

Advances of 5 to 10 cents appeared for Little Long Lac, B.R.X., Gunnar Gold, San Antonio and Buffalo-Ankerite.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS

TORONTO, July 28 (CP).—Recovery in prices made further progress on the industrial board of the Toronto Exchange today with trading proceeding at a leisurely pace and bulking mainly in the distillery shares, nickel and Brazilian. Nickel was in demand on the new crop of war rumors and 1-4 was added to the price which closed at 23 3-4.

Distillers Seagrams and Industrial Alcohol led their group for volume and both were up about a half point at the close, while Walkers Common trailed with a gain of a smaller fraction.

All the interlisted leaders were up at the close with exception of C.P.R., which was off 1-8 to 12 1-4. Consolidated Smelters added 1 1-2, selling at 129 1-2, Ford "A" added 3-8 and Brazilian 1-8.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 28 (A.P.). — Stock market sentiment was again a little more hopeful to-day and prices generally edged up fractions to around 2 points. Trading, however, was exceptionally dull and there were a few soft spots in evidence. The close was fairly firm. Transfers approximated 485,000 shares.

DELAYED BY WEATHER.

TORONTO, July 28.—(C.P.) — Pending further reports on weather conditions, Leonard Reid and J. R. Ayling will keep their plane, "The Trail of the Caribou," grounded here. The two plan an attack on the non-stop flight record, taking off from Wasaga Beach and flying to Bagdad.

HELPFUL

HAMILTON, Ont., July 28 (C.P.) —Police welcome assistance from citizens and apparently Rose Farquharson, 12, realized this. When a hit-and-run driver crashed into a mail wagon carrying T. Fareman and P. MacFarlane, she calmly took down the automobile license and gave it to the police. Later, the car was reported stolen.

SHELL SHOCK.

WINDSOR, Ont., July 28.— (C.P.)—Windsor Parks Board had a near case of shell shock reported to it, when a resident near Wigle Park became hysterical at the sound of the aerial bombs which were exploded as part of the display put on by the Essex Scottish Regiment. A doctor was called to attend her.

Canadian Science Once Again Comes To Fore

Once again Canadian science comes to the fore with further discoveries in new types of wheat. Reports from the Dominion experimental farms at Ottawa state that a rust-resistant wheat has been perfected from such types as the famous Marquis, that will save the people of Canada some $40,000,000 a year. The layout shows, TOP, the experimental farm; BELOW, a sample of Marquis wheat. Inset is Dr. H. T. Gussow, Dominion botanist, under whose direction the pathological experiments were made both at Winnipeg and Ottawa as well as most of the Canadian universities.

NEW RUSTPROOF WHEAT TO SAVE CANADA $40,000,000 ANNUALLY

Developed After Years of Research at Dominion Experimental Farm.

HOW RUST ATTACKS

By MARCUS ADAMS
Central Press Canadian Writer

OTTAWA, July 28. — The discovery of such famous varieties of wheat as Marquis, Garnet and Reward, the result of years of research and breeding at the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa have put many millions of dollars into the pockets of Canadian farmers and the general public. And there are as big dividends ahead, for the Canadian farmer will benefit by the recent accomplishment in connection with the development of rust resistant wheat.

For many years the greatest economic losses to wheat and oats have been caused by fungi of which black stem wheat rust is one of the worst of the family. Rust has caused an annual loss in the yield and grade to wheat and oats in the three prairie provinces as high as $40,000,000.

As a result of years of work in connection with cereal breeding and pathological researches on rust, smuts, foot rots and other cereal diseases co-ordinated by a committee known as the associate committee on field crop diseases, the members of this committee being representatives of the dominion department of agriculture, the National Research Council and the western universities and colleges, strains of rust resistant wheat, with what is believed will have the yielding ability, baking, milling and early ripening qualities of such varieties as Marquis have been developed. In two or three years' time seed that will withstand the attacks of rust will be released in substantial quantities. The story behind this triumph is one of the most engaging epics in the whole history of Canadian agriculture. Its economic importance is practically incalculable.

Fifty Years of Effort

For years there has been a merry competition between the plant pathologists and the plant breeders. As fast as the latter evolved a new variety the former would inoculate it with rust but the plant breeders have won and the pathologists are happy over their defeat. From about 33 varieties out of many hundreds that have been experimented with, a few have been selected as likely to meet all the exacting requirements demanded. This important contribution in the realm of cereal plant-breeding in Canada reveals a story of nearly half a century of determined effort, replete with discouragement and disappointment, but ultimately rewarded with enormous gain.

That rust is caused by a parasitic organism has been common knowledge to plant pathologists for over 80 years. Rust occurs in practically all wheat growing areas of the world.

How Rust Attacks

The organism causing stem rust is a parasite plant belonging to a low order of plant life, called Fungi and grows only in living plant tissue. This organism attacks the growing plant and robs it of both food and water. Contrary to a commonly-held opinion, rust is not produced by moist warm weather, however, promotes the rapid development of rust. If the organism is absent, no rust will develop.

The rust organism multiplies by the production of countless thousands of microscopic "seeds," called spores. Masses of these spores have a reddish color and constitute the "red dust" so well known to farmers. These spores are carried by the wind from the plants on which they are produced to other plants. Whenever a heavy dew or shower or rain occurs these spores readily germinate, infect the plants and produce new crops of spores. Each new infection develops spores in about eight or ten days. Farmers are familiar with the rapidity with which rust spreads. An idea of the enormous number of spores blowing about in the air may be gained from the fact that just before harvest time upwards of half a million spores have been caught in southern Manitoba and southeastern Saskatchewan on individual glass slides, coated with vaseline and exposed during a 24-hour period.

Are Blown North

The black spores (black rust) which appears at harvest time, are simply another spore form of the same organism. An investigation showed that epidemics of rust in western Canada are initiated by red spores blown northward from fields of rusted grain lying south of the international border. Rust epidemics in the prairie provinces are therefore not of local origin.

The organism which produces rust does not develop in the soil. Disinfection of the soil cannot therefore destroy the organism. There is no authentic record of any case where soil treatment has immunized the plants against rust.

Rusted wheat kernels when sown do not develop into rusted wheat plants. Seed treatments are therefore useless as a means of controlling rust. About the only method of controlling rust, other than by the development of rust resistant varieties of grain, is by applying something to the wheat plants themselves which will adhere to them for a considerable length of time and which will be toxic to the germinating rust spores. Sulphur, in a finely powdered condition, is effective in controlling all cereal rusts but the cost, four or five dollars an acre is prohibitive.

New Strain Developed

The more promising strains of rust resistant wheats developed and which give every indication of proving thoroughly satisfactory were obtained from two families. The first was derived by crossing Marquis on a highly resistant Durum variety known as Pentad, while the second originated as a result of a cross between Marquis or Reward on a derivattive of a Marquis-Emmer cross. Thousands of cross breeding experiments have been made and the results most carefully recorded so that there is a wealth of valuable information accumulated on this phase of plant pathology and plant breeding.

The strains of rust resistant wheat have as yet not been given names. They are known by numbers and not until they have earned their right by proven merit will they be christened and registered. Moreover, the Dominion department of agriculture does not intend that anyone shall be able to exploit to his financial advantage the new rust resistant wheats so the seeds will be controlled by the cereal division of the Experimental Farms until sufficient has been developed so that small lots can be distributed to a large number of farmers.

The Men Responsible

The plant pathologists have carried on their work under Dr. H. T. Gussow, Dominion botanist, whose address to the select standing committee on agriculture and colonization in 1934 was a factor in influencing the Dominion parliament to make a grant of $50,000 for the erection of a rust research laboratory in Winnipeg. When the laboratory was built and equipped Dr. D. L. Bailey conducted the pathological work until he went to the University of Toronto as professor of plant pathology when he was succeeded by Dr. J. H. Craigie.

The plant breeding work has been principally directed by L. H. Newman. Dominion cerealist, who had as his right bower at the laboratory in Winnipeg, Dr. C. H. Goulden, able geneticist. The whole of the correlated work has been directed largely by the associate committee on field crop diseases of the National Research Council, practical co-operation has also been given by the Universities of Manitoba and Saskatchewan and the provincial departments of agriculture of the three prairie provinces.

a dirge. Then Mikas mounted the rostrum.

"Never in all my life has it been as difficult to speak as on an occasion of this kind," he said with a voice that revealed the sorrow of a chief of state who had lost not only his ablest political head but a party friend as well. "A damnable crime has taken from us Engelbert Dollfuss a true Austrian and a true German who by bood and race was tied to his native land."

The President then traced the career of Dollfuss from early manhood through the vicissitudes of his political life.

"I can bear testimony before the whole world that Chancellor Dollfuss never wanted to pick a fight with his adversaries," said the President.

"If, however, he was going to fight, he unflinchingly accepted the gauge of battle and fought valiantly.

"He declined by the so-called "Bleizschaltung" to have Austria lose her own identity.

"He saved Austria. In saving Austria he also preserved the peace of Europe.

On behalf of the Austrian nation he thanked the world "for its act of human solidarity" evidence by messages of condolence from every government.

The Cast Procession

A funeral march by the band concluded the exercises at the city hall as the coffin was placed on a gun carriage.

The troops presented arms, and church bells throughout the capital began to peal as the procession moved slowly through the streets thickly lined with people who removed their hats as the cortege passed.

Frau Dollfuss was able to walk only with difficulty from the city hall to St. Stephen's Cathedral. Her two young children had remained at Riccione, Italy, where the family was on vacation at the time Dolfuss was killed.

Long before the exercises started thousands of person had formed a line waiting to be admitted to the city hall. It was estimated that 60,000 persons had paid homage to the dead leader yesterday and even more appeared to be on hand to-day.

Italy Prepared

While church bells in Vienna tolled a requiem for the assassinated Chancellor, troops of Mussolini across the border in Italy, marched northward to augment the 48,000 soldiers already stationed at Austria's door.

The Austrian revolt, which reduced to a common denominator of Nazism vs. Fascism, is marked today by fighting close to the borders of three neighboring states which are watching the revolution anxiously—Germany, Italy and Yugoslavia.

The number of dead and wounded in the four-day revolt is estimated at 3,000, but the figure does not pretend to be accurate.

The fact that Austria's Chancellor was being buried on the 20th anniversary of the date of which Austria declared war on Serbia, precipitating the Great War, was a circumstance that added to the day's tensity.

Nazis Arrested Wholesale

Meanwhile, the Heimwehr and the Catholic Storm Troops in Graz, the capital of Styria, were celebrating their victory.

They made wholesale arrests of Nazis and even of Nazi sympathizers. They raided clothing stores in search of neckties and other wearing apparel with the colors of the German flag.

People in the streets, even girls wearing dresses showing the combination of black, white and red, were compelled to remove the colors.

A milk dealer arriving in Graz from Andritz reported that more than 100 Nazis had been arrested there. He said they were stripped of clothes and received terrible beatings as "the first treatment."

Bitter fighting took place in the vicinity of the festival City of Salzburg during the night, resulting in a number of dead and wounded on both sides.

At Liefering, not far from the German border, a Heimwehr Commander was killed and six of his men wounded during a skirmish with Nazis.

The fighting in and around Lamprechtshausen was especially heavy. The Nazis left four dead and 29 wounded.

The Government forces also suffered a great number of wounded, two of whom died on the way to a hospital.

Clashes also occurred at Mandling where a Heimwehr detachment was attacked by Nazis. The Nazis were beaten off with a loss of nine dead and 17 wounded, while the Heimwehr outfit lost one killed and one wounded.

Desperate Struggle.

MARIBOR, Jugoslavia, July 28.—(A.P.)— Reports from the border to-day indicated that the Austrian Nazis in Carinthia and Southern Styria were offering a desperate resistance to Austrian government forces who were attacking with artillery.

The Nazis have mined all the roads to prevent the passage of the big guns.

Thousands of them are fighting with their backs to the Yugoslav border. If they are compelled to retreat they will automatically be interned in Yugoslavia.

Hundreds of Nazi fugitives have already crossed into Yugoslavia at Radgoma, Bravograd, and Prevalje, the latter just across the line from Bleiburg, Carinthia, where the fighting was heavy.

Five hundred and fifty Nazis crossed during the night, afoot, in some places and in others down the Brava river by boat or even by swimming.

Many Drop Rifles.

Some of them abandoned their rifles on Austrian soil but most of them had some sort of firearms when they arrived in Yugoslavia. The Yugoslav police disarmed them as they came and by mid-afternoon had collected 200 rifles, one machine gun, and 50 pistols—all described as one of the old Austrian Great War type, but remodelled in Italian factories. The police said they assumed they had been smuggled into Austria from Italy at various times in the years since the war.

The fugitives were quartered in the nearest school building until they could be transported to an internment camp farther inland.

Together with the other fugitives from previous days, the total number of Austrian Nazis now in Yugoslavia since the beginning of their Wednesday Putsch exceed 700.

Most of them are youngsters—High school and University students—but there are a few peasants.

Hitler Hushes Broadcast

MUNICH, uly 28 (AP)—A second scheduled Nazi broadcast on the Austrian situation has been abandoned as result of Hitler's orders to Austrian Nazi headquarters to refrain from comment.

Continued restraint on the Austrian Nazis has been interpreted here to mean that Germany views the present Austrian government with a little more favor than it did the Dollfuss regime.

The Austrian Nazi headquarters claimed to have reports that insurrectionists had captured St. Wolfgang and Seekirchen, both near Saltburg; also that workers at Lamprechtshausen had overpowered gendarmes and Heimwehrmen, holding the latter hostages in the gendarmes' barracks.

A Heimwehr leader was killed when 200 Heimwehrmen repulsed an insurrectionists' attack at Frei'aussund.

There were indications of secret demobilization of the Austrian Nazi forces in fulfillment of strict orders of Chancellor Hitler. The German Chancellor's picked guards, the Schultz Stafdel, were busy to see that the Nazis did not march across the border.

A group of 45,000 men is said to have been dispatched to a camp at Freilassing to make sure nothing rash is done.

Sentiments of thousands were expressed by one disgruntled Nazi who said "They ought to have marched—if they are going to—anyway."

Introduction of talking pictures in Czechoslovakia is reported to have thrown about 75 per cent of the musicians of the country out of employment.

Dead Nazi

Former Austrian ambassador to Italy and the most powerful man in the Austrian Nazi ranks, Dr. Anton Rintelen (above) was first declared the successor to Chancellor Dollfuss as head of the government when his party sprang their sudden coup recently. He was later arrested by government troops as leader of the revolt, and committed suicide in custody while still avowing his innocence.

We saw a visitor the other day in a charming linen suit. The idea was very English. You know very well that you would see just such a costume at Ascot. But it was very stunning and practical too. The coat was of white linen. And isn't it fashionable this year. It was made semi-tailored with patch-pockets four of them, and a belt. The sleeves were tight, and three quarter length. With this was a dark crepe skirt, with pleats at the back and front. And the scarf was of the same material as the skirt. The color of this skirt was brown. A white hat with a brown bow and shoes of linen with brown trim, completed a stunning costume.

Some of the newest frocks for late summer wear, New York says, are of black chiffon with peach or ecru trimming. Sometimes white net or organdie is used. Long fitted coats are very good with these and are so practical for the business girl who dines out after work.

Here is a recipe we tried the other day:

Pineapple-Rhubarb Tarts

To one and one-half cups finely cut rhubarb, add one and one-half cups crushed pineapple. Cook over a low fire until rhubarb is tender. Mix three tablespoons sugar with three tablespoons flour, blend with a portion of the hot syrup, by pouring the hot syrup slowly onto the flour and sugar mixture and stirring to prevent the formation of lumps. Return all to the original pan and cook slowly, stirring constantly, about eight minutes. Cool. Turn into previously baked shells. Top with a dash of whipped cream and sprinkle a few nutmeats over the top.

We heard of the nicest idea the other day for cottage furniture. A few barrels, boards, paint a little oilcloth, and believe it or not, you can make the most unique and attractive furniture for your shack or cottage. Think of the fun you could have making these pieces. Your grocer wil probably be glad to supply you with some various size barrels. Paint them the color you wish and also the board that you will nail on top of a good size barrel to make a table. Smaller kegs can be treated the same way and they make the cutest chairs. the barrel chair is simply the most comfortable looking thing you can imagine. Oil cloth cushions in bright hues add a cheery note and the curtains can be of some pretty bright cotton material. Little shelves (made from just plain boards nailed up) here and there are so handy and attractive. This is such an inexpensive and interesting way to furnish a shack, and what fun you can have up there all summer.

Peterborough stores are offering very attractive sales these days. If you are loking for some smart dresses, now is the time to replenish your wardrobe. Entire stocks are being offered at 20 per cent reduction and some of these lovely garments are being offered for half price. We saw some lovely woolly underthings on sale today at 25 cents each garment—do you know they sold last Fall and Winter for .69 cents each. Wouldn't it be a good time to lay in a supply?

For outdoor eating a very novel and attractive tablecloth can be made from odds and ends from the patch bag. Stitch together neatly in a modernistic design pieces of different shades and materials. If you haven't enough or if the colors do not blend, swap with your neighbors and then you can all have one of these very useful and attractive tablecloths for the picnic or cottage.

I know it almost makes you faint to think of fur coats these sweltering days. But now is the very best time to have your coat remodelled if you are going to have it done for the Winter. The furriers have much more time and greater care and attention can be given your needs at this time than when the rush is on in the late Fall. If you are going to have a new coat, why not see about it right now. The prices are very attractive and the same thing applies to having a coat made to order as to having it remodelled. The more time that can be spent on it the better pleased you are going to be with it.

Fashion hints that sheer black hosiery may be very popular for Fall and Winter.

Your Health

The only effective treatment that we have at present for infantile paralysis is the use of convalescent serum in the first stage of the disease, before paralysis has accurred.

Convalescent serum is blood serum which has been taken from a patient who has had the disease within a short period of time. It was once thought that any adult's serum was good infantile paralysis convalescent serum, but this has proved to be unsound. It is desirable to obtain serum from a patient who has had the disease within at least four years.

The reason the serum works is plain enough. Although we do not know the nature of the germ which causes infantile paralysis, we know that it is a germ of some sort, and patients who recover from the disease do so by manufacturing immune substances in their blood serum to the infectious organism. This serum introduced into a patient with the infection, will immunize the poisons of the disease and bring about recovery quite promptly in most cases. The serum is usually given in the muscle with a hypodermic syringe.

The effectiveness of this serum has been shown best on experimental animals who have been given the disease. These are monkeys. The only lower animal which can be given the disease is the monkey. They are infected by using emulsified spinal cords from patients who have died of the disease, and injecting it into their brains.

To show how effective the serum is, it has been found that 1 cc of this emulsified cord substance will invariably give a monkey a paralysis, and 2 cc will almost invariably kill. But the animal can be protected from all the ravages of the disease by convalescent serum even when as much as 5 cc of the emulsified cord has been injected.

In treating the severe cases which have become paralyzed so widely that the muscles which perform respiration are paralyzed, the Drinker respirator should be employed. This is a cage so constructed that it performs breathing artificially. One or more of these respirators should be set up at centra points in all communities in the wake of the epidemic.

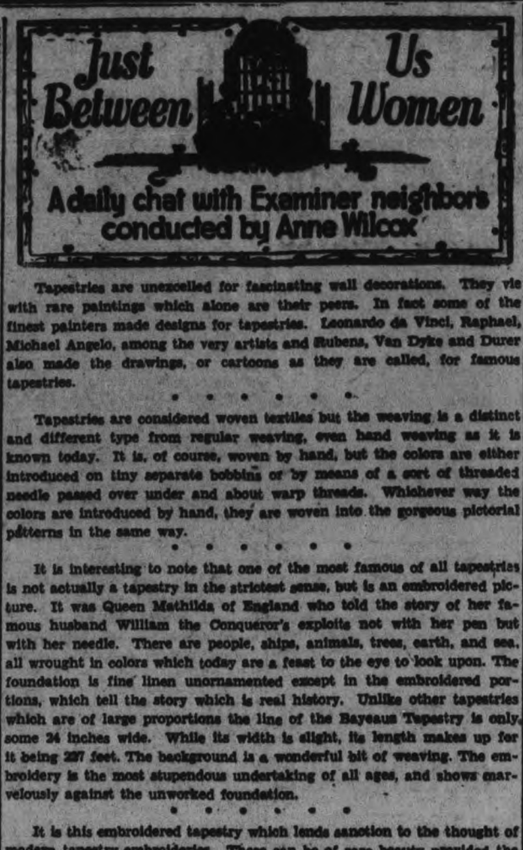
JUST AMONG US GIRLS

JUST AMONG US GIRLS



Tapestries are unexcelled for fascinating wall decorations. They vie with rare paintings which alone are their peers. In fact some of the finest painters made designs for tapestries. Leonardo da Vinci, Raphael, Michael Angelo, among the very artists and Rubens, Van Dyke and Durer also made the drawings, or cartoons as they are called, for famous tapestries.

* * * * * *

Tapestries are considered woven textiles but the weaving is a distinct and different type from regular weaving, even hand weaving as it is known today. It is, of course, woven by hand, but the colors are either introduced on tiny separate bobbins or by means of a sort of threaded needle passed over under and about warp threads. Whichever way the colors are introduced by hand, they are woven into the gorgeous pictorial patterns in the same way.

* * * * * *

It is interesting to note that one of the most famous of all tapestries is not actually a tapestry in the strictest sense, but is an embroidered picture. It was Queen Mathilda of England who told the story of her famous husband William the Conqueror's exploits not with her pen but with her needle. There are people, ships, animals, trees, earth, and sea, all wrought in colors which today are a feast to the eye to look upon. The foundation is fine linen unornamented except in the embroidered portions, which tell the story which is real history. Unlike other tapestries which are of large proportions the line of the Bayeaux Tapestry is only some 24 inches wide. While its width is slight, its length makes up for it being 227 feet. The background is a wonderful bit of weaving. The embroidery is the most stupendous undertaking of all ages, and shows marvelously against the unworked foundation.

* * * * * *

It is this embroidered tapestry which lends sanction to the thought of modern tapestry embroideries. These can be of rare beauty provided the worker has the ingenuity to conceive of handsome pictorial effects worthy of careful embroidery, and then uses embroidery materials of artistic tones and exquisite color harmonies. Today the term tapestries is not so inclusive, but signifies the hand woven pictorial textiles, some of which are modern and woven in the same way as the antique ones.

* * * * * *

Wall hangings and embroidered wall pictures are names given to the scenic needleworked textiles at the present time. Of these there are beautiful examples in modern work. The background remains minus stitchery, the design alone being embroidered. Women who want wall hangings can have them at small cost by working them, themselves. The pictures and the colors and the embroidery must all be excellent for them to be worthy of their purpose.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterborough's Leading Handwriting Analyst for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Ann Palin,
R. R. No. 3, Peterborough, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your card for analysis reveals a tender nature. You are affectionate and kind, sympathetic and sensitive. Your feelings are quite easily hurt through the unthoughtfulness of others, and so you are for ever on the watch, as it were, in order that you do not offend by hurting the feelings of others. Your capital letters represent artistic tendencies, which, if developed, might bring you a certain amount of monetary recompense. The small letters, with their variable size and shape show interesting worthwhile qualities. They denote versatility, intelligence and genuine honesty. You are courteous, and courageous, agreeable and friendly. Poise is depicted in the manner in which you form some of the letters, and so all your qualifications as represented, lend intrigue to your refined and distinguished personality.

Your lucky number is seven. Your birthsign is Libra, the Balancc. You are ruled by Venus. Your best day is Friday. August and December are your most fortunate months. People born under your sign usually have a fine sense of color proportions, and dearly love all types of beauty.

Amelia Hendry,
R. R. No. 9, Peterborough.

Your handwriting indicates a sweet, lovable nature. You are not one who could be termed soft or pliable, because you have a good mind of your own and like to issue orders and see that they are obeyed. You do not relish exacting routine or detail as prescribed by others, but you generally manage to map out your own routine and really enjoy doing it and knowing that at the end of each day you have accomplished what you wanted to do. The close angular and uneven writing denotes the fact that you are not stubborn and that you can, and do, change your mind quite often, especially if by doing so you can bring smiles and happiness to others. You have a fair share of will-power, but not enough to make you domineering. Your whole signature reflects good sense and judgment and also a keen, adaptable nature. Your general character is excellent and your personality charming, but I am afraid others do not appreciate you half enough. Thank you ever so much for your appreciative remarks concerning this column. Your number according to numerology is 22, and is a spiritual or inspiring number. Your best day is Monday. Your birthsign is Cancer, the Crab, and you are ruled by the Moon. February and September are your most fortunate months.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR GENERAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

Disregarding Fundamentals.

I just saw an easy contract lost through disregard of one of the fundamental rules of play. One never becomes an expert until he has made fundamental principles of play so automatic that he may devote all his energies to the observation of the variable elements, requiring careful thought.

Bidding went: South, 1 spade; west passed, and North bid 2 clubs; East, 2 hearts; South, 2 spades; North, 3 spades; East, 4 diamonds; South, 4 spades, which West passed, as his side was vulnerable, and he considered his chances to defeat South were better than those for making 5-odd against an opening bidder.

The opening lead was the king of hearts, which held the first trick. East signalled to come on, by playing his 10 of hearts. The 3 was led by West, so that his partner might miss the 2, and know that West held it. Dummy played the 9, East's jack won. East thought it could do no harm to force the declarer to ruff. There was a bare possibility that he was playing foxy, by holding up the missing 2 of hearts, to make East think West held that card. East led his ace of hearts. Not to be caught napping, in case West held no more hearts, South ruffed with his 8, so that West could not over-ruff unless he held the jack. But West followed suit in hearts.

A fixed rule of play is to lead one of two high honors held in one hand, rather than play a single high honor held in the other hand. To go game the declarer should have led his king of spades. Of course East would have shown out. Then South could have led his 10, which West would have to pass. The ace of spades would win the third round of trumps. South would return to his hand by leading a low club from dummy, winning the trick in his own hand, then laying down his top spade, to pick up West's last trump.

Having played in this manner, South could run off the remaining 4 club tricks, discarding his 2 diamonds, and make 5-odd, because East had failed to lead his ace of diamonds.

Instead of making 5-odd, the declarer failed to go game through a fundamental error. He carelessly led a low spade, won with the ace, only to find that East was void of the suit, and causing the loss of a spade trick to West's jack. Two heart tricks, 1 trump trick and 1 diamond trick gave South only 3-odd, or one trick down.

BE BEAUTIFUL

'Way back in the days when the Ptolemys ruled Egypt, hair curling was considered distinctly an art' In those days, of course, only the crudest of curling equipment existed. Yet the Cleopatras of that day insisted on having ringlets, just as vigorously as do most modern belles. And so they had their slaves heat iron tongs to an alarming temperature, and then used the heated tongs to give their locks the necessary curl.

I don't think that that curling procedure could have been very beneficial to the tresses of the gals who employed it. Yet even today, women sometimes employ extreme methods in order to attain the ringlets that they consider so essential to their loveliness. Of course, there are plenty of safe and effective ways nowadays of acquiring curls. But some girls attempt to curl their own locks with hot irons. They lack sufficient skill to do the job properly. And in such cases, they sometimes do their hair a great deal of injury.

In the hands of an inexpert individual, a curling iron can prove a really dangerous weapon, from the standpoint of their health and beauty. It is the hair ends especially that suffer when an over-hot curling iron is regularly used on them. For the ends possess less oil than the hair near the scalp. And as the heat of the iron tends to extract oil from the hair, the ends easily become dry, brittle and split.

Over-bleaching or improper bleaching also can cause split ends. But regardless of the cause, such a hair condition should always be corrected as soon as detected. Formerly, singeing was always advised. But I think it just as effective merely to clip the split ends off about a fourth of an inch above each split.

In addition, frequent hot oil shampoos, such as the ones described in my "Beauty Culture" booklet, should be administered weekly. The oil should be aplied particlarly to the ends, because of their extreme dryness. Such oil treatments will help to nourish the hair follicles and the scalp, and will aid in keeping the hair luxuriantly soft and glossy.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

Figure

Mary: Constipation may indeed be a cause of overweight. Full information on correcting constipation is contained in my "New Figure" booklet, along with an excellent reducing course that takes off about 8 to 10 pounds in two weeks.

Colors

Millie: I thing that you will find cool pastel shades more becoming to you for summer wear than bright, vivid hues. Your coloring is too delicate for brilliant hues.

Brown Spots

Doris: To eradicate brown spots, so-called "liver spots", try applying a solution of hyposulphite of soda and water. Use one part of the chemical to eight parts of water.

Blonde Hair Rinse

Grace: The blonde hair rinse is composed of the juice of one lemon, one tablespoon of vinegar, one tablespoon of peroxide and one pint of clear water.

STAMP CORNER

By M. A. BESSEY

The World's Rarest Stamp.

No, we are not illustrating it, and if we did you would hardly give it a second glance. Strange to say the one cent magenta stamp of the 1856 issue of British Guiana, although the most valuable stamp in the world is probably one of the least interesting in appearance. A brief outline of its history may be of interest to you, though, and it follows, as taken in part from Stamp Collecting, June 9, 1934.

Mr. L. Vernon Vaughan was the first owner of this rarity who realized its philatelic value. That was just sixty-one years ago, at which time Mr. Vaughan was a boy not yet in his teens' Being rather badly bitten with the stamp collecting bug, he dug up an old lot of family letters, most of them bearing British Guiana stamps and on one of which he found this rare stamp, now known the world over.

At that time Mr. Vaughan was very anxious to secure sets of mint stamps, which were being offered by a certain dealer' Pocket money being rather limited, he decided to try and sell some of his British Guiana stamps to secure funds to buy these new unused issues.

The one cent magenta fell an early victim to the lure of more attractive issues. It did not appear to be such a fine specimen, and Mr. Vaughan, thinking at that time that it could undoubtedly be replaced without a great deal of trouble, decided to dispense with it for these more attractive looking sets.

Bought for Six Shillings.

The stamp was removed from the album and taken to a Mr. McKinnon, who was a very keen collector. Mr. McKinnon would not even consider it at first, saying that it was not at all a good specimen, and further he did not like its octagonal shape. However, with some persuasion he finally parted with six shillings and bought the rare British Guiana stamp.

He kept it for ten years, and finally disposed of it on the London market for 25 pounds.

Mr. Vaughan is still living and when questioned as to how he feels regarding this rare stamp that he once owned, he replies that he hardly ever thinks of it now, and never with disappointment or chagrin. "What is the use?"

It is interesting to note how the stamp ever came to be in existence. In 1856 the postmaster of British Guiana discovered that his supplies of stamps would not last him until the next boat arrived from England.

Is Only a Substitute.

He called in the local printer and together they designed a stamp, consisting of ordinary printer's type. A few hundred copies were printed in a hurry from stock type, on magenta-colored paper. The postmaster himself put the gum on them, and the people of British Guiana bought them the next day, rather grudgingly. The issue was only in use but a few weeks, and the specimen in the late Arthur Hind collection is said to be the only one left in existence, and to-day is valued at approximately 10,000 pounds or $50,000'

Although the specimen in question is said to be the only one left in existence, there is still just a possibility of another one being unearthed one of these days, in some trunk full of old letters and correspondence' If such an old trunk or box exists in your attic, cellar or vault, don't overlook it any longer. Take a day off and go through it thoroughly, you may not find a one cent British Guiana, but then that is not the only rare stamp in the world' Who knows what you may find?

BEHIND the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL.

HOLLYWOOD, July 28—Funniest Hollywood story in the day's news comes from the United Artists studio, where a group of celebs were idling away the lunch hour watching the Goldwyn cuties rehearse a number for the new Cantor picture.

Only one of the kibitzers to remain unimpressed was the much married and many times disillusioned William Wellman.

"But look, Billie," exclaimed Cantor, "Aren't they beautiful?"

Wellman removed a pipe from his mouth.

"Yeah," he snapped, "And every darn one of them would sue you."

He'll seek Woolsey for a partner because Bob, in the early days of his career, used to be a jockey.

is about the rarest thing to be found either on the screen or elsewhere, so special honors are due the First National Pictures, which has taken a simple, homely subject such as "The Merry Frinks", which opens at the Capital Theatre on Monday, and injected into ti more laughs than has been furnished by a screen play in a month of Sundays.

For sheer, unadulterated fun, for rare and genuine humor with a touch of pathos and some romance thrown in for good measure, "The Merry Frinks" takes front rank in screen comedy.

No better actor could have been chosen to play opposite Miss Chatterton than the cool, suave man-of-the world, Adolphe Menjou, who gives a virile and convincing performance as the playwright husband whose infatuation for the beautiful and popular star of his musical production brings about the tragedy.

ARGOS LEADING HENLEY REGATTA

Toronto Double Blues Boost Total to 23 Points in Friday's Events.

ST. CATHARINES, July 28 (C.P.). —Maintaining an early-made lead, Toronto Argonauts last night stood within reach of full victory in the Royal Canadian Henley—but right behind them came the dangerous threat from Buffalo Westsides.

The Toronto double blues boosted their total points to 23 in the series of events yeteerday, while Westsides gained six more in their aggregate to tie in second place with Detroit, each with 16 marks. Hamilton Leanders were fourth with 8.

Argos' big entry took three wins, five seconds and four third places, while Buffalo jumped into contention by winning four events and taking second place in two others.

Buffalo Wins Four.

Buffalo gained victory through the same determined ability that permitted them to make a clean sweep in the last three years by winning the intermediate 150-pound four event over Brockville and Argos in that order. They also bettered Detroit in the intermediate fours, their big stronghold, and outdistanced Hamilton Leanders in the 150-pound junior eights. St. Catharines were scratched in that event. Hamilton came right back, however, to defeat Detroit and Argos in the junior eights.

Brockville won the first event of the day by covering the course after Buffalo scratched their entry in the 140-pound fours. St. Catharines gained the junior 140-pound singles through Ernie Rymer, who left Ryan of Argos and Morrison of Detroit far behind, fighting it out for second place.

Westsides blew up in their desperate effort to win the 140-pound junior eights and were forced to concede victory to their rivals from Detroit. Argos also were unable to maintain their pace and lost third position to Toronto Dons. The winners' time was 7.35.

Weddings

McKENZIE—RICHARDS

A quiet wedding took place at Warkworth on July 25th, when Edith Ruth Richards, eldest daughter of Mrs. Richards and the late Dr. J. N. Richards, was united in marriage to Mr. Roland McKenzie of Centreton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McKenzie; the Rev. Gordon Duncan conducting the ceremony in the presence of the immediate members of the family. The bride was unattended and wore a frock of peach flowered chiffon. Following a dainty luncheon the couple left by motor for Montreal and other points, the bride travelling in a white and yellow ensemble with white accessories. On their return Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie will reside in Centreton.

Legion To Urge Jobs With Civil Service

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., July 28 (C.P.).—A resolution urging that the Ontario Command confer, through its officers, with the Ontario Government with a view to having government and municipal authorities grant special preferences to positions in the Civil Service, was adopted at the annual meeting of Zone 25, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., here last night.

Delegates from posts in Brockville, Cardinal, Merrickville, Kemptville, Delta, Gananoque, Cornwall and other towns were present at the meeting. Col. R. J. Gill, M.C. V.D., of the Brockville post, former commander of the 21st Battalion in France, was elected Zone Commander for the ensuing year. He succeeds N. J. Douglas of Smith's Falls.

Two Cars Collide Four Slightly Hurt

Two cars were slightly damaged in collision south of Springville on Highway 28 shortly before 7.30 o'clock last evening. The four persons involved in the smash escaped with minor injuries and shock.

Harold Davis of 221½ Brock street, was stated to be driver of the south-bound car, which was in collision with another automobile proceeding in the opposite direction and owned and driven by Alfred Mason of North York township.

Miss Margaret "Peggy" Cameron of Ashburnham, was descirebd as owner of the local car. Besides the driver she was accompanied by J. A. O'Brien.

MEHARRY DEATH NOT YET SOLVED

Investigation Gradually Being Narrowed Down by Police.

BAFFLING PROBLEM.

Following five days of intensive investigation since the dead body of Robert Meharry was discovered lying in a pool of blood on Gordon avenue early Tuesday morning, police admit they are still without a solution to the mystery.

The body of the 66-year-old widower who had lived alone at 505 Cross street bore extensive head injury; the multiple fracture at the base of the skull being caused in the opinion of medical men by a blow of extreme violence. Other injuries included a deep incision on the left upper lip of the dead man, a bruise over the right temple, and bruises on the knuckles of the left hand besides minor scratches and cuts on other parts of the body.

Working on the theory that Meharry was struck down by someone who believed he was being watched on the lonely side road which is a favorite spot for courting couples, the police are known to be gradually narrowing down the investigation. It is possible something definite in the way of a solution to the baffling problem may result over the week-end.

BANDIT'S FATHER TO GO ON STAGE

John Dillinger, Sr., Accepts Offer to Raise Cash for Son's Funeral.

6 APPEARANCES DAILY.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 28. (AP). John Dillinger, Sr., the Mooresville, Ind., farmer whose son led a gang credited with obtaining $500,000 in bank robberies, is going on the stage—because he needs money.

His first appearance will be in a theatre here to-morrow. He celebrated his 70th birthday Friday.

With him, capitalizing on the notorious exploits of his outlaw son who was buried here last Wednesday, will be another son, Hubert Dillinger, and a daughter and son-in-law, Mrs. Audrey Hancock.

A few days ago the elder Dillinger expressed concern over how he was to pay for the expenses of the funeral. He decided the stage offer might provide a means of paying his bills.

In six appearances a day the Dillingers will be interviewed in regard to John's life, especially his visit home last April 3 while he was the object of a widespread search by police.

DIED

FERGUSON.—At Nicholls Hospital on Friday evening, July 27, 1934, John Edward Ferguson of 220 Edinburgh street, aged 73 years.

Funeral on Monday at 2 p.m., from Belleghem's Funeral Home, with the Rev. David McKee, pastor of Truth Mission officiating. Interment at Payne's Cemetery, Dummer Township.

IN MEMORIAM

TODD.—In loving memory of A. E. Todd, who departed this life, July 28, 1926.

His smiling way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.

Military Maps Again Litter Vienna Desks Where War Note Signed 20 Years Ago

(By The Associated Press)

Twenty years ago to-day, Count Leopold Von Berchtold signed his name to a 70-word manifesto—the Great War was on!

That document, penned at Vienna where army officers again are poring over their war maps, was an open telegram from the Austro-Hungarian Minister of Foreign Affairs to the Serbians.

One of the shortest, mightiest messages of history, it launched a hurricane of hatred which engulfed the world in a tidal wave of blood. It embroiled 27 nations, and sacrificed more than 8,000,000 lives.

Two score years ago to-day, however, no such Armageddon was dreamed of, far less expected.

Serbian hatred for Austrians had vented itself in the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and his wife. Austria long had wanted to control the Balkans.

The declaration of war read:

"The Royal Government of Servia (as Serbia was then known), not having replied in a staisfactory manner in the note remitted to it by the Austro-Hungarian Minister in Belgrade on July 23, 1914, the Imperial and Royal Government finds itself compelled to proceed itself to safeguard its rights and interests and to have recourse for this purpose to force of arms.

"Austria-Hungary considers itself therefore from this moment in a state of war with Servia."

Obituary

While Quebec police continued their probe into the circumstances of his mysterious death, a large gathering of friends and relatives of Joseph O'Brien, Peterborough hydro worker whose body was discovered near Ottawa this week, paid their final respects to him yesterday. His funeral was conducted from the home, 163 Princess street, to the Church of the Sacred Heart and thence to St. Joseph's Cemetery in Douro.

A profusion of tokens in tribute and the presence of an unusually large body of mourners at the home and the church gave silent testimony to the sympathy felt for the bereaved young widow and the other members of the family. At the church, a regular Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. J. J. O'Brien at 9 a.m. He was assisted by Rev. C. J. Maloney and Rev. J. V. Masterson.

Mr. O'Brien was the son of Cornelius O'Brien and Ellen Barry, both of whom predeceased him. He had been a trusted employee of the Hydro Commission for a number of years, latterly serving as a foreman in the Ottawa-Hull district.

Besides his widow, formerly Irene Gooley, and their infant child, Joan, he is survived by three brothers, Lawrence of Ottawa, John of Norwood and Frank of New York. Remaining also are seven sisters, Miss Regina O'Brien of this city, Mrs. John Sullivan, Mrs. John Condon and Mrs. William Garvey, all of Douro ;sisters St. Winifred and St. Ermelinda of the Sisters of Notre Dame, Montreal, and Sister Anna Teresa of the Sisters of St. Joseph, now of North Bay.

Pall bearers were Lawrence, John and Frank O'Brien, William Garvey, John Condon and George Marley. Honorary bearers were Leo, Dan, Edward and Joseph Gooley, brothers-in-law of the deceased. Among those attending the funeral from a distance were John Dinesen, Leslie Thete, Leslie Davidson, Anthony Bevin and Harold Anderson, fellow employees.

Rev. M. J. MaGuire recited the prayers at the graveside in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

JOHN EDWARD FERGUSON

The death occurred at Nicholls Hospital last evening of John Edward Ferguson of 220 Edinburgh street following an illness of about two months' duration. He was 73 years of age.

A native of Dummer township and a former resident of Warsaw, the late Mr. Ferguson had resided in this city for over forty years. He was a member of Emily L.O.L. 41.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. K. A. Davis, Mrs. M. Doig, Miss H. A. Ferguson all of this city, and one brother, Alexander G. Ferguson.

The funeral is to be held on Monday at 2 p.m. from Belleghem's Funeral Home, with the Rev. David McKee, pastor of Truth Mission, officiating at the services. Interment will follow at Payne's Cemetery in Dummer township.

DEFICIT OF U.S. PILES UP FAST

Treasury Spends $244,293,998 More Than Received From July 1-25.

CONTINUE FOR MONTHS.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—Secretary Henry Morgenthau, returning Monday after a month's vacation, will find that the United States deficit is growing more than twice as fast as at this time a year ago.

Between July 1 and 25, treasury figures showed today the government spent $244,293,998 more than it took in. The deficit for the same period last year was $101,360,234.

The treasury view is that this is not a ground for worry. The situation is considered a temporary one, involving emergency outlays designed to speed recovery. It is in line with President Roosevelt's budget message in which he outlined large borrowings this year for recovery. He added that the budget should be balanced in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Emergency expenditures from July 1 to 25 reached $206,813,089, nearly seven times the figure for the same period of last year, in spite of credits of $50,626,398 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation this year as against outgo of $22,738,671 in 1933.

The overdraft is expected to increase much faster in the next few months, with $6,414,019,043 down on the president's program for emergency spending, if needed, during the fiscal year.

Young Woman Killed In Sutton Accident

LINDSAY, Ont., July 28 (CP) — Mary Whittaker, 19, of Sutton, was killed and Jim Smith, also of Sutton, lies critically injured in a Toronto hospital, the result of a collision between a truck carrying 13 berry-pickers and a car carrying six people, about five miles east of Sutton shortly after midnight.

Both Miss Whittaker and Mr. Smith were passengers of the car, which was driven by Harry Taylor, of Sutton. No one in the truck, driven by a Mr. Pattendon, of Virginia, Ont., was hurt beyond a few minor injuries and shock. Neither driver was held by the police, but an inquest has been ordered. Both vehicles were badly damaged and details of the accident were investigated by Constable Willis of Pefferlaw, who was on the scene of the accident shortly after it happened.

TRIO ARRESTED FOR OLD CRIME

Fail to Locate Body of Boy Allegedly Buried 15 Years Ago.

SHOT IN QUARREL.

WINNIPEG, July 28. — (CP) — Two Manitoba farm laborers and a British Columbia miner were under arrest today in the two provinces as police sought a solution in a 15-year-old mystery surrounding the disappearanceof Steve M. Yahodynski, Roblin, Man., farm boy. Steve vanished in September, 1919.

Michael Glutyk, a former resident of Roblin, was arrested at Kamloops Thursday and is being returned to Winnipeg under police escort. Miguel Glutyk, a cousin of Michael, and Tony Worbeck, farm laborers, were taken into custody at Roblin today for questioning.

According to police the three boys met Steve on the road near their farm. Michael was then only 15 years of age and the other two 13 years. An altercation between Steve and Michael over a girl followed and during a scuffle a gun was discharged accidentally.

Police declined to reveal their source of information but stated that the three boys, frightened at what might happen buried the body in a slough. The two men arrested at Roblin, police said, led them to a spot where they are alleged to have buried the body. Topographical changes in 15 years, however, have made exact locations indistinct recollections and a week's search failed to disclose the grave.

Police have a shotgun alleged to be the one from which the fatal shot was accidentally fired.

CHILD SLIGHTLY BURNED

Little Joan Carley, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Carley, 461 Hunter street West was today reported to be making favorable progress at Nicholls Hospital where she was admitted late yesterday afternoon following a burning accident. Dr. J. H. Eastwood is attending physician.

It was learned that the child had apparently been playing with a live match, which set her clothing on fire when it became ignited and fell to her dress as she was seated on a chair in the house. The child's mother who was close at hand promptly extinguished the flames. While the burns received by the child were fortunately not of a severe nature, she was removed to hospital as a precautionary measure.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

THE HORSEMEN racing at Stamford Park threatened to strike this week as a protest against the small purses and were successful in getting the plant officials to raise the ante. There is no denying the fact that all our tracks are suffering from a lack of racing material and the talent is becoming tired of seeing the same animals in action every couple days. With the advent of new legislature passed across the line, allowing for the lengthy meetings at the various tracks, U.S. horsemen are keeping to their own side of the border, which accounts for the small entries on our Canadian tracks.

Crout Au Pot, the best handicap performer to show in our midst this season departed for Saratoga Thursday with several lesser lights. Count Bruno has lost a couple of close decisions at Stamford lately and should win his next start. Our old friend Len Sweep is sure knocking them dizzy around Montreal, winning her last three in a row. It is about time for Donny Johnny and Dr. Syntex to turn in winning performances, as they are both keyed to concert pitch at the present time. Bushman has again changed hands, this time N. J. Donato is the new owner, he having acquired him from J. E. Smallman via the claiming route and the same day Smallman claimed back Wooley West, an old favorite of his.

WEDDING RING is down at Empire City and it will be just a case of hanging up the numbers when they turn her loose. They have shipped Dark Ayr from Montreal up to Stamford with the idea of making a killing and the Wright stable from Barrie is beginning to win a few purses and they still have Worthing and Spey Crest to hear from. There are two down at Rockingham namely, Coflier and Bittybit that are due to click soon. Both have plenty of class and are in the rare state of the pink.

Energetic Boy has been laying low lately but will come out one of these fine days and just laugh his way home. This Tricky's Son is developing into quite a horse. Won again the other day and paid off $32 which shows that the public had been sold on him. Bill Campbell has been keeping both Carylden and Canny Age in the barn for a long time, maybe he intends to enter them at Hamilton. For a good many years this was the time when the Windsor racing season was at its height but with Detroit running every day, the two spacious plants, Devonshire and Kenilworth are shut tight Not even an odd horse stabled there or working out on the tracks. They were hoping that Detroit might fold up, but business is so good it looks as if Windsor can say goodbye for horse racing this summer at least.

Lee's Seniors Tie Count 8th Frame After Bad Start

Calladine Hurls Masterful Ball for Seven Innings After Allowing Five Runs in Opening Stanzas—Konopka Handles 13 Chances Safely in Clever Fielding Display.

NATIONALS OUTHIT LOCAL AGGREGATION 10-6, FOLEY HEADS VISITING HITTERS WITH DOUBLE

BELLEVILLE, Ont., July 27.—(Special to The Examiner).—Coming from behind Knotty Lee's Peterborough Seniors made their hits count into runs here last night to play the league leading Belleville Nationals to a 5 to 5 draw in a C.O.B.L. game that was called by the officials on account of darkness in the tenth inning. Bill Calladine drew the Peterborough pitching assignment and after a rather faulty start in the first two frames, settled away to pitch championship ball and limit the Nationals to three small singles after the third stanza. Carl Casey started on the hometown mound, but was forced to give way to Jack Williams in the seventh frame, as the Petes battled gamely to draw closer to the leaders.

The Petes opened in a blaze of glory when they welcomed Casey with a run in the initial stanza, but the heavy bats of the Mills' led aggregation swung into action and coupled with Calladine's wildness and a series of extra base hits the homesters forged well to the fore with three runs in the initial frame and two in the second. The third frame Calladine wavered slightly, allowing two hits, but later settled away to hurl one of the smartest games seen in this city in some time, when he blanked the Mills' boys for the remaining seven frames. Casey hurled fair enough ball but was weakening under the steady barrage of Peterborough hits when derricked in favor of Williams. Despite the fact that the Nationals outhit the Petes 10 to 6, the Lee-coached outfit made their hits count into runs and well deserved the draw decision that was theirs.

Foley Leads At Bat.

Tommy Foley led the visiting hitters with two timely clouts, while Dallin connected for a double in the fourth that counted two Peterborough runs. Murray and Ash were the only other visiting players to connect safely. Costly errors on the part of the Nationals repeatedly put the Petes in scoring position.

The Petes opened when Konopka was safe on Smith's error. He stole second and scored on Foley's single to short right. In their half of the initial frame and after two were out Green singled, Mills walked with Green scoring on Weir's short hit to right, Mills stopping at third. R. Smith slashed a single over second to score Mills and Weir, but was caught trying to stretch the hit. The locals added two more in the second frame when Darrah opened with a triple to centre, scored on Ford's double, who himself registered on Utronki's infield out.

The Petes came to life in the fourth when Foley singled, Murray strolled as Whatley lined to first. Ash went out on a roller to Casey, all advancing Dallin doubled, scoring two and himself scoring on Hollingsworth's one-base blow. Hollingsworth was caught trying to stretch it. With their backs to the wall the Petes rose to the occasion in the eighth. Konopka strolled, went to second on Batten's infield out and to third after Weir took Foley's lofty fly in centre and scored when Kerr erred on Murray's bullet-like drive. Whatley ended the rally by popping to first.

The Petes failed to count a single blow from the delivery of Williams from the seventh on, but capitalized on the plays that meant runs, by running bases perfectly. Weir opened the ninth with a single, but Mills hit into a double play when Calladine started to bear down. In the tenth Utronki threw a scare into the visitors by hitting a double with two out but Kerr raised to Hollingsworth and Umpire Johnson called the game on account of darkness.

LAKESHORE PLAYOFFS

COBOURG, July 28.—(Special to The Examiner).—At a meeting of the officials of the Lakeshore Junior Baseball League playoff dates were arranged for the first and second teams, Cobourg and Oshawa. The umpires are Donald of Oshawa and Campbell of Cobourg. The first game will be played on Saturday, July 28th and the second at Horseshow Park here on August 2nd.

Somerville Again In Golf Wars

C. Ross "Sandy" Somerville, of London, Ont., ace among Canada's golfers and only Canadian ever to hold the U.S. amateur golf crown, announced recently that he would attempt to repeat his previous win when the battle for the coveted trophy again rolls around this summer. He will also be a likely starter in the Canadian open at Toronto, and will be favored by many to make the great of golfdom step fast to take the championship of the Dominion. Somerville has started his campaign for new honors by capturing the Manoir Richelieu Shield over the tricky mountain course at Murray Bay, Quebec, and setting up a new tournament record in doing so. Sandy is shown, making a shot to the green from the edge of the fairway.

OMEMEE UPSETS SOFTBALL BUCKET

Takes 18-13 Victory From Keene Girls on Latter's Home Diamond.

Keene girls' softball team ran into unexpected competition last night on their home diamond, when they tangled with Omemee and after seven frames of hectic softball, were turned back by the count of 18 to 13, thus dropping their second league game in three starts in the second half of the ladies' loop. This reverse is the biggest surprise to softball fandom so far this season, although the Omemee squad have looked promising in several of their games, and this win keeps them right up with the leaders.

The winners grabbed an early lead when they socked the offerings of Jean Muroe, Keene twirler, with a will and shoved fourteen counters across in the first four frames before the opposition could tally. The latter made a bid for the lead in their half of the fourth, when Jean Hickson tired and they scored ten runs. However, Omemee, continued to add to their total, when Marilyn McCarthy took the mound for Keene in the fifth, scoring four more before the game was called. Dot Sherin replaced Hickson for the winners in the fifth, and finished the game with a steady style of twirling that kept the Keene batters guessing. Ev. Bigelow, catching for Omemee, turned in her best game of the year, while her sister, Phyllis, in left smothered eight flies without a slip.

MENIE TAKES ONE GAME LEAD

West Seymour Beaten 16-10 in First of Softball League Finals.

MEET AGAIN SATURDAY

BURNBRAE, July 28. (Examiner Correspondence).—Menie softball aggregation took a lead in the Seymour League finals Wednesday evening when they trounced the West Seymour outfit 16 runs to 10 in an interesting game. A late start, due to the non-arrival of some of the Westside payers, left the finish in semi-darkness.

Anderson, on the losers' mound, was hardly as effective as usual, nor did he receive the best of support. He struck out nine, walked five and threw three wild ones, all of which figured in the scoring. Eagleson was very steady and though hit heavily kept them well scattered—no more than three to any inning. He fanned a pair and walked the same.

Rutherford, subbing for McCook, was the batting star for the losers with a triple and two doubles. Nicholas also secured three hits. Eagleson and Jeffs with three runs apiece, led the Menie scorers. The Menie infield were going great guns, Roy Oddie pulling a feature when he took the rebound of Nicholas' fly off Eagleson's hands. The West side outfield looked a little more effective than the infield, though Fraser was good at first.

K. Oddie hit the only homer of the game in the 5th.

The line-ups:

Menie — Eagleson, p; Jeffs, c; Craighead, 1b; R. Oddie, 3b; Rannie, 3b; K. Oddie, ss; Hume, lf; Milne, cf; Wallace, rf.

West Seymour — Anderson, p; Holmes, c; Fraser, 1b; Chadwick, 2b; Hoard, 3b; Hooper, ss; Nicholas, lf; Rutherford, cf; McCulloch rf.

CASEY MASTERSON ALLOWS FOUR SCATTERED HITS IN 7 INNINGS TO GIVE CLUBMEN 6-2 VICTORY

Winners Combine Timely Hitting With Breaks of Game to Cop Decision.

CADD LEADS WITH WILLOW

Weir, Johnson and Hillier Give Nice Fielding Exhibition for Losers.

Cogs won their second straight E.P.L. playoff game from C.G.E. last night, 6 to 2, before a good crowd at the Exhibition Grounds. Playing snappier ball, taking advantage of the breaks, receiving fine hurling and hitting in the right spots—all aided in the Clubmen's victory. Two more wins in five games would mean another E.P.L. title for Cogs.

Casey Masterson was in rare form on Cogs' slab last evening and struck out eight while keeping four hits scattered in the seven innings and walking two. He mixed a fast ball and hook to keep on top of the batters all the time. His support was good for the most part, though in two frames it was shaky. Roy Armour started for C.G.E. but gave way in the third to Ken Hetherington, with McGillen going in the fourth to finish. Their backing was only fair.

None of the Electric hitters came through with more than one safety, while Cadd topped Cogs with the willow, driving out two bingles in two appearances. The fielding of Weir, Johnston and Hillier was outstanding for the losers, while Vannest played the steadiest game for Cogs, with Moore pulling off a nice running catch in centre.

Electrics tallied once in the first, Nicholls walking, moving up on a miscue and tearing home on a second error. Cogs got it back in their half when Wilson walked, stole second and reached home on Cadd's single. Neither side scored in the second. Weir put Electrics one up in the third when his fly was dropped. He reached the keystone sack on Nicholls' hit, third on an out and the plate on Mowry's clout.

Take Lead In Third.

The Cogs took the lead in their end of the third, tallying thrice. Wilson was safe on an error, stole second, took third on a wild heave and home on an out. Padgett walked, pilfered the next base, got to the hot corner on an infield out and home on an error. Cadd also drew four balls and moved up on an error, tallying later on Rogers' single to centre. They added one in the fourth, Padgett walking, stealing and scoring on a hit by Rocke; and one more in the fifth when Cadd beat out a hit, took second on an error, third on an out and home on Masterson's hit. C.G.E. failed to threaten after the third, not a runner reaching second.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, I suppose you and the resta the fans is still talking over that battle with Belleville here last Sat. which saw our lads finally take it on the chin to the count of 8 and 4. It was 1 of them games in which nearly everything happens, and the boys didn't get none of the best of the brakes on a coupla plays. In the 1st place, in the 4th frame, when the Nats bagged 4 runs, they woulda only copped ½ than No. if it hadn't been for the fact that our Mister Ash, after apparently making a circus catch of a high floater from Mister Mills' bat, finally dropped the ball when he fell in trying to make the turn to throw to the plate. The home talent argued long and loud that Mister Ash had his digits round the horsehide long enough to make it a legal catch in any man's league, but the empires couldn't see it that way, despite all the oratory. That was bad brake No. 1, and No. 2 came in the 8th frame when with 2 out, us a run behind and base runners on 2nd and 3rd, Pilot Lee called upon Mister Calladine to go up there to the plate and hit for Mister Deyell. Which same he done with a vicious drive down the 3rd base line that started out like it would drive home 2 runs and put the Petes in front. Unfortunately for our side, our Mister Burton, who has been having plenty of luck and all of it bad lately, was hit with the lightning smash as he tore in from 3rd and was called out for being hit with a batted ball. That sad mesh-up not only cost our talent the lead, but it knocked Mister Burton outa the game for at least a week, which you gotta admit is a tough blow all round.

Fortunately for our position in the league standing, the Oshawa Dukes, which had been getting kicked around with monotonous regularity, suddenly come to life and give the Kingston Ponies a double spanking. And if Mister Joe Daley's remarks on the same could be printed it would be the most interesting story of the season. The Dukes smeared the Ponies 7 to nil and 7 to 1, and made them like it. And to add insult to injury, Belleville slipped into the penitentiary town Wed. nite and give the home talent another shellacking, mainly due to Mister Sonny Green, who stepped up to the plate in the 9th with 2 out, the bases full and the score tied and smote a home run, which is the surest way of winning a ball game that I can think of.

As a result of all these doings the Petes is still well in the forefront of the league standing and should stay there.

Well, old-timer, it's too hot for any more, so so-long.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

P.S.—Expect to be away from the ball circuit for the next coupla weeks, getting exercise pulling the big ones outa Stoney Lake. As for you, old fish, I'll drop you a line from there.—A.W.C.

PETES GIVE CLEVER DISPLAY IN BEATING AAJMAA CLUB 16-9 IN LOCAL GUTTED STICK GAME

Dundas, King and Routly Play Prominent Part in Kiwanis Victory.

SMART STICK-HANDLING.

Gibb, Runions, Gould and Hy Day Stars of Visiting Aggregation.

Smarter stick-handling and passing, more speed and all round swiftness stood out in Peterborough's 16-9 lacrosse romp with Belleville at Riverside yesterday evening.

The visitors, led by our old friend Joe Gould, who used to play a rattling game with the Hastings juniors a few years ago, swung into the "don't mean maybe" kind of action and ran in two goals faster than an Empress beer clerk the night the bungs were knocked out. Gould rolled the second one from the crease past Meyette with plenty of time to pick his shot. But, when Ira Dundas and Pete King clocked in five minutes later and "Mick" Magee even later, the Petes settled down an dgave the small group of fans, half of them women, an interesting display of the bob-tailed game that puts a premium on sustained action and goals.

Short, snappy passes were handled with few muffs, and it was in this department that the Petes showed more skill and finish. The whole local team handled themselves well, with Magee's deceptive shooting being a feature.

Ira Dundas and Pete King were always prominent, and Routly played a useful game. Jack Hope, Doug Miller and LeBarr checked well and their long reach intercepted a lot of passes. Red Creighton turned in a smart game until he retired with a sore foot. Henry Jones and Emmett Creighton rounded out the squad with plenty of speed, both sharing in the net bulging. Meyette stopped a lot of shots, four of them in a row in the third quarter when a determined Belleville attack was turned back.

Gibb, Runions, Gould and H. Day were prominent for the visitors, and Owen Hendy of Campbellford was as active and peppery as usual for the visitors. Only four minor penalties were handed out, and the game was commendably clean.

The Line-up.

The teams were as follows:

Belleville— Goal, Goodier; defence, H. Day and Hendy; centre, Gibb; wings, Joe Gould and Runions; rover, Burgess; subs, Murphy, Delaney, Brooks, F. Day and Messiah.

Peterborough—Goal, Meyette; defense, D. Miller and R. Creighton; centre, H. Jones; rover, Routly; wings, Dundas and King; subs, W. LeBarr, Hope, Magee, E. Creighton.

LEAFS WIN 7-5.

Bears Make it Three Out of Four Over Redwings by Taking Final 6-3.

(By the Associated Press)

Last place Baltimore Orioles, with apparently nowhere to go this season, have blasted the hopes of Montreal Royals of regaining a berth in the first division for the time being at least.

Led by Woodley Abernathy, the Orioles unleased a barrage of 24 hits including nine home runs and four doubles to whip Montreal twice yesterday, 14-5, and 7-0. Abernathy connected for four homers, two in each game, to bring his season's total to 21, and Johnny Kroner and Dick Oliver hit a pair of round trippers apiece.

While all this bombardment was causing most of the excitement, Beryl Richmond sneaked into the picture with the finest pitching performance of the day as he allowed the Royals only one hit in the night cap, a single by Hubby Walker.

Winners On Series

League leading Newark Bears made it three out of four over Rochester Red Wings to take the series final, 6-3.

Walter Brown chalked up his 13th win of the campaign, although he had to be rescued by Vito Tamulis, who was later derricked in favor of Frank Makoskey. The defeat sent Rochester deeper into third position in the pennant scramble.

Buffalo Bisons pushed themselves into a threatening position for the last notch in the first division as they rallied to score five runs in the ninth inning to defeat Albany Senators 9-6. Two bases on balls, three hits and three Albany errors sent the five runs across the plate. The Bisons now are four games behind the fourth place Senators and 2½ in back of the fifth place Montreal Royals.

Keep Near Top

Toronto Maple Leafs kept within hailing distance of the league leaders as they connected for 17 safeties to defeat the Syracuse Chiefs 7-5. The Leafs scored five runs in the seventh inning driving Bobby Coombs, Syracuse hurler off the mound to clinch the game.

Fashion-Crafts again failed to field a full team at Central last night, but so did Johnston's Tires—the latter being short one or two men. Hence, no game could be played. Since both teams defaulted without notice, it is either a case of "No game" or else "A loss for both teams." The loop executive will have to decide this point. We see no reason for defaults even if one team is out of the running, and some action should be taken to discipline those responsible. Meantime, the men's softball fixture tonight has been changed and Orphans and Brintons will play at six in Central. It should be a nifty number. The schedule next week will be run off according to Hoyle, we hope.

Down at the Exhibition Grounds, Cogs 6-5'd C.G.E. to grab the second E.P.L. playoff tilt in two starts. It's a four out of seven series, next one being Tuesday, and the Electrics will have to get in there fast or else hang up their spikes and go fishing. And, we're told, the fishing isn't so hot lately. But neither is C.G.E.'s baseball. They fall down in the pinches, and they're not getting the pitching. It's not too late yet, and the Electrics may knock off the next two to even the little world serial up.

• • • • • •

Cogs tried hard to boot the affair away in the early stages, but rallied to the old colors in time to have the mitt raised at the end of the bout. In spite of several bad errors, they made the most of their opportunities, hit timely and had some smart hurling by Casey Masterson. He let C.G.E. down with four hits, walked two and fanned eight. That's not bad going for seven innings. The two clubs have agreed to play out the string at seven frames since it's generally dark about that canto. The pitchers will notice the difference between seven and nine innings when they hit the O.B.A.A. playdowns.

• • • • • •

The E.P.L.-ers drew their best crowd of the year, some two hundred customers being in the stand. Or so it seemed to us, but since we haven't seen so many down there all summer, our judgment may be off. Anyway, it was a good crowd but the boys didn't dish up their best brand of baseball in honor of the occasion. Let's hope it doesn't discourage the lads and lasses who kick in at the gate. It's likely that Percy Vennest and Jack Barry will face each other in the next fracas.

• • • • • •

The Petes went to Belleville yesterday, spotted the Nats five runs the first two frames and then tied 'em, 5-all, in ten innings. 'Twas a lovely scrap with Bill Calladine going great guns the last eight stanzas after having a touch of the wobbles at first, the Petes doing some timely hitting and playing errorless ball back of him. Big Monaghan handled thirteen chances perfectly, with Murray also knocking down some ten. Foley hit twice while Dallins double scored two. Once again Old Jack Williams had to be rushed to the rescue of the Quinte squad when locals began to get next to Casey. The Chief took over the job in the eighth and gave no hits the rest of the way. Calladine's flinging had the opposition baffled most of the game. Green continued his hitting streak with three. This tussle does not count but will have to be replayed later if it has any bearing on the final standing.

• • • • • •

Belleville is thinking of complaining to the C.O.B.I. about their treatment in Kingston Wednesday, claiming the players were jostled around after the game and two Belleville women were hit by rowdies, one other having her dress torn, before they got into their cars. They were sore—the fans were—because the Nats had won out in the ninth and because Umpire Woodley of Belleville had chased Coach Daley from the bench. This matter should be looked into. The Kingston scribe blames the fans' attitude on Woodley for grinning broadly at the crowd when they went after him, thereby incensing them more. Umpires aren't supposed to pay any attention at all to spectators in the stand.

• • • • • •

Kiwanis lacrossers took a 16-9 decision over Belleville here yester eve at Riverside, having a little too much experience and polish for the Aajmaas-cum-Campbellford crew. We don't know just what the game proved as it's still up in the air whether this group is going to finish the season, or is already finished. Some of these days, some of the officers ought to sort of get together and decide to either continue the schedule or go into the playoffs.

• • • • • •

For the second time in three starts since the gals' loop second-half schedule started, the classy Keene crew took the sour side of a score, Omemee beating them last night in Keene, 18-13. Jean Munroe was nicked for copious clouts as the O's piled up an early lead, then playing a good game in the field to nurse that lead home for a win. It was the second win in four times to the post this half for Omemee. A femme named Phyllis Bigelow, who tends the left field garden for the winners, made a right noble job of it last p.m., flitting here and there about the scenery to put the clutch on everything that was hit in her general direction.

CARDS SHUT OUT 4-0.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.—A.P. Sports Writer).

If the Giants ever need anything to bolster their pride, beyond their record of winning the world's championship last season with a club that was figured to finish seventh and of leading the National League again this season with practically the same team, they can pick on a strictly "home made" pitcher, young Hal Schumacher of Dolgeville, N.Y.

This husky young right-hander, only 22 years old now, came directly to the Giants from St. Lawrence University in 1931, and except for a short time spent with Bridgeport in the Eastern League that year, has been developed into one of the circuit's leading pitchers while wearing the New York uniform.

Standing second only to Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals in the records, Schumacher pitched his 15th victory of the season as compared to five defeats, when he set the Phillies down with seven hits yesterday to win 6-3. In the course of the afternoon he registered six whiffings, gave only one walk, and saw two of the runs the Phils put over score on Johnny Moore's homer in the eighth.

The triumph, like most of those recorded by the Giants, came at an opportune time to improve New York's place in the pennant race. The second-place Cubs were idle and the third place Cardinals took a 4-0 whitewashing from the reviving Pirates. As a result, the Giants' lead was increased to three games over the Cubs and five over the Cards.

Schumacher had the advantage of a big lead gained when his mates belted Roy (Snipe) Hansen, lanky Philly southpaw, for five hits and four runs in the second and completed their scoring in the third when Johnny Vergez belted a homer.

The Pirates, who broke a nine-game losing streak by the shutout route Thursday, had a more difficult road to travel to victory. Young Bill Swift gave them a seven-hit hurling job, allowing as many as two hits in only one inning, but the veteran Jess Haines held him even for six innings. Gus Suhr's lustry triple in the seventh broke up the spell and before the inning was over the Bucs had five hits, three runs and the ball game. They scored their fourth tally off Jim Mooney in the eighth.

All the other National League clubs were idle, giving the Pirates a chance to regain a virtual tie with the fourth-place Braves. The American League day was a complete blank as a doubleheader between Cleveland and St. Louis, the only scheduled affair, was rained out.

Biting Hard

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 28. (C.P.) — Landing two maskinonge, weighing respectively 14 and 11 pounds, within 30 minutes and with a reel that is 45 years old, Frank Eames, of Gananoque, believes that he has established an angling record for the present season on the St. Lawrence. After capturing his first fish, Eames found his line in need of rewinding and threw out his spoon preparatory to doing so when a second maskinonge struck and was landed with considerable difficulty. Although of advanced years, Eames handled both boat and fish alone in a stiff wind.

Lawn Bowling
By Herb Martin

Previous to commencing the games last night the bowlers gathered together in front of the club house for a minute's silence, in memory of the late Alex Grant.

Eighteen rinks made up the draw—it was a real sociable affair. Everybody was playing on borrowed territory. There was no room asked or given. There was none to give even if you felt like it—it was what you might call a "get together" competition.

Anyway, when time was called it was found that rinks to win the tomatoes were skipped by J. H. Sedgewick, H. Coleman and J. T. Braund, and A. Brown.

When our ladies took eight rinks up to Lindsay, some time ago, somebody said it was their annual excursion. Well they repeated this excursion yesterday to Cobourg, but instead of taking eight rinks they only took ten. There were four more rinks that could have gone—and then if they had of just taken down the club house with the delegation, it would have made a grand slam.

Peterborough is well noted for supporting all the clubs in this district, and yesterday's tournament was no exception. The Peterborough contingent supplied practically half of the entry.

Mrs. G. Coleman's rink was the only one to get into the money—they were successful in getting the prize for having the highest score for two wins. Personnel of the rink was Mrs. Boaad, Mrs. Kingdon, Mrs. Borland, Mrs. Coleman (skip). Each received an electric table lamp.

Record Team Entry Bridgenorth Tourney

The annual Bridgenorth Softball Tournament will be staged on Civic Holiday Monday, August 6, and from present indications a record number of teams will compete in all sections. Already a number of entries have been received and quite a few other teams have signified their intentions of competing.

The Bridgenorth tournament is the largest held in the district and always attracts a record number of entries. There will be five sections: Ladies' senior and junior, the latter if enough entries are received; men's senior and junior, and one for boys.

Last year about five hundred people took part in the event. Besides the softball tournament there will be a number of booths on the grounds and the ladies of the Bridgenorth United Church will serve supper.

Teams contemplating on entering should forward their entries to M. A. McWilliams, Bridgenorth, or George Dormer, Sugar Bowl.

South-End Review

Scores in the Southend Softball League the past week are; Cogs, 16, Orioles 16; All Saints 16, Nationals 2; Orioles 16, All Saints 11; Albions 9, Cogs 7.

Next week's games: Monday—All Saints vs. Orioles; Wednesday—Albions vs. Nationals; Friday—Cogs vs. All Saints.

The standings:

	P.	W.	L.	P.C.
Cogs	6	4	2	.667
Albions	6	4	2	.667
Nationals	6	3	3	.500
Orioles	6	2	4	.333
All Saints	6	2	4	.333

With the schedule rapidly drawing to a close, only five games remaining, the Cogs and Albions are favored to finish in the play-offs, though the Nationals can do the trick if they win their two remaining games. Orioles, and All Stars have an outside chance, if they do not lose any more. Next week's tilts should be worth seeing, Wednesday's in particular when Nats and Albions clash. A win for the Vitarell crew would practically eliminate Nats. In a recent exhibition game, Nationals nosed out a 7-6 win in ten innings over Mark Street, senior Church League champions.

City Tennis

John Donaldson eliminated Geo. Nicholls in the quarter finals of the city tennis tournament yesterday, 6-5, 6-3 and 6-2. It was a fine match, marked by hard hitting and sparkling tennis. Nicholls had the edge in the first set but Donaldson put on the pressure in a great rally to take the next two and enter the semi-finals. He meets Cotton Monday evening at five o'clock at Kawartha Club, it being three out of five sets. Cotton is favored to win, but Donaldson is at the peak of his form and will make it a battle.

In the ladies' quarter final singles, Miss M. Donaldson defeated Miss B. Cutting, 8-3, 0-6 and 6-2, and in the semi-finals, Mrs. J. A. Dewart won over Miss K. Benson, 6-0 and 6-1, playing championship tennis.

Matches for Monday: Finals in the ladies' singles—Mrs. J. A. Dewart vs. Miss M. Donaldson or Miss G. Carvolth at 5.30 on the Peterborough courts; men's singles, quarter finals—G. M. Kirkwood vs. W. Jackson or J. M. Kirkwood at Peterborough; and G. C. Scott vs. B. Swarts at Peterborough; D. M. Cotton vs. J. T. Donaldson at five at Kawartha. Finals will be at Kawartha Club.

FIND BODY DOWN WELL

WINCHESTER SPRINGS, Ont., July 28. (CP).—The body of Mrs. George Bolton, 44, was found by her husband in a cistern in their celar. Mrs. Bolton was alone at the farm house, as her husband had gone to the cheese factory, and on his return commenced a search for his wife, which ended with the finding of her body. There was only four feet of water in the cistern. No inquest will be held.

EASY WIN FOR PLEASANT CLAN

Rawdon Group Finalists Click in Fifth Inning for 22-11 Victory.

HOARD'S LAWN SOCIAL

BURNBRAE, July 28.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The first meeting of the year between Rawdon and Seymour league teams took place at the Hoards lawn social on Tuesday evening, when Mount Pleasant, finalists in the Rawdon group, capitalized on one big inning to defeat Petherick's 22 runs to 11. Though always in the lead the Easterners had not a wide margin until the fifth, when they landed on Fry's pitching for ten hits and eleven counters. The losers were without Kerr, ace pitcher started Fry and Barnum, who finished, pitched nice ball most of the way. K. Holmes, the Mount Pleasant box artist, was hit regularly after relieved Coggins in the second, but kept the hits scattered. Coggins yielded four hits, three walks in one inning; Holmes seven walks and seven hits in five innings.

Fry was touched for twent-one hits and as many runs in five spasms, while Barnum yielded one hit and a run in the last inning. Neither pitcher walked a batter. The losers made five errors, the winners only one. Watson and Anderson each scored three for the losers, hitting successive homers in the fourth with no one on bases.

K. Holmes with four runs and C. Holmes, Coggins and B. Jeffs three each led the Mount Pleasant batters. Coggins connected for the circuit in the second with one on.

Mount Pleasant—C. Holmes, c; Coggins, p, 1b; Hagerman, cf; K. Holmes, 1b, p; Weaver, lf; B. Jeffs, 2b; Campbell, 3b; Melville, rf; W. Jeffs, ss.

SURFACE AND RAINVILLE IN TENNIS FINAL

Texan Eliminates Laird Watt and Bobby Murray in His Rise to Top.

CANADIAN FAVORED

British Columbia Advance to the Finals of Women's Section.

(By Elmer Dulmage, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

TORONTO, July 28 (C.P.) — Number three in Texas, nowhere in the United States national rankings, blonde Harold Surface of Kansas City who plays tennis on the University of Texas Intercollegiate team, threatened to-day to lift the Canadian singles title from under the noses of Canada's own Davis Cup squad.

Victor over Laird Watt and Bobby Murray on his way to the final, the slender Texan undergraduate faced his third Montreal foe in three days when he hooked up with the little master who has beaten them all for three weeks without a lapse—Marcel Rainville.

It was Rainville's greatest chance to win the title he has sought for five years or more and he went into the struggle against the fluent-stroking Surface a heavy favorite. Where Watt and Murray failed, Rainville was expected to succeed with a game that has not failed him at critical points.

Vancouver's brilliant duo, Caroline Deacon and Eleanor Young, went out to make a clean sweep of the women's events. The 18-year-old Miss Young started the charge yesterday by capturing the junior singles title, downing Virginia Hollinger of Dayton, O., in the final, 6-2, 6-4.

The British Columbians got down to serious business when Miss Deacon scored over Louise Hofmeister of Chicago in one open semi-final, while Miss Young was winning over Mrs. Gilbert Nunns in the other. They meet in the final to-day. Miss Deacon, British Columbia titleholder, was favored to beat her junior partner.

The Deacon-Young combination was heavily backed to capture the doubles title from Mrs. H. L. Beer of Ottawa and Mrs. Ken Salmond of Toronto. That triumph would make the clean sweep.

EX-COUNCILLOR DIES.

PEMBROKE, Ont., July 27 (C.P.). —William T. Woolsey, for many years prominent business man of Pembroke, and a former member of the Town Council, died last night. He was 63 years of age. Mrs. Walter White of Toronto is a daughter.

THE SPUN GLASS MYSTERY

A Tale of Scotland Yard

By A. FIELDING

CHAPTER 60

"I had to!" Pointer said with an inward shiver. "Now Mrs. Burnham had gone openly to Mrs. de Souza's flat—to ask about Miss Dundas' reference. No one but Mrs. Burnham wanted Gillian Dundas in the house. She did. She insisted on her being there—under her eye. She alone of those at the Great Cumberland house went to Miss Dundas' studio, where also Mrs. de Souza went. Her great idea seems to've always been, as far as possible, to do things openly. In short, sir, given that envelope everything pointed straight to Mrs. Burnham. Which meant, of course, that her account of the last talk with Mr. Tait was false. She could easily have handed him envelope and poisoned twig then . . .

"She over-reached herself when in stealing the key of the Tor Cottage she also took that envelope. She didn't realize that the hardest thing in the world is to lay a false trail. She wanted the Riccis to be suspected from the first, which was why she told me of Tait's talk with her about threatening letters. She must have known about them, apart from what he told her Before she blackmailed any one, we may be sure she made all her inquiries, and the detail of his half-brother's unwelcome marriage wouldn't have been missed."

"Clever of her to have blackmailed Tait again after the engagement was announced," Dartmoor said appreciatively.

"I suppose her idea in going to Vichy was to see Lady Tait for herself, so as to know the exact amount of money Tait would pay, if need be," Pelham thought. "She seems to've understood the rule that attention to detail marks the good business man or woman."

"Just so, sir, that's why she took two revolvers with her down to Tor Cottage. One Miss Dundas', we think, to be used on her, if need be, or on Strange. One to have with her when she left. She knew that Miss Naylor mistrusted her."

"And how do you think the boutonniere was actually given to Tait?" Pelham asked after a pause, in the tone of a man who knows the answer, and glancing with a half smile at the superintendent behind Pointer.

"From the fact that she made so much to me of the threatening letters, I feel pretty sure that she played that card with Tait. I take it, she listened to his outpouring about Gillian Dundas and Lord Mills, took the paper with her writing on it from him—to keep till he should be back—and then insisted on his waiting a moment while she showed him a mysterious spray that she had just received, probably told him it had some word or other pinned to it, such as 'Revenge' or 'Beware.' It had come to her enclosed in another envelope which she would tell him, she had unfortunately tossed in the fire. The envelope in which the sprig was found, has a worried looking slit at the side. I feel sure that the leaf was pulled through this, so that Tait would be sure to find it a little difficult to get it out and have a look at it, sure to get splinters into his fingers while doing it. Of course, this is only guesswork, but ——"

"It's absolutely borne out by what Mrs. de Souza shrieked at her sister just now," Pelham told him and the superintendent nodded.

"Well played Pointer!" Dartmoor said warmly, "and then?"

"Apparently, Tait stuffed it into his pocket, felt there for a match when the man asked for a light, and tossed it away. In his opinion, the Riccis' threatening letters meant nothing. He refused to take them seriously. He was concerned with a much graver matter —Miss Dundas' backer in her black mail, and at the moment the idea that Miss Dundas herself was actually forging Mrs. Burnham's handwriting for some black scheme of her own."

"You're probably right. Well, well!"

"To think the tremendous Westmacott motive wasn't the right one," Dartmoor said thoughtfully, getting up, preparatory to going back to other work. "That Mrs. Ricci was just trying to frighten her husband, as he thought, and that Tait's poisoner should have been his fiancee, the dear little woman who seemed to lose so much by his death."

"She lost a long sentence of penal servitude by it, at any rate, sir," Pointer reminded him. "Tait would have stuck at nothing to clear Brown, and to do that he would have had to put Gillian Dundas in the dock. He would have done it without hesitation Once there, Gillian would have told, of course. And Mrs. Burnham couldn't have murdered Gillian after Tait had told her of the paper found in the studio without arousing even his suspicions. She couldn't run away, for she has laid by no large sum of money. These people never do. She didn't need capital, her income was quite a splendid one. A true blackmailer's income."

"And as to the paper which she claimed was forged," Dartmoor went on, "she would know that her denial of it wouldn't hold water for long, apart from the possibility of it leading to the detection of the fraud on Westmacott. She certainly was in a hole, and decided to cut her losses."

"Yes, it must have been a wrench to get rid of Tait, after he had miraculously fallen in love with her," Pelham agreed dryly, "but, as you say, by far the lesser of two evils. But why did you take the trouble to post this nice long letter to us? It's just arrived."

Pointer looked a trifle awkward. Naylor had exceeded his instructions.

"I thought that she might have more of the poisoned boutonnieres ready," he confessed. "Not knowing that Strange would come up to scratch just when he did, I had to have something on which to arrest her. I believed Miss Dundas would be dead, spurlos versenckt, and I had to have some proof. So I arranged a wad of accounts which I'd got ready to hand in, wrote my name, in something like her writing, on the envelope, and then showed it to Mrs. Burnham when we were nicely off by ourselves. She fished in her bag—for a revolver, as it proved. She had woolen driving gloves till on over her rubber gloves. I knew it would be for something effective to prevent my reading what she thought was inside. And as I wasn't sure in all that storm of my men being handy, I thought it better not to chance my pockets being picked, should she get me. But it was unnecessary trouble."

Six months later, the proprietor of the Hotel Imperial at Vichy faced an Arab in flowing robes and shook his head decidedly.

"Impossible! Impossible! The fee you ask is much too high. You do not earn it. That American lady whose fortune you told last time you were here wrote to tell us that it had not come true, and that she had been put to great expense getting a trousseau and new furniture."

The chief magician of Abd-el-Krim gazed haughtily out of sooty eyes.

"What has my gift to do with her expenses? Where is the letter I left with you at that same time? You know what happened to those English guests of yours. I heard the servants here talking of it only last night. They have read all about it in the papers. Open that letter, monsieur, and see if Ibrahim does not read the future, and is not cheap at double what he charges."

"Childish!" snorted the proprietor, but he fished in a cupboard and finally brought out an envelope with a huge seal on it. He opened it disdainfully and read:

"Of the English party whose fortunes I have just declined to read, this last day but one of April, three will die unnatural deaths. The man called Tate, the young woman who stood beside him, beautiful and treacherous, and the woman standing next to her. I looked no further. I stood in the presence of three about to die before three months are past, and such influences are unwholesome. Written and sealed in her bag—for a revolver, as it proved. She had woolen driving gloves till on over her rubber gloves. I knew it would be for something effective to prevent my reading what she thought was inside. And as I wasn't sure in all that storm of my men being handy, I thought it better not to chance my pockets being picked, should she get me. But it was unnecessary trouble."

Written and sealed for the proprietor of the Hotel Imperial, to be opened by him a year from this date, or when he hears bad news of this group."

The proprietor looked at him. "Eh bien, perhaps I will try you at the higher fee. But see to it that no one complains." Alone, he read the letter again, then carefully dropped it on the fire, shrugged his shoulders, and turned back to his accounts.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, July 29

Sunday's horoscope shows great activity in all literary or cultural vocations and avocations, although the entire proceedings of the day may have an overcast of the curious, perplexing, mysterious, mystical or spiritual. There may be a financial loss through a letter or other unfortunate writing and employment may develop some minor anxiety. A good time for occult or fanciful studies or writings.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a lively year in all pertaining to writings, publishing, publicity or kindred work, although there are some doubtful signs concerning contracts or other financial hazard. Employment may cause unrest or perplexity and affairs generally are complexioned by the intriguing, subtle or mysterious.

A child born on this day may be versatile, leaning toward literary pursuits or unique expressions of a romantic or utopian nature. It may be a dreamer rather than practical in use of its fine talents.

For Monday, July 30

Monday's astrological forecast is a very favorable one, holding testimony of favors, increase, promotion or honors for those in the employment of others. There are auguries for a stabilizing of the fortunes and possessions as well as the position, both in business and in the private life, although some minor change may be involved. A day of special activity and much pleasure is also indicated.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of advancement, promotion, favors or honors in employment, together with other measures of stabilizing the fortunes and fortifying the position. In the domain of the social, domestic and romantic there are also auguries for success, prosperity and happiness. Change of a minor nature may be imminent.

A child born on this day may be talented, versatile, of fine social graces and much popularity, succeeding signally in employment with a happy life assured.

Mrs. John B. Sanderson entertained a number of ladies on Wednesday afternoon at her home on Strickland street, at a trousseau tea for her daughter, Ione, who will be a bride of early August. Mrs. Sanderson and Miss Ione Sanderson received the guests, who were shown the dainty trousseau by Miss Grace Yonge and Miss Gladys Graham.

Tea was served on the lawn under the spreading elms, with Mrs. W. G. Stone (grandmother of the bride-elect), and Mrs. W. A. Millen (mother of the bridegroom-elect) pouring tea. The young ladies who served were Mrs. Melville Stone, Mrs. Harold Hamblin, Misses Winnifred Payne, Colleen Junkin and Mrs. Robertshaw. The table was decorated with small bouquets of sweet peas in silver bud vases.

Among the guests from Peterborough were: Mrs. Pink and Miss Phyllis Pink, Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Millen, Mrs. Tuck, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Laws, Mrs. McAdam, Mrs. Ascot and Miss Hazel Ascot, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Angela O'Shea, also Mrs. Arthur Millen from Bowmanville.

There were about twenty local ladies present also. The weather was ideal and the ladies united in offering their best wishes to the bride-elect, who has a wide circle of friends among the younger set and also among the older people of the community.

FRENCH MILITARY STRENGTH IS REVEALED IN CELEBRATION

Fall of Bastille Called by Huge Parade of Modern War Machines.

CITIZENS APPLAUD

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

PARIS, July 28.—France gave a demonstration of her military strength today—the national holiday—anniversary of that earthquaking act of mob violence; the fall of the Bastille. If cannons thundered in the streets of Paris 145 years ago and bloody heads were carried around on pikes by the delirious sans-coulottes of the Faubourg St. Antoine, the racket was insignificant, I dare say, compared with the ear-shattering din that broke over the city this morning when the sky suddenly darkened and one hundred squadrons of fast pursuit aeroplanes and bombers—five hundred machines in all—roared over the sun-powdered roofs.

It was clear that the French government had fully intended to give the national celebration a strong military character this year. Not a man in that huge crowd of spectators which was massed in the street but thought more of the resurgent militarism of Germany than of the revolutionary events of a century and a half ago which swept the feudal era of history into the discard. I could not help thinking that a similar spectacle as today's preceded the Great War of 1914 only by a few weeks.

Sharply at nine o'clock a parade of the garrison headed by a mounted regiment of the republican guard, their silver helmets and breastplates gleaming in the sunlight, swung past the Arch of Triumph where flickers the flame of the tomb of the Unknown ex-soldier. A thousand swords flashed in salutation to the symbolic martyred comrade. Softly, with muffled trumpets, the musicians played Napoleon's favorite hymn: "Where can one better be, than among one's best friends!"

Radicals Also Celebrate

Thousands of spectators lined the trottoirs of the noble Champs-Elysees, the Place de la Concorde and the Rue Royale to salute the massed banners of "the republic one and indivisible," which has come victoriously through the thunderstorms of time and which still remains the great bulwark of bourgeois democracy on the continent of Europe.

Again and again the massed bands of the infantry reinforced with blaring bugle bands and the staccato rumble of a thousand drums crashed out the vehement strains of the Marseillies, that rebel hymn as explosive as dynamite: "Aux armes citoyens! Formes vos bataillons!" Only once did I hear the song that was actually sung at the fall of the Bastille: the wild and tempestuous "Carmagnole" which makes the Latin blood boil: "Vive le son, vive le son, vive le son, de l'explosion!

Ah, ca ira, ca ira, ca ira,
Tous les bourgeois on les aura
Vive la dynnamite!"

(Lon live the sound of the explosion. It's coming. All the bourgeois we'll get them. Hurrah for dynamite!")

But that song was not heard on the fashionable Place de la Concorde, where the parade took place. I heard it in the populous quarters round the Place de la Bastille itself where half a million Socialists and Communists celebrated that same evening the union of their forces against the rising tide of fascism and the danger of war fascism carries in its wake.

Highly Mechanized Army

Astonished Parisians saw for the first time the mechanized army. Hundreds of whippet tanks raced down the broad boulevards, turning around on themselves, pirouetting and manoeuvring like baby perambulators to show the swiftness with which these machines can be operated. They were followed by armored cars with high reversible turrets from which machine guns, nozzles pointed menacingly, and finally by great, heavy 28-ton caterpillar tanks, whose appearance, like that of titanic green monsters from prehistoric times, silenced the applause and threw a hush over the people. Their frightening bulk and merciless crushing progress made it clearer than anything else how gruesome an eventual war must be. But the music played on: 'Le jour de gloire est arrive!" (The day of glory has arrived).

Then came the Chasseurs Alpins, the famous Blue Devils, followed by the massed battle-flags of the disbanded regiments that fought at Verdun, at the Chemin des Dames and the Marne, carried by expoilus who withstood the hail of steel eighteen years ago. Infantry regiments of the line hove in sight, dressed in their new field uniforms of greens and their earth-colored helmets.

Moving forests of bayonets!

Huge seige guns were next, bigger than the Big Berthas of Skoda. They were pulled by tractors, of which the drivers were invisible behind sheets of armor-plate. The gunners, followed in closed bullet-proof caterpillar automobile trucks. No commands were heard. An inter-comunicating system of radio receivers in the trucks and tractors assured the movements of the green monsters.

General Weygand Absent

A curious incident took place at the reviewing stand where the president of the republic, M. Albert Lebrun, the Sultan of Morocco and the prime minister of Roumania occupied the chief loge with the three remaining marshals of France, Petain, Franchet d'Esperey (Frankie the Desperate) and Lyautey, General Weygand, inspector-general of the army, who was never made a marshal because of his ultra-clerical connections and his unpopularity with the liberals, who consider him a chauvinist, was again conspicuous by his absence. The other scarlet-baldaquined boxes were reserved for the diplomatic corps and the military attaches of 50 nations. Five minutes before nine, three tall men, ostentatious because of the simplicity of their attire, in light brown uniforms, walked up, saluted the president and took their places with the French general staff. The Parisians recognized them at once. First there was a moment's somewhat awestruck silence and then a storm of applause crepitated along the serried ranks of spectators and here and there the shout was raised: Vivent les Soviets! Vive la Russie!

Significant cry!

For two hours the regiments filed by: mounted mobile guards, their carabines slung over their shoulders "en bandolier"; mountain artillery; motorised machine-gun sections; masses of infantry; marines from Toulon; Tonkinese battalions; Algerian fusiliers; black Senegalese; Tuaregs from the Sahara on swift huge white camels and Syrian cavalry on Arabic thoroughbreds. Particularly honored were the delegations of cadets from the military academies; Saint Cyr, Saint Maixent and the Polytechnic university, where Foch taught strategy. They wore black cloth uniforms with golden epaulets and on the red kepis of St. Cyr waved the plumed feather which Bonaparte designed for the officers of "La Grande Armee."

A regiment of Spahis from North Africa stage a so-called "fantasia" in honor of the Sultan of Morocco. Dressed in their flowing white robes, which are lined with scarlet wool, they suddenly spurred their white chargers a short distance before they came to the reviewing stand and then thundered past in a magnificent stamping swirl of color and motion and shouting the ancient war-cry of the fighting men of Islam.

Dance All Night

An innovation was provided this year by the Fascist leagues who had received orders the day before to spread themselves through the crowds during the parade and see that no man fell short in respect to the flag. There were some scuffles here and there, but nothing serious, since most of the anti-militarist organizations were holding meetings elsewhere at that moment. After the parade many Parisians went to see the white marble statue fashioned by Maxime Real de Sarte in memory of the victims of the Fascist riots of Feb. 6. Del Sartis the chief of the monarchist Camelots du Roi besides being a fine artist. The statue shows St. Genevieve, the patron saint of Paris, in an attitude of lamentation over the death of her children. It stood on the steps of the Church of the Madeleine, in full view of the procession.

In the afternoon and evening long queues formed before the five national theatres of Paris; the opera, the Opera Comique, Odeon, Comedie Francaise and the Theatre of the Trocadero. For one day in the year, Bastille day, the performances are free and the proletariat sits in the seats of the elite under crystal chandeliers and damask curtains. In the districts inhabited by the poor, the children were given sweets and toys in solemn distributions presided over by the mayors of the twenty precincts, ornate in three-colored sash and cocked hats for the occasion.

In the evening as on the previous night and the following day, traffic was virtually suspended in Paris as millions of citizens danced in the streets till dawn, as their forefathers did 145 years ago when the last stronghold of autocracy crumbled before the exploding anger of the oppressed masses of France.

CULTURE SILKWORMS IS HOBBY OF ROMAINE STREET YOUTH

Commercial Culture Not Yet Established Here on Account of Climate.

GETS MULBERRY LEAVES.

The culture of silkworms from the egg to the butterfly stage is the novel and interesting hobby of Ladislaus Dominick of 568 Romaine street.

A recent visitor to The Examiner offices the youth who is a native of Hungary displayed a number of silkworm cocoons closely resembling peanuts in the shell.

Indeed that is what they were mistakenly identified as when a reporter was asked by Dominick to hasard a guess as to what they might be.

But don't critisize our ignorance too harshly. Silkworm culture in Canada is such an uncommon thing, according to Dominick, on account of the wide variations in temperature experienced during the course of each year, that the commerical culture of silkworms has not yet been established here. Maybe it never will be.

Securing the eggs from his native land in the Spring of this year, Dominick kept them in temperatures that would ensure their due hatching. The eggs started to hatch well—so well indeed that Dominick was obliged to delay their progress by keeping them in a refrigerator to time their emergence to the next stage of the cycle to coincide with the budding of the Mulberry trees.

Yes. Dominick's silkworms are very fastidious about their food. Those which he attempted to rear on green lettuce shoots simply died. They demand Mulberry leaves, and even those are at a premium it seems.

Asked where he secured Mulberry leaves for his silkworms Dominick said that Dr. T. G. Loudon had supplied them from the Mulberry bushes in his Brock street garden. He was indebted to his doctor friend he said, who had made it possible for him to raise the silkworms.

Besides being a Rover Scout the youth is a student at the Collegiate Institute Vocational School. He intends to furnish his knowledge of silkworm culture for the benefit of his fellow students at school, he said. In addition to about 150 cocoons which he now has, Dominick displayed some test tubes in which he had preserved in alcohol silkworms in various stages of development from the egg to the butterfly.

Silkwormculture, is not only undertaken on a large scale as a hobby by the young people of Hungary Dominick explained but is engaged in by numberless people on a commercial basis. The climate of Hungary, he remarked was particularly suited to the culture of silkworms.

The youth hopes to be permitted to display his exhibit at Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

Silkworm is the name given to the caterpillar of a moth, the chrysallis of which is enclosed in a cocoon of silk, according to Harmsworth's Encyclopedia. A native of North China, the caterpillar is yellowish grey, about 3 inches long; the silky cocoon about the size of a pigeons egg, is either yellow or white. Most species feed on the leavesof the Mulberry tree.

WIGGINS AND MEYERS.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—In the first play-offs for the Provincial lawn bowling championship, Campbellford won the shield for the men's doubles in District No. 15, and started on the first lap of their climb to Provincial championship. The team comprised W. S. Wiggins and A. J. Meyers, both of whom are members of the Campbellford Lawn Bowling Club. Five clubs, Campbellford, Belleville, Kingston, Stirling and Brighton, which comprise the district, played off for honors on Wednesday evening at Belleville for the shield offered by the Lawn Bowling Association of Ontario. In the first frame of the play Campbellford drew a bye, Belleville defeating Stirling and Brighton winning from Kingston.

In the second round of the play Belleville drew a bye, Campbellford defeating Brighton by 21-20. In the final play, Wiggins and Meyers were placed against Bob Ray and Water Bellair of Belleville, and took the game by 23-16, winning the district event and the shield.

With the completion of play-offs in the several distrits, the districts will start their elimination games working toward the Provincial finals, which will commence sometime in August. Every effort is being made to hold the next championship contest at Campbellford.

BATTLEFIELDS IN 4-DAY WAR

mistaken identity. The entire district was thrown in a panic.

30th Anniversary of War

To-day is the 30th anniversary of Austria's declaration of war on Serbia. It found high army commanders bent over military maps planning the campaign against the Nazis.

Rumors that Italians had actually entered Carinthia are denied vigorously.

Socialist handbills are being circulated saying "Our Hour Approaches! Be Ready for Action!" The handbills say the death of Dollfuss was received by the "masses with undisguised joy as the death of a pirate and murderer of liberty."

Heimwehr troops in Carinthia have sent urgent pleas for reinforcements, indicating Nazi triumphs there.

The Nazis are in control of a tunnel connecting Carinthia with Salsburg by rail.

Whole streets in Vienna are closed to traffic, the action following reports that the square before the Chancellery was to be stormed by Nazis. Machine guns are stationed at strategic points.

Troops by the hundreds patrol the streets.

Church bells throughout the city will toll for three hours after the funeral of Dollfuss.

Fight for Liberty

Starhemberg, in an appeal to Austria, said "With the exception of a few insignificant places order prevails through Austria and in a few more hours even these places will have unequivocal order and law."

"We have never given occasion for conflict with the Reich," he said "but I must declare emphatically that we shall never yield Austria's honor, and we shall resist every attempt to limit the liberty and independence of our Fatherland."

(In Budapest County Sigray, leader of Hungarian Legitimists, said restoration of the Hapsburg Monarchy was necessary for Hungary and Austria).

Reports that eight of the 144 Nazis who seized the Chancellory and killed Dollfuss had been executed have not been verified. The Nazis are held prisoners here.

One Government leader said he and his associates are ignorant of what is going on in the provinces but they hoped the apopintmen. of Von Papen would bring an end to the civil war.

A dispatch from Passau, Germany, said a group of Austrian political refugees attempted to cross the German border last night near Killerschlag, and exchanged shots with Heimwehrmen. Eight of the fugitives were severely wounded but managed to cros sthe frontier, dragging three Austrian customs men along. They were arrested by German border police, who sent the customs men back into Austria.

NORWOOD BOWLERS WIN IN FIRST HALF

Homesters Take Four Straight Games From Hastings in Trent Valley League.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HASTINGS, July 28. — Norwood won the first half of the Trent Valley Bowling League on Friday night when they took four straight games from Hastings on the Norwood greens before a large gallery, many from Hastings being present to watch the deciding games. Norwood were leading Hastings by one game in the close race previous to Friday night's whitewash.

Playing a remarkable draw game Dodd and Sutton put on a real old game the latter getting three on the last end to chalk up a 14 to 7 victory. In the other game Rivard just missed being whitewashed by Kempt, getting only one point on the last end.

CABINET'S 'BABY' MEMBER D. A. CROLL IS HONORED

WINDSOR, Ont., July 28 (CP) — Tribute to the "baby" member of the Ontario Cabinet, Hon. David A. Croll, was paid to-day by thousands who crowded Jackson Park for most interesting activities.

Illuminated official addresses from Border municipalities were read by Acting Mayor George Bennett, Windsor; Mayor Russel Farrow, Walkerville; Mayor T. J. Pontaine, East Windsor; Mayor Arthur Reaume, Sandwich; Reeve Leo Sylvester, Belle River, and Frank Begley, Windsor Board of Education.

There were also congratulatory messages from many organizations in the area and the Minister was presented with a set of golf clubs by Lea McLaughlin, president of the County Liberal Association; Mrs. Croll with engraved silver tea service by Mrs. W. R. Whiteside, and the mother of the Minister received a large bouquet of roses.

FARMERS FORM POLITICAL BODY

Saskatchewan Farm - Labor Group Organize Separately Under C.C.F.

SEEK $4,000 FOR LEADER.

(By Sam G. Ross, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

SASKATOON, July 28 (CP)—The newly - constituted Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, Saskatchewan section, to-day went into session to wind up the work it started under the name of the Saskatchewan Farmer-Labor Group.

Born in the enlarged convention of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan Section, the C.C.F. section specifically instructed its political directorate of 21 members to formulate plans for setting up of a distinct political organization, separate from the education activities of the U.F.C.

The United Farmers Group continues in existence but with Labor forces and C.C.F. clubs it forms the new C.C.F. Saskatchewan section to direct the political fortunes of the organization which won five seats and became the official opposition in the Saskatchewan Legislature in June.

M. J. Coldwell, Regina, was endorsed as party leader, and $4,000 will be raised within the next 12 months for him so that he may relinquish his duties as a school principal.

Elected members, the political directorate and defeated candidates will meet shortly to name the section's leader in the Saskatchewan Legislature. It was generally anticipated the post would go to George Williams, M.L.A. for Wadena and long prominent in U.F.O. activities.

SECOND ITALIAN WAVE OF TROOPS

Government spokesmen express the hope that the Austrians will be able to settle their own affairs, but they make it plain that whether the Nazi "menace" comes from within or without Austria, Italy does not intend to permit Nazis to gain the upper hand.

Reports that Italian troops had already crossed the frontier into Carinthia Austria, where fighting is underway, were emphatically denied.

(Such unconfirmed reports were received yesterday at Belgrade).

THREE AIRMEN RIDE IN GONDOLA

ed on the natural grandstand above the bowl waiting throughout the night to witness the ascent.

The crowd cheered when the craft cleared the wall. There had been some apprehension that it might crash at the takeoff. Weather conditions were perfect as the flight started. Visibility was good and ground winds low. The weather map indicated similar conditions 400 to 800 miles south-east, where the balloon was expected to drift.

The last articles placed in the gondola were fur-lined suits for use in the bitter cold of the stratosphere.

The men took along a few cans of bc. ', some oranges, bullion and four gallons of drinking water.

Three aeroplanes followed the balloon, one of them carrying balloon riggers, who will attempt to be on hand when the balloon descends probably late this afternoon.

MILLBROOK WINS FROM DINTY'S INN

Local Aggregation Goes Down to 9-4 Defeat in Inter-county League.

MILLBROOK, July 28. (Examiner Corespondence). — The local squad copped a victory to the tune of 9-4 from Dinty's Inn (Peterborough), in the inter-county league game of box lacrosse at the Cosmos rink on Thursday, hard play and heavy checking marking the game throughout. As is usual at the league games fans were present in large number, filling all available space, seating and standing.

Three twenty-minute periods are the rule for the inter-county games, the first period closing 3-1 in favor of Millbrook, Weir having scored for Peterborough and Sloan and Ingram for the home team, McGee scored twice for the visitors in the second period Edmunds and Scott bringing the total up to 4-3 in favor of the local boys. Gardiner scored for Peterborough just after the face-off in the final period, the ground having grown very slipery on account of the rain; and the score now standing at a tie—4-4. Henry Gray got a great hand from the crowd when he broke the tie by intercepting a Peterborough pass and put the ball into the net for the homers. Possibly encouraged by the applause Gray turned 'round and did exactly the same thing again and pandemonium broke loose.

The Millbrook boys played a fine combination game all evening, particularly in the final period, taking the ball right down the field, past the Peterborough goalie and into the net, Sloan, Nattress and Gray Scoring in quick sucession, leaving the homers on top by five goals as the gong rang. The line-up was:

Dinty's Inn—Lefebvre, goal; McDougal and Weir, defence; Gardiner centre; Williams and McGee, wings; Routley, rover; Olaveson and Reynolds, subs.

Millbrook—Larmer, goal; Creighton and Donnelly defence; Nattress centre; Ingram and Scott, wings; Sloan, rover; Edmunds, Raper, Freelove, subs.

Referees — Jones, Peterborough; Dawson, Millbrook.

Next game in the inter-county league: Dinty's Inn and Millbrook, Aug. 1. If played at Peterborough, 6.30 p.m.; if at Millbrook, 8.15 p.m. under flood-lights.

FREE SQUEALING

EAST WINDSOR, Ont., July 28 (C.P.)—Reporters in East Windsor police court need no longer blush self-consciously, for the swivel chair in which they sit to write up court news has been oiled. For months and months, it needed oiling, and every time the reporter shifted his position the court room was treated to an ordeal of "free squealing."

Trent River

The increase of tourist traffic for this district has been noted both in the resort accommodation, colony of cottagers and river traffic of all kinds of yachts and sailing boats. This resort boasts of over seventy cottages all of which have been occupied, and over week-end and special holidays tourists had to resort to tents and cars for accommodation as the various resorts for tourists have been looked up. Many American tourists have made several return trips here this year, taking home their full quota of the finny tribe.

The county school picnic under the auspices of the Northumberland Trustees and Ratepayers Association Wednesday, July 18 at Presqu'ile was a great success, with about 4,000 in attendance.

Inspectors Martin and Odell were present. Dinner was served in groups, each municipality dining together. The afternoon was spent in games. To the efforts of Mr. Robert Dawson, president of the association and Mr. M. F. Ames of Plainfield, secretary, success of the meeting is largely due. Special attention was paid to the children.

Your Evening Smile

HIS RIGHT

A city girl, staying in the country, became friendly with a young farmer of the rustic type.

One evening, as they were strolling across a meadow, they saw a cow and her calf rubbing noses in affectionate fashion.

"Ah," sighed the farmer, "that makes me want to do the same!"

"Well, go ahead," said the girl, calmly: "it's your cow, isn't it?"

LOTT-STOEFEN ARE EXTENDED DOUBLES MATCH

Makeshift English Team of Lee and Hughes Put Up Hard Battle.

SETTLE CUP TUESDAY.

Stoefen Plays Brilliant Game After Early Lapse of Weakness.

WIMBLEDON, July 30. — (AP)—George M. Lott, Jr., and Lester Stoefen, today defeated Harold G. N. Lee and George Patrick Hughes in the doubles encounter of the Davis Cup challenge round 7-5, 6-0, 4-6, 9-7 to give the United States a fighting chance against Great Britain in the five match series.

Their victory in the third counter sent the decision to the final two singles matches tomorrow between Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin and Sidney Wood and Fred Perry and Frank Shields.

Perry defeated Wood in a bristling five set encounter Saturday in the opening singles and Austin humbled Shields in straight sets.

Plays Brilliant Game

Lott and Stoefen received unexpected opposition from the makeshift English team, Lee having been substituted for Perry at the last minute to save the latter for singles duty.

It looked like the match was all over as Lott overcame Stoefen's uncertain play to win the first set 7-5 and the second at love but the Britons rallied there to play brilliant tennis, the substitute Lee outdoing himself in the torrid forecourt exchanges, and take the third at 6-4.

With the pressure on Stoefen rallied his resources to stand like a rock of Gibraltar against the British onslaught and it was the veteran Lott who erred at critical times to send the match into deuce. He was of little use in the last two vital games, failing to return Hughes' service no less than four times but the big blonde from California more than made up for his partner's lapses.

A crowd of 7,000 saw the match under sunny skies.

ORDER STRINGER TO RESIGN POST

Detective Accused of Giving Out Details of Special Police Fund.

SOLVED DOZEN MURDERS.

TORONTO, July 30.—(C.P.)—W. H. Stringer, chief inspector of the Ontario Provincial Police, has been asked for his resignation. No explanation was offered, but Inspector Stringer received a letter from Brig.-Gen. Victor Williams, commissioner of police, asking for his immediate resignation and informing him he was suspended from the force in the meantime.

Hon. Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General, said Chief Inspector Stringer had been relieved of his post because he gave information to a Toronto newspaper regarding the special fund maintained in the Attorney General's Department for special police investigations.

Stringer, head of the Criminal Investigation Branch, was credited with solving at least a dozen puzzling murder cases. One of the latest of which was the Rockland "insurance killing," for which William Larocque and Amenuel Lavictoire were hanged. He also was credited with clearing up the Beeton rustling gang and other prominent cases.

CHICAGO.—The purchase of two new Zephr Tape streamline trains, for service between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis, was authorized to-day by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad board of directors at a meeting held aboard the original Zephy enroute to the Twin Cities.

Famous Canadian Star Worked Long for Success

An early stage career, although successful, was not brilliant. Her first movie was made in the early days of "silents" opposite Charlie Chaplin.

She took part in amateur theatricals when she was five years old, and went on the stage when she was 14.

In 1927 Miss Dressler first catapulted to movie stardom and in 1932, she achieved the highest acting award in Hollywood.

DIRECT RELIEF MAIN PROBLEM SAYS HEPBURN

Able to Balance Budget, But Heavy Strain if Federal Aid Dropped.

PLEADS FOR "BREATHER."

OTTAWA, July 29 (CP)—"Cost of direct relief is our big problem now," said Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, discussing the outlook in Ontario when he arrved back in the Capital from the Gatineau Hills for the opening of the Dominion-Provincial Government conference on unemployment and relief.

"With lower cost of money and reduction in administrative costs we can balance our budget but it would be a tremendous responsibility on the province if the Dominion decided to discontinue paying anything towards relief," he stated. "The credit of the province is limited, whereas the credit of the Dominion is unlimited. It controls the financing of the country."

Mr. Hepburn made an indirect plea for a "breather" to his followers in the province. "I have had to work 16 hours a day since I took office," the Premier said. "If our friends would only leave me alone for a while so that I could get the loose ends together and have the existing picture complete, better service would be rendered to the province."

The 50 Percent Cut

"What progress have you made towards cutting your government costs 50 percent?" Mr. Hepburn was asked.

"Well in my own departments I have cut costs 50 percent and more." He mentioned the civil service branch and the Ontario archives and incidentally corrected a report that the archives might be closed. They would be reorganized so as to fill the position which was considered proper for the province, Premier Hepburn said.

"Mr. Odette, our new head of the liquor Control Board is now doing the work formerly done by four in Sir Henry Drayton's time as chairman of the board," Mr. Hepburn continued. "These four

CROPS LOOKING UP

GUELPH, Ont., July 30 (C.P.)—Spring grain crops at the Ontario Agricultural College and throughout that district, are reported better than has been expected. "It is surprising," said Professor W. J. Squirrell, "how barley and oats have filled out. He pointed out that they are a little short in the straw, but are reasonably good under the circumstances.

Special Decree

WASHINGTON, July 30. — A stinging decree came to-day from the Post Office department.

It announced that queen bees may travel by air mail.

Postmaster General Farley's bee experts hastened to assure passengers on mail planes that queen bees, being ladies, don't sting people. They said, though, that when a queen bee is sent through the mail 10 or a dozen "worker" bees have to be sent along to take care of her. They do sting but the officials said that all bee passengers must be kept in little screened boxes.

HALT CONTRACT ON WAREHOUSE

Erection of New Brewery Warehouse in the City is Stopped.

LIBERALS ENTER PROTEST.

Construction of the projected brewery warehouse on the site of the old Peter Hamilton homestead and factory was halted Saturday, and from reports to-day it seemed doubtful whether the work would be continued.

It is understood that certain representations were made to E. G. O'Dette, liquor control commissioner, and that as a result of intimations from his office the contractor, T. A. Brown, ceased operations. One of the assertions heard to-day was to the effect that a Liberal contractor had not been able to

OVER 1,100,000 PERSONS ON RELIEF IN CANADA

OTTAWA, July 30.—(C.P.)—The "grave uncertainty" with which the unemployment relief situation is beclouded is shattering the nerves and morale of tens of thousands of families.

According to a statement issued here to-day by the Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare, relief conditions were regarded by some members of the council as "drifting to a very grave crisis."

In spite of a definite improvement in conditions, maintained now for several months, the Council's review of the situation indicated that on June 30, there were still more than 1,100,000 persons on relief in Canada, at a monthly cost of more than $5,500,000. Of these at least 250,000 to 300,000 would be heads of families.

HUNGER PARADE ENTERS TORONTO FROM TWO WAYS

Marchers Met by Police Escort at Border—Leader Forbids Boding.

NO MEETING PERMITS.

TORONTO, July 30 (CP)—Bearing revolutionary placards and banners the spearhead of the Ontario Hunger Marchers' parade reached Queen's Park this afternoon and passed through a crowd of several thousand citizens lined up on the sidewalks as it circled the crescent surrounding the Ontario Parliament Buildings.

TORONTO, July 30 (CP)—Hunger marchers converged on Toronto from two directions to-day and prepared to stage park meetings prior to their marching to the Ontario Legislative Buildings in search of more relief funds.

From East and West the marchers, more than 200 in number, paraded into the city from neighboring municipalities, and headed for Stanley and Riverdale parks to hold meetings for which they have not been granted permits.

The larger group came into the city from New Toronto, a suburb from which they were ordered evicted to-day after allegedly interfering with striking workers of a shoe company. As they reached the city limit the party halted and after a brief meeting, decided to return to New Toronto and protest the evic-

King Gives Sanction 1935 Silver Jubilee

LONDON, July 30. (C.P. Cable). In a crowded, cheering House of Commons, acting-Premier Stanley Baldwin announced to-day that King George had agreed to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's suggestion that the silver jubilee of His Majesty's accession be celebrated next year.

Mr. Baldwin explained the King wished the celebration to be as local as possible, enabling the people to participate near their own homes and avoiding all undue expense.

The official celebration in London, he said, will extend from May 5 to 18 and Accession Day will be observed as a bank holiday throughout the nation. A thanksgiving service at St. Paul's Cathedral will be attended by the King and Queen and other members of the Royal family while similar services will be held throughout the country

BALDWIN SEES LITTLE DANGER OF BROKEN PEACE

Believes, However, Time Has Come for Britain to Strengthen Defenses.

NO SIGN OF PANIC.

Rumors in Europe England's Arms Too Small to be Threat.

(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

LONDON, July 30—(C. P. Cable). —A packed House of Commons sat to-day in grave silence as acting-Premier Stanley Baldwin described the clouds hanging over Europe.

"I must confess," Mr. Baldwin said almost hesitantly, "that I have heard in the whispering gallery of Europe that our defences to-day are so small as to offer but little contribution to collective security.

"If we do not act," he added as he defended Britain's new air defence programme, "we may find ourselves later on in terrible jeopardy."

None Disarming.

He said it was a "lamentable fact" that none of the nations taking part in disarmament talks or trying to arrange an Eastern Locarno pact were themselves in any way desisting from re-armament. Still, the acting-Premier dismissed any idea panic.

"We have time to spare to put our own defences in order," he continued, "but there is no cause for panic of any kind. There is so far as I see it, no risk in the immediate futude of peace being broken. It may well be that peace will not be broken.

"There are a great many people in Europe who do what they can to see that peace will not be broken. That is my firm conviction. But we do believe the time has come when we should make a start."

VALVE BLAMED FOR SHIP BLAST

Rescued Sailors Claim Ship Sank in 10 Minutes, 120 Miles at Sea.

NO TIME FOR BELONGINGS.

HALIFAX, July 30 (CP)—Two of 14 fishermen shipwrecked last Tuesday from the Lunenburg schooner Astrid W. to-day held a faulty safety valve responsible for the air tank explosion which ripped a hole in the vessel's side "big enough for a dory to pass through."

Eric Smith and Walter Demont concurred in this belief. Three others who were picked up by the Danish steamship Alsund, transferred to the tug Cruiser and landed at Sydney, N.S., waited in Halifax for a train to Lunenburg, N.S. Eight more members of the crew were on the way to their homes after rowing 120 miles to land, and Bradford Whynacht was taken to hospital at Antigonish to receive treatment for eye, face and hand injuries.

The quinette reaching Halifax today still showed signs of the privation their endured. They had been able to save only a few belongings. One of these, the most treasured, was a dory horn, to which the rescued men feel indebted for their lives. The sound of this horn, blown for hours by Lloyd Feener, attracted the attention of the S.S. Alsund.

Goes Down in 10 Minutes

The schooner sank ten minutes after the explosion, and she men had time to gather only a few biscuits and a quart of water.

All the quintette said they wanted berths on another vessel, but Eric Smith intends making August a holiday. He was aboard the Lunenburg schooner Canadia when it became a total loss on the coast of Prince Edward Island in a blizzard several years ago.

Another of the rescued party, Clarence Crouse, 16, put away his school books last Spring in favor of hauling dory trawls on the fishing banks. He announced an intention of rejoining the Lunenburg fleet as soon as possible.

One thing particularly mourned by the men was the loss of their 8,000 pounds of halibut. "All our hard labor gone to the bottom," ruefully remarked one man. "The same as it came up," added another.

Nerve!

CHICAGO, July 30.—(AP)—The Daily Times said today that John Dillinger visited the Detective Bureau four times between June 11 and July 22, the date he was slain by federal agents.

The hunted desperado parked his car at the curb, entered the building and rode up to the 13th floor, the newspaper said, adding:

"Each time he sat in a public waiting room for an hour or more, then left through the crowded foyer, probably brushing against policemen, judges and lawyers."

Dillinger made his visits as an escort to his last sweetheart, Polly Hamilton Keele, the paper added, and she went there for examinations required of all food handlers since the outbreak of amoebic dysentery last summer. The girl had been a waitress and apparently desired to obtain a certificate from city health authorities that would enable her to resume that occupation.

ELEVEN KILLED IN PROVINCE'S WEEK-END LIST

Highway Crashes Lead Toll With Total of Six Lives.

FOUR ARE DROWNED.

Stamford Township Man Fails to See Wigwag at Crossing—Injuries Fatal.

(By the Canadian Press.)

Ontario to-day scanned another week-end costly in human lives and counted a fatality list of 11 persons, victims of motor, train and drowning accidents.

The province's highways exacted the greatest toll, claiming six lives. Four more were drowned and another died from injuries suffered when struck by a train at a Niagara Falls level crossing.

James A. Junke, 45, of Toronto, was killed instantly when struck by a motor truck near the city. Charles Cameron, 33, of Port Carling, met instant death when his car overturned on the Rosseau-Parry Sound highway. A leap to the pavement after his auto door caught in a telephone pole as he stepped from the car produced internal hemorhages which resulted in the death of Joseph Jodouin, 29, of Ottawa.

Auto mishaps in the Lake Simcoe area brought death to three persons. Mary Whittaker, 19, was killed when a motor truck with 13 berry-pickers aboard struck an auto near Sutton. Jim Smith, of Sutton, suffered critical injuries.

When his car plunged into the ditch near Tottenham, Andrew Cribar, 44, of Toronto, was killed. Gertrude Keenan, of St. Catharines, suffered fatal injuries from a crash between Phil Marron's car and a Tumbling from a raft at Sunset Beach, William Arthur Abrahart, 45 chief inspector of customs department at Amherstburg was drowned. John Newman, 20, of Hamilton, missing since Friday, is believed to have drowned in Lake Ontario off Bronte.

A heart attack suffered by Ida Kinder, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Kinder of Hamilton resulted in her drowning in the bath tub at her home. Fourth drowning victim was Albert Embrum who fell into the Castor River when picking water lillies.

Failing to see the flashing signal announcing the approach of a train at the Michigan Central railway crossing, Clifton Hill, Niagara Falls, John Stone, 51-year-old Stamford township resident suffered injures which resulted in his death in hospital Saturday night.

WORKER'S REWARD.

FRANKLIN, Pa., July 30.—(C.P.) —A score of fishermen got a good night's sleep and went to French Creek early in the morning to catch their share of the expected fish run. They got nothing.

Gordon Widel, telegraph operator, worked all night, arrived at the Creek late in the morning—and pulled in three bass. It was the only catch of the day.

CONFESSES DEED FOR DISMISSAL FROM THE ARMY

Also Says Shooting Accident —Claims Raiders Agreed on "No Slaughter."

TWO FATAL SHOTS.

Britain Has No Intention of Intervening to Prevent Austrian Independence.

By Wade Werner, copyright 1934, by the Associated Press.

VIENNA, July 30.— Faced with death by hanging, Otto Planetta and Franz Holzweber went on trial at 6.15 p.m. to-night before a military court. Authorities said Planettta had confessed killing Chancellor Dollfuss and Holzweber was charged with directing the Nazi Putsch which plunged Austria into Cival War.

Their trial began as the new Austrian Government, headed by Dr Kurt Schuschnigg, the new Chancellor, moved to suppress Nazi revolutitonists still operating in various sections of the country

Both the accused men held their heads high and turned calm faces to their judges when they were led to the court.

Planetta, a former staff sergeant of the army, who is supposed to have said he killed because he had been dismissed from the army for Nazi sympathies, showed his emotion slightly however, by twisting his hands nervously.

Both wore ordinary civilian clothing but Planetta had on a prison shirt. The shoe laces of both men had been removed to prevent any attempt at suicide by strangling.

The prosecutor said Planetta had confessed to firing the fatal shots but that he claimed it had been done unintentionally. He said the men who had taken part in that Putsch in which Dollfuss was killed in the Chancellery had agreed that there would be "no slaughter."

Hated the Chancellor.

Concerning the motive for the murder, Planetta declared:

The Weather

A passing thunderstorm this morning brought heavy and much-needed rain. It totalled .74, or almost three-quarters of an inch. The rainfall for July is still short of its average, however.—W.P.

TORONTO, July 30.—(CP)—Synopsis: Pressure is high over Manitoba and Hudson Bay, but low over Saskatchewan and the Mackenzie valley while a moderate depression which covers southwestern Ontario has caused some heavy thundershowers on the great lakes. It was decidedly warm yesterday in Alberta with a few local showers, but mostly fair with moderate temperature in other parts of the Dominion.

Lower lake region and Georgian Bay — Moderate to fresh winds, shifting to northwest; partly cloudy with scattered thundershowers. Tuesday — Moderate northerly winds; fair; not much change in temperature.

Northern Ontario—Moderate northerly winds; rather cool with scattered showers. Tuesday—Moderate winds; clearing and a little warmer.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley—Moderate to fresh shifting winds; cloudy with thundershowers tonight and part of Tuesday, then clearing; not much change in temperature.

Marie Dressler, Actress, is Called by Death

LOVED COBOURG ACTRESS LOSES FIGHT TO CANCER

Friends Plan Simple Rites for "Grand Old Lady" of the Screen.

IN 63RD YEAR.

Friend of Most of World's Famous Men, Women—Tradition in Hollywood.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., July 30.—(CP)—Known to millions who have seen her on the screen, Marie Dressler will have only her closest friends and associates near her at private funeral services.

The services will be held at 9 a.m., tomorrow, at the wee kirk o' the heather in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale. Only those closest to her will be admitted to the chapel.

The body of Miss Dressler, "grand old lady" of the screen, was borne back to her home city Sunday from Santa Barbara, where she died late Saturday. It was followed by intimate friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Alan Walker, who were with the actress when the end came peacefully.

Walker said private services were arranged because Miss Dressler "would have wished it so."

Her Favorite Poem

The Rev. Neal Dodd, pastor of the Little Church Around the Corner in Hollywood, known as the "Church of the Stars," will officiate. At the conclusion of his eulogy he will read Miss Dressler's favorite poem, by Keith. It reads:

"Her face is like a God's come back to life—
"A face that shows the pain of mortal man;
"And happiness that centuries have known—
"A God who speaks as only idols can.
"Perhaps she learned the truth when time was young,
"And comes again to heaven-songs of mirth;
"And leaves her god and goddesses alone,
"To live with us a little while on earth."

To this poem, her friends said, Miss Dressler attached some particular personal significance. She had it engraved on a thin silver plate which she always carried with her in her purse and which will be laid upon her coffin when it is placed in a crypt at Forest Lawn.

Miss Jeanette MacDonald, soprano, will sing Miss Dressler's favorite hymn, "Abide With Me." Miss MacDonald, who has gained note in the films and on the concert stage, was a close friend of the Cobourg, Ont., actress.

Miss Catherine Lewis, who used to play for Miss Dressler on the stage and in the films, furnishing what the industry knows as "side-line music," will play the pipe organ.

Miss Dressler will be buried in a plum colored taffeta dress—an afternoon dress she liked best of all in her wardrobe.

During the years of deprivatiton before Miss Dressler gained recognition as one of the screen's immortals, men paid little attention to her.

A Hero Worshipper.

"I was a hero worshipper," she said, "I fell in love with all the handsome leading men—madly and sleeplessly in love. I hung around watching them with adoring eyes, and I suffered tortures when they paid attentios to the good looking girls in the company. No one took me seriously in a romantic way. At 15 I wrote a poem on the horrors of unrequited love."

While still in her early 20's Miss Dressler's name was emblazoned in electric lights on the marquee of the old winter garden theatre in New York. She was a comedienne in a musical revue.

"And to show you what a kid I was, one of the girls in the company and I got a room together in a hotel near the theatre, where I could look out and see my name written in the electric light bulbs. Then we'd lean on the window sill, proudly watch the sign flash, the while eating sandwiches and dropping crumbs down on the sidewalk beneath us."

Victim of Cancer

Cancer ended her life. She was stricken with the disease three

Daring Canoeist Unreported

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 30.—(C.P. Cable.)— No word had come to St. John's to-day to tell of the fate of Jack Smith, the adventurous Canadian canoeist who set out for Newfoundland a week ago on the first leg of a projected voyage across the Atlantic.

Smith headed over the Gulf of St. Lawrence from Gaspe last week-end, confident he could negotiate the 270 miles of Cape Ray, Nfld., in a few days.

He was not around Cape Ray last night, and there was no report of him at outposts along the coast. Veteran Newfoundland fishermen who said it was "tough enough to keep a man-sized dory afloat out there," shook their heads.

In a light 16-foot canoe, the "Pride of Peterborough," Smith is attempting to make a trip from his native Peterborough, Ont., to Peterborough, England.

HASTINGS, July 30.—While engaged at his work as a roller at the local tannery, Gilbert Herrington had the misfortune to have the first finger on his left hand badly crushed under the roller. The injury will keep Mr. Herrington off work for some time.

A New Worry For London Bobbies

Apparently even London's usually impassive "bobbies" were not quite sure whether this was supposed to be a car, a mechanical contrivance devised to add to their numerous worries or just a plain joke, for when the young lady shown above appeared before Buckingham Palace, in good old London, England driving her new Rytecraft Scoota car, the man in blue promptly demanded to see her driving, car and insurance licenses. Perhaps he thought it was a new menace to the Royal family, but production of the necessary permits was reassuring and the lady "motorists" was waved on her way.

Pacific Dock Workers Arbitrating—Guards Keep Minneapolis Quiet.

TUGMEN BACK AT WORK.

(By The Associated Press)

The Pacific coast longshoremen's strike ends. The dock workers, who walked out May 9, will return to work Tuesday at all ports pending arbitration of their grievances, the National Longshoremen's board announces.

Other Pacific coat marine workers remain on strike.

Minneapolis' military rule, imposed by Governor Floyd B. Olson, following disorders in the truck drivers' strike, faces a possible court test. National guardsmen patrol downtown streets.

Kohler, Wis., scene of two deaths in a riot resulting from the strike at the Kohler plumbing equipment factory, is quiet as 600 militiamen stand on guard.

Chicago Union Stockyards, tied up for a week by a walkout of stock handlers, are threatened by a general strike of meat cutters and butchers.

Great lakes tugmen at Chicago and Buffalo vote to return to work.

Nova Scotian Scots Honor Macdonald

KENTVILLE, N.S., July 30. (CP) In Grand Pre Memorial Park, Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald was made an honorary member of the North British Society of Halifax, the oldest Scottish Society in Canada.

In his brief address of acceptance yesterday the Prime Minister of Great Britain told the delegation that he considered it a great tribute to be enrolled on the honorary list of the 167-year old organization along with Sir James Barrie, distinguished playwright, and other prominent persons of Scottish birth.

"I came to Nova Scotia to rest, and to appreciate what hardships pioneers went through before they made the land smile, as it is most certainly smiling to-day" the Premier stated.

Yesterday he was in the land of Evangeline and at Grand Pre he was delighted with the fertile dykeland scenery which unfolded before his eyes. The Premier and his daughter Isabel stood under French willows more than 300 years old, sat on the edge of Evangeline's well, and lunched in the park tea room.

Trophies Donated To Hastings Loop

HASTINGS, July 30 (Examiner Correspondence).—Frank Gilbert of Toronto, popular summer resident of the village, has donated three handsome cups to the Hastings softball league.

The cup for the first-place team is to be known as the "Uncle David Trophy"; it is the finest trophy ever put up for local competition. The cup to the player that proves the most valuable play to his team during the season will be known as the "Three Generations Trophy." The third cup, the "Frank Gilbert Trophy," goes to the player who proves the most valuable to his team during the play-offs."

Fans and players are both showing a great interest in their first year of softball, and this generous gift will help to create a greater interest.

Mr. Gilbert takes a great interest in sport for the young people of the district; last winter he financed the Hastings Junior O.H.A. team.

Judge Wife

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 30. (CP).—Frank Pilky was arraigned before Mayor Mayne on disorderly conduct charges brought by his wife, who said he objected over-emphatically to her having dinner late.

"Do your own sentencing," was the mayor's invitation to Mrs. Pilky.

"Ten days in jail," she told her husband. He went.

Hastings Dairies Raise Milk Prices

HASTINGS, July 30 (Examiner Correspondence).—The three local dairies have announced that after August 1st milk will be eight cents a quart.

This means a raise of two cents a quart to the consumer. A short time ago the milkmen put on an extra one cent, and with the present dry spell burning up the pastures the outlook is not a bright one.

With the haying season about completed a prominent farmer informed The Examiner Saturday that where he obtained 80 loads of hay last season, he drew in seven loads this year. Farmers are putting their dependence on millet to supply their feed next winter, but unless rain comes in the next few days, millet, corn, roots and late spring grain will be a failure.

DR. SCHUSCHNIGG IS CHANCELLOR IN RE-SHUFFLE

Guns of Civil War Silent Except in Province of Carinthia.

FEW NEW NAZI ATTACK.

Barbed Wire Surrounds Chancellory—City and Whole Nation Tense.

BY WADE WERNER

Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.

VIENNA, July 30.—(A P)—A Monarchist took the leadership of Austria today, and the guns of civil war which had cracked for four tense days, are silent.

Silent, except in Carinthia, the province which borders Italy and Yugoslavia. There the Nazis occupy a stronghold and maintain their defiance of the Fascism which they sought, following the assassination of the Little Chancellor, Engelbert Dollfuss, to overthrow.

No new fighting developed over the week-end, but authorities here were fearful of another Nazi attack—a putsch planned for last night which failed to develop.

Precautions have redoubled and guns are everywhere in evidence.

The new government headed by Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, 37-year-old a strong Catholic, and an ardent supporter of the slain Dollfuss, is regarded as best as only a continuation of the compromise by which Dollfuss ruled.

Starhemberg Is Vice

Support of the powerful Heimwehr (Fascist home guard) was assured with Prince Ernest Rudiger Von Starhemberg, who temporarily led the nation following Dollfuss' death, again as Vice Chancellor and Major Emil Fey, Heimwehr leader, Minister of the Interior.

The appointment of Schuschnigg by President Wilhelm Miklas was cheered by Monarchists, with whom he has been identified, although he is a member of the Christian Social Party.

(Monarchists were reported to have met over the week-end in Switzerland seeking a plan to place Archduke Otto, the Hapsburg pretender, on the throne).

Although Schuschnigg is an outspoken Legitimist, it is considered improbable he will take any step to further Otto's case while the international situation remains unchanged.

A pressing question of foreign policy before the reorganization cabinet is whether or not to agree to the appointment of Franz von Papen as special German envoy to Vienna.

Energetic steps by police and government troops to guard public buildings last night left the public apprehensive. The general police station was turned into a fortress, and barbed wire entanglements were placed around the Chancellory.

These preparations followed the death of a police official when he jumped or was thrown from the fourth storey of police headquarters. He had been accused of participating in the Nazi Putsch last Wednesday when the Chancellory was seized and Dollfuss was killed.

Only isolated skirmishes in the provinces over the week-end were reported. Several power stations were dynamited. Unoffical estimats placed casualties in the revolution at 4,000.

A reassuring aspect to the new government was the retention of Fey and his return to his old position of Minister of the Interior. Since the Dollfuss murder there have been whispers of a lack of confidence in Fey as a result of the role the Putschists forced upon him. Fey was forced to the balcony and gave orders that the Chancellory, held by Nazis, should not be attacked. He also promised the Nazis safe passage to Germany.

Since Fey has strength in the Heimwehr and regular army, any action against him might have caused trouble.

Although the Heimwehr was disappointed at Prince Von Starhemberg's abandonment of a position where he might have secured complete power for a Fascist body, their men are expected to maintain discipline.

Pair Hurt In Crash On Lindsay Highway

LINDSAY, July 30. (Special to The Examiner).—W. B. Helliwell, 65, Longwood Road, Hamilton, and Angus B. Anderson, 60, Atlas Ave., Toronto, were brought to Lindsay hospital Saturday night after being in a car accident. The two were proceeding north to Minden to join their families for the week-end when the driver of the car lost control and the car wrecked itself against an elm tree. One of the occupants sustained a fractured arm and both were badly shaken up. They were discharged from the hospital late yesterday afternoon.

STRATOSPHERE AIRMEN JUMP TO SAVE LIVES

World's Largest Balloon Crashes From 60,000 Feet Up.

FABRIC RIPS OPEN.

Valuable Spectograph is Only Instrument Saved From Gondola.

HOLDREDGE, Neb., July 30 (A. P.)—Three United States army airmen who took to their parachutes to escape death in the crash of the world's largest balloon 12 miles northeast of here are eager for another venture into the stratosphere.

Captain Albert W. Stevens, scientific observer on the "explorer" when it failed to reach more than 60,000 feet Saturday, said, however, another attempt to soar uncharted heights would not be possible before next May or June.

Major William E. Kepner, commander of the flight—from Rapd City, S.D., to Reuben Johnson's cornfield — and co-pilots Captain Orvil A. Anderson and Captain Stevens were enroute back to Rapid City to-day after an investigation at Kearney, Neb., into cause of the balloon's failure.

The only instrument saved was the valuable spectrograph, which was sent immediately to the University of Rochester, New York, the salvage was loaded into a motor truck after the close of the investigation, and started for Washington, D.C.

Study Wreckage

Anxious to learn what caused the gas bag, which contained about three acres of fabric, to rip as it swung over Nebraska, the balloonists and scientists have given most of their time to a study of the wreckage.

Captain Anderson advanced the theory that the fabric used below the diaphgram was too light. He said that instead of two-ounce material, three or four-ounce fabric should have been used.

Captain Stevens believed the fabric strong enough, but that local strain on the peculiarly shaped bag and the method by which it unfolded probably were responsible for the rips which caused the airmen to seek a landing before they were able to reach the bag's maximum altitude.

Elgin Sunday School Holds Annual Picnic

NORWOOD, July 30.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Elgin Sunday school held their annual social on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Richardson. The ideal weather of the evening, together with the popular annual event, drew an exceptionally large crowd from all parts of the district.

In the early part of the evening a softball game was played between the Hastings Tannery and Elgin teams, resulting in a victory for the former.

The line-up was:

Hastings—E. Hahn, p; J. Scriver, c; C. Scriver, 1b; M. Hogan, 2b; D. Lemoire, 3b; B. Stickles, ss; G. Herrington, lf; F. Frallix, rf; C. Scriver, cf.

Elgin — J. Richardson, p; R. Scott, c; M. Scott, 1b; R. Scott, 2b; G. Richardson, 3b; R. Richardson, ss; L. Flemming, lf; J. Stinson, cf; F. O'Grady, rf.

Referee—L. Scriver. Base umpire, F. Sargent.

The supper served by the ladies was a very appetizing and generous one.

H. Thistlewaite, superintendent of the Sunday school, was chairman for the program of the evening, which consisted of selections from the Norwood orchestra, the Hastings orchestra, guitar and banjo duet by Messrs. C. Scriver and J. Montgomery; vocal duet, Misses Florence Scott and Thelma Cleland; solos by Walter Buck and Philip Kingsley.

Greetings from Wildman's S. S. were given by J. Stark; recitations by Albert Thistlewaite annd Misses Laura Metcalf and Georgina Beavis.

Mr. R. Buck moved a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Richardson for opening their home for the evening, and thanked all those who helped in making possible the splendid gate receits of $71.35.

The Rev. A. C. Huston, who for some time past has been in charge of the Bethel Appointment in North Gwillimbury Township, is leaving for the Far North, with Mrs. Huston and their daughter Phyllis. The Rev. Mr. Huston had charge of Lakehurst and Curve Lake Appointment for two years as a student and his work at the former place will always be remembered, as he was instrumental in beautifying the church grounds and cemetery and also had the first Decoration Day service with the Rev. D. Wren, formerly of Peterborough, as guest speaker. When the great need for leadership at Nelson House Indian Mission in the Hudson Bay Presbytery, Manitoba Conference of the United Church of Canada, was presented to Mr. Huston, he was a theological student at Emmanuel College. He and Mrs. Huston volunteered to go and they immediately commenced making special preparation, with the co-operation of the Faculty. Now, in addition to the regular course, Mr. Huston has had training in First Aid Work and has commenced the study of the Cree language. Mrs. Huston has taken a special course in nursing and will occupy the position of Field Matron to the Indians. (Before her marriage she was Miss Marjorie Hunt of Lakehurst and attended the Peterborough Collegiate Institute). Prior to leaving for their station in the Far North, the people of Curve Lake held a farewell gathering for Rev. and Mrs. Huston and presented them with a purse and many good wishes for success in the future. An appropriate acknowledgment was made.

Lindsay Minister Assails Beer Law

(Special to The Examiner)

LINDSAY, July 30. — Rev. J. J. Black, minister of Cambridge St. United Church severly critized the government for introducing beer and wine in hotels. "I walked down town last night at 7.30 again at 8.30 and at 10.30 and I say it was disgraceful to see young men streaming into the beer parlors and streaming out again in a line. No government has any right to bring in beer and wine without consulting the people. A generation of drunkards is being born".

"The parlors are just like the old bars, except they have chairs to make people more comfortable", said Rev. Mr. Black.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The season is with us when sweet corn will be on the market. This is important news because corn is one of the few vegetables that still has its season. Nearly everything else can be found in the markets at some price the year around. However, corn is neither fresh nor sweet after it has been picked for many hours and most of the crop is sold as it ripens near the place where it is grown, or it is canned or dried for out-of-season use.

* * * * * * *

When you wish to feature corn in the menu and want something different the following recipes will help you:

* * * * * * *

CORN STUFFED PEPPERS

6 green sweet peppers, 2 cups whole kernel cooked corn, one-half cup thin white sauce, 5 tablespoons tomato catsup, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons onion salt, butter, corn flake crumbs, grated cheese. Method: Cut off tops and remove seeds of pepper. Put peppers and top slice in cold water and bring to boil, boiling five minutes. Cut cooked tops of peppers into small pieces and add to corn. Add catsup, sugar and onion salt and pack into parboiled pepper cases. Put lump of butter on top of each and cover tops with corn flake crumbs and grated cheese. Bake in a hot oven (425 F.) until brown on top.

TOASTED CORN SANDWICHES

One-half cup soft sharp cheese. One tablespoon milk. One egg (beaten). One-half teaspoon salt. One-quarter teaspoon dry mustard. One-quarter teaspoon baking powder. One-half cup grated raw corn. Buttered toast, strips of bacon. Method: Mix cheese, milk, beaten egg, seasonings and baking powder into a smooth paste. Add the corn and spread mixture on slices of toasted buttered bread. Place strip of bacon on top and put under broiler until it become browned and puffed up. Serve immediately.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Miss Marie E. Prive, 582 Chamberlain St., City.

Your writing for analysis shows friendliness and adaptability. You are rather inclined to be analytical because you thirst for knowledge. You can't just take things for granted; you must know the why and the wherefor. You are active and very quick in your movements, perhaps a trifle self-conscious and nervous, but nevertheless, sincere and honest. The capital letters reveal artistic tendencies and also show that you are impulsive at times. Your 't' bar crossing is not very decided, therefore, denotes lack of concentration and will-power. The lower loops denote fear of self expression. It is as though you want to do things, but haven't the courage. Kindness and understanding are your best qualifications, and as these two attributes are priceless, you should be a very happy person.

Concentration and definite study during the next few years will help you to overcome that complex which seems to reveal itself in your writing, that of cutting yourself off from your friends at times due to a nervous fear, or feeling that you are not wanted. Your type as a rule make excellent cooks, but are inclined to cook too much some days and then not desire to do any more cooking for a long time.

Frank Hitchins, 542 Wolfe St., City.

The handwriting for analysis shows that you are inclined to be very reserved and shy. You do not appear to ever let yourself enjoy the pleasure of speaking your own mind. There is always something which holds you back. Could you not try to put yourself forward a little more? Make yourself think that you are every bit as clever as the next person, and that you were destined to become well known. I suggest this because mind has a great deal to do with power over matter. Suggestion of thought will encourage you, and with your really pleasant nature, you should acquire new friends who will endeavour to see your point of view. Read the latest newspapers, learn to converse upon intelligent subjects, and I feel sure that in the space of another year you will have gained much confidence, and greater happiness.

People who have your type of writing usually enjoy tinkering with machinery, but must not be interfered with during their mental operations, because if derided, they draw themselves "into their shell' as it were and refuse to continue the project which was in the mind, and so lose many interesting opportunities.

Mrs. Helen Stone, Ennismore, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your card for analysis with its closely knit formations, indicates that you are a slow, careful and meditative thinker. You are rather too reserved and not quite sure of your own capabilities. It would assist you greatly were you to set a definite standard for yourself, eliminate each unnecessary thought and objective, one at a time till you arrive at a worthwhile conclusion. Then make it your goal, and do not let anything prevent you from obtaining it. Just now you appear to be undecided and repeatedly change your mind from day to day. Your character is good, and your disposition is cheerful, but you force yourself to do too many tasks in one day, and then you feel tired out and not capable of enjoying any pleasure. I fully realize that it is difficult to rest sometimes when work accumulates and one feels the urge to get it all done. However, you belong to the ambitious exacting type, and you sense an obligation to do everything at once. This will sap your strength and wear down your nervous energy. So please do not try to exert yourself beyond your power of endurance.

Hot winds recently caused damage to Italy's almond crops.

Mexico expects a mining boom.

Austria has a revival of gold mining.

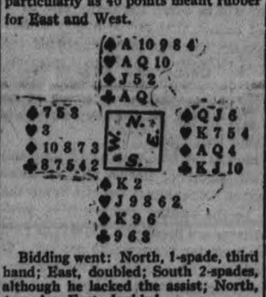
BAD BIDDING—WORSE PLAY.

Here is an interesting hand, born near the Mexican border. East and West alone were vulnerable. Their opponents needed a game, which probably accounts for the bad bidding particularly as 40 points meant rubber for East and West.



Bidding went: North, 1-spade, third hand; East, doubled; South 2-spades, although he lacked the assist; North, 4-spades; East, doubled.

Thinking that the declarer doubtless held the A-K of trumps, East led the J of spades, as a precaution in case South turned up with the K and a finesse could be taken either way. The J, instead of the Q lead, might cause the declarer to finesse incorrectly. When North led the 2 of spades from dummy, after winning with the K, the 8 was finessed and East won with his Q. He promptly threw the lead, by returning his last spade and the declarer was in.

North led in turn the Ace, Q and 10 of hearts, hoping that East would put up the K on the second round of hearts, but he held off. Dummy's J overtook the 10, and the 9 was led back. It made no difference whether the declarer ruffed the trick or discarded. He chose to let go his Q of clubs, and the defenders won their second trick. East led back a club, which the declarer won with his lone ace.

North banked upon finding the ace of diamonds in East's hand. The low diamond was led. East knew that he was lost whichever way he played, but he passed the trick. Dummy's K won. Upon a return lead of the last heart held by dummy, the declarer discarded his lowest diamond. Finally he had to give East his third defensive trick, by losing his last diamond to East, but North went game.

It was a natural thing for East to do when he led back a losing trump at the third trick, but it was fatal to his hopes of defeating the contract that he had doubled. East played like a beginner, but really he was a good player. His trump exit was a careless play, such as every player makes at times. The proper thing for East to have done was to kill entry to dummy, by leading off his ace and Q of diamonds, before affording the declarer a possible opportunity to establish the long heart suit in dummy. Of course an opening lead of the Q of diamonds would have been the ideal one, as it happened, but East was not to blame for that slip. The bidding was bad, but East's play was worse.

England now has 80 factories for canning fruit and vegetables.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

Recently I described a new exercise for waistline slenderness, as advocated by the genial Buddy De Sylva, Hollywood's greatest producer of musical smashes. The exercise consisted of trying to walk about with the feet apart, the knees stiff the arms swung down between the legs, and each hand grasping the front part of an ankle.

Now an amusing squawk comes from no less a celebrity than Buddy himself. "Dear Gladys," he writes, "It may interest you to know that, when I awakened yesterday morning, I found myself famous. You proclaimed the slimness of my waistline to the world—and I am now being pointed out in great crowds.

"There goes the guy with the waistline that Gladys Glad wrote about,' I can hear them whisper. 'What's so hot about him?'

"Famous that's what I am! Last night, when I was introduced in a night club, 15 or 20 girls surrounded me and immediately began to inspect my equator. I held my breath manfully, but to no avail. Their reactions were most embarrassing to a man whose waistline will now be talked about by posterity.

"This morning, therefore, I decided to live up to my reputation. I threw open the windows and tried the exercise I described to you. After several hours I finally managed to secure an ankle in either hand. But then I couldn't get back! I am now writing to you from that position! I can't straighten up- I will probably be buried this way! Thank you so much for making me famous!"

This letter, I'm afraid, seems to indicate that Buddy is just as lacking in persistence as some of my readers. So many gals give up exercising just because they become a bit stiff after the first few times. They presume that, because it has this effect on them, the exercise does not benefit them.

A bit of muscular stiffness really isn't anything to become perturbed about. It's only natural that if you begin to exercise muscles that have had little or no activity, soreness will result. But such soreness is only temporary, and disappears as the muscles become more limber and flexible. So if you wish a slender waistline, keep at this exercise. Go easy at first, but don't give up. For in time you'll find the exercise really simple to execute, and no end beneficial to the slim suppleness of your waistline.

Janetville Woman Injured In Crash

LINDSAY, July 30.—(Special to The Examiner.)—A serious accident occurred Sunday night about three miles south of Lindsay, when a car driven by Mrs. Trick, of Janetville, collided with a car driven by Fred Taylor, of Lindsay. Mrs. Trick was seriously injured and is at present in Ross Hospital. Her son escaped unhurt. Both cars were badly damaged.

Today's Recipes

Molded Cheese Salad—One and one-half ounces Roquefort cheese, one three-ounce package cream cheese, two tablespoons heavy cream, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon gelatin, one-fourth cup cold water, one-half cup cream, whipped; one-half cup broken pecan meats. Blend together the two cheeses, moistening with cream. Soften the gelatin in cold water (sometimes use pineapple juice) and melt over hot water. Add gelatin to cheese mixture, fold in whipped cream and nuts, pour into a small size ring mold and chill until firm. Turn out on a plate and garnish with pineapple slices cut in half, cherries, halves of apricots or plums with sprigs of watercress. This same cheese mixture may be poured into green pepers from which the seeds and pith are removed. When firm slice with a sharp cold knife, serving on crisp lettuce or watercress with mayonnaise.

Lemon Sponge Cake—One cup granulated sugar, four eggs, one tablespoon lemon juice, grated rind of one lemon, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder, a pinch of salt. Separate the whites from the yolks of the eggs, beat light. Add yolks to sugar and continue beating. Add lemon juice and grated rind, then one-third of the flour, sifted with baking powder and salt, folding in gently, next one-third of the stiffly beaten whites, then more flour, then more whites, until all are used. Be sure to fold—not beat—in. Pour in ungreased sponge cake tin, and bake in moderate oven.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Cleaning Silver

Filigree silver ornaments should be cleaned with cream of tartar. Make it into a paste with a little water and spread thickly on the ornaments, then wrap them in flannel and allow to lie for five or six days. Then wash off paste with clean warm water and the silver will be found beautifully bright.

North American Life Banner Half Year

A report released by North American Life covering the activities for the first six months of 1934 shows substantial gains in sales which have increased over 25 per cent over the same period of 1933. This is marked by large increases in volume of new business in every month since January.

Particularly significant is the fact that the number of the company's representatives who qualified for the Big Production Club which terminated on June 30th was greater than in any year since July, 1929.

For over twenty years, throughout the Great War, the influenza epidemic and the recent depression, the North American Life has maintained its dividend scale without fail. The company's record in this respect is practically unique. Every dividend payment during that time has been equal to or greater than any previous dividend.

These record together with the past achievements extending over fifty-three years and coupled with the fact that the company is mutual, paying only to the policyholders the profits arising from the operation of the business, establishes the North American Life as one of the strongest and soundest of our financial institutions.

AND ONE IS DEAD.

Among the fatal automobile accidents last week was one near Leamington when a ten-year-old girl passenger in a car that swerved from the road in passing another machine and plunged into the ditch lost her life.

The striking feature about this accident was the fact that there were eight people in the wrecked machine, a small coupe with a rumble seat.

The driver had three companions in the seat with him and the other four passengers were in the rumble, surely a case of over-crowding to a degree that can be described in no other way than gross negligence.

As the Stratford Beacon-Herald forcibly says, "eight people piled into a small car creates a desperate problem when anything goes wrong, and with such crowding the chances are that something can well go wrong."

Certainly a driver who is handicapped by the presence of three other persons in the same seat as himself has little chance to exercise complete control over his car, especially in an emergency, and when such chances are taken and a fatal accident results an example should be made of those responsible for such a glaring neglect of the rules of safety and common sense.

It was never intended that eight persons should be crammed into a small car in this fashion; those who run a risk like that are simply asking for trouble.

MORE CANADIANS AT WORK.

The optimistic figures as to employment given out by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, are both surprising and gratifying.

That there should be 41,414 more Canadians engaged in gainful employment at the end of June this year than there were at the beginning of that month, the figure being 941,165 as compared with 899,751, is most certainly a very satisfactory improvement, while Mr. Stevens' statement that the general increase in employment during the last three months has considerably exceeded the average for the same period in the years since 1920 is also a cause for feeling that the employment situation is gradually getting back to something more like normal conditions.

There has always, of course, been an improvement in industrial activity during the second quarter of each year, but this year's gain has been well above normal, as will be seen from the fact that in April, May and June nearly 91,700 more Canadians found jobs than had been employed in the previous three months.

What this means can be appreciated when it is understood that the increase in the same period last year was 79,000; in April, May and June of 1932, only 11,000, and in the second quarter of 1931, 36,000.

With more Canadians working and thus increasing the country's buying power, a continued improvement should result; at least there is every reason for being optimistic as to the outlook.

THE NEW REGULATIONS.

With beer on sale in a number of hotels and with restrictions on the purchase of both wine and beer removed, an increase in the number of drunken persons was noted last week.

It is to be hoped that this is only a temporary condition, explained by the novelty of being able to buy beer by the glass and of purchasing both wine and beer without a permit.

Most probably when the first excitement of these looser regulations has died out, it will be found that there will be no more insobriety under the new law than there was formerly; at the same time, too, it should be realized that with sale by the glass largely taken away from the bootleggers and confined to downtown hotels, signs of drunkenness are now concentrated in the centre of the city, instead of being scattered over the outskirts.

The most disturbing feature of the new regime that The Examiner has noted is that there is sale of beer to large numbers of youthful-looking customers, very close to the border-line in age and some of them, so far as appearance go, minors who should be kept out of beverage rooms.

When the rush and confusion of the first few days have passed those entrusted with the privilege of sale will have a better chance to check on this angle of the business, and it is assumed that customers who are doubtful from the viewpoint of age will find it impossible to purchase intoxicants.

If they are not refused then the hotels will be building up trouble for themselves, for it is certain that public opinion will not sanction sale to minors.

TRADE WITH SOUTH AFRICA.

While the imports of Canadian merchandise into South Africa in 1933 showed an increase, the total, as reported by G. R. Heasman, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Cape Town, being £1,205,000 as against £1,117,000 in 1931, this gain does not show the real position of trade between the two countries, due to the 1932 imports being on a gold basis.

If the 1933 imports were figured on a similar basis in all probability a falling-off would be shown.

The situation is that the trend of imports into South Africa is changing, due to the desire to foster secondary industries there and to the protection afforded some of the primary industries.

Certain commodities, such as wheat and flour, are strictly controlled as to imports, and thus the former, which at one time constituted the most important import from Canada into the Union, now comes in only in neglible quantities.

The need now is for Canada to develop new lines of trade with South Africa, and fortunately the prospects in that direction are good.

Already a big trade has been built up in box shooks and lumber, and it is believed that it will only be a matter of time until all imports of canned salmon are received from Canada.

Doors, shingles, broom handles, battery boxes, separators, fruit wrappers and apples are all items which, according to Mr. Heasman, have further possibilities of development.

With the South African fruit industry growing rapidly, increasing large quantities of wood, wool, wire, strapping, shears, sprayers, etc., will be needed, and there are also good prospects for increased sales of Canadian refrigerators and radios.

A LOST OPPORTUNITY.

Hon. Mitchell Hepburn, the new head of the Ontario Government, seems to be making a brave effort to reduce expenses; and we should at once realize that this will not be entirely popular. One of the discouraging things in our public life is that the people, speaking broadly, appear to like a free-spending government; yet the same people complain when taxes are raised. This would rather imply that economy is more a thing of theory than practice.

If a chronological chart of Ontario expenditures were prepared, a cross could be readily drawn at the precise period when extravagance began. Up to a little over thirty years ago the province was keeping outgo well in hand. There was a debt of less than $8,000,000, and for this Sir George Ross apologized in his budget speech of 1901. Revenues were adequate. Then something happened. Automobile license fees began to roll in, and succession duties commenced to mount. Later on, the gasoline tax and profits from liquor sales yielded many millions. The effect was intoxicating.

That was when Ontario departed from the pathway of prudence and threw away the finest opportunity any government ever had of doing the right thing. Revenues had far more than doubled, and this gave the province adequate means to adopt a pay-as-you-go policy. The comparatively trifling provincial debt might have been wiped out, and a new and larger scale of public services provided, without incurring a dollar of capital liability. But that is precisely what the Government did not do. Instead, it capitalized the new and larger revenues and launched upon a course of borrowing which carried the debt up to $650,000,000.

Then came the economic pinch. The province was sailing so close to the wind as between income and outgo that, when revenues began to fall off, it was compelled to borrow in order to pay interest charges on debt. Thus the provincial candle was set burning at both ends, than which there could be nothing more wasteful or dangerous. And that is the situation at this moment. It is still borrowing to pay the fixed charges on its rash borrowings between 1910 and 1929. Hon. Mr. Hepburn has a big job on his hands.

Unhappily, this story of wasted opportunity applies almost as sharply to some of the other provinces, and this is why they have been at Ottawa, some of them hat in hand and others truculent, seeking financial help from the equally hard-pressed Federal Government. Something near $100,000,000 has had to be advanced to tide them over their difficulties. To do this, the Dominion has had to borrow; so that, from every angle of view, we are here in contact with the direful consequences of running rashly into debt. —Brantford Expositor.

A REAL SAVING—OR JUST TAKING A CHANCE?

The Ontario Government has dismissed its district health officers, with the explanation that thereby some $40,000 a year will be saved the taxpayers. If is highly desirable, of course, that public money should not be spent needlessly, that the province should cut its coat according to its cloth as individuals must do. But there are plenty of cases where an apparent saving in reality is nothing of the sort, and it is not at all certain that discharge of the district health officials does not come within that class.

Communities such as Ottawa, with a full-time and experienced medical officer of health and a skilled staff, perhaps derived little direct benefit from the district officials. In the smaller communities, however, the health officers are practising physicians paid a few dollars each year for their public services. If an emergency arises they have not the time, nor perhaps the experience, to handle it unaided—and the discarded officials, under the old system, were on hand promptly to take charge with the authority of the Provincial Department of Health.

The district officers were a co-ordinating agency, introduced uniformity and skilled direction into the ceaseless war on disease, assured immediate action in any crisis which might develop. Their absence may involve delay under circumstances when delay will have very grave consequences. For instance, if the city of Ottawa learned that its health was being endangered by some act of a neighboring municipality its present course would be an appeal to the department at Toronto, the department presumably would send up an inspector—and all of this would take time. The old system would have permitted appeal to the district health officer, who would have been on the ground in as many hours as now it would take days to get action.

The question is whether it is worth taking chances of this sort, chances affecting the health of three million people, to save $40,000—or such part of that as remains unspent after the additional expenses put upon the provincial department by the new policy are taken into account.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is considered extremely unlikely that the hunger marchers will be presented with Toronto centennial medals.

The triumph of Perry and Austin in the opening singles matches of the Davis Cup finals would seem to indicate that England will make a successful defence of the trophy.

Some of the hunger marchers claim they are representing a million people. Most of the million will naturally be surprised to hear it, however.

The Toronto Star is publishing a daily box score of the savings effected by the new Government. Strangely enough, however, there is no column therein for the errors.

The rumor that Hon. E. N. Rhodes is to succeed Hon. G. Howard Ferguson as Canada's High Commissioner at London belongs apparently to the hot weather crop of fairy stories.

"The essence of business is its adventure for profit in an unregulated economy."—Dr. Rexford G. Tugwell, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture of the United States.

"The social revolution now in progress might reach a point where industry is so regimented that there would be very little advertising."—Bruce Barton.

"If the government spends huge sums to prime the pump but won't let the pump work, then it is faced with endless spending."—Walter Lippmann.

PARRSBORO, N.S.

As early as 1776, Parrsboro, then known as Partridge Island Settlement, was a village of considerable size. The first settlement was situated two miles from the present site. In 1784 the name was changed to Parrsboro, in honor of John Parr, then governor of the province.

Partridge Island, in the vicinity, figures largely in the interesting old legends clustering around the name of Glooscap, the Micmac Indian man-god, a mighty warrior and magician. In all literature few more beautiful or poetic legends exist than those which are interwoven with the history of the Micmac Indians in Nova Scotia.

THE BROWSER.

It's too much for the Browser. . . . He can't understand how any woman, an Englishwoman too, could write a book about a Spanish matador and enrich it with the mass of detail that Marguerite Steen does in "Matador". . . . Ernest Hemingway will read it and kick himself for not writing a novel instead of that "Death in the Afternoon" which wasn't exactly a huge success, even though the Browser (who doesn't count) did read every word of it and praise it so highly. . . . And that reminds the Browser all over again of how he lent that Hemingway book to somebody and never did get it back again and if he knew who it was he'd be furious at them but he's forgotten entirely. . . . The publishers say that "Matador" had two printings before publication which means that the booksellers are properly impressed and will tell you it is a very fine book. . . . Which it is. . . . A bit slow in reading but worth reading, nevertheless. . . . The Browser does not mind books that are "a bit slow in reading". He measures his pace by the pace of the writer. If the writer is swift he goes slowly, if the writer is slow he speeds up. . . . It can be done and it's not a question of skipping, either. . . . Several years ago Robert S. Lynd published a little article entitled "I Wish I Had More Time to Read" and in that he gave eight pointers on reading faster than you do. . . . He said that most of us are spendthrift readers who waste from 10 to 30 minutes of each hour in reading. The speed of reading varies for individuals from two to ten words a second and it can easily be increased. . . . First, said Mr. Lynd, "force yourself to read more rapidly than feels comfortable. . . . You will be bothered at first by not grasping the matter you are reading as well as is your want. Disregard this and it will right itself with practice. . . . 2. Make as few stops or eye "fixations" in each line as possible. In reading the eye moves not continuously but by jerks and pauses. You do not read while your eye moves but when it stops. Don't read words, read groups of words, entire sentences, or even chunks of type. This two-inch newspaper column should not require more than two "stops" or "fixations". The way to do is NOT to fixate on the first word in the column but somewhere inside the line, and to make your last eye-stop before the end of the line. . . . 3. Don't let your eye wander back over what you have read. . . . 4. Establish a regular rhythm of the eye in accordance with the subject matter. . . . 5. Don't move your lips while you read. . . . 6. Test your reading speed at intervals of two weeks or two months. . . . 7. "Cultivate the knack of shifting gears according to the grade of the reading in your hand at the moment." (That is, read the Browser very swiftly, but take your time if you are reading Ellen Glasgow, Willa Cather, or the advertisements.). 8. "And finally have some flexibility and sense of humor about all this business. Don't go dancing off with the idea that nothing is worth rolling under one's literary tongue, or that we counsel dashing through the 'Ode on a Grecian Urn'." . . . Perhaps some people don't like to read merely because they have never learned how, but they don't know they don't know.

THE LUCK OF TORONTO.

On this date, in 1793, Colonel Simcoe landed at Toronto and decided that, since he had to remove the capital of Upper Canada from Niagara, in view of the "American menace", he might just as well locate the capital temporarily at a place where there was a good harbor. He did not intend that Toronto should be the permanent capital; that honor was destined for what is now London; perhaps that was why Simcoe chose that name. He had a mania for giving English names to this new "colony" and why not have London the capital of Upper Canada? Unluckily for London, Ont., but luckily for the province, Simcoe proposed but Dorchester disposed. The governor general had long since decided that Toronto was to be the capital, and he paid little heed to Simcoe's big projects for a capital on the Canadian Thames (How much better it would have been had the original name, The Trauche, been preserved!).

When, therefore, Toronto celebrates Founder's Day, it will be honoring a man who intended that that place should be merely a naval and military establishment instead of the man who was the true father of its selection as the capital of Upper Canada. And, paradoxically enough, Toronto has a statue to Simcoe, but no memorial to Dorchester, not even a street named after him; there is a Carlton street, but that is misspelled; it should be Carleton; there is a movement now to have Carlton street changed to Dorchester, but Toronto is conservative and dislikes changing street names.

Perhaps if Toronto is invaded today by many of the so-called "hunger marchers" it will wish that Simcoe had his way and that London had been the capital. Who knows?

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter, cheese and egg prices advanced sharply on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market last week. Receipts were considerably lighter.

On the butter market, fresh No. 1 in carlots or less was quoted at 19½c to 19¾c a pound, 1 cent higher than a week ago, but unchanged from Friday's price. Small lots to retailers were up 1 cent, solds being 21c a pound and prints 22c a pound. Receipts for the week totalled 21,073 boxes, against 25,847 boxes the week previous. Exports for the week were 204 boxes, against 13 boxes in the previous week and 73 boxes during the corresponding week last year.

Cheese prices were fractionally higher than they were a week before. Ontario colored being 10¾c to 10¼c a pound, up ¼ of a cent, and Quebec cheese being priced at 10 cents a pound, a gain of ⅝ of a cent over the week previous. Week-end prices were unchanged from Friday's prices. Arrivals for the week were 18,751 boxes, as compared with 34,439 boxes the week previous. Export for the week totalled 23,769 boxes, against 15,032 boxes the week previous, and 11,616 boxes during the corresponding week last year.

Eggs were generally a cent above prices at the close of the previous week, graded shipments in carlots or less being 21c to 22c a dozen for "A" large, up 1c over the week before; 20c to 20½c for "A" medium, up 1½c; 19c for "B," up ½c, and 18½c to 19c for "C," up 1c. Saturday prices were unchanged from those of Friday. Arrivals for the week totalled 2,610 cases, against 8,132 cases the week before.

New Quebec potatoes remained steady in prices, being quoted at 45c to 50c per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Feverish speculative buying of grains broke out late Saturday and whirled prices skyward, wheat and corn both up more than 3 cents a bushel. Corn excelled the season's previous top price record.

Apparent likelihood that a new wave of severe high temperatures would overspread the United States this week threatening in particular disaster to corn, was chiefly responsible for the outburst of buying. In various quarters, Washington's official weekly weather forecast was taken as confirming at least in part the prospect of a torrid heat forthcoming.

A flurried close at virtually the day's peak quotations was witnessed in all the grain pits, with wheat 2¾c to 3¼c above Friday's finish, corn 2¾c to 3¼c up, oats 1c to 1½c advanced, and provisions showing 2c to 26c gain.

WINNIPEG, July 30 — Borne by a buying wave that entered the market near the close, wheat futures prices were carried up for gains of 1⅝ to 2 cents on the short Saturday session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Fear for another heat wave in Western Canada, strong Liverpool prices and fairly good sales of wheat for export provided the incentive for the advance. Official forecasts however, showed cooler weather in prospect for the West.

Chicago and Eastern interests, heavy sellers earlier in the week, turned buyers Saturday, and, with selling at a minimum, the gains were easily retained. Sales of Canadian wheat for export approximated 5000,000 bushels.

A private estimate of the wheat crop in the Prairie Provinces of only 257,000,000 bushels had an effect on sentiment, aid the close at Liverpool, ¾d to 1d up, also was a strengthening factor.

Higher grades of wheat again were in demand in cash grains, showed little change at the close. Trading in coarse grains futures was featureless but all prices sympathy with wheat.

The members of St. James' Anglican Church held their annual garden party on Wednesday evening, July 25, in the Parish Hall. A large crowd was present and the whole evening was a success. A much enjoyed play, entitled "Mother's Moment," was very ably given by the young people of Mark Street Church of Peterborough. The proceeds amounted to about $100.

SOCIAL IS HELD AT DOWNEYVILLE

Fowl Supper, Horseshoe Tournament, Stunts Make up Lively Program.

DOWNEYVILLE, July 30 (Examiner Correspondence).—The annual social of St. Luke's Parish, Downeyville, was a decided success and was attended by a very large crowd from the surrounding places. The numerous booths did a thriving business as well as the wheel of fortune.

The main feature of the social was the wonderful fowl supper with all its trimmings, served by the ladies of the parish, and it was as splendid as in former years. There was also a horse-shoe tournament, where a number of teams took part.

During the afternoon a number of boys from the De La Salle School in Toronto entertained the people with several stunts. Later in the evening, the Costello orchestra furnished the music.

The drawing for the various articles will be held in the Town Hall, Monday evening, when everybody is welcome.

Dome, Bialorne, Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves Among Issues to Go Up.

BASE METALS STEADY.

TORONTO, July 30 (CP).—Buying blossomed in the big gold group on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange today and prices stiffened generally. Dome, Bralorne, Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves with Dome, up 1.25 to 39.25, showing the most important advance. Silver and base metal shares were steady but rather slow. Volume over the board, while down from last week's daily turnover, was nevertheless considered normal for a Monday.

Rumors of good finds on a Quebec property which Hollinger has optioned, brought in ome buying in Hollinger, though the issue failed to hold a morning gain. Lake Shore added 25 cents, Bralorne moved up 25 to $16.

Firming up of the metals on the New York board brought some trading to Noranda, which added 50 cents. Little Long Lac was up 25 cents at the close and advances of 1 to 3 cents were registered for Siscoe.

NARROW GAINS TORONTO LIST

Distillery and Oil Shares Show Considerable Turn-Over in Otherwise Dull Session.

INTERLISTEDS OFF. F

TORONTO, July 30 (CP).—Prices of industrial shares edged forward narrowly today in slow trading on the whole though the turnover was considerable in the distillery and oil shares as well as such interlisted leaders as Nickel, C.P.R. and Ford "A". The in erlisteds, with a few exceptions, were off at the close in sympathy with New York's steady movement.

Buying was light in the brewery group, but prices had gains to show at the close of Canada Malting, Bud, Brewing Common and Walkerville. Distillery shares reversed the process, trading in heavy volume and showing small losses for distillers Seagrams and Walkers Common. Industrial Alcohol was an exception, that issue pushing up 7-8 to 6 7-8 and holding nearly all the gain till the close.

Consolidated Smelters sagged 1 1-2 to 129 and International Nickel closed down a half point at 23 1-8. Ford "A" lost 1-4 and C.P.R. 1-8.

B. A., Imperial and McColl closed higher by small fractions and International Pete sagged lightly.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP).—quiet recovery followed a morning sell-off in stocks today. Extreme losses of 1 to 3 points were pared and prices continued to creep up in the closing hour. Sears Roebuck showed little recuperation from a 3-point sag. American Telephone was down more than a point while U.S. Steel and General Motors about halved one point declines. Volume dwindled to approximately 850,000 shares.

HALT CONTRACT

examine the plans of the proposed new warehouse.

It was learned that the building had been undertaken by the Hamilton and Brooks interests for the purpose of providing increased accommodation for the handling of beer held in stock for local distribution, including a complete system of refrigeration.

The financing of the jobs was shared by both these interests, it was said, on the assurances from representatives of the Brewers' Association that existing arrangements would not be interrupted. Prominent Liberals are said to be stoutly opposed to the interest of Lou Brooks, brewers' agent, because of the alleged fact that he has been one of the more active Conservatives in this riding.

It is also understood that Mr. Brocks' contract with the brewers does not expire until the end of October. Although Mr. Brooks' connection with the brewers is not a political appointment, there is some feeling that if he is unacceptable to local Liberals and to the Commissioner, that the brewers might be persuaded to obtain a new agent.

The only information obtainable to-day was that the job had been suspended indefinitely, but that it might be resumed if existing connections were likely to be revised.

ENSIGN GOLD MINING CO.

Word has been received from W. C. Dunthorne who is in New York, that a contract has been signed for the financing of the Company with a financial company interested in Ontario Gold Mines for the purpose of putting in a mill on the property and the prospects are very hopeful that the object in view will be realized.

PRISONER'S AGE SAVES LASHES WITH SENTENCE

BRANTFORD, Ont., July 30.—(CP)—WilliamByerlayis, age given as 58 years, was the thing that saved him from the lash when he appeared before Magistrate J. R. Blake, on an indecent assault charge today. The man was convicted on the charge, a sentence of not less than six months or not more than two years less one day being imposed.

"I think he is too old for the lash," said the Court to Crown Attorney W. M. Charlton, K.C. who replied, "I would not like to see a man of his age get the lash."

The girl, her mother and P. O. Milligan gave evidence. The most damaging evidence came from a neighbor who suspected something was wrong and paid special attention to the pair with the aid of some field glasses and a position in a field nearby where the attack is alleged to have taken place.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, July 30 (CP).—After an unsettled opening, lamb prices dropped badly on the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon and sales were down 50 to 75 cents from last week's closing level. Calf prices remained firm while hogs continued unsettled and sheep held steady.

Cattle trading continued slow, with only 800 head sold by two o'clock. Unless trading picks up in the late afternoon a large holdover is expected. Prices on morning and early afternoon sales were steady with last Thursday's close.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 3,810; calves, 580; hogs, 1,020; sheep and lambs, 1,580.

Weighty steers old about steady at $4.00 to $5.25 for the majority with one choice load making $5.85. Butcher cattle ranged from $2.50 to $4.50 with a few tops at $4.75. Good butcher cows sold steady at $2.60 to $2.85, while canners brought 75 cents to $1.00. A few fed calves sold steady at $5.00 to $6.25.

Calves continued firm at $4.50 to $5.00 for choice vealers, with a few kosher calves selling a $5.50. Common grassers brought $2.00 to $2.25.

Hogs were still unsettled, with packers bidding $8.00 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.35 off truck and at $8.75 off cars.

BROKER'S OPINIONS.

J. Muir & Co:—"For the time being we advocate a trading attitude pending further developments.

Frazier Jelke:—"Improved support for utilities probably would help considerably in revising the trend of the general list.

Waldo Young:—"The president and his advisors know that stock market liquidation on a broad scale means damage to such confidence as may be slowly building up in business.

Uuless there is an improved tone to the markets by the end of the present week there will be due from the President a gesture to stimulate now. The immediate rebound that took place on Friday over Thursday's war scare market was extended further on Saturday. Such margin selling as took place was scattered and easily absorbed. The market will be giving favorable action to-day if it grows dull on any suggestion of a reaction.

CHICAGO, July 30.— A crucial test will be faced this week by the country's corn crop which prospects have become steadily worse since the government made it's astonishing forecast three weeks ago. To-day the trade improves the crop will fall at least a quarter of a billion bushels below the government figure and great emphasis is being placed on the precarious postion it is in.

HUNGER PARADE

tion, and the action of police officers in striking two of the marchers.

Provincial Police officers intervened, however, and the men were persuaded to continue to downtown Toronto. Fred Collins, reputed leader and organizer of the parade, returned with some of his followers and recovered banners and flags they had left behind.

Met by Police

Crossing the city boundary, the marchers were met by a detachment of Toronto police who said they had been ordered to escort the parade and facilitate the march to the Parliament Buildings.

Collins halted his men, moved up and down the straggling lines, shouting:

"Don't boo the Toronto police. Don't let them provoke you under consideration."

Then the march was resumed.

Both parades were headed for city parks, but E. F. Collins, General Superintendent of Parks, said no permits had or would be issued for the meetings to-day.

"Will permits be issued to-morrow for the big meetings" he was asked.

"I couldn't answer that question" he said.

Brewers Welcome Probe of Beer Price

TORONTO, July 30— (C.P.). — Brewers generally will welcome an investigation into the price of beer, they said to-day upon learning of the statement of Premier Hepburn of Ontario in Ottawa that the price question would be gone into.

"Just as long as 35 per cent of beer goes to Federal and Provincial Governments in taxes, the people needn't expect a five-cent glass of beer," one brewery official said.

Malt, it was said, costs the brewer 95 cents a bushel of 36 pounds, and there is a $6 per 100 pounds tax on this by the Federal Government and another $3.50 per 100 pounds tax by the Provincial Government. In addition, imported hops cost $1 per pound. Canadian hops, it was said, have a seed which creates a bad odor in beer, and European hops are used by most brewers in Canada.

CONFESSES DEED FOR DISMISSAL

"Since I was dismissed from the army for my political activity, I had an unextinguishable hatred against the Chancellor, whom I regarded as an exponent of a policy directed against National Socialism."

The president of the court trying the men was Maj.-Gen. Albert Obarwagar.

Both the defendants are married and neither has any past criminal record. Planetta is 34 years old and Holzwber 29.

In Planetta's alleged confession, he said:

"I and a few of my comrades stormed up the big staircase on the right of the entrance to the Chancellory.

"I was foloiwed by one of my comrades who apparently knew the way and assumed leadership.

"Suddenly we found ourselves in the room of the Chancellor and opposite him. I raised my pistol and without any exchange of words fired two shots at the Chancellor.

"I saw him collapse.

"Two of my comrades, after a short time, put Dollfuss on a couch. I was drawn out of the room by one of my comrades."

No British Action

LONDON, July 30.— (AP)— Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, informed the House of Commons today that Great Britain has no present intention of intervening to preserve Austrian independence.

The Foreign Secretary, however, declined to answer the question as to whether Great Britain "has made a direct protest to the German government expressing its disapprobation" of alleged interference in Austrian internal affairs.

"Having regard to the grave sense of responsibility attaching to anyone putting or answering the question," Sir John replied, "I should prefer that the honorable member put that question 'on the paper.'"

Pressed by members as to whether the Austrian events were "being inspired by or from Germany," Sir John outlined circumstances surrounding the placing of documents by the Austrian government in the the hands of the British government last February.

"In acknowledging the receipt of the communication," said Sir John, "I informed the Austrian minister that, while the British government had no intention whatever of interfering with the internal affairs of another country, it fully recognized the right of Austria to demand that there should be no interference with her internal affairs from any other quarter."

The possibility of a new revolt in Austria if the coalition government formed under Chancellor Schuschnigg fails to demonstrate quickly its ability to stamp out the continued guerrilla warfare was stated authoritatively to be feared by the government.

This, rather than foreign intervention, was regarded here as the principal danger as the new Austrian government took control.

Berlin Statement.

LONDON, July 30.—(A.P.)— A reliable source stated to-night that the British government has learned that an official statement was issued in Berlin last Wednesday evening proclaiming the overthrow of Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria in 'a' great popular revolt as important as it is welcome."

No Note to Berlin.

ROME, July 30.—(A.P.)—A government spokesman to-day said no note to Berlin asking dissolution of the Nazi storm troops is planned by Italy. Italian newspapers are urging France and Great Britain to combine with Italy to take steps to prevent a recurrence of trouble in Austria, and this was one means suggested.

Dissolve Nazi?

MUNICH, July 30.—(A.P.)—Persistent rumors were heard to-day that Chancelor Hitler intends to dissolve the Austrian Nazi Legion as soon as feasible.

German Press Attitude.

BERLIN, July 30.—(C.P.)—German newspapers charged the Italian press to-day with "working against" Austrian acceptance of the appointment of Franz Von Papen as special envoy to Austria.

"Is this an aid to European peace," asked the Montagspost, which with the Demontag condemned the Italian press as untruthful and misinformed.

Dismay and annoyance was exhibited by the government because of Austria's delay in accepting Von Papen.

Guarding Consulate.

MUNICH, Germany, July 30.—(A.P.)—It was reported without confirmation here to-day that 100 Italian soldiers had entered Innsbruck, Austria, to guard the Italian consulate. At the same time it was reported here that the death toll in the Austrian rebellion was 600 persons.

No Union

PARIS, July 30. (AP).—A battle of diplomacy to prevent negotiations between Chancellor Hitler of Germany and the successor of Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria for a union of Germany and Austria was foreseen to-day by French officials.

The danger of a new Nazi campaign of diplomatic persuasion for an Austro-German alliance through a customs union would be revived said authorities, if the new Austrian government accepts Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen as German minister to Austria.

Italian Troops Remain

ROME, July 30. (AP).—Despite reassuring reports from Vienna, Italy's fighting forces remain encamped on the Austrian border to-day.

An official said the troops would remain in the north for about two more weeks. Traffic between the two countries is said to be resuming normal proportions.

Premier Mussolini is devoting his full attention to the Nazi-Fascist hostilities in Austria, determined that Nazis shall not dominate the country. He spent his 51st birthday yesterday studying reports on the situation. He had planned to be at a sea resort with Engelbert Dollfuss, the murdered Austrian Chancellor.

Mussolini is reported to be in a bad humor after reading clippings from German newspapers attacking Italy for sending troops to the border.

Johnson On Way To Stockyard Strike

CHICAGO, July 30.—(A.P.) — Reports reached the strike stalled stockyards to-day that General Hugh S. Johnson, N.R.A. administrator, would fly here to-morrow or Wednesday to attempt a settlement of the labor dispute paralyzing the yards.

Federal mediators sent here to try for peace said they "understood" this was Gen. Johnson's plan. Pat E. Gorman, International president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' and Butcher Workmen, said the report came from Washington.

Meanwhile the threat of a general strike would take in union employees of the big packing plants was growing. Commission men buy and sell stock in the yards, met to decide whether they would attempt to resume business, now at a standstill, with non-union handlers.

WAR DEBTS CAN NEVER BE PAID ROTARY IS TOLD

Newton Smale, of Lindsay, Declares That Cancellation of Obligations Would Speed Up Recovery.

PLEA FOR YOUTH.

Plight of Thousands Leaving School With No Jobs is Sight Stressed by Speaker.

That the cancellation of the war debts would apply a notable impetus to world recovery was the opinion expressed to the Peterborough Rotary Club to-day by Rotarian Newton Smale who was the guest speaker at the weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Smale, introduced by Rotarian T. J. Carley, who referred to his many services in the public interest in Lindsay, spoke on what he called a double-barrelled subject "Two Creditors, Both Imaginary."

The first part of this most interesting address was devoted to a clear out exposition of the war debt situation. Mr. Smale pointed out that at the end of the war European nations owed the United States some seven billion dollars and twelve months later the debt stood at ten and one-third billions, largely because at request of the United States war contracts in existence at the signing of the armistice were carried through to completion. The speaker emphasized the fact that not a cent of this sum had been sent to Europe, the whole amount having been expended in the United States. The steps taken to refund the debt were explained by Mr. Smale as well as the reparations end of the situation. He pointed out that the only way in which Europe could discharge her obligations was in sending goods to the United States and as the latter for obvious reasons declined payments in that way, the debt should be regarded as a basic debt and one that could not and should not be paid. Furthermore the speaker argued that as United States could not fight with soldiers until fifteen months after she entered the war, she was really fighting with her wheat and cotton and munitions and should not expect payment therefore.

In the second part of his address Mr. Smale pointed out that citizens who paid their contribution to relief funds were fake creditors, if they thought they were discharging their full duty thereby. He eloquently stressed the plight of youth to-day, pointing out that there was no place in the economic or industrial world for thousands who were graduating from high schools and universities. It was the duty of Rotarians to recognize this situation and to do what they could to bring about a better condition of affairs.

President J. Reed thanked the speaker on behalf of the club.

Among the visitors to-day was Rotarian Rev. J. R. Webb of Kitchener, formerly of Peterborough.

TESTS PROVE FEASIBILITY OF RADIO-DIRECTED POLICE

"Bandits" Caught Quickly As Pursuers Co-operate on Land and Sky

AIDS FLYING SQUAD

Leicester.—Fifty years ago policemen abandoned the practice of "springing" a rattle during a hue and cry and began to blow whistles. The policemen of 1934 fly in aeroplanes at 150 miles an hour while wirelessing directions to a 60-mile an hour flying squad car that was experimenting in chasing bank bandits.

This modern hue and cry ended in the capture of the criminals and proved so efficient that the chief constable of Leicestershire said that he considered radio-telephony, linking aeroplane and flying squad, to be the ideal method of combatting the car-bandit menace.

The hunt was staged by the Marconi Company in conjunction with Leicestershire county constabulary and was witnessed by a large gathering of police, home office officials and wireless experts.

At Desford Aerodrome the first police message came through, thus: "At 1.30 p.m. to-day the cashier at Williams' Bank, Banbury, was held up by two men who robbed him of $150,000. They were seen to escape in a 14 h.p. Riley motor car, JU 2397, which is apparently distinguishable by a white-colored roof. Later: Motor car was observed to pass over Gibbet cross roads from direction of Rugby towards Leicester at 2.30 p.m. Police wireless van is patrolling Welford Rd. Please patrol Lutterworth Rd. and co-operate with wireless van."

Chase Is On

Within 30 seconds the police aeroplane had taken off and joined in the chase. Twenty-five minutes later it was back again—and the bandits were under lock and key!

But that is not all the story; in those 25 minutes a reporter was permitted to listen in on the police radio conversations during the exciting chase.

Listening in on 142 metres he heard: "Hullo, police car; police aeroplane calling! Now over Lutterworth Rd. and have sighted the wanted car proceeding north."

"Hullo, aeroplane; police car answering. O.K. We shall head them off towards Bruntingthorpe."

Constant Communication

And so it went on, the aeroplane keeping in constant touch with the car and reporting all turns and movements. Sometimes they had to repeat messages twice owing to the fierce atmospherics (from a neighboring thunderstorm), but not once did the two police units lose touch.

At the beginning of the chase, car and aeroplane were about twelve miles apart and both were about fifteen miles from Desford Aerodrome where the listener was stationed. Gradually their voices became louder. . . . Then:

"Hullo, aeroplane! O.K. now. We have held up and seized wanted car at cross roads between Peatling Magna and Bruntingthorpe. Will you please direct us to the aerodrome?"

It did not take long for the aeroplane to guide the car home and both arrived at the control tower simultaneously.

WOMAN WINS $5,000 OVER PIECES OF CLOTH

Charged With Stealing Material, Employee Proven Innocent, Sues

London. — A young woman who claimed damages from her former employer for false imprisonment and malicious prosecution was awarded $5,000 in the king's bench division recently.

She was Miss Mabel Violet Barker of Knowsley Dale Grove. Her action was against Leslie Savill of Fortune Green Rd., Kilburn, and was the sequel to the acquittal of Miss Barker at London sessions on a charge of stealing pieces of dress material and two reels of thread of small value.

Miss Barker's case was that she was employed as the manageress of Mr. Savill's dressmaking establishment at Hampstead on salary with a quarter-share of the profits.

Failing to get a written agreement from the defendant she gave notice and decided to start in business on her own account two miles away.

Before leaving she packed up three dresses, pieces of surplus material supplied by customers and two reels of thread. The dresses had been paid for and the reels were required to complete the making of the dresses.

A few days later Mr. Savill, with a detective, called at her new place of business and accused her of stealing the goods. She gave her explanation, but was taken to the West Hamstead police station, had her finger-prints taken and was kept in a cell for over an hour until her father bailed her out.

The jury at London sessions stopped the case without hearing any evidence for Miss Barker.

Mr. Savill now maintained there was reasonable and probable cause for the prosecution and that he had acted without malice.

The jury found for Miss Barker on both issues—false imprisonment and malicious prosecution—and awarded $2,500 damages in each instance. Miss Barker's father was awarded $215 damages, the expenses he had incurred.

Judgment was entered accordingly with costs.

RECTOR VERY MUCH ALIVE

Has to Twice Deny Reports of Own Death

Worcester.—Rev. W. R. Buchanan-Dunlop, rector of St. Andrew with All Saints, has read the announcement of his own death in two church newspapers in one week.

"I have spent a lot of time trying to convince people I am not dead," he said. "A cousin with the same name died last week, and there has been confusion. By an extraordinary coincidence the same thing happened some years ago, when another cousin died."

COUPLE SPEECHLESS AT CHINESE NUPTIALS

Silently Bow Thanks for Parental Advice

London.—At the recent wedding of Miss Bessie Yio-Chung Li, daughter of the chairman of the Bank of China, to Dr. Sze-Ming Sze, neither bride nor groom spoke a word throughout the ceremony. The bride did not promise to obey, nor the groom to cherish. They listened to congratulations by the presiding official, Tai-Chi Quo, the Chinese minister, and to speeches of advice from the heads of both families, and silently bowed their thanks.

When the bridegroom put a circlet of diamonds on his bride's finger, they bowed silently to each other.

BIGAMIST SAYS LIFE 'AS RACY AS HENRY 8'S'

Convicted in Canada For Manslaughter, Man Called 'Dangerous Rogue'

Leeds.—An ex-public school boy, whom the judge described as "a dangerous rogue against whom the public must be protected," was sent to jail for three years.

The man, Claude St. John Capron, aged thirty-three, pleaded guilty to two charges of bigamy and to a series of embezzlement and fraud charges.

"He said his life was quite as racy as the private life of Henry VIII," stated a detective.

It was stated that after leaving a university he worked in New Zealand, Australia and Canada.

In Canada he was convicted of manslaughter and fined $250. On his voyage home in 1930 he met a woman whom he married on arrival at Plymouth.

In February, 1932, he left her at Bristol to take up work in South Wales, and she had heard nothing of him since.

Subsequently, he married a second woman bigamously, and his arrest for false pretences stopped another marriage.

BELL-RINGER DIES AT ROYAL DUTIES

Was Tolling Bells For Their Majesties' Celebration

London.—Walter Prime, 79, one of the oldest bell-ringers in London, died while ringing in celebration of the King's and Queen's wedding anniversary.

He was one of a party of the Ancient Society of College Youths, who rang the ten highest bells in London, in the Victoria Tower of the Imperial Institute.

The lift took them half-way up the tower. Then they climbed 100 steps. Walter Prime seemed none the worse. In ten minutes 150 changes were rung, and the ringers sat down to rest. Walter Prime sighed and his head fell forward. He was dead. He had been a ringer at St. Paul's for half a century.

CENSORS PUBLIC MORALS

Beach Inspector Keeps Eye on Bathing Suits

Westgate-on-Sea. — Council have appointed a beach inspector as censor of public morals. His job is to decide whether bathing costumes he sees on the sands are decent or not. The spread of topless bathing costumes has led to many complaints to Westgate school masters.

WILL RATION WATER OF ENGLISH THAMES

Lord Desborough Is Given Dictatorial Powers in Drought Emergency

London.—Thames water is to be rationed.

The conservators have agreed to the reduction of the minimum flow at Teddington to 100,000,000 gallons a day.

Legal minimum is now 170,000,000 gallons. Normal flow is 819,000,000 gallons.

New regulations will make boats queue up at the Thames locks and go through several at a time. This will reduce the flow. Factories are to be asked to reduce the amount of water they take from the river.

The conservancy board gave Lord Desborough, the chairman, dictatorial powers to deal with the shortage during the board's summer holiday.

"One third of an inch of rain every third night," said the new dictator. "That's what we want. We shall have to pray for it."

New restrictions for London householders will be considered by the Metropolitan water board on Friday.

Victoria Park swimming pool is to be closed because it needs too much water to keep it fresh.

Southgate bowling greens were closed yesterday.

A water diviner is wanted to search for springs beneath P.L.A. playing fields at Ilford, otherwise cricket will be stopped. Tennis stopped already.

Watering of Rotten Row suspended. Riders were yesterday asked in parliament by the first commissioner of works not to use the Row between Albert Gate and Hyde Park Corner after 9 a.m. each day. The dust annoys other people.

INVESTIGATE CLAIM BOY TIED TO RAILS

Said to Have Been Released as Train Approached

Swindon.—A schoolboy seized by his companions, lashed across the railway lines, screaming in terror at the approach of a train; another boy tied up to a telegraph post alongside the line, and both released by a friend just before the engine ran past.

This is the story railway detectives and other officials are investigating here.

The prank, reminiscent of old thriller films, was, according to the statements of a number of Tetbury schoolboys, enacted near a level-crossing on the Great Western Railway line between Tetbury and Kemble.

Statements have been taken by railway officials from a number of boys, including the one who was tied to the rails. He is said to be still suffering from the effects of the ordeal.

The spot where the lad was lashed to the rails is near a bend which obscures the vision of the drivers, and some years ago there was a fatality at this point.

Since then drivers of trains have been instructed to sound a warning whistle because of a level-crossing close by. Had the boy been left on the line, it is alleged, the driver would have had little chance of pulling up before reaching him.

HAPPILY WED 73 YEARS

Never Day Apart, Nonagenarians Advocate Hard Work

High Wycombe. — Seventy-three years of happy married life and never a day apart!

That is the record of Mr. and Mrs. Russell, who live in a little cottage in this old-world village.

Why happy? Because they have worked hard.

"BIG BEN" ACTIVE AGAIN

So that "Big Ben" might continue efficiently to boom out the hours in the heart of the Empire's capital, London council silenced it while workmen cleaned and polished it. Picture ABOVE shows the great tower "in splints" undergoing treatment. Renovation has been completed and millions of Londoners are again setting their clocks by faithful "Big Ben".

QUEEN ENCOURAGES CRIPPLE'S EFFORTS

Her Majesty Calls Boy "A Brave Little Fellow"

London—The Queen had a special word of sympathy for ten-year-old Donald Smith of Clacton-on-Sea when she visited the London hospital to open a new students' hostel.

Donald has had both legs amputated from the hips as a result of being crushed when knocked down by a motor car.

He is now bravely learning to walk on two wooden legs, and, although he was a little shy, he did his best, with the help of one of the nurses, to show the Queen what progress he was making.

"You are a brave little fellow," the Queen said, "and I hope you will soon be able to walk quite well."

WEARS GREEN SHIRT AT SOCIETY WEDDING

London.—A guest apeared amid the top hats and tail coats at a London society wedding yesterday dressed in a short-sleeved shirt of apple green silk stockinette, a bright terra-cotta tie, gray alpaca trousers, no hat; and no jacket.

The wedding was that of the Hon. Margaret Thesiger, youngest daughter of the Dowager Viscountess Cheimsford, and John Goldman, eldest son of Major C. S. Goldman and the Hon. Mrs. Goldman, of Sydney Lodge, Hamble, Hampshire. It took place at St. John's church, Smith-square.

RADIO LICENCES INCREASE

London.—There was a net increase of 34,000 in the number of radio licences issued last month, and the number in force on June 30 was 6,373,600, compared with 5,597,200 a year ago.

URGE PAINLESS DEATH FOR WORST DEFECTIVES

Doctors Claim Euthanasia Kindness to "Human Mental Monstrosities"

Bristol. — Two doctors advocated painless death for hopeless cases of mental defectives at the Royal Sanitary Health Congress held here.

Professor R. J. A. Berry, director of medical services at Stoke Park Colony, said that the lowest grade aments — the speechless, hopeless, helpless idiots — were "living examples of teratological malformations."

It was difficult for any one who saw these "human mental monstrosities" almost every day to understand why society took such extraordinary pains to keep them alive.

"With complete absence of all human qualities or intelligence," he said, "they had to be clothed, fed, housed and waited on hand and foot at the nation's expense, and one wonders why. Surely a kindly euthanasia is the only really kindly treatment for this pathetic side of mental deficiency."

Dr. Henry Herd, a Manchester school medical officer, agreed that it would be a "kindness" to apply euthanasia in the lowest grades of cases.

GIRL CRICKETERS DON HOSE TO START GAME

Then Play Barelegged Despite Rules Because of Heat

Leeds.—Should women cricketers wear stockings?

According to the rules of the Women's Cricket Association, they should wear white ones, but there was a difference of opinion among the players in the Lancashire v. Yorkshire Women's "Battle of the Roses".

For three-quarters of an hour the game was held up while the situation was discussed.

The respective captains impressed on the players that no matter what the circumstances were the rule must be adhered to.

88 in the Shade

The two captains wore stockings. There was a shade temperature of 88 degrees, however, and rule or no rule, argued some of the players, it was far too hot for stockings.

At last a start was made, but after a few minutes members of both sides returned to the pavilion and removed their stockings.

'KING CAROL'S AGENT' PAWNED GEMS, CLAIM

Jeweller Went to Roumania in Search of Debtor

London.—When Otto Sinclair, a jeweller, appeared for his examination in the London bankruptcy court he said that a few years ago he had supplied a man with a diamond ring worth $6,750 and two brooches.

The purchaser led him to believe he was agent for King Carol. He had since been informed that the jewelry was pawned in Paris.

As he was unable to obtain his money he went to Roumania and saw the customer, who eventually said that if he returned the jewelry he would be ruined. Mr. Sinclair said he understood it had been given to two ladies of the court.

SURVIVES TO PREACH

Porlock.—Although nearly drowned when carried out by the tide, Rev. H. Smith preached two sermons the next day, showing no ill-effects from his adventure.

BOOM IN FILM PRODUCTION PROVIDES HUGE PAYROLL

Employees to Get Fifteen Millions As Elstree Expands

PLAN NEW STUDIOS

London. — Production activity in British film studios is now at its height and the studios are more busily engaged than they have ever been.

Most of the films announced in the early part of the year are being completed and many additions have been made to production announcements.

Nearly $30,000,000 will be invested in making British films this year, and it is already certain that the record of 188 feature films completed last year will be considerably exceeded.

In character, the films of the year will aim at popularity rather more than at prestige.

Of the huge sum to be spent on production, more than $15,000,000 will represent wages.

Apart from those who are regularly employed in the studios, film making gives increased employment to many allied trades varying from engineering to dressmaking.

The number of people now permanently employed in British studios exceeds 6,000. At least another 4,000 find casual employment as the result of the progress of British films.

Within the next two years the British film-producing industry should give regular employment to 10,000 people.

The building of new studios is not yet at an end. Several schemes are under way which will make Elstree a gigantic film colony. London Film Productions are to build their own studios there, and simultaneously with the advent of these studios the land at Elstree is being developed as a high-class residential area.

It is estimated that 5,000 new houses will be built there within the next three years.

PLAN TO BUY OUT NELSON'S PENSION

Sea Lord's Descendants Have Received Over Three Million Dollars

London.—The government is to buy out the $25,000 a year pension granted in perpetuity to Lord Nelson and his heirs as a reward for the victory of Trafalgar in 1805.

The present Earl Nelson is the fourth holder of the title.

Since the great admiral fell the country has paid to the holders of the earldom $3,250,000 less tax, and a commutation on the basis of three and a half per cent. would have to be paid.

The present earl has received $325,000 since he succeeded to the title in 1913. He has returned $2,500 each year for three years as a contribution to the nation's financial difficulties.

The former earl, who was the "father of the House of Lords," held the title from 1835, and drew $1,950,000 from the taxpayers.

The present Lord Nelson is actually a descendant of the Trafalgar hero's brother—the first Nelson had no children—the Rev. William Nelson, a Protestant clergyman. He lives a secluded life.

The Nelson pension is the last of its kind and has frequently been discussed in the House of Commons.

LAWYER COBBLED SHOES

Leeds.—When Francis R. Peers, a former Bradford solicitor, was at Leeds assizes sentenced to 18 months in the second division for converting funds, it was stated that for many years he had mended the boots of his family.

BULL TEARS TROUSERS OF FLEEING FIREMAN

Then Quietly Returns to Own Pasture

Lymington.—Thirteen members of the Lymington fire brigade were called early one morning to a duck farm which was ablaze.

Into the wood where the engine was standing walked a large and angry bull. Rounding the engine, he came suddenly on the two firemen and attacked them ferociously.

The men were forced to run round the wood, with the bull in pursuit. One man had his trousers torn nearly off, and the other ran backwards into a tree and injured his head.

The bull, who is known as William, was apparently satisfied and walked into a field full of ducks.

Here he did no damage and was later taken back to his own fifty-acre enclosure.

Not until later, when the fire had been put out and the rest of the brigade returned to the engine, was the plight of the unlucky two revealed.

BRITISH LEAD WORLD IN WORK RECOVERY

Has More Employed Now Than in 1927 or 1928

London.—The world is going back to work. The lead is being taken by Great Britain, closely followed by South Africa and Japan, in the great recovery march of the nations.

Statistics collected from thirty-four nations by the International Labor Office show that since the depth of the depression more than 8,000,000 workers have been re-absorbed into industry.

The employment figures from seventeen of the world's leading industrial nations show that Great Britain has made a more complete recovery to the standard of the basic year 1929 than any other nation. The following table shows the percentage of those at work in 1929 who are in employment now:

Great Britain	99.3	Germany	86.0
South Africa	98.7	Holland	78.2
Japan	95.2	Canada	77.0
Estonia	94.6	France	76.7
Finland	94.0	U.S.A.	76.1
Latvia	92.6	Italy	71.1
Sweden	89.4	Poland	55.0

Great Britain has now 10,140,000 people in employment—a higher figure than at any time since 1929. It is even higher than in 1927 or 1928.

ALLOW SUNDAY GAMES WITHIN LONDON PARKS

After Close Vote, Plans Started For Sabbath Soccer

London.—By a majority of one, London council voted to permit Sunday sports in parks. Fifty-four voted for the proposal and 53 against it.

Next summer the experiment will be reviewed, but in the meantime it is suggested that a Sunday football organization will be set up.

After football—golf?

That is foreshadowed in a request to the parks committee to consider seven-day season tickets and Sunday play on golf courses.

Moving the adoption of the parks committee's recommendation to end the restriction on Sunday football, Mr. R. Coppock, chairman of the committee, said the youths who took part in competition were at present compelled to go long journeys and hire grounds at rents they could hardly afford.

There were 150 pitches available, and those who objected to the proposal on the grounds that it would encourage gambling showed a lamentable lack of faith in the younger generation.

Rev. A. G. Prichard, opposing the proposal, said it had not the support of the football association.

W. H. Webbe, leader of the opposition, said that while he believed in the value of Sunday games, he was strongly opposed to the proposal.

'HOMMES 40, CHEAVUX 8' CARS RESTORED FOR TOURISTS' USE

"Railway Campers" Hire, at Nominal Fee, War-time Vans

SMELLS, DIRT GONE

Paris.—Every British soldier who served in France during the war remembers ng crowded into the dank, musty railway cars marked "Forty men or eight horses," which used to take the troops to the front.

If you wish, you can travel to-day in these same cars—but with the utmost comfort—to any part of France you like.

For "railway camping," as it is called, is the latest way of spending your holidays in this country.

You hire your car, and it is attached to the first outbound train.

The route to be followed is at the discretion of the travellers. They choose the station at which they wish their "private car" uncoupled. They are shunted on to a siding.

When they desire, their car is attached to the next passing train, and they move on to their next selected spot.

The hire of the car is approximately a dollar a day, plus half the ordinary first-class fare for the distance covered by railway.

In the yards outside the St. Lazare Station in Paris there stands the first section of these old cars. They have been cleaned and painted, and gone from their sides are the war-time inscriptions so familiar to the troops.

Gone from their interiors is the odor of musty straw, and gone, too, are the dirty brown sides. Now they are spotlessly white. They smell only of fresh paint.

PETS ATTEND FUNERAL

Waltham Abbey.—Two great danes, with black ribbon on their collars, and two Shire horses—animals of which he was fond—followed the coffin of Hans Larsen to the grave.

SEIZE OFFENDING CARS

Speed Infractions May Mean Confiscation of Machine

Berlin.—German traffic regulations have been so tightened up that in future any motorist seriously offending against them may have his car confiscated on the spot.

The principal offences that will be punished in this manner are: Exceeding the speed limit, especially at crossings; endangering the traffic, and causing street accidents.

A special corps of traffic police, reinforced by motor storm-troop detachments, is employed in supervising the safety of the road.

STORM IN COFFEE CUP ON 'THREADNEEDLE ST.'

Bank Employees Protest Cancellation of Morning "Refresher"

London.—There is a banking crisis in Threadneedle St.—a crisis that has no concern with gold reserves, bank rates, international exchanges or note issues.

The Bank of England has decreed that no longer shall its employees be entitled to their morning cups of coffee.

The oldest employee cannot remember when he was denied his morning beverage.

"It was a tradition of the bank," one girl clerk said, helplessly. "I think it is too bad."

Greater sympathy, perhaps, is due to the restaurant-keepers.

One of them said that about 2,000 cups of coffee were sold to the bank workers every day. "That, worked out over the year, means quite a lot—trade which is lost," he said.

INDIA TO PAY HOMAGE WITH VALUABLE JEWELS

Will Present Valuable Gems to His Majesty—Parade Elephants

London—Fifty elephant all gorgeously decorated; the famous "South of India Star Diamond"; 30 yard ropes of pearls—these are a few symbols of the glamor of the east which India will send to London next May, when some of her former native princes will come to celebrate the silver jubilee of the King's accession.

The 50 elephants, wearing jewels belonging to the 27 chief maharajahs, are to take part in a brilliant procession in London's streets.

It is reported also that a court fakir engaged by the Maharajah of Benares will come to London to pronounce his blessing on their Majesties.

The famous diamond, the "South of India Star," second only in importance to the Kohinoor, will be worn in his turban by the Gaekwar of Baroda during the ceremonies; and the Maharajah Sindhia of Gwalior will wear his magnificent state robes with ropes of pearls amounting to 30 yards in length.

Emeralds and other jewels said to be worth $500,000 will be worn by the Maharajah of Patiala.

DISCOURAGE LAW SUITS

Stuttgart.—Propensity to litigation is likely to be made a penal offence in the new Germany. The presiding judge of the Landgericht of Hechingen, Herr Dietrich, urges the revival of a law enacted in Prussia in 1793, by which querulous persons bothering the law courts or the police with "groundless suits and complaints" would be deemed guilty of misdemeanor.

CONVICT DRUG TRAFFICKERS

Cairo.—A drug case, involving the seizure by the Cairo Central Narcotics' Investigation Bureau of $165,000 worth of Chinese heroin, has ended with the conviction of fourteen drug traffickers.

HIGHER BIRTH-RATE FOR FRANCE URGED

Statesmen Fear Coffins Will Far Exceed Number of Cradles

Paris.—An urgent, almost a frantic, appeal to the French people to produce more children, has been issued over the signatures of a number of the most influential men in France.

They include two ex-presidents of the republic, Millerand and Poincare; an ex-prime minister, M. Herriot; the cardinal archbishop of Paris, and a long list of eminent men in all walks of life.

An alarming situation is disclosed by the facts and figures stated in their appeal. In one year, they declare, between 1932 and 1933, the number of births in France declined by 40,000.

In the next few years, the appeal continues, owing to the fall in the number of marriages caused by depopulation and resulting especially from the low birth-rate during the war, the fall in the number of births will be more than 80,000 a year.

If, moreover, the appeal continues, the fecundity of French married couples continues to decline at the average rate for the last six years there will be in ten years fewer than 550,000 births a year against a million in 1870. In other words, the number of coffins will far exceed the number of cradles.

ABOLISH ONE-MAN TRAMS

Brisbane—The newly-elected labor city council has abolished the one-man tram system established by its predecessors. The trams were run on certain lines only and following upon a smash an inquiry was held which, however, did not result in a condemnation of the system. The tramways union was opposed to the system, and it was part of the labor party's election program to do away with it, so the system was abolished before the report of the inquiry had been presented.

FRENCH 'GRETNA' WEDDINGS MAY BE ILLEGAL, IS BELIEF

Allege Town Hall Official Switched Certificates of Domicile

PREFECT PROBES

Lille.—Gretna Green has a continental "twin" in the village of La Madeleine on the Franco-Belgian border near here, it has just been revealed.

But a shock awaits many of those who have been wed there, for the discovery of a quick-marriage plot has shown a great number of the ceremonies to have been illegal.

The authorities in this part of France were recently struck with the fact that La Madeleine had more marriages in the last two years than any other town in the region.

The prefect of the department went to the town hall of La Madeleine to investigate, and he soon found the solution of the mystery.

The Belgian law lays it down that persons in a divorce suit may not remarry until three years after the final decree has been pronounced.

Couples Cross Border

To get round this law, ingenious persons had drawn up a plan for taking the parties across into France, and having them married there after they had been provided with false certificates of domicile to comply with the French law making six weeks' residence necessary for foreigners desiring to marry.

Mr. Pierre Plansent, secretary of one of the departments at the local town hall, is alleged to have confessed that he had facilitated these clandestine marriages by issuing certificates of domicile to people who had only crossed the frontier for the day in order to be married.

His charge for the accommodation was about $50, and, he admits having sold at least 200 of these certificates.

In most cases these "Gretna" marriages-of-convenience are illegal, the necessary conditions regarding domicile not having been complied with, it is claimed.

In other cases certain divorce decrees will be rescinded. It is stated that the parties to the fraud had recently extended their operations to cater for a number of English and American couples.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER

Cheers Greet Release of Britisher After Two Years

Barcelona. — Hysterical applause from a crowded court greeted the acquittal of William Livesay, the 57-year-old British subject, who was accused of murder.

Livesay was released after a trial lasting six days. He had been in jail since April, 1932.

It was alleged that he shot Senor Luis Pascual, head of the Barcelona office of the Banco de Bilboa, in a Barcelona street.

Livesay's acquittal followed an eloquent speech by his counsil, who declared that the Bilboa Bank should be in the dock instead of Livesay, who was being made a scapegoat.

The judge's summing up was entirely in Livesay's favor, and the jury were out only three quarters of an hour.

Paris.—Mme. Marie Mermet, mother of a young school-teacher, who is suspected of being a member of the international spy ring recently brought to light in Paris, has committed suicide. She gassed herself in her apartment. She left a note saying: "I have been driven desperate by the blot on our name."

MOTHER OF FOURTEEN WORKED AS GARDENER

Children Stay Within Her Sight in Open Air

Deal.—Mother of fourteen children, Mrs. Mary Friend has joined the list of claimants of England's largest family.

"When I was sixteen," said Mrs. Friend, "I ran away to get married at Sandwich. Since then I have presented my husband with a family of nine girls and five boys, none of whom were twins or triplets.

"My husband and I have worked hard as market gardeners to support our children. We have all led an open air life as much as possible. I am not ashamed to say that I have taken my children in their cradles into the garden in all weathers, and left them within sight while I helped my husband."

BOY WOULD HEAD CHURCH

Aspires to Position of His Uncle, the Bishop of London

London.—A little boy of nine sat on a platform at King's College and smiled confidently at an audience of several hundred applauding clergymen.

They had just been told that his ambition was to be bishop of London.

The boy was John Winnington-Ingram, great nephew of the present Bishop of London.

"He has already decided to be ordained and carry on the family tradition," said Dr. Ingram.

Long Beach Summer Home Prey To Fire

LINDSAY, Ont., July 30 (C.P.)—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the beautiful Long Beach summer home of Dr. David Morton, of Toronto, Sunday, at a loss of several thousand dollars. The fire was discovered by Reg Morton, son of the owner, who was away across the lake at the time. Returning home to Sturgeon Point in his launch he noticed a light in his father's home. At first he paid no attention but when he saw it again he decided to investigate as he believed there was no one there at the time. By the time he arrived the verandah was in a mass of flames and the house beyond saving.

MARCONI TRIES NEW INVENTION

Wireless Lighthouse Enables Piloting Ships to Harbor Blindfolded.

ELECTRIC SIGNALS.

SANTA MARGHERITA LUGIRE, Italy, July 30.— (A.P.)— Marquis Guglielmo Marconi, with a smile of triumph, demonstrated successfully to-day what he believes to be his greatest invention — a wireless lighthouse.

Even as his invention of the wireless saved thousands of lives through the S.O.S., so, he said, the lighthouse should save hundreds of ships from collision just outside ports.

In the presence of Fascist provincial authorities and newspapermen, Marconi blindly, yet successfully, piloted the ocean-going yacht "Electra" into the harbor at Sestri Levante.

His new apparatus is distributed in several points: First, an ultra-short wave transmission station on a high promontory about 300 feet above the sea here;

Then there are two wireless lighthouses on large buoys floating at the entrance of the harbor a little more than 300 feet apart. Each buoy is equipped with a kind of relay station, being in efect a reflector.

Finally there is a receiving station aboard the yacht which has two kinds of indicators, a dial divided into a red and green section, and a loud speaker. So long as the ship pursued a direct course for the harbor, the dial stood midway between the green and red sections, but the slightest depression to one side or the other caused a corresponding movement of the indicator.

At the same time the loud speaker gave two signals, one of high frequency and the other of low frequency. The varying intensity of these two signals indicated to the pilot whether he was varying from the course, and, if so, in what direction.

The transmitting station was broadcasting on a 60 centimetre wave and the broadcast was picked up by the light houses and was retransmitted automatically to the ship.

IN MEMORIAM

MILLER—In fond and loving memory of Mrs. E. A. Miller, who passed away, July 29, 1933.

In our home she is fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling in her name;
Those who loved her in life sincerely,
Still love her in death just the same.

—Always remembered by Husband and Family.

IN MEMORIAM

CARPENTER. — In loving memory of Mrs. Albert Carpenter, Senior, who died one year ago to-day.

Our mother is sleeping, so free from all pain;
Oh, wake her not, sweet spirit, to suffer again.
She slumbers so soundly, oh let her sleep on;
Her sickness is ended, her troubles are gone.
Just think how she suffered and moaned with pain
In the long night hours, we soothed her in vain,
Till God in His mercy sent down from above
An Angel that whispered a message of love.

NAZIS RAIDERS FAIL TO ABDUCT ANTON RINTELEN

Police Intervention at Hospital Save Man Supposedly a Suicide.

SEVERAL CAPTURED.

Restoration Rumors Flare — Starhemberg Prepares to Maintain Power.

(Copyright, by Associated Press).

VIENNA, July 30.—(A.P.)—Forty Nazis early to-day raided the General Hospital in an unsuccessful effort to abduct Dr. Anton Rintelen, former Austrian minister to Rome, who was found to be lying there, seriously wounded, despite the original report last Thursday that he had committed suicide.

Rintelen, known to have pro-Nazi leanings, was announced as "a new Chancellor" by the Nazis when they assassinated Chancellor Dollfuss last Wednesday. Rintelen was immediately arrested and the announcment was given out that he had shot himself fatally in jail.

To-day, when the raiding party entered the hospital, a nurse notified the police who arrived in time to capture several of the raiders. The rest escaped.

Because of the extraordinery measures of defence against a threatened Nazi Putsch taken throughout the city last night, the General Hospital temporarily was left without its strong guard while police and Heimwehr members were concentrated around such strategic public buildings as the war ministry and police head-quarters.

Monarch To Return.

Restoration rumors flared through the city again to-day with the arrival of unverified reports from Lacenburg, near Vienna, that the Hapsburg summer palace was being renovated prior to its re-occupation. It is to be re-called that the late Emperor Charles and the Empress Zita, mother of the Archduke Otto, spent some time there after the revolution of 1918.

A great war field marshall was placed under arrest for Nazi activity.

He is Karl Bardolff, one time chief of the military cabinet of the grand duke Franz Ferdinand. Usually, when the possibility of a Nazi controlled Austrian cabinet has been discussed, the name of Bardolff has cropped up as the possible minister of war.

Under the leadership of Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, newly - appointed chancellor, the fourth cabinet within a week began its work.

Two Armies

While Schuschnigg has an army of Catholic Storm Troops, the semi-military organization which he leads, his Vice Chancellor could practically checkmate this power, by his own control of the police, gendarmerie, and large Heimwehr force.

That the Heimwehr, which is Fascist, does not propose to yield one iota of its power is indicated by two facts: first, the Tyrolese Heimwehr, in a manifesto, demanded that the green and white Heimwehr flag be made the second national emblem besides the present national colors of red, white and red, "as a token that our sacrifices have not been in vain"; second, Emil Fey, Minister of Security, addressing the Vienna Heimwehr yesterday in the Dollfuss memorial declared, "If we want to carry out the Dollfuss testament we must presenve, extend, and, with an iron will, hold together the Heimwehr which is one of the strongest props of Austria. The Heimwehr and its leader, Prince Von Starhamberg, still have great tasks to fulfill.

If Austria should gave its agreement to the appointment of Franz Von Papen, German Vice Chancellor, as Minister to Vienna, it appeared likely he would have no easy task for a Heimwehr man has been appointed Foreign Minister.

No Compromise

The new Minister, Egon Berger-Waldenegg, is a strong supporter and subordinate of Von Starhemberg who, in a speech Friday, declared emphatically there can be no compromise with National Socialism (Nazism).

Many difficulties confront Von Papen when, and if, he arrives as Chancellor Hitler's personal peacemaker.

A. WANDER DENTAL CLINIC.

Down at Elmwood Park, where Ovaltine is made, the semi-annual dental survey is taking place this week. Dr. Middleton, who is in charge, is very much pleased with the improvement that has been made since the last examination in January. Almost without exception, the necessary dental work has been completed.

It must be gratifying to the management who made this clinic possible to see the ready response on the part of all connected with the plant.

It is also a matter of pride to the city that this concern has gone so far in protecting the health of the citizens employed.

HUNTING DEW WORMS

Annoyed by the nocturnal excursions of boys who trample over lawns and flower beds in search of dew worms for sale to anglers, some residents of Gilmour street laid a complaint with the police department over the week-end. While it is not probable that any prosecutions will result against the boys, the action was taken as a warning to offenders that the property of other persons must be respected. Police wish the matter to serve as a warning to other offenders in this respect.

CAR JUMPS SIDEWALK

Driving west on Hunter street bridge in an automobile Saturday afternoon, Harry Carney, 709 Rees street steered the vehicle onto the sidewalk, when another vehicle in front of him came to a sudden and unexpected halt, according to an explanation he gave city police.

The sidewalk was clear of pedestrians at the time the vehicle mounted the curb, and neither the driver or his two lady passenger suffered injury. Following the incident Carney is stated by police to have left the car, and police had some difficulty in finding out to whom it belonged. The car had been loaned by Carney, it is stated, from an Ashburnham resident.

NO DRUNKS ARRESTED

The police blotter did not list one "drunk" this morning in spite of the fact that the freer sale of beer and wine has resulted in widespread drinking during the past week and on Saturday in particular, when each of the licensed hotels were reported to have done a good days business.

Chatting with an Examiner reporter this morning Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., stated that while there was some temporary confusion regarding interpretation of the Liquor Control Act, it was still quite definitely understood that intoxication in a public place or while in charge of a motor vehicle were offences punishable, as formerly, by fine and imprisonment.

Obituary

WALTER ALEXANDER CONNER

The death occurred early this morning of Walter Alexander Conner at his residence 391 Walton street, aged 60 years. A native of this city the deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Conner. He was a member of Corinthian and Peterborough Lodge of Perfection A.F. and A.M.

Besides his widow he leaves two daughters, the Misses Maida and Edna Conner, both of this city and one brother Harry Conner of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan.

The funeral is to be held from the above address on Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. with the Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean conducting the services. Interment will be made at Little Lake cemetery.

JOHN GUERIN.

John Guerin, a resident of Peterborough county, during the greater part of his life, died suddenly at his home, 499 Parnell street, yesterday. He was in his 65th year.

Son of the late Martin Guerin and Johanna Meade, Mr. Guerin was born in Douro township. He was widely known as a lumberman. During the Great War, he served in both England and France in the Canadian Expeditionary Force. Although he had been ill for some time, death was unexpected.

Three brothers, William, Dennis and James of Peterborough and one sister, Mrs. Henry Stratton of Rochester, N.Y., survive him. The funeral is to be held Tuesday from the home to the Church of the Sacred Heart for Requiem Mass at 9 a.m. and thence to St. Joseph's Cemetery in Douro.

The funeral will be semi-military in nature.

RAIN CHECKS BUSH FIRES.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 30.—(C.P.)—Steady rain yesterday afternoon and last night which was general throughout the district, did much to check bush fires. It was welcomed by the farmers as giving grain an opportuity to fill out.

LOST FAMILY IS FOUND SAFE

Woman, 3 Children, Nephew disappear While on Picnic.

OUT IN ALL-NIGHT RAIN.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 30 (CP)—Missing all night in the dense undergrowth and brushlands of Nettleton's lake district, a mother, her three children and a nephew, were located to-day. The party, comprised of Mrs. R. M. Moore, and the four children, became lost on a picnic during a heavy rain yesterday. Police and volunteers had searched for them all night and day.

Mrs. Moore, wife of Korah Township clerk, with Athene, 18; Kenneth, 15, and Clinton, 10, and a nephew, Jerome Correll, 8, were making their way out of the bushlands when found by the searchers. They heard the shouts from members of the searching party, and were found a few minutes after they replied.

The group that found them was headed by Mrs. Moore's son, Merlin, who drove the family to the woods yesterday for a picnic. It was when he returned last evening the family was reported missing.

The woman and children all were wet from the heavy rain that swept the district yesterday and last night but apparently escaped the brunt of the storm by sheltering in the dense underbrush.

Weddings

WYNN—HYNES

The marriage took place at St. Peter's Cathedral on July 24th, of Gertrude Hynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hynes to Thomas Wynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wynn, Rev. Dr. Masterson officiated. The wedding music was played throughout the ceremony by Miss Veronica Scollard, A.T.C.M. The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of pale pink mousseline de soie, a large white hat trimmed with pink and carried an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses, baby's breath and fern. Attending her as bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Elizabeth Hynes, wearing a gown of green mousseline de soie with a large green hat and carried a muff of sweet peas and lily-of-the valley. The best man was Mr. John O'Rourke. After the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the table centered with the bride's cake. The bride and groom left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for their own home, 307 Bethune street.

MALSCH—LEMON

Murray street Baptist Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding at half past one o'clock on Saturday afternoon, when Nellie Grace Mary Lemmon, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Lemmon, of Harvey street, became the bride of Sidney George Malsch of Peterborough, youngest son of Mrs. F. Malsch and the late Mr. F. J. Malsch of London, England. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe.

The church was tastefully decorated with gladioli, hydranges and ferns, and the guest pews were tied off with white tulle.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mr. Arthur Collison, was gowned in white flat crepe, made in conventional bridal fashion, with long tight sleeves and a lace yoke. The long veil of white silk embroidered tule was caught at the back by a wreath of orange blossoms that were worn by the bride's mother.

White lace mittens and white slippers and hose were woven and the bride carried an arm bouquet of Joanna Hill roses gypsophila and fern. Her only ornament was a diamond necklace.

Th bridesmaid, Miss Elsie Lemmon, sister of the bride, was in forget-me-not blue silk and net, the long skirt flaring at the knee and a short jacquett of the same material completing the ensemble. A large white hat and white accessories were worn, with a bouquet of Sweetheart roses.

The charming little flower girl, Ruth Brown, was in pink organdie with a pink hair bow. She carried a basket of pink snapdragon, marguerites and gypsophila.

The groomsman was Mr. Stanley Church of Peterborough.

Ushers were Mr. Cecil Church of Peterborough and Mr. Oscar W. Harris of North Bay.

During the signing of the register, an "Ave Maria" was played by the organist.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where buffet refreshments were served from a table centered by the five-tier bride's cake, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Scheib of Owen Sound. The guests, numbering about half a hundred, included the Rev. Mrs. Sutcliffe.

Mrs. Lemmon, mother of the bride, was in a frock of light navy blue crepe with large matching hat and white accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of Sweetheart roses.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Malsch left by train for a brief honeymoon in Toronto and points west, after which they will live in the city. The bride travelled in an ensemble of navy silk crepe with navy hat and white accessories.

The young people received many handsome gifts from a large circle of friends. The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a silver tea service; the bride's gift to the bridegroom was a desk set, to the bridesmaid a sardonyx ring, to the flower girl a gold pendant, to the best man a fountain pen and pencil set and to the ushers leather bill folds.

New Toronto Ousts Hunger Marchers

TORONTO, July 30—(CP)—More than 100 members of the "Ontario hunger march," today left their week-end camp in New Toronto, on the outskirts of the city, and started on the final lap to the Ontario Legislative buildings where they will interview government officials in regard to increased relief allowances.

The party left the New Toronto park after Councillor John Desmond, acting chairman of the police commission, handed police authorities an order for eviction of the campers.

A slight disturbance followed the effortsof Chief of Police William Kidd and his man to enforce the eviction order. One man was struck by an officer's baton but was not injured. Other members were picketing a shoe factory, the workers of which are on strike, when dispersed by police.

LAD IS KILLED BY RAT POISON

Lad, 2, Dies Same Night — Four-year-old Brother Likely to Live.

IN FRONTENAC COUNTY.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 30—(C.P.)—Eric Trueman Silver, aged two, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Silver, of Elginburg, ten miles from here in Frontenac county, died in General Hospital late this morning from effects of eating rat poison.

His brother William, aged four, is also in hospital, but it is not believed that he ate enough of the poison to prove fatal. The boys apparently ate the poison late on Saturday and it was not until late Saturday night their mother learned of their plight when they became unusually ill. They were rushed to hospital but doctors said that the phosphorus in rat poison caused death of Eric. The other boy was doing well this afternoon.

BY ART MURRAY

STAMFORD PARK closed on Saturday after a most successful seven day meeting. They are going to hold another one later on. Dude Foden crashed into the limelight up there on Thursday when he kicked home no fewer than three winners, one of which was Broadway Lights, whom we told you not long ago was ready to do it. The price was over fifteen dollars and it will be a long time before you will ever get a price like that on him again. He beat such good ones as Boscobel and Bushman which shows he has regained his best form. On the same day Charlie Ralls, down at King's Park was astride the winners of the first three races. A few years ago it was a race between Foden and Ralls for riding supremacy at Dufferin Park during every meeting, but of late neither one ride at the half mile plant.

We hear that Dave Garrity has Poet's Dream keyed to concert pitch at the present time and is contemplating taking down some heavy sugar with him shortly. Boscobel is another that will win a race without much delay. He can travel with the most select company when in condition. For some reason or other they are keeping Lucky Racket in the barn. Maybe they are waiting for Hamilton to open where the purses are somewhat larger. take our word for it, he will be a winner before very long. They are getting Sea Kale prepared to grab off a purse and he never looked or acted better than at the present time. Six furlongs is his favorite distance and mud or dry going makes sprinter who is ticketed for a no difference.

EDDIE SEAGRAM has not sent Young Kitty in a race for quite a while. Her record for the season is, finishing in the money in all of her eleven starts, and our opinion is on her next start she will keep her record intact by being returned a winner. Seagram has one by the name of Irish Kid who has not won a race since last May at Thorncliffe. This one can fairly fly when in the mood and we hear he is ready to shoot next time out so don't miss him. Allanah has been somewhat like Broadway Lights this year in taking his time about turning in a winning effort, but now is the time to get on him.

Altheb is another consistent win in the near future. This one will win his share of races when not spotted too high. It is our opinion that Dunlin's Lad is not through winning races, although he has won his last three. The Smallman's have him in grand condition after almost a year's rest and expect to make hay while the sun shines. Saturday marked the closing of a thirty-one day meeting at Rockingham which has been a huge success in every sense of the word. In fact business was so good at this near Boston track that they are now constructing another track right in Boston which is said to be the last word in an up-to-the-minute plant. The cost will exceed two million dollars. Is it any wonder we are troubled with a shortage of racing material in Canada?

Sammy Hale, Indians—Drove in seven runs in double victory over Browns, hitting two homers.

Adolph Camilli, Phillies, and Carl Hubbell, Giants—Camilli's homer was winning run in opener; Hubbell pitched four-hit shutout in the second.

Hurst's homer with the bases full in the ninth inning snatched a 5-4 victory for Oshawa over the Petes Saturday in Riverside Park. After nursing along a 4-1 lead all through the game Deyell weakened to load the sacks in the first of the ninth with one out, and he then grooved a fast one to Hurst who promptly lost it in the grass in deep left for four runs and the win. Over a thousand fans sat stunned while the stocky Oshawa centre-fielder chased three Dukes home ahead of him and Deyell to the showers.

It was a fair sort of ball game till that point, the Petes getting an early lead but failing to do much to Ogden's deliveries the rest of the way; while Deyell had the visitors handcuffed from the second frame to the ninth. Both sides showed some good defensive play and it appeared to be just another—and not a very interesting—local victory till that dramatic blowup in the dying minutes of the frasco.

Dozey Ogden pitched effective ball, though not spectacular for the Motor City crew. Wildness was his main fault, four of the Petes drawing walks off him and two being hit by pitched balls. He allowed only five hits, while fanning four, and had the homsters rolling out regularly. He weakened in the seventh, and Walter Knox took over the job the last two cantos to get by okay.

Archie Deyell started for the Lee crew and hurled fine ball till the ninth. They got to him for three hits in the second and one run, but were helpless from then on. He threw hitless ball, taking the side out in order from the third till the eighth, fanning three and walking one. With one out in the ninth, Mathews beat out an infield hit, Elliott singled to left, and Peacock walked. Then Hurst homered, and Rose went in to fan one, allow a scratch hit and strikeout, the third.

Mathews and Hurst led Oshawa at bat with two hits each in four times up. Murray topped the locals with two in four, and Len Hollingsworth hit a triple to left, coming right in on a bad relay. The whole Oshawa infield turned in a smart defensive game, with the Petes' inner defence also going good.

Petes Tally in First

Konopka started the locals off in the first with a single, moving up on two outs and tallying on a wild pitch. They got two more in the second. Dallin beat out an infield hit and took second on an error. He scored on Hollingsworth's triple, the latter coming in on the left-fielder's poor throw. Their other run came in the third, Batten being hit by the pitcher, reaching third on an error and home on an out. They had a good chance for one more in the eighth when Whatley walked, moved up on an out and stopped at third on a passed ball that the catcher failed to run back for.

The Dukes' first marker was made in the second, Mathews singling, advancing on an error and tallying on Peacock's hit. They could do nothing then till the ninth when two hits and a walk laid the stage for Hurst's dramatic four-base blow to left. It shouldn't have been good for more than three bases at the most, but the ball was lost in the deep grass along the fence. The locals failed to threaten in their last half.

Hank Greenberg, Tigers, and Les Tietje, White Sox.—Former hit two homers, driving home five runs; later whiffed seven in winning nightcap.

Who Says Canada Lacks New Tennis Material

Who says Canada won't have any outstanding tennis players after brilliant stars like Rainville, Nunns and Martin pass on? Here are four young stars who took part in the Canadian championships at Toronto last week who have shown almost as much form as the older stars. All four are really juniors, although Misses Young and Pope have been competing in senior company. Indeed, Miss Eleanor Young, who hails from Vancouver, was good enough to battle her way right up to the final rounds. Her companion, Miss Carolyn Deacon, also of Vancouver (not shown here), is another outstanding star. Bruce Hall, young Toronto player, is showing sensational form in the junior championships, as is J. Cheley of Ottawa. The layout, above, shows, from LEFT to RIGHT: Bruce Hall, Eleanor Young, Diana Pope, of London, Ontario, and western Ontario champion, and J. Cheley.

1934 Dizzy Compared With 1924 Dazzy

With Dizzy Dean cutting down National league batsmen and piling victory upon victory for the St. Louis Cardinals, the talkative baseball tosser is being compared with Dazzy Vance, who, in 1924, won 28 games and struck out 262 enemy batters.

But Dizzy doesn't want the comparison to go too far.

Though Dazzy's 1924 hurling was the best the National league has seen since the days of Christy Mathewson, Dazzy's club, the Brooklyn Dodgers, failed to win the pennant that year.

And the Cards, too, have a good chance to lose this one despite Dizzy's doings.

Dizzy, with more than two months to go, has high hopes of winning 30 balls games, something no National league hurler has achieved in decades.

In 1924 Vance showed more finesse on the mound than does the 1934 Dean, but Dizzy has all the reserve power that Dazzy in the days of his greatness possessed. Dizzy has proved it by turning on blinding speed when he got in bad spots.

Thirty-victory pitchers are almost non-existent in this era of lively baseballs. Lefty Grove turned in 31 several seasons ago. Next most recent pitcher to better 29 wins was Jim Bagby, who did it for Cleveland in 1920.

It wasn't ever thus. Back in the dawn of league baseball Old Hoss Radbourne won 60 for the Providence, R.I., National leaguers in 1884. Jack Chesbro won 41 for the New York Americans in 1904, and Christy Mathewson clicked 37 across for the New York Giants in 1908.

But Dizzy will be satisfied with just 30. He should be.

COCHRANE'S TIGERS BREAK EVEN WITH STRUGGLING CHICAGO SOX

"Schoolboy" Rowe is Hero of Detroit's 16-15 Win in "Goofy" Tussle.

REDSKINS TAKE DOUBLE.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer)

One of the tests which is supposed to show the difference between a championship ball club and an also-ran, is that the pennant winner is the team which comes out on top when it gets tangled in one of those "goofy" games—either the give-and-take slugfests or the almost hitless pitchers' battles in which anything may happen and usually does.

Detroit Tigers successfully passed that test as they regained the American League lead over the past week-end and picked up the margin of a full game over the Yankees. They got into the "goofiest" sort of an affair in the first half of yesterday's bill with the White Sox.

Leading 5-0 going into the fifth, they fell behind when the Hose landed on Tommy Bridges with both feet and scored six runs. The stunt was repeated in the seventh, Chicago scoring seven times to gain a 13-11 lead and finally Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, who had pitched a three-hit game the day before, was called in to check the Sox' eight inning rally, and won another decision for himself by belting a home run to put the Tigers on the right side of a 16-15 score.

In all, the lead changed six times in five innings; the game produced 37 hits and six homers, two by Zeke Bonura. The second game was a different tale when Les Tietje outpitched Fred Marberry to give Chicago a 6-4 victory despite Hank Greenberg's second homer of the day.

The Athletics came to Detroit's aid by smashing the Yanks down into 6-3 defeat as they put on a five-run inning behind Alton Benton's six-hit flinging.

Double for Indians

The third place Indians registered the day's big gain when they twice defeated St. Louis, 11-5 and 6-3, and placed themselves 5½ games behind the lead. Cleveland collected 22 hits, Sammy Hale and Earl Averill contributing a circuit swat apiece to each game, while the Browns were given only 11 blows. The double defeat dropped St. Louis to seventh place, two points behind Washington, as the Senators' game with Boston was rained out.

BISONS FALL TO BEARS.

Barton Climaxes Newark's Five-run Rally With 24 24th Homer of the Season.

(By The Associated Press)

It isn't tough enough for the rest of the International League that the pace setting Newark Bears boast the four top ranking pitchers of the loop, Walter Brown, Frank Makovsky, Charlie Devens, and Floyd Newkirk.

But up come a couple of other fellows, Hank McDonald and Vito Tamulis and held the Buffalo Bisons to three hits between them, winning 7-4 before Makovsky took over the second half of the doubleheader and completed the day's triumphs with a 3-1 victory.

The Bisons got only seven hits all day, three off Makovsky in the nightcap, three off McDonald, and one off Newkirk who came into the first game for just a few moments. Vince Barton climaxed a five run rally that won the first game with his 24th homer of the season with two on bases. Keh Ash, Bison hurler, gave Makovsky a tussle in the second game. Frank McGowan's homer saved Buffalo from a shutout.

It was a busy day around the circuit as Montreal took two games from Syracuse Chiefs, 6-4 and 3-2, Albany and Toronto split a doubleheader, and Rochester took a single match from the hapless tail end Baltimore Orioles, 3-0. Max Butcher did an all right job of pitching for the Orioles but Johnny Berly was some better. Each allowed seven hits, but Butcher weakened in the eighth and Winsett and Mise hit successive home runs.

Harry Smythe, the small southpaw, kept Syracuse in check in the first game while Laurie Myllykangas and Ray Fritz shared the seven inning task of holding the Chiefs to six hits in the second game. Clarence Pickerel matched them in holding down the hits but walked five at inopportune times.

Albany errors played a large part in Toronto's 7-4 victory in the first game as Cy Blanton and Bill Harris allowed only eight hits while the Senators touched Walter Hilcher for nine. Ed Chapman evened the day for Albany in the nightcapt however by holding the Leafs to five hits as he shut them out 4-0.

Burleigh Falls Team Loses To Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, July 30 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Lakefield nine battered out a real victory over the Burleigh Falls team on Friday night with a score of 16-4. The locals, with Paul Payne and "Grady" Madill as the batteries made a good showing and gladdened the hearts of the fans. The visitors showed lack of team practice and were inferior in fielding. Curley Northey and Louis Sabatino handled the game, which ran to six innings. The line-up was as follows:

Burleigh Falls.—H. Williamson, ss; J. Blewett, p; E. Taylor, 1b; S. Johnson, 2b; H. Taylor, 3b; D. Johnson, ss; W. Bewser, rf; J. Johnson, lf; L. McCue, cf; A. Whetung, G. Wannamaker, J. Hull, subs.

GIANTS SPLIT WITH PHILLIES

Terrymen Drop First 4-2, but Hubbell Breaks Losing Streak in Nightcap.

CUBS ALSO SPLIT PAIR.

(By Canadian Press)

The National League's Sunday program brought several shifts in the standing but none of them bore upon the New York-Chicago battle for the lead as both the top-ranking clubs divided double bills. The Giants dropped the opener to the Phillies 4-3 with Dolph Camilli's homer as the deciding blow but came back to win 2-0 when Carl Oubbell broke his three game losing streak by holding the Phils to four hits in a duel with Syl Johnson.

The Cubs reversed the order. They almost ruined Chuck Dressen's debut as Cincinnati manager by trimming the Reds 7-5 in a free hitting contest which saw Pat Malone as a more effective flinger than Si Johnson. Cincinnati saved the afterpiece, 4-2, as Chief Hafey swatted a homer at the right time to help Tony Freitas out.

The third-place Cardinals bumped Pittsburgh around 9-5 with a 16-hit attack featured by Jim Collins' 23rd circuit swat. The hit broke a tie score in the eighth. That decision, coupled with Boston's brilliantly pitched double victory over Brooklyn, put the Bucs in fifth place behind the Braves. At the same time the Dodgers dropped back of the Phils into seventh.

After winning the opener 5-2 behind Ed Brandt's seven-hit hurling, the Braves got the benefit of a one-hit game by Flint Rhem and won, 1-0 when Pinky Whitney drove home Randy Moore with the only run young Johnny Babich allowed.

SAINTS THREATEN SOUTHEND LEAD

Creighton Holds King Edward Bantams to 3 Hits for 11-2 Victory.

St. Peter's crept to within a game of first place in the bantam baseball section Saturday by beating King Edward, 11-2, in the Exhibition Grounds. Creighton held the southenders to three hits, two of them in the ninth inning, while his teammates hit Castle hard and took advantage of errors to pile up the count. It was a good bantam contest most of the way. Creighton fanned eight and of the three hits he gave, Todd got two, with Berwick getting the other. Girard hit a triple and single for the winners, and Creighton two singles. The teams:

King Edward: Jay, c; Castle, p, cf; Ridley, 1b; Berwick, 2b; Platt, ss, 3b; Todd, 3b, p; Hopcroft, lf; Williams, cf, ss; Mackness, rf.

St. Peter's: Girard, c; Conroy, cf; Lynch, 3b; Brown, 1b; Scollard, ss; Thornton, 2b; Creighton, p; Condon, lf; Lucano, rf.

Electrics Must Take Victory From Cogs

Cogs and C.G.E. clash Tuesday evening at six o'clock in the Exhibition Grounds in their third E.P.L. playoff game. It is best four out of seven, and Cogs have won the first two. C.G.E. cannot afford to drop this third one and still have much hope of winning the title. They will field their strongest team and make one big bid to get in the money. Jack Barry will likely do the Electrics' hurling and should be ready to turn in one of his fine flinging exhibitions. Fourth game will be Friday. The winner of this series cops the E. P. L. championship, wins the Tip Top Tailors' trophy, and earns the right to represent this city in the O.B.A.A. intermediate "A" playdowns.

Percy Vannest is the logical choice to start for Cogs, this speedball merchant not having appeared on the mound since he hurled hitless ball in a league game some three weeks ago. Lefty Billingsley and Casey Masterson are also ready to step in again. Cogs hope to take the series in four straight and will be trying every minute. Their opponents realize they must start winning right away to keep in the running, and the result should be a fine playoff ball game for the fans.

PIRATES PURCHASE PITCHER

PITTSBURG, July 30. (AP). — The Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday announced the purchase of Pitcher Wayne Osborne, young right-hander with the Mission Club of the Pacific Coast League, in another move to bolster their faltering pitching staff. Osborne has won 13 games for the Missions and lost 10.

COBOURG WINS DECISIVELY

COBOURG, July 30.—Cobourg intermediates shut out Newcastle by a score of 14 to 0 in a Lakeshore baseball game played Saturday evening, in a seven-inning game.

Archie Campbell, southpaw pitcher, on the mound for Cobourg, allowed only three hits.

O.B.A.A. Play-Offs

HAMILTON, July 30 (C.P.) — Preparations for the playdowns for the Ontario amateur baseball champion are being made by the Ontario Baseball Association, secretary W. J. Synder announces. Senior playdowns will start August 25 or September 1, Mr. Snyder stated, with the Niagara district winners meeting the Niagara Falls champions.

The victor in the Toronto Amateur Baseball Association series will meet the Central Ontario champions Sept. 15 and the first game of the Hamilton City League representatives with the Intercounty champs occurs Sept. 1, according to the O.B.A.A. announcement. The Nickel Belt crown winners obtain a first round bye.

The draft of the schedule for the minor play-downs, which is subject to change, Mr. Snyder states, shows the first junior games slated for Aug. 11 with Belleville meeting Kingston; Orono vs. Lake Shore; Peterborough receiving a bye and the Toronto Amateur Baseball Association winners receiving a bye into the second or third round. Other games are Owen Sound vs. Southampton; Collingwood-Thornbury a bye; Niagara Falls versus Niagara District; Haldimand County versus Hamilton Amateur Baseball Association winners; Inter-County winners a bye; Kent Lambton vs. Essex County; Nickel Belt into the semi-final or final.

First games of the juvenile series are for Aug. 11 as follows: Peterborough vs. Oshawa; T.A.B.A. a bye; Niagara District vs. Niagara Falls; H.A.B.A. vs. Haldimand; Inter-County vs. Galt; Guelph a bye.

Bantam playdowns also start Aug. 11. The games: Peterborough a bye; T.A.B.A. a bye; Halton vs. H.A.B.A.; Niagara Falls vs. Niagara District; Inter-County vs. Guelph.

All league winners, it is announced, must be declared in time to start play in the first round of the C.B.A.A. playdowns.

PACKERS GAIN LUCKY POINTS AGAINST SCOTS

Losers Do Everything But Score—Both Custodians Brilliant.

C. P. 2, CALEYS 1.

More bad luck than good fortune robbed the Caledonians of two points when the Packers won by two goals to one, in a soccer league engagement on Saturday evening before a good attendance of spectators.

Adkinson hit the upright twice, Heal, three times; and Mowry twice for the Caledonians, when a counter looked positive. Both Green and Chamberlain displaying excellent goal-tending.

Score Within Minute

Within a minute from the kick-off, the Packers were up a goal, when N. Downer jumped in between the full-backs to bulge the net behind Green, Caley custodian. Twice in succession did the Heal brothers outwit the opposition defence to test Packers' goalie, who made some clever saves. In fact, an individual raid by Adkinson terminated in the upright saving a positive counter. Buchan broke up a Heal attack to send his left winger down into the corner, who centered across to McCracken, a well-intended header hitting the far upright. G. Downer met the rebound to find Green making a spectacular clearance. Play was transferred to the other end where the Caley's did everything but score. A break-away by Mowry found Chamberlain holding the ball against the upright to concede a fruitless flag-kick. Before the interval, the Scots peppered the Packers' goal from all angles; first Adkinson hitting the upright; Heal striking the inside of the post, then Mowry landing the ball inside the cross-bar as the ball went back into play. Half time: Canada Packers, 1; Caledonians, 0.

Scores Equalizer

On resuming, the Scots travelled into the Packers' goal area, a cross into goal by Adkinson gained the equaliser when Art Heal connected with a first timer. Play ran from end to end, with the Scots being outlucked near the goal.

A desperate attack by Packers' forwards ended in a scrimmage in front of goal. The loose ball fell to the foot of the new centre-forward, who drove the ball into the rigging below the cross-bar. The Scots' replied with many splendid combination plays. As time wore on to the finish, both elevens travelled from end to end at a terrific pace, with the custodians giving a wonderful display to offset the bombardments.

Goal scorers.—N. Downer and A. B. Williams.

Caledonians.—D. Green, goal; H. Mann and W. Denisen, full backs; D. Whatman, H. Webb and S. Leggitt, halves; C. Todd, A. Todd, J. Gore, F. Dyer, and E. Adkinson, forwards; W. Rankin, D. Mowry, R. Stevens, subs.

Canada Packers.—J. Chamberlain, goal; T. Foster and A. Downer, full backs; Art Downer, J. Buchan and A. Bromley, halves; R. Nicholls, W. McCracken, A. Todd, H. Downer and G. Downer, forwards; A. B. Williams, E. Rishea, F. Todd, subs.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

And that, folks, is baseball for you! You're sitting down comfortably watching two ball teams battling away. You've cleaned up in the course of the afternoon a bottle of pop, an ice-cream cone and a bag of peanuts. Now, you're just sitting back relaxing and enjoying a cigarette. The score is 4-1 for your team and one man is out in the ninth inning. Fine, everything under control. Then, a bird named Mister Moose Mathews bounces a high slow hopper down to short and he beats it out. Oke, what of it? Next, a dude called Mister Theo Elliott—and didn't the grandstanders have his goat when he was catching!—whistles a single to left. Ho, hum, that's nothing. It's still 4-1 for us. . . . . .

But when another guy, just plain Peacock, draws four wide balls and fills the bases, things do not look quite so serene or full of bliss. Steady us, boy, time to settle away and clean up this business right now. Our pitcher ankles in to chat with the coach. Sure, I can take 'em. Okay, boy, go to it. Crowd cheers, hope is restored. Then, a chunky little softballer, who plays centre for Oshawa and is named Hurst, digs in with both dogs and laces a grooved ball over our left-fielder's head! The ball is lost for seconds in the grass, and of course the game is lost when four runs come whooping joyously home for the Dukes. . . . . .

And that, girls and boys, is baseball for you! A nice quiet game going along according to form for eight frames, and then BANG! and the whole situation is completely reversed. You are no longer sitting comfortably. You throw away your smoke in disgust. Those peanuts aren't getting along very well with the pop and ice-cream you gumsled. In fact, the world is suddenly bleak to behold. But what can you do about it? That's right, you can ankle over the bridge again, sit down at a table, order a cold one and start sorrowfully pointing out where we made our mistakes. They're all doing it, so why not us? . . . . . .

Our squawk is a three-fold one. In the first place, why throw a straight fast ball to a guy who is all set to tear the cover off it, with the bases loaded? Particularly when that guy is a noted sucker for hooks. Secondly, why leave a pitcher in there too long when they're getting to him and the score is anyway close? After that second hit in the ninth, a change should have been made. And especially when the next bird drew a walk. And thirdly, why throw away a run in the eighth with our man on third and only one out. He should have scored on a passed ball that was still in play with the catcher fast asleep. Or at least, he could have been squeezed home on a bunt. Second guessing is easy, but nevertheless that stuff Saturday didn't look like smart baseball to us.

But it's over now, and we're still only a game and a half down from Belleville, and still over a game ahead of Oshawa. Deyell really pitched fine ball till nervousness and the breaks went against him in the ninth. The Petes played a good game behind him, too, and should have won out. But there is a baseball rule that says the team scoring the most runs is the victor. Oshawa did this little thing and left a rather stunned local outfit, not to mention the surprised fans... holding onto the well-known burlap. Quite a game, baseball is.

On Tuesday eve at six of this week—which is tomorrow already—another game of baseball is listed, this time between Cogs and C.G.E. It is the third E.P.L. playoff tilt and will be held, run or staged at the Exhibition Grounds. Electrics had better go out and pull a Hurst on Cogs or they'll be a-singing' the maountaineers' song: "You're 'way up thar; I'm 'way down hyar!" The series is four out of seven, and C.G.E. can't very well expect much more chance than that. After all, the boys have to be out of the trenches down there some of these weeks as the Fair Board is thinking of putting on an exhibition out in August, and will be needing the grounds at that time.

Ye Orphans kicked away a softball game to Brinton, 12-10, at Central Saturday eve, outscoring the Carpetmen in both the hit and the error columns. But the payoff comes in the run slot. Abbott and Currie tossed for the winners, with Heffernan and Shine working for the Waifs. 'Twasn't a bad game, but it wasn't anything to rave about either, some sloppy fielding being dished up. Dugan talked a swell game at second for Brintons, and even laid off the conversation long enough to bingle out two safe wallops.

Draft for the O.B.A.A. playdowns is out now, and shows the C. O.B.L. winner meets the Toronto champ Sept. 15th. First junior series will be Aug. 11th, Belleville meeting Kingston, Orono vs. Lakeshore; with Peterborough and Toronto receiving byes. Juvenile playdowns commence Aug. 11th, though we understand local Terriers meet Oshawa in Oshawa, August 8th. Toronto gets a bye. Bantams also start the 11th, Peterborough and Toronto getting byes up this way. No mention was made of the intermediates, but we suppose they start their playdowns about the middle of August.

Sport hash: Petes have now won five C.O.B.L. games out of seven on the road, and only three out of eight at home . . . . The umpiring was good here Saturday . . . . Kiwanis lacrossers are due to play in Belleville tomorrow . . . . Creighton hurled three-hit ball in nine frames to give St. Peter's an 11-2 bantam ball win Sat'day over King Edward . . . . Napanee defeated Kingston, 7-0, over the week-end, Pointer allowing only two hits and fanning eight . . . . Kingston is at Belleville Tuesday for the only C.O.B.L. game this week till Saturday when Belleville is in Oshawa . . . . No further news on a junior ball team here . . . . Oshawa and Lindsay may send teams to the Bridgenorth softball tourney Civic holiday; entries should be sent at once to George Dormer, or M. McWilliams at Bridgenorth.

"Chuck" Campbell New Sculling Star

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 30. —(C.P.)—Triple victor at the Canadian Henley, 20 year old Charles "Chuck" Campbell, Toronto High school student, was hailed to-day as the hero of annual sculling meet.

Winner of the Junior and Association finals on Friday, he gained his third championship crown Saturday on the closing day of the meet by capturing the Senior solo event.

Only twice before in the 52 years of Henley history has the feat been equalled. Jimmy Cosgrave took the triple crown home to Toronto Argonauts in 1906 and four years later Bob Dibble brought the honor to Toronto Dons.

Buffalo's sturdy Westside crew continued their aquatic domination by retaining the mythical club title with a list of 11 wins. They won three of the eight-oared, four finals for fours and doubles.

BRINTONS TIE ORPHANS FOR LEAGUE LEAD

Carpetmakers Wallop Harrison Crew for 12-10 Victory on Saturday.

SLOPPY AFFAIR

Brintons pulled up into a tie for first place in the men's softball loop Saturday night when they walloped the Orphans 12-10 at Central. The game was a sloppy affair with both sides displaying poor fielding to allow several unearned runs to score and many scratch hits to go for extra bases. The lead see-sawed back and forth with Brintons finally emerging the victors by a virtue of a four-run rally in the eighth which enabled them to pull ahead and win out.

Abbott twirled seven stanzas for the Carpetmen with Currie hurling in the last inning and between them they managed to win the game although it was the powerful batting of their mates in the last frame that was responsible for the win. Heffernan and Shine toiled for the losers, neither being very effective and with the loose fielding behind them they were made to look worse.

Smith, Dugan and Playford for the winners each had two hits out of four times at bat, while for the Orphans, Heffernan with four out of four had a perfect night at bat.

The only double-play was made in the sixth frame, the play going from Bradshaw-to-Smith-to-Dormer, retiring the side.

Orphans: Wilshaw, 2b; Weese, 3b; Jones, cf, rf; Cadd, c; Hope, lf; Board, 1b; Miller, rf, cf; Fleming, ss; Heffernan, p, rf; Shine, p.

Brintons: H. Dormer, 3b; Smith, 1b; Currie, cf, p; P. Calladine, c; Weir, lf; Abbott, p, cf; Dugan, 2b; Webb, rf; Playford, rf; Bradshaw, ss; W. Calladine, ss.

Score by innings:

Orphans	001	303	03—10	13 8
Brintons	310	211	04—12	9 2

Umpires—Bailey at the plate, Wright on bases.

Lawn Bowling
BY Herb Martin

There will be a lot of bowling out on the greens this week. Tonight we continue with the Skip's, Vice-Skips and the Leads and Seconds competition.

On Tuesday night we will start, for the first time, what we consider one of the most interesting events to take place this season. The "Novice" single competition. This event being sponsored by no one else than R. M. Glover, managing director of the Peterborough Examiner.

When early in the season, R. M. presented this proposition to the games committee, they immediately saw that this competition was just what they needed to fill out a well balanced program for the season, Rollie has always taken a keen interest in all amateur sport and we are happy to say that he can still find time and that he is not "too old" to come out and enjoy one of the finest summer games there is.

The committee has appointed B. Chesler as convenor of this competition and Benny will no doubt see to it that the boys who are eligible to play will be duly notified.

Then on Wednesday night we are running our usual mixed tournament and on Friday the regular week-end games. So taking it all in all it will not be too bad for one week.

ELECTRICS WIN FROM LINDSAY

League Leaders Overwhelm Scugog Team on Latter's Home Grounds.

FINAL SCORE 8-2.

Lindsay soccer eleven had the local C.G.E. team as their guests on Saturday afternoon, and were trounced to the tune of eight goals to two in a league engagement.

Lindsay won the toss and selected playing up-hill and were first to visit the custodian to get a fruitless flag kick. C.G.E. transferred the play to the other end where McMaster shot past. At this point the visitors forced the issue to receive a spot kick that A. Mitchell made sure of after eight minutes of play. Lindsay retaliated with many dangerous rushes but found the defense allowing no freedom near goal, although Latham had hard luck in not registering. Jones intercepted another Lindsay rush to send his forwards away to Lindsay goal where McMaster scored from a pass by McPhate. Two minutes later, the same player registered from a centre by McIntosh. Lindsay tried hard to get a goal but they had to be content with unsuccessful corners. While the visitors' defense was too much for the local attack. O'Halloran gave away another spot kick. Burgess failed to count. On the next visit to Lindsay goal, O'Halloran accidently scored against his own team. McMaster made it five. From the centre kick, Lindsay went down into the visitors' goal where Latham accepted a nice pass from Bacon. peterborough 5, Lindsay 1.

Changes In Teams

On resuming, C.G.E. replaced Cooper for McIntosh and Lindsay rearranged their eleven. The locals forced the play until individual efforts by Stan Clark ended in the player shooting from the corner post to make the sixth tally. O'Halloran replied with a rocket drive that hit the cross-bar. Earle at the other end scored for C.G.E. but had to retire with an injured ankle. Lindsay broke away again and Bolam passed back to his goal-keeper, but Latham got it first to give Petes' goalie no chance.

Lindsay—Roy Rowe, goal; A. O'Halloran and R. Flynn, backs, J. Springhall, J. Taylor and G. Muzz halves R. Dobbie, W. Grant, H. Latham, W. Bacon and D. Wilson, forwards.

C.G.E. — J. Bolton, goal; A. Mitchell and B. Bolam, backs; S. Clark, E. Jones and A. Burgess, halves; H. McIntosh, F. Earle, B. McMaster, V. Post and T. McPhate, forwards; sub., Cooper.

Referee—W. Harrington.

City Tennis

Two city tennis championship matches were run off on Saturday, and play will be continued Tuesday. In the second round of the men's singles, Walter Jackson easily defeated J. M. Irkwood, sixth seeded player, 7-5 and 6-2; and in the ladies' singles, semi-finals, Miss G. Carvolth eliminated Miss M. Donaldson, 6-4 and 6-1.

On Tuesday, the ladies' singles finals will be held at the Peterborough Club at 4.30 p.m., Mrs. J. A. Dewart playing Miss G. Carvolth. Men's singles quarter-finals will be held at Peterborough at 5.30, B. Swarts meeting G. C. Scott; and at 5.00, G. M. Kirkwood vs. W. Jackson at Kawartha. In the semi-finals at 5.00 at Kawartha, D. M. Cotton plays J. T. Donaldson; and the men's doubles starts Tuesday at 5.30 with W. Perks and A. Ward clashing with O. Benson and R. Charlton at the Peterborough Club.

SILVER SLIPPERS

By Temple Bailey

CHAPTER I

Joan Dudley, riding down to the sea with her lover was aware of the day as transcendent in her experience. It was wonderful to have Drew there beside her, sitting his horse in splendor like a king. That was the way Joan thought of him, always—as splendid, like Richard of the Lion Heart, or any other of the mighty heroes of her dreams.

As he brought his horse to a walk, she was glad his hands were ungloved, so that she might see the strength of his brown fingers on the bridle. She was glad, too, when he rode for a time without his hat and the wind blew back his hat and the wind blew back the silver of his hair and touched his cheeks with ruddiness. They seemed to link him with youth—not that he needed to be thus linked, for she would not have had him younger, yet it added to his fascinations that in him the boy and the man were so marvellously mingled.

But more marvellous than all the rest was the fact that he loved her! He had not put it definitely into words. He had spoken rather through the touch of his fingers on her hand, the glance of his eyes, significant and exciting. He had spoken, too, through his silences, making them pregnant with possibilities,—as if when he opened his lips the miracle would come for which she waited.

Yet even as she waited she was half afraid. There had been now a long silence, and she felt impelled to break it.

She had stuck a wild rose behind her horse's ear and one in the lapel of her riding coat. "Aren't we gay?" she asked, and touched the rose with her finger tips.

He turned in his saddle. "I was willing tou to speak."

She was puzzled, "Willing me?"

"Yes. Forcing you by my mental attitude to look at me—or say something."

She considered that. "I'm not sure I like it," she said at last.

"Why not?"

"It puts too much power in your hands."

"You mean I might use it to harm you?"

"Well, you could."

"Do you think I would?" he leaned down to her.

She blushed. "Oh, no."

He did not press her further and as they rode along the sands they talked of other things, and while they talked the fog crep across the sea—that summer sea of the Maine coast, jade green before the fog caught it, its waves fluting themselves in snowy frills down the broad beach.

As the gray mist draped its mantle over them Joan said, "Aunt Adelaide hates days like this. She is talking about leaving Maine and going to Granitehead."

His voice showed his dismay. "Surely not."

"Yes. She likes more gayety—bridge and all that. The doctor advised coming up here in the woods to help her nerves. But she's getting frightfully tired of it."

"Do you want to go?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"Oh . . . I'm having such a heavenly time."

He knew why she wash aving a heavenly time. He needed no vanity to know it. Because of his presence her days had been filled with rapture. In spite of his sophistication, the thought thrilled him The child was so ingenuous, so untouched by the world. The weeks with her had seemed set apart from all those other affairs of the heart with which Drew Hallam had amused himself before he met her.

The fog wrapped them now in a veil. Joan, half-hidden by it, had an ineffable air of mystery.

Drew leaned forward. "Stop your horse," he said.

She stopped. "Why?"

"I was afraid you might slip away from me—in the fog."

"Oh, but I wouldn't."

"Wouldn't you?"

"No."

"Never?"

"Never."

His hand came through the mist, searching for her hand. He found it and drew her close. "You know, of course, that I shall never let you slip away?"

She whispered, "Yes."

"Even if you try, I shall call you back."

"I shan't try."

His laugh was triumphant. "There is something I want you to say to me."

She did not answer, and he dismounted and stood beside her, "Say that you love me, Joan."

"But—it has been only two weeks."

"What has time to do with—you and me?"

The fog drifted between them like the smoke of incense rising from some sacred altar. Joan's face, veiled by it, was rapt as that of a young priestess, starry-eyed.

Hallam lifted her from her saddle, held her close, "Mine?" he murmured with tense insistence, "tell me, Joan . . . tell me."

When they rode on again, she had given him a breathless promise. It seemed incredible. Two weeks ago she had not met him, and now she was to be his until—eternity . . .

He asked as they went along, "Did you think it would be like this?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"Oh, I had always fancied it would be somebody I had known a long time."

"Is there anyone—you have known a long time?"

"Oh, no," she emphasized, "you see I've lived a rather—cloistered life—school teachers do in small towns like ours, don't they? There has never been anyone else."

"But since you've lived with your aunt?"

"Oh . . . I've been so busy getting accustomed to being a princess instead of a Cinderella that I haven't had time to think of men."

"You must have time now to think of me."

He caught up her hand in his and they rode on thus linked together. At last out of the fog came Joan's happy voice: "You're not in the least the kind of man I thought I'd marry."

"What kind did you think?"

"Well, not so—splendid," she laughed a little as if to soften the extravagance of her praise. "Now and then I had a dream, it used to come and go—of a boy with dark clouds back of him, and his hand up and the wind blowing his hair, and a touch of red against the blackness. It was very vivid, and it was always the same . . . night after night."

Drew lifted her hand to his lips. "It sounds like a Bolshevik or a brigand. And after this you are to stop dreaming about him. I shan't allow any rivals."

"You will never have one."

He liked that. "I can give you more than any boy would give. And I'll show you the world. We'll have our honeymoon at Cannes."

"I'm afraid Aunt Adelaide won't let me go so far."

"Not when you are my wife?"

"I promised her I'd stay with her as long as she wanted me."

"Won't she always want you?"

"I can't be sure. She told me when I came to live with her that she usually tired of people and she couldn't tell whether she was going to tire of me or not."

There was a subtle change in his voice. "Aren't you legally her adopted daughter?"

"I am not legally anything. When mother died, Aunt Adelaide wrote and said if I'd come on we could see how we liked each other. She never cared for mother. Daddy was her nephew and after his death, she didn't seem to know that mother and I were in the world. But I think as she has grown older she has been lonely. And we have learned to care for each other a lot."

For a few moments he rode on in silence. Then he said: "Do you think she'll object to your marriage?"

"Oh, no. She's really been a darling. And even if she does object it won't be what she wants, will it?"

"You mean it will be what I want?"

"Yes."

His laugh was triumphant. "Do you know how adorable you are?"

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, July 31

The planetary influences ruling on this day seem to be conflicting. While there is promise of excellent opportunity, much progress and a decided trend in the direction of the fruition of great enterprises and important projects, yet there are elements of frustration together with the menace of financial loss through fraud, misrepresentation or trickery. Strife, rash and impulsive conduct may enhance these dangers, whereas controlled, calm and sagacious moves may win over such hazards.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very lively and energetic year, with large projects and ambitions on the way to rapid develonment. But there is a menace of peril through fraud, treachery or misrepresentation as well as in personal indulgence in headstrong, tempestuous and ill-advised conduct. Be careful in speculation and with calmness and conversatism there may be decided profit and progress in large undertakings.

A child born on this day should be talented, bold, adventurous and ambitious, but should be directed as to the handling of its finances, especially later in life.

In the worst storm in 26 years mud two feet thick was deposited in the streets of Valparaiso, Chile, recently.

YOUNG GIRLS ATTEND MEET

Interesting Program Provided at Presbyterian W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid Gathering.

IN WARSAW CHURCH

WARSAW, July 30.—(Examiner Correspondence).—An exceptionally large number attended the meeting of the Presbyterian W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid held at Mrs. T. Borland's home on Thursday afternoon, July 26. Mrs. R. Tedford presided. Jean Munro read the Scripture lesson, John's Gospel, ch. 21, v. 1-6, and ch. 3, c. 16-24. Mary Borland gave a piano solo. The circle of prayer was taken by Mrs. Munro and others. Monda McQuaig read "Be a Booster." A selection from the Glad Tidings by the late Mrs. T. C. Sharpe was read. The study book was taken by Miss Kathleen Foster, of Peterborough, a friend of Mary Borland's, "What Christianity offers the rural people of the East." A special feature was the attendance of several young girls and the part they took in the service. The president complimented them on their efforts. Service closed with singing "Sowing in the Morning" and prayer by the president.

Ladies' Aid Meeting.

Mrs. H. Clements presided at the Aid which opened with "Blest be the Tie That Binds" and the Lord's Prayer in unison. There was some discussion about plans, and the next meeting will be in the evening at Miss Maggie Miller's when the bale will be packed.

The illustrated lecture given in the United Church on Thursday, July 26, by Mr. Storey, lately from South American, was well attended and most interesting, instructive and inspiring.

There was a good attendance at the Carmel social on Wednesday evening, July 25. Refreshments were served on the church lawn, and a program at which Rev. J. W. Wilkinson presided, was given in the church, as follows: Short address by Mr. Wilkinson; solo, Lenore McIlvena; reading, Mrs. Kennedy; duet, Birdie and Bob Lennox; song, Tommy Parker; reading, Miss Elmhirst; solo, Mrs. McIlvena; song, by the Log Burners; address, Rev. Mr. Rogers; song, Donald Whetung; reading, Miss Elmhirst; solo, George Bennett; song, Tommy Parker, and reading, by Cora Charleton.

Miss Florence Bibby is spending a few days at Muskoka this week.

Mrs. Uriah Payne's little granddaughter, Shirley Ann Cormley, who with her parents is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Payne, had a birthday party on Wednesday, July 25, from 4 o'clock until 7 p.m. She had eighteen little guests and all had a merry time with various games which little ones can enjoy. The birthday cake with its five candles was naturally the centre of attraction at the supper.

Norwood

Mr. and Mrs. R. Sedgwick are holidaying at Harper's Landing, Trent River.

Miss Georgina Beavis is visiting friends in Hastings.

Mrs. C. King and daughter, of Stewart Valley, Sask., who have been visiting relatives and friends in this district, left Saturday on their return trip.

Mr. David Brown, B.A., of Toronto, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Buck.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson and Mrs. A. Coheen spent a few days last week in Port Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Mason, of Campbellford, spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. G. Richardson.

Mrs. C. Cavers, of Toronto, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Brethen.

Miss Ruby Pearse, of Toronto, is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearse.

Mr. J. McAdams, of Smith Falls, is a guest at the home of Mrs. R. Beamish.

Miss Viola Menzies, of Havelock, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. McConnell.

MANY TOURISTS IN HALIBURTON

Heaviest Tourist Traffic in Years Reported in the North.

FISHING IS GOOD.

Lakes in the northern part of Peterborough County and Haliburton are enjoying the heaviest traffic of tourists in years, S. D. Carver of this city reports after a trip through the area last year. Facilities in the way of tourist huts at Sawyer Lake and on other waters are at a premium and new hut grounds are being opened.

Mr. Carver states that the visitors in the region are both Canadian and American tourists. Many are enthusiastic anglers in search of the better fishing offered by the more remote waters. The salmon-trout fishing is reported to be very good this season, a Toronto man boasting the catch of record-sized 16-pound specimen of that variety last week. Bass are also plentiful and the occasional muskie is being pulled out.

Mr. Carver believes that the new Minden to Haliburton road and the highway through from Coboconk to Dorest are responsible for the rush of tourists into the region this year.

Indications are that partridge will be plentiful in the area when the season opens this Fall, he said.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK - - By R. J. Scott

READY TO BEGIN DIONNE HOUSE

New Brick Dwelling With Furnace, Water and Lights From Own Plant.

BOOTH ON ROADSIDE.

CALLANDER, Ont., July 30(C.P.)—A modern residence, the life long dream of every family, will be started within a few days to give comfort and convenience during the cold winter months to the Dionne quintuplets.

The new building, which will be erected on higher ground directly across the road from the old frame farmhouse, will be built of brick, heated with a furnace and supplied with water and light from a small power plant to be installed in the structure.

At a roadside nearby a booth will be constructed where Oliver Dionne, 67-year-old grandfather of the babies, will sell photographs of the famous quintuplets. The nurses' cabin will be moved across the road to the site near the new home.

No Visitors Yet

CALLANDER, Ont., July 30 (C.P.)—Dr. A. R. Dafoe, physician attending the Dionne quintuplets, today advised the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Mayfield, Ky., that it would be impossible at the present time for Mrs. Elizabeth Lyon, only living mother of quintuplets in the United States, to see the five baby girls.

He added however that at some date in the near future she would be welcome. A telegram from the chamber said if Mrs. Lyon could visit the babies, she would make the trip by aeroplane.

Motorists Injured In Sunday Accident

LINDSAY, July 30.—(Special to Examiner.)— Several people were badly injured in an automobile accident on the Hartley-Fenelon Falls road on Sunday, when a car driven by F. Fielder, of Coboconk, proceeding west crashed into a car driven by R. Crum, of Lindsay, which was proceeding to Killarney Bay. Mrs. Crum sustained a number of fractured ribs, Mrs. G. Pugh, of Lindsay, had her collar bone broken, Gordon Pugh, of Lindsay, sustaied serious bruises and Geo. Poulton, of Warren, Ohio, had several ribs broken. The Crum car turned turtle following the collision. The occupants of the Fielder car escaped unhurt.

AID WHERE NEEDED

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 30 (CP)—Some local man is going to get credit for his "liabilities." A local firm, in making a contribuion to the fund to help out-of-work veterans get to the Canadian Corps Reunion at Toronto, stipulated that if the amount collected was not large enough to send everyone, the man with the largest family should receive their donation.

A HEART VICTIM

BRANTFORD, Ont., July 30 (CP)—Entering a home here, a bat got "stuck up" when it flew about the house. It landed with wings outstretched on a hanging fly-paper and there remained. Soon it fell to the floor, and when examined, was found to be dead, apparently from heart failure.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet,
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind.

LIFFORD LINE PREPARATION OF EGGS FOR MARKET

In these days many a poultryman has assumed the ownership of a good flock of pullets or hens that with good housing, good feeding and general care should produce a goodly quantity of high quality eggs with which he hopes to augment his financial returns.

The birds deliver the eggs in good condition with perhaps the exception of a small percentage of abnormal eggs such as those known as blood-spot, blood-clot, meat-spot, and occasionally an egg filled with blood. The hens have done their part; what is the owner going to do to safeguard his reputation in regard to egg quality, and secure a permanent good market for these eggs?

When we undertake the study of successful selling of these eggs we are really undertaking a study in psychology, or the mind behaviour of those to whom we sell. Our whole aim must be to secure a favorable reaction of the mind of the prospective customer to anything we may say of our product, and to the way we present the product. First, our effort should be to secure the favorable interest of those to whom we sell. This means that attractive appearance is the first essential in successful selling, particularly so far as food products are concerned. Then this attractive appearance must be supported by prime quality to secure repeat orders and for honesty's sake. All our eggs then must be clean, and if our birds are confined all the time to the poultry house, this just means clean floor, clean roosts, so arranged that the hens cannot walk on the dropping boards, and clean nests, with plenty of good nesting material. If we allow our hens out of the poultry house, an excellent plan, especially on wet mornings, is to throw down one good forkful of clean straw on the floor, so that the hens, after being out in the mud and returning to the house to lay, will be attracted to this something new, and scratch there for a while, cleaning their feet before going to the nest to lay.

All male birds should be removed from the flock for the summer months to ensure infertility of the eggs. The eggs should be gathered three times a day to prevent damage by heating.

The next very important step is the cooling of the eggs just as quickly as possible to ensure longer keeping. Gather the eggs in an open wicker or wire basket and place the basket on a bench in a cool basement which is free from all odors, and leave them, say, over night. Then the eggs being quite cool pack them large end up in standard egg crates with clean fillers and flats, placing the covers on the crates to prevent drafts passing over the eggs or dust settling on them. Before packing the eggs in the crates, candle them carefully for the defects mentioned above and grade them according to the Canadian Standard for eggs.

Eggs must be handled carefully, as rough handling is productive of cracked and ruptured eggs.

If you must clean eggs never wash them nor use a damp cloth, but clean them with steelwool. Washing or the use of a damp cloth, ruins the keeping quality of eggs. If the poultry house has been properly kept, the number of dirty eggs will be so small that they can be cleaned for immediate consumption at home.

For some types of marketing sorting the eggs for color is a distinct advantage in satisfying the particular fancies of individuals customers. Emphasizing the white color of white eggs, and the brown color of brown eggs, is also an advantage. A blue lining for the containers, in which white eggs are packed, will enhance the whiteness, as will pink or red paper enhance the brownness of brown eggs.

Now, you will have taken steps to put up the finest quality of eggs, that look the part, particularly if they are graded for size and uniformity. There is another important thing in catering to a select trade, and that is to guarantee the flavor of the eggs. Flavor of eggs can only be controlled with any certainty by keeping the birds confined to ensure that you know exactly what they eat and drink, thus avoiding the risk of the hens drinking from barnyard puddles or eating anything that might impart an off-flavor to the eggs.

Eggs should be marketed as frequently as possible, and put up as attractively as possible to encourage increased consumption.

CHEMONG REGATTA SET FOR AUGUST 8

Heavy List of Regattas Set for the Next Ten Days.

The next ten days will see the headline regattas of the season in the Peterborough region run off.

Bewdley will lead off with its meet on Wednesday afternoon. An excellent program has been prepared and a fine collection of prizes secured. During the past several years this regatta has drawn the largest crowds in the district.

The Gore's Landing annual regatta will feature the Saturday schedule. On the same afternoon the children's regatta at Juniper Island is to be run and a meet for children is also to be staged at Kawartha Park. All three offer excellent cards from the point of view of both the contestants and spectators.

As in other years, the Civic Holiday next Monday will see the holding of Stoney Lake's premier acquatic meet—the senior regatta at Juniper Island. Preparations have been under way for some weeks. With the population of the Stoney Lake area up to its summer maximum, a crowd of more than a thousand is expected if fair weather favours the event.

The Chemong regatta is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, August 8. The Chemong junior meet is to follow on August 15. At a meeting last week, committees for arrangements in connection with both events were appointed. J. K. Hughes is once again serving as chairman of the senior regatta executive and Dr. A. W. McPherson heads the junior regatta body.

Local Cricket Club Puts Up Fine Display in Exhibition Match.

PLAY AT OAKVILLE.

Whittaker's Cricket Club on Saturday made the long road trip to Oakville to play the latter club. This was an ambitious effort for the locals as Oakville practically represents the Halton Co. team, and a long road journey is not the best preparation for a cricket match; though defeated the local team were not at all disgraced, the final score being Whitaker's 81, Oakville 132 for 9 wickets.

Whitaker's batted first and good batting by F. Jefferson (24) and J. Hawthorne (22) carried the final score to 81, Shaw taking 5 wickets at a small cost.

The Oakville innings was featured by the splendid batting of J. Macrae, formerly of Grove School, Lakefield, who went in first, batted right through and carried his bat for 86. He batted throughout in good style and with confidence, never giving a chance and hit 12-fours. How he dominated the game is shown by the score; he got 86 out of 116 from the bat. Oakville got the winning run with 6 wickets down and on Mitchison joining Macrae, 40 runs were added and the two played out time. The bowling honors were shared by Jefferson and Wild, 4 wickets each.

Macrae scored 32 for the Grove School against Peterborough C.C. on June 3, 1933.

Miss Littlefield warned all the swimmers to play "safety first" when swiming either out of doors or indoors. Never dive from a strange diving board until depth of water is known. Never take a long distance swim without having a boat accompany the swimmer. Never go into the water after a heavy meal, must wait at least one and one-half hours. All the life-savers are urged to spread the safety first rules and always help swimmers in distress.

Chemong Sailing Club Notes

Two half-pint youngsters, Craig Summerville and Gordon Matthews, Jr., stole the show as the Peterborough Sailing and Acquatic Club continued its series of dinghy races at Chemong Lake yesterday morning. Outgeneralling four other crews in handsome fashion, they sailed over the finish line for an easy victory.

John Weddell and Ted Cragg, two other juniors, finished second with a lead of about a half minute over Ralph Clark and Ross Pulkinghorn. Ted Hiland and Joe Hiland aboard and Ab. Lord sailing with Don McPherson finished in fourth and fifth money. Due to the small turnout of seniors both seniors and juniors competed in the same contest and point awards will be worked out accordingly for the season's reckoning.

The race was three miles. A squally breeze, rarely strong enough to provide real action, prevailed.

Peterborough Club Wins In Exhibition

On Saturday the local club was without a match so a game was arranged with a team of local players under the title of Dominion Woollens who had the assistance of some Peterborough bearers. The final score was P.C.C. 107, Dominion Woollens 86.

Peterborough batted first, Binks 18, Worrall 27, Honour 19 not out, being top scorers.

On the Woollens batting 5 wickets were down for 25 when Grimshaw (13) and Williams (36) took score to 66, but after that the innings was soon over for 86, Binks taking 5 wickets for 13.

It is noteworthy that on Saturday three complete Peterborough teams were in the field.

Next Saturday the locals play the Toronto C.C. at the Oval and this should be a really interesting match.

On Civic Holiday (August 6) Peterborough County play Waterloo County in Toronto in the semi-finals of the county championship.

RUNYAN CAPTURES PRO GOLF HONORS

Defeats Craig Wood After Two Extra Holes for P.G.A. Championship.

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 30. (AP) Paul Runyan, whose introduction to golf consisted of chasing balls for four bits an hour, ruled the United States professional ranks to-day.

Doing it the hard way, the 28-year-old former Arkansas caddy conquered Craig Wood, the belting beauty of Hollywood, N.J., one up in a putting duel yesterday over the Short Park course.

The 38-hole final tied the record for extra-hole finals in the 17-year-old tournament, matching the 38-hole battle of 1923, when Gene Sarazen won from Walter Hagen.

SOCCER TEAMS FAIL BREAK DEADLOCK

Frood Mines and Verdun Park Again in Goalless Draw.

TORONTO, July 30.—Before one of the largest crowds of the soccer season and beneath a boiling sun, Verdun Park and Frood Mines battled for 120 minutes at Oakwood Stadium on Saturday afternoon without a goal being scored.

In the four games which have been played between the Ontario and Eastern champions neither team has secured victory, the scores being 2-2, 1-1, 2-2 and 0-0.

MANY TOURISTS IN HALIBURTON

Heaviest Tourist Traffic in Years Reported in the North.

FISHING IS GOOD.

Lakes in the northern part of Peterborough County and Haliburton are enjoying the heaviest traffic of tourists in years, S. D. Carver of this city reports after a trip through the area last year. Facilities in the way of tourist huts at Sawyer Lake and on other waters are at a premium and new hut grounds are being opened.

Mr. Carver states that the visitors in the region are both Canadian and American tourists. Many are enthusiastic anglers in search of the better fishing offered by the more remote waters. The salmon-trout fishing is reported to be very good this season, a Toronto man boasting the catch of record-sized 16-pound specimen of that variety last week. Bass are also plentiful and the occasional muskie is being pulled out.

Mr. Carver believes that the new Minden to Haliburton road and the highway through from Coboconk to Dorset are responsible for the rush of tourists into the region this year.

Indications are that partridge will be plentiful in the area when the season opens this Fall, he said.

READY TO BEGIN DIONNE HOUSE

New Brick Dwelling With Furnace, Water and Lights From Own Plant.

BOOTH ON ROADSIDE.

CALLANDER, Ont., July 30(C.P.)—A modern residence, the life long dream of every family, will be started within a few days to give comfort and convenience during the cold winter months to the Dionne quintuplets.

The new building, which will be erected on higher ground directly across the road from the old frame farmhouse, will be built of brick, heated with a furnace and supplied with water and light from a small power plant to be installed in the structure.

At a roadside nearby a booth will be constructed where Oliver Dionne, 67-year-old grandfather of the babies, will sell photographs of the famous quintuplets. The nurses' cabin will be moved across the road to the site near the new home.

No Visitors Yet

CALLANDER, Ont., July 30 (C.P.)—Dr. A. R. Dafoe, physician attending the Dionne quintuplets, today advised the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Mayfield, Ky., that it would be impossible at the present time for Mrs. Elizabeth Lyon, only living mother of quintuplets in the United States, to see the five baby girls.

He added however that at some date in the near future she would be welcome. A telegram from the chamber said if Mrs. Lyon could visit the babies, she would make the trip by aeroplane.

Motorists Injured In Sunday Accident

LINDSAY, July 30.—(Special to Examiner.)— Several people were badly injured in an automobile accident on the Hartley-Fenelon Falls road on Sunday, when a car driven by F. Fielder, of Coboconk, proceeding west crashed into a car driven by R. Crum, of Lindsay, which was proceeding to Killarney Bay. Mrs. Crum sustained a number of fractured ribs, Mrs. G. Pugh, of Lindsay, had her collar bone broken, Gordon Pugh, of Lindsay, sustaied serious bruises and Geo. Poulton, of Warren, Ohio, had several ribs broken. The Crum car turned turtle following the collision. The occupants of the Fielder car escaped unhurt.

AID WHERE NEEDED

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 30 (CP)—Some local man is going to get credit for his "liabilities." A local firm, in making a contribution to the fund to help out-of-work veterans get to the Canadian Corps Reunion at Toronto, stipulated that if the amount collected was not large enough to send everyone, the man with the largest family should receive their donation.

A HEART VICTIM

BRANTFORD, Ont., July 30 (CP) —Entering a home here, a bat got "stuck up" when it flew about the house. It landed with wings outstretched on a hanging fly-paper and there remained. Soon it fell to the floor, and when examined, was found to be dead, apparently from heart failure.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet,
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy enter the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind.

LIFFORD LINE

PREPARATION OF EGGS FOR MARKET

In these days many a poultryman has assumed the ownership of a good flock of pullets or hens that with good housing, good feeding and general care should produce a goodly quantity of high quality eggs with which he hopes to augment his financial returns.

The birds deliver the eggs in good condition with perhaps the exception of a small percentage of abnormal eggs such as those known as blood-spot, blood-clot, meat-spot, and occasionally an egg filled with blood. The hens have done their part; what is the owner going to do to safeguard his reputation in regard to egg quality, and secure a permanent good market for these eggs?

When we undertake the study of successful selling of these eggs we are really undertaking a study in psychology, or the mind behaviour of those to whom we sell. Our whole aim must be to secure a favorable reaction of the mind of the prospective customer to anything we may say of our product, and to the way we present the product. First, our effort should be to secure the favorable interest of those to whom we sell. This means that attractive appearance is the first essential in successful selling, particularly so far as food products are concerned. Then this attractive appearance must be supported by prime quality to secure repeat orders and for honesty's sake. All our eggs then must be clean, and if our birds are confined all the time to the poultry house, this just means clean floor, clean roosts, so arranged that the hens cannot walk on the dropping boards, and clean nests, with plenty of good nesting material. If we allow our hens out of the poultry house, an excellent plan, especially on wet mornings, is to throw down one good forkful of clean straw on the floor, so that the hens, after being out in the mud and returning to the house to lay, will be attracted to this something new, and scratch there for a while, cleaning their feet before going to the nest to lay.

All male birds should be removed from the flock for the summer months to ensure infertility of the eggs. The eggs should be gathered three times a day to prevent damage by heating.

The next very important step is the cooling of the eggs just as quickly as possible to ensure longer keeping. Gather the eggs in an open wicker or wire basket and place the basket on a bench in a cool basement which is free from all odors, and leave them, say, over night. Then the eggs being quite cool pack them large end up in standard egg crates with clean fillers and flats, placing the covers on the crates to prevent drafts passing over the eggs or dust settling on them. Before packing the eggs in the crates, candle them carefully for the defects mentioned above and grade them according to the Canadian Standard for eggs.

Eggs must be handled carefully, as rough handling is productive of cracked and ruptured eggs.

If you must clean eggs never wash them nor use a damp cloth, but clean them with steelwool. Washing or the use of a damp cloth, ruins the keeping quality of eggs. If the poultry house has been properly kept, the number of dirty eggs will be so small that they can be cleaned for immediate consumption at home.

For some types of marketing sorting the eggs for color is a distinct advantage in satisfying the particular fancies of individuals customers. Emphasizing the white color of white eggs, and the brown color of brown eggs, is also an advantage. A blue lining for the containers, in which white eggs are packed, will enhance the whiteness, as will pink or red paper enhance the brownness of brown eggs.

Now, you will have taken steps to put up the finest quality of eggs, that look the part, particularly if they are graded for size and uniformity. There is another important thing in catering to a select trade, and that is to guarantee the flavor of the eggs. Flavor of eggs can only be controlled with any certainty by keeping the birds confined to ensure that you know exactly what they eat and drink, thus avoiding the risk of the hens drinking from barnyard puddles or eating anything that might impart an off-flavor to the eggs.

Eggs should be marketed as frequently as possible, and put up as attractively as possible to encourage increased consumption.

CHEMONG REGATTA SET FOR AUGUST 8

Heavy List of Regattas Set for the Next Ten Days.

The next ten days will see the headline regattas of the season in the Peterborough region run off.

Bewdley will lead off with its meet on Wednesday afternoon. An excellent program has been prepared and a fine collection of prizes secured. During the past several years this regatta has drawn the largest crowds in the district.

The Gore's Landing annual regatta will feature the Saturday schedule. On the same afternoon the children's regatta at Juniper Island is to be run and a meet for children is also to be staged at Kawartha Park. All three offer excellent cards from the point of view of both the contestants and spectators.

As in other years, the Civic Holiday next Monday will see the holding of Stoney Lake's premier aquatic meet—the senior regatta at Juniper Island. Preparations have been under way for some weeks. With the population of the Stoney Lake area up to its summer maximum, a crowd of more than a thousand is expected if fair weather favours the event.

The Chemong regatta is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, August 8. The Chemong junior meet is to follow on August 15. At a meeting last week, committees for arrangements in connection with both events were appointed. J. K. Hughes is once again serving as chairman of the senior regatta executive and Dr. A. W. McPherson heads the junior regatta body.

Local Cricket Club Puts Up Fine Display in Exhibition Match.

PLAY AT OAKVILLE.

Whittaker's Cricket Club on Saturday made the long road trip to Oakville to play the latter club. This was an ambitious effort for the locals as Oakville practically represents the Halton Co. team, and a long road journey is not the best preparation for a cricket match; though defeated the local team were not at all disgraced, the final score being Whitaker's 81, Oakville 132 for 9 wickets.

Whitaker's batted first and good batting by F. Jefferson (34) and J. Hawthorne (22) carried the final score to 81, Shaw taking 5 wickets at a small cost.

The Oakville innings was featured by the splendid batting of J. Macrae, formerly of Grove School, Lakefield, who went in first, batted right through and carried his bat for 86. He batted throughout in good style and with confidence, never giving a chance and hit 12 fours. How he dominated the game is shown by the score; he got 86 out of 118 from the bat. Oakville got the winning run with 6 wickets down and on Mitchison joining Macrae, 40 runs were added and the two played out time. The bowling honors were shared by Jefferson and Wild, 4 wickets each.

Macrae scored 32 for the Grove School against Peterborough C.C. on June 3, 1933.

Chemong Sailing Club Notes

Two half-pint youngsters, Craig Summerville and Gordon Matthews, Jr., stole the show as the Peterborough Sailing and Acquatic Club continued its series of dinghy races at Chemong Lake yesterday morning. Outgeneralling four other crews in handsome fashion, they sailed over the finish line for an easy victory.

John Weddell and Ted Cragg, two other juniors, finished second with a lead of about a half minute over Ralph Clark and Ross Pulkinghorn. Ted Hiland and Joe Hiland aboard and Ab. Lord sailing with Don McPherson finished in fourth and fifth money. Due to the small turnout of seniors both seniors and juniors competed in the same contest and point awards will be worked out accordingly for the season's reckoning.

The race was three miles. A squally breese, rarely strong enough to provide real action, prevailed.

Peterborough Club Wins In Exhibition

On Saturday the local club was without a match so a game was arranged with a team of local players under the title of Dominion Woollens who had the assistance of some Peterborough bearers. The final score was P.C.C. 107, Dominion Woollens 86.

Peterborough batted first, Binks 18, Worrall 27, Honour 19 not out, being top scorers.

On the Woollens batting 5 wickets were down for 25 when Grimshaw (13) and Williams (36) took score to 66, but after that the innings was soon over for 86, Binks taking 5 wickets for 13.

It is noteworthy that on Saturday three complete Peterborough teams were in the field.

Next Saturday the locals play the Toronto C.C. at the Oval and this should be a really interesting match.

On Civic Holiday (August 6) Peterborough County play Waterloo County in Toronto in the semi-finals of the county championship.

RUNYAN CAPTURES PRO GOLF HONORS

Defeats Craig Wood After Two Extra Holes for P.G.A. Championship.

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 30. (AP) Paul Runyan, whose introduction to golf consisted of chasing balls for four bits an hour, ruled the United States professional ranks to-day.

Doing it the hard way, the 32-year-old former Arkansas caddy conquered Craig Wood, the belting beauty of Hollywood, N.J., one up in a putting duel yesterday over the Short Park course.

The 36-hole final tied the record for extra-hole finals in the 17-year-old tournament, matching the 36-hole battle of 1923, when Gene Sarazen won from Walter Hagen.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK - - By R. J. Scott

years ago. She knew then her days were numbered, but she continued to work, even to the point when her appearances before the camera had to be curtailed to short durations because of the pain she suffered.

Far more gifted than most of her contemporaries, Miss Dressler was known as one of the most brilliant conversationalists in Hollywood.

Her success on the screen is unrivalled. The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences awarded her the first prize for the best performance of the season of 1930-31. It was given her for her role "Min" in the movie "Min and Bill."

Her success brought about a new trend in the movies—the featuring and starring of the old trouper type of players in contrast to the habitual "Youth and Romance" tendency of film exploitation.

Hollywood Tradition

She became a sort of tradition. She reached such heights of public esteem that her birthday became a significant event. On her sixty-second birthday last fall, she was honored with a party at her studio, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, attended by 1,000 persons, including movie notables, the late Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California, and other officials. Her birthday cake weighed 500 pounds.

Miss Dressler's parties, her humor, her outlook of jovial youthfulness, were renowned.

She entertained in the "good old-fashioned way" rather than in the more sophisticated Hollywood manner. Noted as a good cook, she delighted in concocting unusual and delicious dishes for her guests. She loved the mountains, and one of her last parties was given for a few close friends in a mountain retreat beside a canyon stream.

Only a few months ago she said, "I really didn't begin to live until I was 50, and I honestly felt younger than I did at 25."

She described middle age as the best part of life, and expressed pity for the "middle-aged woman who feels that life is over for her, and looks and acts accordingly."

Miss Dressler was born in Cobourg, Ont., on Nov. 9, 1871. Her father was Alexander Koerberg, an officer in the Crimean War. Anne Henderson Koerberg, her mother, was a musician.

Her first public appearance was as Cupid on a pedestal at the age of 5, in a church theatrical performance.

Laughed at in Lindsay

When she was 14 she appeared in an amateur theatrical show at Lindsay, Ont., and was laughed at. The laughs angered her, and she joined a roving light opera troupe. Her first job paid $8 weekly.

Named Leila at birth, she adopted the name of an aunt, Marie Dressler, when she went on the stage.

Success followed the footsteps of the ambitious young actress. With the George Baker Opera Company she played Queen in "Bohemian Girl"; the foolish wife in "Frau Diavolo," and Barbara in "Black Robinson Crusoe." She supported Lillian Russell in "Lady Nicotine."

Miss Dressler made an outstanding hit for four years as Flo Honeydew in "Lady Slavey." As one of her Joe Weber shows she played in "Higgledy-Piggledy." She did a Romeo and Juliet burlesque with Sam Bernard and played in an all-star version of "The Rivals."

She was a friend of most of the famous men and women in politics, romance and the arts of the world. She knew all the United States Presidents since Cleveland.

Remembered Old Friends

Miss Dressler, however, never forgot the friends of her early struggle, the old troupers with whom she wandered from one cheap boarding-house to another. The actress carried on a large amount of philanthropic work, the greater part of which was unknown to the public.

She made her first motion picture in 1914, a Mack Sennett production of "Tillie's Punctured Romance." In the company with her were two young and then unknown players, Charlie Chaplin and Mabel Normand, who skyrocketed to fame because of their success in that film.

The stage, however, was Miss Dressler's first love, and she returned to it. Then came the war, during which the actress toured the country selling Liberty bonds.

The post-war period found her in desperate circumstances. She was no longer a young woman. She belonged to a past era. Managers were looking for new faces. Vainly she tried to find a job.

Enters Films

For nine years Miss Dressler did not work. Her savings practically vanished. Then it was that the films and California seemed to offer her hope.

She tried Hollywood. With the aid of her friend, Frances Marion, screen writer, she landed the part of Marthy in "Anna Christie." Success was hers.

A long-term contract followed, and she appeared in such hits as "Min and Bill," "Reducing," "Caught Short," "Tugboat Annie" and "The Late Christopher Bean."

On her birthday in 1933, Miss Dressler was honored at a mammoth birthday party. The same year saw her winning the award for the year's best feminine screen performance.

She married George Hoppert about 1900, but was widowed shortly after.

cost the province $50,000 a year and Mr. Odette is doing the job for $10,000. He is over-hauling the whole arrangement in regard to this branch.

Large Staff Unnecessary

"In connection with Hydro there were three commissioners getting $40,000, a solicitor $10,000 and a chief engineer $20,000 and that work is all being done by one man for $10,000." He went on to emphasize that in his opinion Hydro was no longer an engineering question demanding a large engineering staff. "It is now a problem of selling the power the commission has on its hands."

The subject of beer and the new Ontario hotel licensing system was brought up.

"How are things working out?" the premier asked.

"Splendidly," he replied. "I was told by the commissioner that people of the province have taken the change in a very fine way. We have had no complaints."

Mr. Hepburn was asked if something would be done to bring cheaper beer to Ontario consumers. "We are going into the question of beer prices," he stated. All that had been possible so far was the issue of authorities to the hotels. The government would later look into the possibility of a cheaper system of distribution.

"You had good results with your first financing," it was remarked to the premier in connection with the sale of $15,000,000 treasury notes at $3.58 percent.

"We are very happy about it," he replied. "It shows we are getting into an era of cheaper money."

"We will take over the entire cost of provincial highways as we promised", he added. "That will save municipalities something. As to other savings a lot depends on Mr. Bennett and his government."

On the question of more tax revenue for the separate school system, the premier stated it had not been discussed and no representations had been made.

Succeeded Dollfuss

Out of the turmoil which immediately followed the seizure of the chancellery and the capture of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss by Nazi forces, Dr Kurt Schuschnigg emerged as the temporary head of the state. This was before it was learned that Dollfuss had been slain and his exact status was unknown. Responding to the call of President Wilhelm Miklas, Dr. Schuschnigg a cabinet associate of the little dictator and close follower of his policies, became acting chancellor, but turned control of the state over to Prince Ernst von Starhemberg the vice-chancellor, when he arrived at Vienna

Trent River

Fishing has been good during the past week, two fine maskinonge were landed on Thursday by Messrs. W. M. Kramer and James Rafferty of Niles, Ohio, who have been holidaying in one of Mrs. A. Wight's cottages at 'Cedar Isle' resort. Two muskies tipped the scales at 10 and 9 pounds respectively, one was caught while trolling up the river while the other was landed down the river.

Mrs. George Van Volkenberg had a birthday anniversary Friday, July 27, the occasion being celebrated at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Van Volkenburg. A pleasant evening was spent and a dainty lunch was served to the following guests, Mr. and Mrs. George Van Volkenburg and son Earl, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davidson and Miss Leatha, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hawley and Miss Jennie Van Volkenburg (of Calgary), guest with her brother, Mr. George Van Volkenburg and family.

Mr. George Spencer and son Harold of Brighton (formerly of Trent River) brought a load of garden raspberries for sale here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Puffer have returned to Toronto after a week in camp on the Sedgwick tourist camp.

The Women's Institute meeting will be held Thursday, Agust 9th at the home of Mrs. Thos. J. Brown. Roll call, "A labor-saving device." Contest, exhibit of flowers and prize for the best bouquet. Discussion, developing neighborhood talent through the Institute.

The "Sally B" with registration at Toronto docked here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brooks, motored to Stouffville one day recently and spent over the week-end with Mr. Brooks' sister, Mrs. Harold Quibbell and family, they were accompanied by Miss Jennie Van Volkenburg (of Calgary), Mrs. Frank Davidson and Mrs. E. Hawley of West Seymour.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McQuaig and son Laurence of Toronto are spending a few days with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Robson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thomas, Mr. W. J. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cawkell and son Bernard of Toronto are holidaying at Riverside cottages.

The proposition of purchasing fire protection for Trent River has been cancelled for the present time. Mr. John Ruttan was instrumental in securing a number of names for promised donations towards the cause but the majority not favoring the proposition, plans fell through.

Mr. Percy Tyler has returned home from Burleigh Falls road construction camp where he has spent the past few months.

Mr. Walter Alexander of Toronto is holidaying at the summer home of his grandmother, Mrs. James Wright at "Windmere."

ELGIN CONDUCTS ANNUAL PARTY

Over 300 Attend Social Near Hastings at Richardson Home.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM.

HASTINGS, July 30 (Examiner Correspondence).—Two miles from Hastings village, at the farm residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson of the Norwood road, over three hundred people attended the annual garden party held under the auspices of the Elgin Sunday School.

Evidence of the reputation the ladies have established for serving a most bountiful supper was furnished by the fact that carloads came from Norwood, Peterborough, Warsaw, Campbellford, Hastings and the surrounding country. The proceeds of the evening amounted to $71.35, which will greatly assist in the Sunday School work.

During the serving of supper, a nearby field was utilized for a friendly game of softball between the Tannery boys of Hastings and Elgin, resulting in a score, 25-12, in favor of the Tannery. The line-line-ups:

Tannery.—G. Scriver, Hahn, C. Scriver, Hogan, Lemoire, Stickles, Herrington, Turcotte, C. Scriver and Brownlee.

Elgin.—Ray Scott, Roy Scott, Max Scott, T. Fleming, F. O'Grady, J. Stinson, G. Richardson, John Richardson and Roy Richardson.

Mr. Henry Thistlewaite was chairman for the program; the verandah being used for its presentation. The opening selection was "The Old Spinning Wheel," with an encore, "Just a Home in Wyoming" by the seven-piece Norwood orchestra, with the following contributing: Miss Eleanor Marks and Messrs. Arthur Hamblin, Earl Hamblin, Melvin Ennis, Fred Innis, and John Knox.

Master Walter Buck brought forth much applause with a solo, "A Letter From Brother Ned," and an encore, "What's the Matter With Father."

Miss Florence Scott and Miss Thelma Clelland, accompanied by Miss Angeline Scott on the piano, rendered a pleasing duet, "Memories." J. Montgomery and Clifford Scriver sang "My Home on the Range," with their own accompaniment on guitar and banjo.

"Caleb's Courtship," a humorous reading by Miss Georgina Beavis of Norwood, caused much laughter. Hastings Orchestra, with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Scriver and W. W. Knight assisting, proved most delightful.

Master Albert Thistlewaite, one of the younger boys, recited "Courting in Elgin," which was followed by "Come Back, Nanny," by Mr. Philip Kingsley.

Miss Laura Metcalfe, in her usual talented manner, gave a humorous reading, "Ask Mamma." Immediately after the closing selection by the Norwood Orchestra, Mr. Thistlewaite, superintendent of the school, thanked all present for their attendance, and Mr. Russel Buck, on behalf of the Sunday school, moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Richardson for their hospitality, and to all who had taken part in the program.

Obituary

WILLIAM BRAM SHERWIN

HASTINGS, July 30 (Examiner Correspondence)—Death removed another very prominent local citizen on Saturday in William Bram Sherwin, in his seventy-sixth year.

The late Mr. Sherwin was born in the Township of Haldimand near Fenella on May 1st, 1859, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Sherwin pioneer settlers of that township. Fifty-five years ago he came to Hastings where he made a multitude of friends by his kindly unassuming manner. Before his health commenced to fail him Mr. Sherwin was a noted horseman.

There are left to mourn his loss a brother and a sister, Joseph Sherwin of Hastings and Mrs. W. Huffman of Orillia. He was predeceased by his wife four years ago.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon with services at the family residence at two o'clock.

Interment will be made in Trent Valley cemetery.

JOHN HAWKINS.

KEENE, July 30—(Examiner Correspondence).—The death of John Hawkins occurred early Sunday morning, after a short illness at his home in Otonabee. The deceased was 84 years of age and had resided in Otonabee the last 26 years. His wife predeceased him within the last six months. He leaves to mourn his loss three sons and two daughters: Albert of Springfield, Missouri; Frank of Dur ant, Oklahoma; Fred at home; Mrs F. E. Walshim of Los Angeles; and Mrs. Beryl Fletcher at home.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at two p.m. from the family residence to Little Lake Cemetery, the Rev. J. . S. Ferguson of Keene United Church officiating.

Miss Nellie Webb Institute Guest

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30.—The regular meeting of the Rylstone Women's Institute will be held on August 1, at the home of Mrs. Charles Stewart, and will be featured by an address by Miss Nellie Webb, of Bonarlaw. There will also be an exhibit of cut flowers, the program committee for this meeting comprising Miss Della Mumby, Miss Vera Finch, and Miss Vivian Meiklejohn.

East Emily Couple Honored At Party

EAST EMILY, July 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Tom Laidley, a recent popular bride and groom, were entertained at a miscellaneous shower by their neighbours and friends on Friday night. The happy event was held in the Bingo Hall, second line, Emily. About 100 guests gathered for the party and the evening was pleasantly spent in dancing and music. An orchestra composed of Messrs. E. Powell, B. Byam, and P. Ballantyne, supplied excellent music for round and square dancing. At twelve o'clock a sumptuous lunch was served by assistants Mesdames H. Dick, J. McGee and Misses Gladys Smith, Margaret Wyllie, Lorraine Best and Messrs. Jack Sanderson, Don Hayes, Norman McQuade, H. Dick. Mr. and Mrs. Laidley served the guests with wedding cake.

The young couple received many beautiful gifts, along with an address read by Jack Sanderson and on behalf of himself and his wife Mr. Laidley thanked their many friends for their presents and good wishes. The company then joined in singing "For hey are jolly good fellows?" thus bringing to a close a happy and long-to-be-remembered event.

Today—

Short News Items Received By Examiner Over Direct C. P. Wire.

GERMANY.—Since all the Jews have left town, it was decided to-day to transform the synagogue into a museum.

OTTAWA.—Birth control as one remedy to alleviate destitution was suggested by Dr. G. M. Geldert, Ottawa controller, to the Board of Control here last night. The Board was hearing a case of a man and wife who had 11 children. The family had been on relief. Four of the children had suffered various forms of ill-health at the same time.

LONDON, Eng. — The Prince of Wales will leave London to-morrow by air for Biarritz. He has rented a villa there and will remain for about a month.

DARMSTADT, Germany—A Jewish merchant, Enoch Frankfurter, was sentenced to seven months in jail to-day for saying the anti-Semetic boycott had ruined his business. "Jews," commented the judge, "ought to be grateful for being still so well treated."

MACKAYVILLE, Que.—Awakened by the roar of flames early to-day, Mrs. James R. Johnstone roused her husband and five children in time to escape from their blazing home in Grand Boulevard. The two-storey house with a garage and two hothouses were destroyed before the flames could be quenched. Property damage amounted to $25,000, but no one was injured.

BRUSSELS.—The King and Queen of the Belgians took off to-day by aeroplane for Sweden. Queen Astrid was a Princess of Sweden before her marriage.

KINGSTON, Ont.—Announcement was made to-day that of the 16 convicts of Kingston penitentiary who tried the entrance examinations, 17 have been successful.

LOS ANGELES. — Charged with holding her eight-year old daughter's arm over a gas flame "to make her a good girl," Mrs. Consuelo Acciedo to-day began serving a jail sentence of 180 days for battery. "If you are ever in my court again on a charge like this," said Judge Joseph L. Call, "I'll send you to San Quentin penitentiary."

RENO, Nevada.—Christian Arthur Wellesley, fourth Earl of Cowley, and his second wife are the parents of a son, born yesterday. Shortly after he was divorced from the former Miss Pickard, English actress, a year ago last June, Lord Cowley married Mrs. Elsie May Hines, young Reno divorcee and former hat check girl at a night club here.

DETROIT.—One death was recorded to-day among the employees of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, taken to a hospital here as the result of a typhoid fever epidemic. The victim was Sylvestor Bussaro, a property man.

Forty-four of the patients were reported by the Detroit Board of Health to have developed typhoid symptoms.

TORONTO.—Diseases of the heart were the principal causes of death in Toronto during July, according to the report released to-day by Dr. Gordon P. Jackson, Medical Officer of Health. Cancer was second, being responsible for 69 deaths.

NEW YORK.— Lou Gehrig polled out his 31st and 32nd home runs to-day as New York Yankees swamped Boston Red Sox 11-2 in the opening game of a double-header.

CHICAGO.—Samuel Insull professed today to be ready to make "full and frank disclosure" of all the details of his business operations and asked the United States district court to grant him a trial separate from the 16 others accused of mail frauds in the marketing of Corporation Securities Company stock.

HAMILTON.— Five Binbrook township farmers have been reimbursed to the extent of $240 by the township due to the loss of sheep by dogs. Orland Laidman received $150 for 12 sheep killed and 19 injured; W. Powell $34 for four sheep killed and six injured; Albert Kuch $35 for two killed and six injured and Elmer Fletcher and George Bland $10 each.

GUARDS SPEEDING TO AID FARMER, KILL ONE, HURT 4

MINNEAPOLIS, July 31.—(A.P.)—One man was killed and four others were injured to-day when a National Guard squad car, running through a traffic signal to where strike pickets were reported dumping a farmer's truck, crashed into a small sedan.

Three troopers were hurt. Carl Wallin, driver of the sedan, was killed and his companion, not immediately identified, was rushed to a hospital with a possible skull fracture and internal injuries.

Gov. Floyd B. Olson, unaware of the accident, issued a statement saying the truck drivers' strike, which prompted him to place the city under military rule, represents "the struggle between recovery and the chiselers."

TWO DOLLFUSS ASSASSINS DIE UPON GALLOWS

Military Court Denies Defense Counsel's Plea For Clemency.

GUILTY, HIGH TREASON.

"I Die for Germany! Heil Hitler," Shout Prisoners With Last Breath.

(Copyright, 1934 by the Associated Press)

VIENNA, July 31.—(AP)—Two Nazis accused of high treason in the killing Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss were hanged this afternoon, after they had been convicted by a court martial.

The two men—Otto Planetta, former soldier and Franz Holzweber—were hanged after a plea of their counsel for clemency was rejected.

Planetta was accused of firing the fatal shot and Holzweber of leading the Nazi putsch into the federal chancellery last Wednesday.

A few minutes after the two Nazis died, at approximately the same hour that Dollfuss died last Wednesday, the Austrian hangman strode out of the gloomy courtyard where the gallows stand and where he had done his work.

He chatted a few minutes with jailers and policemen. With his handkerchief, he wiped the back of his neck.

Then he marched out with a platoon of steelhelmeted soldiers, armed with rifles and fixed bayonets.

After them came Provincial Court Councillor Kreushuber, the civil judge who participated in the courtmartial and who, under Austrian law, was compelled to witness the hanging. He saluted the police standing in the forecourt, then hurried upstairs toward his chambers.

There was a pause.

CLAIM MARIE'S SISTER LIVING

Corresponds With Her Regularly in Surrey, England, Says Toronto Cousin.

MOVED 25 YEARS AGO.

TORONTO, July 31 (C.P.)—A sister of Marie Dressler, "the grand old trouper" of stage and screen who died Saturday at her Santa Barbara, Calif., home, still lives in England, Mrs. R. S. Powell, a second cousin of Miss Dressler, said to-day.

"I was surprised to learn it was not generally known Marie had a sister living," said Mrs. Powell. "The sister is Mrs. Richard Ganthony of Richmond, Surrey, England, who before her marriage was Bonita Koeber.

"I am sure they have corresponded regularly, for we heard from Bonita only four or five weeks ago and quite frequently she used to mention Marie."

Marie's mother, said Mrs. Powell, whose maiden name was Irene Anderson Marsh, was the sister of Mrs. Powell's grandfather, "and Marie was my mother's first cousin."

"It has been some time since I corresponded with Marie," said Mrs. Powell. "I used to keep in touch with her some years ago, but I left the city and later was ill for a while and the correspondence dropped off, although once Marie told me, 'as long as I live I must not lose track of you.'"

Bonita, said Mrs. Powell, has lived in England for many years. She went there when young and married Richard Ganthony. About 26 years ago, said Mrs. Powell, Bonita herself wrote the play, "A Trip to Mars," which had a successful run, appearing both in England and America.

"Bonita," said Mrs. Powell, "was always known as the 'pretty sister.' While Marie always styled herself the 'ugly duckling.' Sometime after Bonita married she wrote my mother when I was born, regretting she had no children herself and saying all she had was a 'pug dog.'"

Mail Must Go

WINDSOR, N.S., July 31 (CP)—Nothing must delay His Majesty's mails, even the mere fact of a truck being unlicensed, claims William Hennessey, who appeared in court yesterday charged with operating a motor truck without license plates.

Hennessey said his horse ran away before he could deliver the mail on a rural route and he was forced to press his truck into service to complete his deliveries on schedule. Trial will be continued Thursday.

SAFETY RULES FOR BLASTING RECOMMENDED

Government Instructor For Blasting Operations Suggested.

INQUEST CONCLUDED.

Federal Inspector is One of Witnesses Called by Coroner.

LAKEFIELD, July 31.—(By Staff Reporter).—Edward Tait, of Watford, "powder man" at No. 1 camp on the Burleigh-Apsley road, who was fatally injured while blasting rock on the highway, Thursday afternoon, July 19, met his death through a premature explosion of dynamite, the coroner's jury found last night.

Under foremanship of Allan H. Clark, the jury added a rider to their verdict containing recommendations "that the Department of Northern Development employ an instructor to draft safety regulations with supervision over all blasting operations; and further, that the various camps be linked by telephone for quick communication in case of emergency."

Federal Inspector Testifies.

Evidence relative to the fatality was given at the adjourned proceedings held under Coroner Dr. J. C. Smith by Patrick Flynn, 25, of Pontypool, who had been assisting the victim of the accident and who was himself so badly injured that he was able to leave hospital for the first time yesterday; by Charles F. Szammers, division engineer on road construction, with headquarters at Bancroft; by John A. Stewart, of Toronto, foreman at camp No. 1; by E. W. Bailey, superintendent, Canada Cement Company, who is experienced in the handling of explosives; and by Lieut.-Colonel Gordon Ogilvie, chief inspector of explosives, Federal Department of Mines, who was called upon at request of the provincial authorities.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., acting crown attorney, permitted Flynn to be seated during his examination and otherwise showed his solicitude for the youth by advising him to wear the eye-shields he had discarded before entering the court room. The youth's eyes were injured as a result of the blast, and besides being handicapped by impaired vision, he complained of severe pains in his head. Following the inquest, he was returned to hospital by Provincial Constable David Silvester, where he will probably remain for some days longer.

"Springing" Holes.

Mr. Tait was engaged in "springing" holes that had been drilled into the rock, witness testified. Dynamite was placed in the holes. The first hole had been packed with sand, and witness was about to place sand into the second hole when the blast occurred.

Because the tamping stick had pierced Tait's body, witness concluded that Tait must have been in the act of tamping the second hole when the explosion took place.

Crown attorney — What do you think caused the second hole to explode?

Witness—I have no idea whatever.

Flynn said that while Tait was INITIATION?

KANSAS CITY, July 31 (CP) — Billy Diabo has made his father proud of him by falling three storeys and suffering only a few bruises.

His father, John Diabo, a riveter who once fell off a New York skyscraper and lived to tell the story, regarded his son's fall as a sort of family initiation.

SHIELDS FALLS TO FRED PERRY HARD STRUGGLE

Fourth Match Victory Clinches Series for Defending English Team.

A BITTER BATTLE.

Great Britain's Seventh Win in 25 Years of Davis Cup Competition.

WIMBLEDON, July 31. — (AP) — Great Britain today retained the Davis Cup, historic international tennis trophy, as Fred Perry, ace of the British forces, defeated Frank X. Shields, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 15-13 in a desperately fought fourth match to clinch the series with three victories.

One more match remains to be played between Sidney B. Wood, Jr., and Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin but the outcome can have no bearing on the five match series.

Perry won out in one of the longest and most bitterly fought sets of cup play, the fourth, to register Great Britain's seventh victory in the more than 25 years of Davis Cup competition.

They won the cup from France last year, halting a tri-color reign that had extended since 1927 when the United States lost the cup to France.

Players Near Exhaustion

Both players were near exhaustion at the end as they alternated in breaking each other's service and then holding their own. Perry had started serving first, when he won his service at love in the 27th game it gave him advantage and he broke through Shields as a long deuced game for game, set, 15-13 match and cup.

It was the longest set ever played in the challenge round. The longest was the 17-15 first set Maurice McLoughlin won from Norman Brookes, of Australia, in the challenge round of 1914 between the United States and Australia.

Perry had match point no less than three times in the last game

FRAU DOLLFUSS BACK IN ITALY

Explains to Wondering Children Their Father is on a Long, Long Journey.

ASKS THEIR PRAYERS.

RICCIONE, Italy, July 31. —(A.P.). — Frau Dollfuss, widow of the assassinated Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria returned to her two children to-day, clad in full mourning.

Donna Rachele Mussolini, wife of the Premier of Italy, brought Rudolf, nine, and Eva, 10, to the railroad station to meet their returning mother.

Frau Dollfuss wept bitterly and embraced the two sober-eyed children. Then she embraced Signora Mussolini and thanked her with great emotion for having cared for the two children during the days of tragedy since their father was shot down July 25 in the Chancellery in Vienna.

Rudolf and Eva reflected their mother's grief. Asked her why she was crying.

They went with her and Signora Mussolini, accompanied by a group of high local officials, to the Dollfuss' private villa of Santangelo.

Immediately after arriving there, the mother undertook the pitiful task of explaining to the children why their father did not come back with her. She told them he had gone on a long, long journey and that they could not see him for a very long time.

She told them they must pray devoutly for him during that journey and that they must remember his gallant figure always. They sobbed a little, and she sent them on to their nursery. She herself, retired to her own apartment to pray.

Officials said it was probable that Premier Mussolini would come here to-night to talk with Frau Dollfuss.

A Relic

MARMORA, July 31 (Examiner Correspondence) — While digging a post hole on Main street recently, Robert Phillips came across an old iron chisel on which was inscribed on both sides M.I.W. signifying that it had been the property of the Marmora Iron Works. The chisel is apparently over a century old and it is understood the second of its kind to be unearthed by local residents.

'PROMISED LAND' IS DISCOVERED IN NEW GUINEA

5,000 Square Mile Area is Inhabited by 200,000 Natives of Unknown Tribes.

WALLED BY MOUNTAINS.

Once Inhabited by Civilized Race—Occupants Expert Gardeners.

NEW YORK, July 31.—(CP)— A special cable to the New York Times from London today says a "promised land" of grassy, fertile country inhabited by 200,000 natives of unknown tribes has just been discovered by Australian government officers in the unexplored central part of New Guinea.

Shut off from the outer world by towering mountain ranges, the natives have been "lost" for centuries, yet they have evolved a civilization all their own. Details of the discovery have been brought to London by E. W. P. Chinnery, Australian government anthropologist, and they will be described during the week to the International Congress of Anthropological and Ethnological Sciences, which was opened by Prince George Monday.

The finding of the unknown region and its lost tribes fills another blank spot of 5,000 square miles on the maps of the world and confronts scientists with many mysteries.

Signs of Civilization

"There is little doubt that some civilized race lived in these uplands centuries ago and passed on," said Mr. Chinnery. "We found stone mortars such as the ancient Egyptians used for crushing grain, but the present-day natives did not know how to use them. We found the natives using ornamented clay whistles unlike anything ever seen in New Guinea, but strangely similar to those found in South Africa.

"They have a complete knowledge of gardening, although in all the rest of New Guinea—eight times the size of England—tilling of the soil is almost unknown. Their gardens are laid out in symmetrical checkerboard patterns and they are able to grow sweet potatoes, sugar cane, bananas and beans for food.

Sturdy Race

"Physically they are fine, healthy blacks, not unlike their neighbors in other parts of the island, but much stronger and sturdier."

The story of the discovery, as told by Mr. Chinnery, is almost as strange as the opening episodes of Samuel Butler's "Erewhon" or H. G. Wells' fantastic story "The Country of the Blind."

The newly found land lies in the Southern part of the former German colony of New Guinea, now under Australian mandate. The Bismarck Mountains lie to the north, shutting off approach from the Pacific. Another range — so recently

Report Smith Lost in Gulf

NEW CARLISLE, Que., July 31. —(C.P.)—A report received here by wireless to-day was that John Smith, Peterborough, Ont., canoeist, who attempted to paddle to Newfoundland, had been drowned.

Word was the vessel Cape Gaspe had picked up Smith's body about 100 miles out in the Gulf, but that the canoe was not found. Belief here was that Smith had perished from exposure.

H. G. Wells has just corrected the last proofs of his "Experiment in Autobiography," which will be published shortly in London.

Baby of 10 Months in Hunger Parade

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris hitch-hiked from Peterboro' Sunday with their two children, Thelma, 10 years; and Violet, 10 months, to take part in the hunger parade demonstration. They joined the Scarboro-East York group which proceeded to Riverdale Park, early yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Harris are shown above with their two children and a sign reading: "Peterboro feeds its children on 25c per week per child."

MOTHER LOOKS DAILY FOR WORD OF JOHN SMITH

Ten Days Have Passed Since Daring Sailor Left Gaspe Coast.

270-MILE PADDLE.

Seaman Glimpsed Him Six Hours Out Battling Waves.

While Old Salts in their fishing craft along the coast of Newfoundland keep a watch for John Smith with ominous shakes of their heads, Mrs. Theresa Smith, his widowed mother, waits stoically in her modest little home on Benson avenue for word of the success or failure of the daring young man's 270-mile paddle across the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Ten days have passed since he pushed his red canoe, "Pride of Peterborough," out into the bleak, wind-swept wastes of the Gulf heading from Gaspe to the nearest point in Newfoundland, Cape Ray, 270 miles away as the crow flies. Seamen glimpsed him as the sun was setting in the evening six hours after his departure. He was battling heavy winds and high waves thirty miles out, striving desperately to keep the flimsy canvas-covered craft afloat until the wind should blow itself out. He has not been seen since, but his mother is clinging tenaciously to her hope.

Food For Ten Days

What has become of John Smith? Was the final chapter to his amazing venture written that night after darkness fell over the swirling waters? Or is the staunch paddler still struggling toward his goal, despite the fact that he has been unreported by any of the vessels which have passed through that area? It is believed that he had enough food in the canoe to last about ten days if rationed sparingly. He would not be faced with thirst, for the water in the Gulf is fresh water.

But he did not carry a compass or any equipment for finding his direction. He counted on navigating over the broad reaches aided only by the sun and stars in rock-

Who Pays?

DOVER, Ont., July 31. (CP). Who pays for a cow slain by a golf ball—the player who hit the ball, or the club to which he belongs. This point arose when W. J. Robinson, professional of St. Margaret's Bay club, drove off from the last tee and hit and killed a cow 100 yards away. Nothing has been done about the accident yet, but members are still wondering, for the club rents the land from the farmer whose cow was killed.

MARIE DRESSLER BORNE TO GRAVE

Only Intimate Friends Attend —Morbid, Souvenir Seekers, Public Barred.

MOVIE STUDIOS MOURN.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 31 (A.P.)—The curious, morbid souvenir seekers and the general public will be barred to-day as grief-stricken friends and associates carry Marie Dressler to the grave.

Remembering the unfortunate scenes which have attended the last rites for some of the film colony's great stars—Rudolph Valentino, Barbara La Marr and Lilyan Tashman—officials of M.G.M. studio, where the comedienne made her famed pictures, announced that about 100 persons would attend the services.

The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock in the Wee Kirk O' the Heather, a picturesque chapel set among the green carpeted hills of Forest Lawn Memorial Park in suburban Glendale.

Most of those attending the services will be intimate friends of the grand old trouper from Cobourg, Ont. This was in accordance with the wishes of the star's three closest friends, Frances Marion, the scenarist who wrote the stories of her pictures, and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Walker, of Santa Barbara, at whose estate the actress died last Saturday afternoon at the end of a three-year illness.

In token of respect to the actress every activity at MGM will cease during the funeral.

$1 Gun License To Be Abolished

TORONTO, July 31. —(CP)— H. C. Nixon, Ontario Provincial Secretary and Minister of Game and Fisheries, today intimated the $1 sporting gun license is likely to be abolished. Mr. Nixon, who has fought constantly in the Legislature against this license, classed it as "another nuisance tax." Revenue from the tax is estimated at about $5,000.

HITLER SENDS OUT EMERGENCY CALL TO CABINET

Report Alarms French Government—"Means Difficult Situation."

SEE HITLER PRESIDENT.

Barthou Warns Yugoslavia to Keep Out of Austrian Affair.

BERLIN, July 31.—(C.P.-Havas)—An unconfirmed report of the death of President Paul Von Hindenburg was current here today. No official confirmation could be obtained.

BERLIN, July 31.—(C. P.-Havas) — Chancellor Hitler called an emergency meeting of the cabinet today due to alarming reports concerning the health of President Paul Von Hindenburg.

PARIS, July 31.—(AP)—The illness of President Paul Von Hindenburg today alarmed the French government, on the behalf of which a spokesman said that his death would create "a very difficult situation."

Officials said they assumed Chancellor Hitler, in the event of Von Hindenburg's death, would seek the presidency, thereby giving himself a free rein in Germany in connection with the Austrian situation and Italy. Regarding the latter nation's lone-handed military activity on the Austrian border, Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, is understood to have serviced notice to Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Rumania to "keep hands off. Leave decisions to the big powers."

Italian Unalarmed

ROME, July 31 (A.P.)—A government spokesman said to-day that Italy was not perturbed by a statement from Belgrade that if Italy intervened in Austria, Yugoslavia would do the same.

The spokesman said it had not been Italy's idea that she should play a lone hand in the Austrian situation and that she would in fact, prefer united action. He said that her only interest is to protect the independence of Austria and that if other nations join in helping her toward this end, so much the better.

The same spokesman said a report that Premier Mussolini had telephoned Chancellor Hitler, warning him to cease Nazi activity in Austria, was not true.

The government, he said, now views the Austrian situation with complete calm but constant watchfulness.

LACK OF RAIN HURTING CROPS

Fall Wheat Yield in Western Ontario Reported Low—Fine Sample.

DRY IN NORTH.

TORONTO, July 31. (CP).—Latest survey by the Department of Agriculture indicate crops throughout Ontario are suffering seriously from lack of rain, and grain, root and pasture yield prospects do not appear as encouraging as previously anticipated.

In Western Ontario fields crops are described in "rather hazardous condition" in some sections while in others reports show alfalfa, clover, hay and fall wheat all pretty well cut.

Older fruit trees have been seriously handicapped by the past winter and crops of from 30 to 35 percent are predicted.

Harvesting is well underway in the southern section of the province, says the report, and considerable acreage of oats have been cut. Spring grain cutting has been almost completed in some parts but fall wheat yield per acre is low in most places, though of "splendid sample."

Similar conditions exist in Central and Eastern Ontario, while in the north pastures are suffering seriously from lack of moisture.

President Hindenburg Feared Near Death

ADOLF HITLER CANCELS PLANS RUSHES HOME

Nazi Storm Troop Leader Announces Cohorts Return to Duty Wednesday.

DOLLFUSS SLAYER TO DIE.

Immediate Execution Ordered For Assassin and Leader of Raiding Party.

FREYSTADT, Germany, July 31.—(AP)—The condition of Paul Von Hindenburg, 86-year-old president of Germany, grew suddenly worse today. Physicians said they feared he would die.

Members of his family were called to the bedside.

Von Hindenburg is at his summer estate at Neudeck, near here. He was reported yesterday to be suffering from an old disorder of the prostate gland.

An official communique said that during recent days a slight bodily infirmity had been noticeable but that the president had recovered from this sufficiently to attend to business yesterday.

During the night, however, the communique added, his condition suddenly grew worse.

"In view of the advanced age of the field marshal, serious apprehension is well founded," the statement said.

"Physicians in charge are all present at Neudeck. A continuous bulletin service will be maintained."

BAYREUTH, Germany, July 31.—(AP)—When Chancellor Hitler was informed today of the grave illness of President Von Hindenburg he immediately prepared to return to Berlin.

BERLIN, July 31. —(AP)— One high foreign official said today President Von Hindenburg's condition was so serious that "For all we know he may be dead already."

Troopers On Duty

MUNICH, July 31.—(A P)—After a conference with Chancellor Hitler, Viktor Lutze, Chief of Staff of the Nazi Storm Troops, announced today that his storm troopers will return tomorrow to duty after a month's holiday.

It was in the "blood purge" of June 30 that Capt. Ernst Roehm, then chief of staff, together with a number of minor storm troop leaders met death under the accusation of being a traitor just as the vacation, now closing, began. For the last month, the storm troopers, who are permitted to wear brown uniforms, have been strikingly missing from the streets.

Doomed to Hang

VIENNA, July 31 (C.P.-Havas)—Otto Planetta and Frans Holsweber were sentenced to death by a court martial for the assassination of Chancellor Engelburt Dollfuss.

The two Nazis were found guilty of high treason and sentenced to hang.

Planetta, a former army sergeant, was charged with the actual slaying of Dollfuss. Holsweber was accused of leading the party that stormed the chancellor and imprisoned Dollfuss and other cabinet ministers.

Before sentence was passed Planetta declared:

"I am no cowardly murderer. But what I did, I did out of love for my country. I did not mean to kill the chancellor. I am sorry."

Unless President Wilhelm Miklas pardons them, the two Nazis must hang within three hours of the

BIRDS CUT POWER

GALT, Ont., July 31 (CP)—Odd incidents kept Hydro workmen busy here. Two sparrows, resting on a wire carrying 13,200 volts, were burnt to a crisp, causing a short circuit and cutting off power all over the city. A rifle marksman missed his mark and ripped a wire in two, shutting off power in a lime kiln. The kiln quarry was flooded before power could be secured to pump it dry.

An Odd Catch

BELLEVILLE, Ont., July 31. (CP).—Fisherman's luck played a queer prank on R. Hartley. Casting with a pig bait, he hooked a fighter. After battling with it for some time, he went to use his landing net and discovered he had hooked a full-grown muskrat through the back of the neck. Rather dolefully, he managed to release his "big fish," which scampered away, little hurt.

AUSTRIAN NAZIS BEATEN AT WAR TURN TO BOMBS

Many Flee to Yugoslavia—Fey Says Rintelen, Dollfuss' Choice as Chancellor.

By WADE WERNER
(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)

VIENNA, July 31.—New bombing outrages harassed Austria's Fascist government to-day as it moved toward stern punishment of revolutionary Nazis.

Their revolt all but stamped out, Nazis are replacing bullets with bombs in a renewed campaign of terror. Explosions were reported in the provinces and in Vienna.

Two of their number, after trial for treason in connection with the slaying of Chancellor Dollfuss, were sentenced to death. The first decree of the new government headed by Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg aims a heavy blow at Nazis.

It orders them placed in concentration camps at hard labor, their property to be confiscated. The measure is more drastic than any used by Dollfuss in crushing Socialists last winter and spring. Many are fleeing into Yugoslavia.

The government sought to strengthen its forces by naming Prince Ernst Von Starhemberg, present Vice Chancellor and leader of the Fascist Home Guard, leader of the Fatherland front, in succession to Dollfuss.

Prince Albert City Back In Running

SASKATOON, July 31—(C. P.)—Displaying the power that carried them through to the Dominion Finals last year, Prince Albert City Reds were back in the running today for Dominion Soccer honors. The Saskatchewan champions defeated New Westminster Royals 2-0 last night to even the count in their two-out-of-three game interprovincial playdown series. The third game will be played here tonight.

Fielding five of the players that carried them through to the finale with Toronto Scottish, the Red Shirts took a one-goal lead in the first half and scored with a penalty kick in the dying minutes of the last half to tie up the series.

CANADIAN COAL FOR U. S.

OTTAWA. — Possibility of increased export of Canadian coal and coke to the United States was seen here to-day as a result of the recently enacted Trade Agreements Act of the United States Congress. This legislation has repealed the countervailing duties on both anthracite and bituminous coal and also on coke. These now enter the United States free, a fact which may restore to Canadian producers a market that 12 years ago had a volume of 1,000,000 tons annually.

MARCHERS PLAN TO SEE HEPBURN ON WEDNESDAY

Ready to Fight for Demands —Paint to State Where All Working.

"VICTORY FOR SOVIETS."

Police Watch as Toronto Rally of 2,000 Paraders Held Without Incident.

TORONTO, July 31.—(C.P.). — Two thousand hunger marchers from various Ontario centres today prepared for their return to Queen's Park Wednesday to request higher relief grants from the government and place other grievances before Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn.

The hunger marchers, men, women and children, one an infant in an carriage, paraded into Toronto yesterday and gathered at Queen's Park.

Although a slight clash with police occurred at New Toronto, the hunger marchers were orderly during their meetings here when speakers demanded unemployment insurance, cash relief and establishment of trade and diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia.

Leaders of the marchers declared they intended "to fight and force enactment of these demands if they are not recognized by the demagogic Liberal Government and its demagogue leader, Hepburn."

Although Acting Premier H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary, expressed his willingness to meet representatives of the marchers if requested the men failed to seek an audience and made arrangements to meet government officials on Wednesday.

Police watched the route of the marchers and were present at the meetings but no untoward incident occurred.

Wednesday night at eight o'clock leaders announced, a mass meeting would climax the hunger march to Toronto. At the meeting the delegaton which will interview the Premier earlier in the day will make its report.

Chose 10 Speakers

It was announced that 10 elected speakers, described as "a mass delegation," would interview Premier Hepburn and Hon. David A. Croll, Minister of Welfare. They will be accompanied by 200 "listeners" who would hear the discussions.

At the meetings yesterday Alderman Reginald Morris of Windsor brought meetings from the workers in his section of the province and Becky Buhay, wife of Tom Ewan, Communist prisoner at Kingston, heralded the "victory of the Soviet Union of Canada."

Sam Scarlett, vice-president of the Workers' Unity League, said Mr. Hepburn would have his attention directed to "real relief steps by the example of the state where the workers owned the tools and whose methods workers of Canada could follow by taking the idle factories, the starving cattle, the rusting machinery, in the erection of the Soviet state of Canada."

Fred Collins, leader of the marchers, declared the workers of Ontario wanted their demands fulfilled and "they will fight and force enactment of those demands if they are not realised." He asked for $5 relief for every person over 16 years of age."

Urge Canada Drop Imperialistic Lines

WINNIPEG, July 31 (C.P.) — A plea for Canadian independence and leadership in national affairs was made before the annual convention of the Native Sons of Canada here to-day. Canada should cease looking to Britain for leadership in dealing with Canada's own affairs, G. J. Smith, Hamilton, National president, told delegates.

"We must get away from imperialism," Mr. Smith said in making his official report to the organization's national council. "Canada has too long been dominated by Imperialistic tendencies and teachings. "As long as Canadians think along imperialistic lines just that long will it take Canada to assert herself as a nation, and just that long will it take before other nations hold Canada in the esteem fitting to her sovereign state."

PREDICTS LIVING STANDARD DROP

Economist Fears Outcome if Roosevelt Policies Made Permanent.

FARMERS BENEFITTED.

ORILLIA, Ont., July 31. — (C.P.). —A lower staidard of living in the United States was seen to-day by Maxwell S. Stewart, economist of the foreign policy association of New York, if the "restrictions policies" of the Roosevelt Government are made permanent. Mr. Stewart addressed the Lake Couchiching conference of the Canadian Institute of Economics and politics.

He declared international planning was the only fundamental solution of the agricultural problem in the United States.

"The restriction policies of the Roosevelt administration, while defensible on grounds of emergency, have only served to shift the burden of depression from the rural to the urban population," he declared, "and, if made permanent as Secretary Wallace has said they must be, will of necessity lead to a lower standard of living for the United States.

"A reduction in the tariff would be of great assistance to farm and city peoples alike but is very unlikely to occur in face of the intrenched power of vested interests."

Mr. Stewart indicated the new deal had probably helped the farmer more than any other important group in the population although it had fallen far short of the people's hopes and expectations. Agricultural purchasing power had increased approximately 20 per cent. since March 1933 but remanded 35 per cent under the 1900-14 parity.

POLICE RECOMMEND CLOSING OF BEER PARLOR IN MINDEN

Presence of Road Camps in Vicinity Given as Reason for Action.

DRIVER IS ARRESTED

LINDSAY, July 30.—As a result of investigations conducted by Provincial Constable Nelson in the village of Minden, he has recommended the closing of the beer parlor which was opened there last week. No complaints were registered against the proprietor, but the presence of road camps in the vicinity, housing some five hundred workers, made the situation a dangerous one. There was trouble in the village last week, when a gang of noisy workers endeavored to run things. It is believed the beer parlor will be closed until the camps are moved away.

As a result of boisterous conditions existing in Lindsay Saturday night both beer parlors closed more than an hour before the scheduled closing time. The crowds of thirsty ones who were anxious to satisfy their appetites were so large that it was found impossible to serve all.

Today's driving needs today's tire—"G3"

● Cars flashing from a standing start up to forty or fifty miles an hour . . . then SUDDENLY pulling up to a dead STOP . . . off like a shot again . . . around curves . . . in and out of tangled traffic . . . responsive always to the surging power of modern motors and the strength of modern brakes!

Think what punishment all that means for tires—tires on the new smaller wheels which grind against road surfaces at far higher speeds!

G-3 far more than takes care of the added strain today's cars and today's traffic conditions put on tires.

Take a look at this bigger tire and its newly designed All-Weather tread. See the broader surface which contacts the road—the wider riding ribs (for silence)—the closer nesting of non-skid blocks (for safer traction).

G-3 promises you extra safety from skidding, extra protection against punctures and blowouts, and at least 25% extra tread wear . . . ALL AT NO EXTRA PRICE.

That's why G-3 popularity is sweeping the country. If you need tires go to your nearest Goodyear dealer and have him mount these handsome new tires which give you so much more for your money.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Steak is a name given to meats cut in slices and broiled, sauted, fried, or even broiled, on both sides. The name signifies beef, unless especially designated such as veal steak, lamb steak, etc. Usually the word beef is used for the regulation sort, as beef-steak, although it would be known what kind of steak was meant were the word used alone without specializing the meat. Veal steak is generally called cutlet, when it is this particular part of the young beef or calf. A steak of mutton, for instance can be cut from the upper portion of the leg. But from whatever portion of the animal a steak is cut, the approved ways of cooking it have been enumerated.

* * * * * *

There are three ways of broiling a steak although the one method of searing it on both sides over live coals or charcoal and then cooking it, turning frequently until the centre is done to the degree best liked by those who are to eat it, is the original and approved way. No other broiling gives the meat the same rich flavor and the same browned crispness on the outsides.

* * * * * *

Pan broiled steak is cooked on a very hot frying pan lightly greased with butter. There must be no excess of butter, just enough to prevent the meat from sticking, no more. When one side is seared the steak is turned over. The pan can be rubbed with butter again if the meat has a tendency to stick. When it is impossible to get live coals, pan broiled steak is the next best thing to the regulation broiled method.

* * * * * *

A very hot oven is required for oven broiling, 500 degrees for instance. The steak is laid on a pan brushed with butter, and when browned on one side it is turned. Or both sides of the steak can be brushed with melted butter, and the steak remain without turning until it is browned and done to the degree wanted. Whatever the broiling method, when the steak is done put it on a platter, dot with butter, dredge with salt and pepper, and set in the oven for two moments. Garnish dish and send immediately to the table.

BE BEAUTIFUL

The lovely Ann Sothern, who was snatched from the Broadway stage by enterprising Hollywood movie moguls, claims that no man likes to see his beloved with her hair up in curlers. Ann has her own way of camouflaging her curlers when she uses them, however. She has a number of bright colored silk net scarfs that she winds about her head, turban fashion, whenever she puts her hair up in curlers. These scarfs harmonize in color with her pajamas. And the total effect really is most attractive.

As I have told you, there are a good many women who have "Curilocks" complexes. They have a decided yen for curls and ringlets, and sometimes even employ harmful methods to procure those curls and ringlets. But, as I mentioned before, that really isn't necessary. For there are plenty of safe methods of curling the hair ends.

Of course, the most satisfactory way to procure ringlet ends is to have the hair ends permanently waved. But there are other methods, too. The method you adopt for procuring ringlets depends somewhat on the length of your hair. If you have a very short bob, the best way of curling the ends is by making tiny snail curls. To make these, take small strands of your hair, moisten them and twist each of them up into small, flat ringlets. Then pinch each in place, and permit it to dry. When all the ringlets are dry, remove the pins and comb each ringlet softly about your finger.

If you have a medium bob, it's best to use the snail curls at the sides of your head, and rolled curls at the back. The rolled curls are best for a long bob too. To make them, you may use those round aluminum curlers or the old-fashioned kid curlers. In this process, the hair should again be divided into small strands and moistened. Then one of the preferred type of curlers should be placed at the bottom of each strand, the hair wound around it, and each curler fastened. When all the strands have been rolled on the curlers, the hair should be permitted to dry. And when thoroughly dry, each ringlet should be combed softly around the finger.

FRANKLY...I WANT A Schoolgirl Complexion ALL OVER

...AND HERE'S WHY I RELY ON PALMOLIVE!

After all, who should know more about complexion care than a beauty expert? And when 20,000 of these experts say there's nothing like Palmolive for keeping a girl's skin fresh and young and lovely . . . why, I believe it!

I have no use for beauty claims that have no reason why! Palmolive tells me exactly why it's better for my skin . . . because it's made from olive and palm oils, scientifically blended. Just knowing that gives me a lot of confidence.

It's wonderful, the difference Palmolive has made in my skin! Twice each day I work that rich, velvety lather into my pores, rinse with warm water, then cold. And Palmolive baths keep all my skin soft, smooth and lovely!

It cleanses so deeply .. keeps complexions so lovely

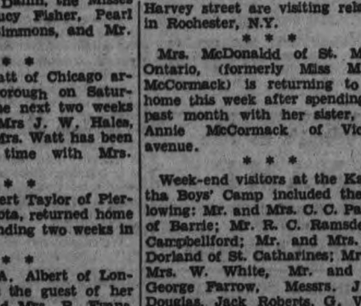
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

A TOUGH HAND

The following hand is reported as having caused a lot of trouble to players in a duplicate game on Long Island. No East and West pair went game, although East players attempted both contracts of 3-no trumps and 4-spades, both of which went down a trick. West players in two instances went down a trick on 4-hearts, doubled.



Early bidding at all tables went alike: East, 1-club; West, 1-heart, East, 1-spade; then came the differences in bidding. Some West players supported spades, and some rebid hearts. All admitted that there was no game at either spades or no-trumps, but one East player insisted that his partner should have gone game at hearts, against the first 3 plays made by adversaries.

North led the 3 of clubs. Dummy's ace won, and the lone heart was led, bringing out North's ace. The J of clubs was returned through dummy. The query was whether from there on should West have been able to go game.

Play low from dummy. Evidently from the play, if honest, North originally had 4 clubs, and South had 3, including the K. To go game the declarer wants to establish that suit, to permit discards of losing diamonds. If South holds all missing trumps, as indicated by the second play, the declarer is not strongly situated.

Ruff the second lead of clubs, then lead the K of hearts. Discard a diamond from dummy. Lead a spade. Overtake in dummy. Lead a third round of clubs. Ruff. This leaves South with one more trump than declarer. Lead another spade. Overtake in dummy, to lead the Q of clubs. South is out of spades. What is he to do?

Suppose South ruffs, leaving him with the J-9 of hearts and West with the Q-10 of that suit. South must then lead his K of diamonds. Dummy will win with the ace. The Q of clubs will be led. If South ruffs, West will pick up both of South's trumps, then he will enter dummy with a spade. Upon dummy's good spade and its good club West will discard both his losing diamonds, making 5-odd. If South discards a diamond instead of ruffing a club, so will West, but in the end West will have to allow South to ruff a spade, thus making only 4-odd.

In the case where West failed to make 4-odd at hearts, he covered the lead of the J of clubs with dummy's Q which could do no good, and which prevented him from later on being able to discard his diamonds on dummy's clubs. It was West's fault that he failed to go game.

oning his direction. Has he been blown off his course by vicious cross winds while he slept, overtaken by exhaustion?

Experienced seamen in the region believe it unlikely that he will ever again be seen alive.

"I tried to persuade him to give up the whole idea before he left Peterborough," Mrs. Smith relates. "But it was useless. He is determined and nobody can change his mind."

"Are you confidence that he will ever get over to Newfoundland and start out on his paddle across to Ireland?" Mrs. Smith was asked.

"I don't know. I wish he had come home after he got through the rapids. I don't see how he can paddle a canoe out in the big ocean waves, but he seems to know what he is doing. He has always been able to take care of himself and I hope everything will come out all right."

Mrs. Smith said the last letter she had received from her son was mailed at Father Point, the small port where outgoing ocean liners drop their pilots before setting out to sea. In the letter he declared that he had "never felt better" and that he was still certain that he would get across the ocean to Ireland. From Father Point, also, Mrs. Smith received a letter from a woman tourist who had been talking to the canoeist. The tourist verified Smith's report that he was in excellent health and stated that the young man had promised to look up relatives of hers when he reached England.

Since Smith left Father Point, his mother has had no word from him. Like others in Peterborough who have been following the voyage, she is dependent entirely on the newspaper reports for her information as to his progress.

Mrs. Smith revealed that friends of the 24-year-old adventurer in the city bought as a gift for him a compass some weeks ago. It was a compass of the type used in airplanes and has been sent on to St. John's, Newfoundland, Mrs. Smith said.

"I hope to hear soon that he has reached Newfoundland," Mrs. Smith declared optimistically. "I think he counted on getting across quicker than this, but I haven't given up hope."

And so the widowed mother is waiting calmly, her heart torn by the anxiety and anguish which would be suffered by any woman whose son was out on the deeps in a lone battle against the elements.

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., July 31 (CP Cable).—Anxiety for the welfare of Jack Smith, lone canoeist from Peterborough, Ont., increased to-day as time passed without a word concerning the young adventurer who paddled out of Gaspe, Que., more than a week ago.

Smith, planning to guide his frail, 16-foot craft across the Atlantic to Peterborough, Eng., expected to reach Cape Ray, Newfoundland, a few days after leaving Gaspe. The distance over Gulf of St. Lawrence waters is 270 miles.

Cape Ray and other costal points reported no sign of the Ontario young man or his canoe, the latter named "Pride of Peterborough." Mariners familiar with the Gulf of St. Lawrence expressed doubt the canoe could survive such a trip.

London is entertaining more foreign visitors than last year.

THEY MADE MONEY.

Rather a strange situation has developed in the United States as a result of financial institutions that had invested large amounts in farm mortgages finding themselves unwilling owners of widely scattered farm properties.

The rehabilitation and management of these farms for their absentee owners has peculiarly enough brought forth a new and paying industry that Business Week calls "Group Management of Farms."

And the funny part is that while the farmers of the country, after paying themselves a little over $200 yearly wages, earned nothing in 1933 on their 26 billion dollar investment, these "management farmers" reported after all expenses an income of 3.35 per cent. on twelve million dollars of life insurance farms in Iowa, while 20 other scattered "management farms" in Iowa and Nebraska netted 4.46 per cent. without any Government assistance.

Which, as Business Week puts it, should give Uncle Sam's Department of Agriculture something to think about.

A GRAND OLD TROUPER.

Canadians, in common with movie attendants the world over, are grieving over the death of that "grand old lady" of the stage and screen, Marie Dressler, the native-born Canadian who had made millions laugh and whose striking personality had endeared her to screen audiences and to the acting profession.

This daughter of Cobourg was perhaps prouder of her reputation in the show world as a "grand old trouper"—than which there could be no higher praise from stage-folk—than she was of her triumphs in the movie art or her earlier successes on the stage.

She was everybody's friend, a kindly, loveable woman with a helping hand always ready for those in distress, and a good word to say of everybody.

Of her artistry there is no need to say much; the millions who have laughed or wept with her on the screen know her capabilities, and they will grieve that she will no longer be here to entertain them.

It is to the woman rather than the artist that this halting tribute is paid, to the big heart and the fine soul of this splendid daughter of Canada who rose above the limitations of a limited education to win the highest award for cinema acting, but who at the height of her success was the same friendly, loveable Marie, always anxious to help a lame dog over the stile and opening her home and her purse-strings to the friendless and the down-and-out.

A GOOD OFFICER GOES OUT.

If, as is reported, the reason for the enforced resignation of W. H. Stringer, chief inspector of the Provincial Police, was the fact that he had given out information upon a matter that had political angles to a newspaper reporter, the offence will appeal to a great many people as decidedly trivial when viewed against the background of the chief inspector's successful service as a police officer.

It seems a pity that a minor indiscretion—if it was even that—should cause so many years of effective work to be disregarded completely, and that the head of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Provincial Police should be summarily dismissed and the province deprived of his experience and his shrewdness and ability for an offence purely technical and in the eyes of the public trifling in the extreme.

The solution of at least a dozen puzzling Ontario murders has been credited to Inspector Stringer, as well as the effective handling of a large number of other baffling cases, and he has always been regarded as one of the Dominion's outstanding criminal investigators.

It would be unfortunate indeed if law enforcement in Ontario were to be hampered and weakened by the interjection of political issues and the assigning to them of more weight and importance than successful records on the part of provincial police executives.

Surely a reprimand would have been sufficient punishment in this case.

ENFORCEMENT IS NECESSARY.

"We have a beer system which many people have wanted, which meets a common need for social expression," says the Ottawa Journal, "but its life will be short if it is permitted to become a public nuisance. The issue is in our own hands."

These words of warning, The Examiner is satisfied, needed to be said.

Frankly there have been conditions noticeable here since the inauguration of relaxed regulations that cannot be tolerated, and if persisted in will lead to a irresistible public demand for a change.

The Liquor Control Commission has had its hands full in making provision for the sale of beer by the glass, but it must now turn its attention to the all-important problem of enforcing the regulations.

A continuance of drunkenness and of selling to minors will be fatal to the success of the new system.

The Examiner has always been of the opinion that some provision should be available for citizens who wanted to enjoy a glass or two of beer to do so under decent conditions, but if this cannot be made possible without some of the scenes that have been in evidence here and elsewhere during the past week, then the privilege will have to be withdrawn.

The obligation is upon the Provincial Government and upon the man who sells and the man who drinks to see that abuses are removed; if they are not the whole system will fall into disrepute speedily.

We are in the fullest accord with the Ottawa Journal in the following expression of opinion:

"The provisions of the new law are generous enough to meet every legitimate expectation, and the people of Ontario will expect strict enforcement, rigid control. If it is made plain to licensees from the beginning that every last regulation must be observed to the final letter, that violation of the rules means instant and inevitable cancellation of license, hotel owners will 'keep hotel.' A beer license promises to be a valuable asset, and holders will not imperil their privileges by selling in prohibited hours, or selling to minors, if they know the penalty is swift, certain and expensive.

"The authorities must see to it that these beer places are maintained in a decent and orderly manner. They must not become places of public scandal. Drunkenness must come under stern official displeasure, and the licensee who sells beer to a person already obviously 'under the influence' is entitled to the most rigorous treatment. The bootlegging of spirits in beverage rooms, the sale of beer to minors, sale on Sundays or before and after established hours, are practices which cannot be tolerated, and the loss of license is not too severe a punishment for the first offence.

"Beverage rooms, in a word, must be made respectable, must be clean and wholesome places, places where a man may take his wife as freely as to an ice-cream parlor, without fear of embarrassment or objectionable scenes. If they fall below this standard—which is maintained without trouble in European countries where beer is an incident in social life—if discipline is lax and control weak, if even a few of them are conducted on the standards of drunks and rowdies, it will not be long before public opinion decides that the whole system is bad, and we shall be headed once more towards the dreary circle of non-enforceable prohibitory laws and the reaction which follows them."

THE INFALLIBLE JURY.

Many readers have expressed "amazement" over the action of Mr. Justice Ives of Alberta in reversing the decision in the Brownlee case.

They declare that they had thought the decision of a jury in a British court was always final and binding.

Happily, most happily, such is not the case.

For circumstances combine to make the usual judgment of a jury a product of very mediocre human intelligence functioning at its very worst.

There is no intent here to discuss the Brownlee affair. We have absolutely no opinion about it one way or the other. It is entirely the business of the Alberta courts.

But even the most casual observer must have noticed the occasional, and sometimes pernicious, weakness of the jury system.

For if there ever was an opportunity for the human animal to be stupid, it is when that animal stumbles his unaccustomed way into a jury box.

It is true that very capable men and women sometimes find themselves on juries.

But the cool and considered judgment of even capable persons is warped when they find themselves in an unusual place, dealing with unusual matters before the critical eyes of a judge and the hungry gaze of a crowded courtroom.

The good old theory that juries are infallible is as obsolete as the notion that the hero is always rewarded and the villain always punished at the end of the book.

Juries do make some remarkably sound decisions. One wonders, with all their handicaps, just how they manage to do it.

Certainly the odds are all against them.—Vancouver Sun.

OPTIMISM OF YOUTH.

In a few days results of examinations tried by students in the middle and upper school will be released by the Ontario Department of Education. Several thousand boys and girls, close onto their majority, will have completed their scholastic education; a certain percentage will enter university in the autumn to obtain a higher training.

Like many of those who have received junior matriculation and senior matriculation during the past three or four years, the majority of this year's graduates will be unable to find work. Others will be offered misfit positions in which their Latin, higher mathematics and other subjects will avail them nothing. Those who enter such university courses as law and medicine will do so with a decided optimism, for the professions have suffered sadly during the depression time.

There are some jobs for graduates of the secondary schools, but in a great number of cases they fail to provide a proper outlet for the knowledge which the boy or girl has gained. Many sons are entering the same field as their fathers because there is no other way they can turn. Unhappy in what employment they are able to find, young men and young women will neglect to give their best, will diminish their chances of advancement and are apt to gradually work themselves into a rut.

The outlook, frankly, is not bright for the young man or the young woman. Denied the blessings of financial independence, pleasant surroundings in labor and, indeed, marriage, it is and will be a hard row for youth to hoe until the return to prosperity becomes more rapid.

But the boy and the girl have not lost their hope and their ambition. Determined to make the best of what is offered, Canada's youth has dug in, unswayed by the inundations of radicalism or discontent. This country has been fortunate in possessing such energetic and optimistic young people. To them is responsible, in a great measure, the outlook held by Canada, a young country, to-day. The real "forgotten man" of the depression has not himself forgotten how to smile.—Chatham News.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The week-end casualty list was lighter than a week ago, but appallingly large nevertheless. Safety principles are still being disregarded with shocking results.

Mr. Hepburn says that the cost of direct relief is Ontario's big problem. Unfortunately it is likely to remain a problem for a long time.

The hunger marchers are perhaps more hungry for excitement than for anything else.

Freer beer must not be allowed to become so free that the element of control is wiped out altogether. This is a danger that should be recognized and eliminated.

The reunion of Canada's ex-service men in Toronto at the end of this week should be one of the most unique and most notable gatherings in the history of the Queen City.

GERMANY AND VON PAPEN

THE capitalist industrialists are growing alarmingly restive. The middle class in Germany is not with Hitler solidly. He is well aware of that. But to have the capitalist express dissatisfaction is to Hitler a signal of danger. The dissatisfaction is growing. Revolution has broken out in the ranks of the Nazis. And dissatisfaction is as marked in the ranks of the capitalists. Capital in Germany is largely invested in her industries. An industrial nation is dependent upon good export markets. The rate at which the export trade of Germany is diminishing will soon put her industries out of business. Here we relate an astounding fact. Only the parts of the chemical industries engaged in the manufacture of war equipment have sufficient raw materials to continue. The finances to continue operation even by these industries are nearing the vanishing point.

All other German industries are languishing. Every one of them is weighted down with the import restrictions levied by the government. Such is the true condition of German business. There is never a week that does not record the closing down of some of the more important industries. Men are being thrown out of employment at an accelerating rate. Germany is seething with insurrection from the top of society to the bottom. It is for us to read the meaning of all this. There have been such upheavals before. Other nations have been torn apart. Such mighty stirrings have awed men into the mood to listen. The Almighty has something to do with German earthquake, and storm, and fire. And He has something to say to the men of these times. History is the record of the fact that events never get out of His hand. Jehovah never has permitted an individual nor a nation to run wild for long.

There is much misgiving throughout the world occasioned by the Hitler method of keeping in the saddle. Things are not as bad as they seem. They never are. There have been dark pages written into human history. But when the same pages are thoughtfully restudied gleams of light give relief to the picture. Among the masses there has been in all ages an unmistakable loyalty to the right. That loyalty may be hidden for the present in Germany but it will come into commanding power when the time is ripe. Great advances in social life and in reforms have always come under the stress of violence.

Violence alone has never accomplished any permanent good for society. For the most part mankind does not heed God, nor do we follow the leading of our consciences, save under the stress of a dire necessity. This statement holds in both our national life and in our own personal experiences. It is trouble and dire extremity that drive us to prayer and good decisions and high commitals.

Capital and the leaders in industry in all nationals need the threat of Socialism, and Communism, and Fascism, and Nazism before they wake up and begin to listen to the Sermon on the Mount. The Sermon on the Mount in its nature is constructive. It is the mightiest constructive force on earth. Electricity is a potent force for good. It is terrible also in its deadliness. The Sermon on the Mount if it does not make will destroy. It is the only antidote to Fascism and its crew of isms.

The Almighty always has a man in waiting and in readiness to guide the destinies of a nation as soon as the people are ready to listen to Him. Let us not forget that the Almighty has at hand resources to accomplish His purposes. There is an outworking of the German situation which Jehovah will bring to pass that will be for the progress of all Europe.

Is Von Papen the man of the hour? If Hitler should be displaced could Von Papen handle the situation? His speech to the students of Marburg University has had a profound influence on political conditions in the Reich. National Socialism is little more than a name. It has no cohesive force. It has numbers but not discipline and trained advocates.

Von Papen belongs to one of the wealthiest families in Germany. His social standing has come down from feudal times. He is an aristocrat. He has large industrial holdings. He is of the class that determined the destiny of Germany before the outbreak of the Great War. He played double. Professedly he was a Socialist. As member of the Hitler Cabinet he watched the trend of the times. If any radical change was indicated touching industry he was quick to nip it in the bud.

Von Papen is the rhetorician of the Reich. He has the mental and moral equipment and smoothness of tongue to tinsel objectionable Nazi features over, and to make things seem what they are not. He is so suave. Hitler is rash bluntness. Readers question why Hitler has not meted out some of his wrath on this man Von Papen. In the Reich he has been a harmonizer. To harmonize divergent elements is difficult. He stood between the extreme radicals and Von Hindenburg. Hitler was aware of the constant support given him by the Vice-Chancellor. Von Papen has stood nearer to Hindenburg than any other man. This relationship made his friendship indispensable to Hitler. Von Papen also stood near the Pope of the Roman Catholic Church. Looking towards both the Roman Catholic Church and Hitler Von Papen exerted a harmonising influence. He played the role of a diplomat without being one. For the moment he had influence. His diplomacy did not wear. At the present he is as helpless as a child. In a crisis he cowers.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 87c to 93c; oats 35c to 38c; barley, 45c to 46c; corn, 77c to 80c; rye, 46c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

There was a generally steady trend on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday, eggs being the only product to decline slightly.

On the butter market, fresh No. 1 was quoted at 19½c to 19¾c a pound in carlots or less. Small lots to retailers were 21c a pound for solids and 22c for prints. Receipts were 2[illegible] boxes.

Cheese [illegible] was unchanged in price, the [illegible] colored variety being 16½c a pound, while Quebec cheese brought 16c a pound. Arrivals were 966 boxes.

Egg prices were irregular. A-mediums and B's holding steady, while A-large and C declined ¼c. Graded shipments in carlots or less were priced at 21½c a dozen for A-large, 20½c for A-medium, 19c for B and 18½c for C. Receipts totalled 657 cases.

New Qnebec potatoes maintained their level, being quoted at 45c to 50c per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Sensational curtailment of 1934 crop production estimates led to brisk buying and decidedly higher prices in the corn and wheat markets yesterday. All deliveries of corn overtopped peak quotations as far back as July 21, 1933.

The chief immediate stimulus came from an authoritative unofficial report indicating the United States' corn crop had been reduced this month about 25 per cent., nearly 500,000,000 bushels, as the result of abnormal heat and drought. A yield of 1,616,000,000 bushels was suggested, the smallest in 33 years.

Corn scored a maximum upturn of 2¼ cents and closed strong 1¾c to 1¾c above Saturday's finish, wheat ¾c to 1¾c up, oats ¼c to ¾c advanced, andp rovisions unchanged to a rise of 17c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, — Wheat, futures prices shot up to new high levels for the year in yesterday's session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as a flood of bullish reports were received that sent values up 1¾ to 1⅝ cents, July to 87⅞, October 88⅞ to 89, December 90¼ to 90¼ and May 94⅛ to 94⅝ cents.

Advances of more than two cents were scored before profittaking appeared to chip fractions off the gains. An advance at Liverpool, high temperatures throughout Western Canada and unfavorable crop reports from Australia encouraged the speculators and good support entered the market to easily assimilate most of the offerings.

Trading generally, however, was rather slow, most of the day's business being done in the early part of the session.

Sales of Canadian wheat approximated 500,000 bushels, which was reflected only partly in the pit trade.

Good export business in oats featured cash grains but demand for other grains continued slow. Spreads were generally unchanged at the close. Coarse grains trading was featureless, prices moving higher in sympathy with wheat.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PROVINCE OF NOVA SCOTIA.

This most historic of all the Canadian provinces was known as Acadia during the many years of French occupation. The first French settlement on record was made in 1518, but it was not until 1598 that a French nobleman, Marquis de la Roche, attempted colonization on a large scale, and the attempt ended in failure.

In 1604, De Monts, another French nobleman, together with Champlain, settled a large party on the site where Annapolis Royal now stands.

Great Britain's first attempt at settlement was made in 1621, when King James I granted to Sir William Alexander the lands lying between New England and Newfoundland, "to be holden of us from our kingdom of Scotland as a part thereof."

Nova Scotia sprang, as it were, direct from the loins of old Scotland and it naturally followed that the new country was given the Latin version of New Scotland for its name.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

FIRST GOVERNOR GOES WEST

On this date, in 1876, the Earl and Countess of Dufferin left Ottawa for British Columbia. The first governor general to visit the Pacific province, the trip was of both political and historic importance. There was then, of course, no C.P.R., and the trip had to be made through the United States, but at San Francisco a British cruiser was waiting and consequently his Excellency was able on August 15 to arrive at Victoria "in state".

It was a critical time. British Columbia had entered the Dominion on condition that Canada build a Canadian Pacific Railway. Political conditions at Ottawa had prevented that enterprise being advanced, and there was a good deal of dissatisfaction in British Columbia; in fact, one of the first things that met Lord Dufferin's eyes when he landed at Victoria was a big banner, at the head of a procession, on which was inscribed "The Carnarvon Terms or Bust!"

But Lord Dufferin's tact and suave diplomacy, which later made him one of the best ambassadors of the British Empire, saved the situation. Within a few days he had the leaders of the seceders eating at his table and drinking his whiskey and his champagne, and when he left on his return he had "done the trick". British Columbia was satisfied that Canada intended to keep faith and would build the railway as fast as possible. True there was a delay of ten years, but Dufferin's pledge held good and eventually the C.P.R. became the bond of practical union which it has been ever since.

Sir John A. Macdonald, though then in opposition, was so impressed with the importance of Lord Dufferin's visit to Victoria that in 1878 he wrote to London urging that the governor's term should be extended for two years, in order that he might carry the railway through to completion. Lady Dufferin's Journal has many pleasing references to the western trip of 1876.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

THE HIDDEN "I".

In all we say and think and do, there is a hidden "I".

In all our actions, we express ourselves, we make an individual judgment of the life that encircles us.

We criticize another man's actions, and with our criticism we say that WE would not do what he has done. . . . We doubt the food value of spinach, and in doubting it we express a personal objection. . . . We meet a man and forget his name almost at once; thus we have, in our own way, rejected him. . . . We forget an engagement; that is not entirely an accident; if we cared greatly we would have remembered it. . . . We fall asleep in a motion picture; that, despite all we may say in self-defense, is our method of calling it a dull performance. Whenever we think, the hidden "I" is thinking.

Whenever we talk, the "I" is speaking.

Whenever we act, the "I" is in action.

If I call you an egotist, you would deny it hotly. An egotist is one who walks roughshod over you and me and considers his rights more important than any of yours or mine. . . . The egotist hardly knows that you and I exist. In fact, for him, we do not—except as we may contribute to his enlarged importance.

If I call you an egotist, again you may deny the name. . . . And yet, we are all egotists and cannot avoid the adjective. Each of us live as the center of a little world. We are born there and outside of that circle we can hardly travel. A blow makes us suffer, food satisfies us, success gives us delight, failure depresses us, all our endeavors come back eventually to the center of our being. . . . An "I" sits at the center as a limited monarch and rules our days and nights. Sometimes that "I" is haughty and intolerant, sometimes it is humble. Sometimes it is a devil greedy for power, and sometimes an angel avid for self-sacrifice. But that "I" is in all men and its existence cannot be denied.

We cannot live without that hidden "I". Life without that "I" at the center of ourselves would be a dull and sprawling and helpless thing. . . . But it is our business to keep that "I" a decent and useful citizen of our world.

Bush Fire Quelled Outside Marmora

MARMORA, July 31.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A bush fire occurred about a mile west of Marmora village on Sunday between the present No. 7 highway and the right of way. A number of firefighters were despatched there by the Standard Paving Company and ultimately the fire was checked.

PREPARED.

WINSLOW, Ind., July 30.— (C. P.)—Dan Wilson, 76, walked into an undertaking establishment and pointed to a coffin.

"That's the one I want to be buried in," he said. Two hours later he died of heart disease.

POLICE RECOMMEND

yesterday arrested John McLaughlin, town. He came before Magistrate Jordan on two charges—drunk while in charge of a car (second offence) and criminal negligence. He was remanded until August 10.

While beer is flowing more freely, Lindsay is facing a serious scarcity of pure drinking water owing to the failure of the wells to meet the demand. The Water Board has found it necessary to mix the well supply with water from the river, and protests are coming in thick and fast. The Roberts Construction Company, which had the contract for drilling for water, has shipped a new drilling outfit to town for the purpose of drilling through solid rock for a plentous supply of water. Many citizens have fallen back on private wells for a supply of water as the supply pouring through the mains at present is unpalatable.

Veteran Passes

A veteran of the North West Rebellion, in the person of John Shier, of Gooderham, Haliburton County, was laid to rest in that village on the week end. The deceased was in his eighty-ninth year, and was one of the earliest settlers of the district. He was born at Enterprise, Ontario, Lennox County. In 1885 he enlisted for service in the rebellion, and could tell many interesting stories of Louis Reil, the leader of the half breeds. He is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters.

Edwin James Brown, who conducted a fur farm at Wilberforce, Haliburton County, died during the week end in his fifty-fifth year. The deceased was a native of Sherbrooke, Quebec. His remains were forwarded from Lindsay to that city for interment.

Tanners Capture 25-12 Softball Win

HASTINGS, July 31. (Examiner Correspondence).—The lawn social of the Elgin Sunday School held on Friday night on the lawns of Mr. and Mrs. G. Richardson, Norwood Road, proved to be a remarkable success. It is estimated that over three hundred sat down to the long table which was completely covered with good things to eat. Too much praise cannot be given to the ladies of Elgin district who worked so long and faithfully to make this very enjoyable function a success.

As an added feature to the social the Tanners and Elgin played off a postponed game they had in the local softball league. Playing smart ball behind clever hurling the Tanners won, 25 to 12, thereby strengthening their hold on second place.

$300,000,000 TREASURE SOUGHT FROM RUSSIA

BUCHAREST, July 31 (CP-Havas).—A treasure beside which the buried wealth of Captain Kidd would be mere nickels and dimes may soon be recovered, at least in part, by its Rumanian owners, it was indicated yesterday.

It was taken to Russia during the Great War in 2,540 boxes containing gold and jewels valued at $300,000,000, and there it still remains, since until now Rumania has not recognized the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

But the exchange of ministers recently carried out by the two countries facilitates at least a demand for the return of the treasure.

Newspapers here, commenting on the move, expressed fears that Russia would refuse to return the treasure, but they drew hope from a recent book by George L., an Englishman, in which it is stated that the U.S.S.R. will return about one-third of the booty.

BISHOP IMPROVES.

WINNIPEG, July 30.— (C.P.)—Condition of Dr. J. Dewdney, Bishop of Keewatin, was reported improved at the General Hospital here to-day. He was stricken with fever while conducting a mission at Churchill last week and brought here for treatment.

ON HOLIDAYS

DES MOINES, July 31 (CP)—A'ex the alligator is A.W.O.L. He made a successful dash for the park lagoon a few day ago when a bucking pony kicked a hole in the wire that held him captive.

Alex' nose appears above the surface of the lagoon occasionally, but every time attendants arrive with nets, he dives out of sight.

Distillery, Oil, Construction and Utility Groups Also Show Gains.

INTERLISTEDS PICK UP.

TORONTO, July 31 (CP).—Buying in the brewery group expanded sharply this afternoon on the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange and the whole group firmed by healthy fractions. Distillery issues, the oil, construction and utility groups also exhibited more gain than losses at the close. Interlisted leaders, soft through most of the day also picked up moderately in the last hour.

ELDORADO SHOWS 30 CENT ADVANCE

Substantial Advance in Price of Silver Metal at New York Brings in Good Buying.

TORONTO, July 31 (CP).—The mining market of the Toronto Exchange was firm through most of today's session with a buoyant note in the gold department and also in the silvers in the afternoon. A substantial advance in the price of silver metal on the New York market brought in good buying in Eldorado and that issue pushed up 30 cents to $2.60.

PIRATE TIP SENDS POLICE RUSHING TO LAKE VESSEL

CHICAGO, July 31. —(AP)— An anonymous tip that Pirates were aboard the excursion steamer "City of Grand Rapids" bound for Milwaukee sent coast guards after the vessel today but its master radioed a message "everything OK."

The Coast Guards, nevertheless, were ordered to proceed on an investigation, on the theory that bandits might have forced the ship's operator to send the reassuring message.

The "City of Grand Rapids" steamed out of Chicago with 800 passengers aboard at 9.10 a.m. (Central Standard time) and had proceed 30 miles toward Milwaukee when "an excited man" telephoned a report of the piracy to Coast Guard headquarters.

Week Has Passed Since Meharry Death

One wek has elapsed and still the violent death of Robert Meharry remains an unsolved riddle.

It was on Tuesday morning last that the dead body of Meharry, 66-year-old widower was discovered on a lonely sideroad at the western limits of the city in a welter of blood. The body was still warm when found by a milk roundsman, and the head bore extensive injuries leading to the conclusion that Meharry had been attacked by an assailant whose identity the police are still seeking to establish.

Several persons have been questioned by police during the course of their investigations, but little information of any kind would seem to have been forthcoming.

Toronto Man Wins Fight For Death

TORONTO, July 31. (CP).—Earl Gorman, 29, was victorious to-day in his fight for death. Regaining consciousness in hospital after attendants had revived him following an attempt to take his life by swallowing a dosen sleeping tablets, Gorman escaped through a window.

Police and hospital authorities rushed to his home where they again found him in critical condition from taking poison. He was taken to hospital again. Attendants labored with stomach pumps and antidotes but he died five hours after his re-admittance.

BLAZE DAMAGES LONDON SCHOOL

Flames Break Out in Medical Wing of Western University —Heavy Water Loss.

INSTRUMENTS RUINED.

LONDON, Ont., July 31 (CP) — Fire to-day threatened destruction of the University of Western Ontario Medical School.

After a hard fight by staff members and firemen, the blaze which was confined to the attic of the West Wing was brought under control, but not before thousands of dollars of damage was done by water.

Before firemen reached the scene the staff, using the school hose, poured tons of water into the attic and this seeping through the ceiling destroyed delicate and costly instruments. Thousands of records were rescued from the burning rooms, and these were thrown to the corridors below.

Cause of the fire could not be learned immediately and no estimate of the damage to buildings could be made, because of the dense smoke which filled the upper storey. The flames were under control but not extinguished at 11.30 o'clock E.S.T.

The school, a large building erected in the last decade is located directly across the Victoria Hospital on Ottawa Avenue.

The fire is believed to have been started by rats gnawing the electric wires in the attic of the West Wing of the Medical School.

Five Public Works Contracts Are Let

Sarnia, Ont.—Warehouse; Robert W. McKay, of Sarnia; about $20,700.

Port Hope, Ont.—Wharf extension, Hill and Sibbald Ltd. of St. Catharine; $32,700.

Moncton, N.B.—Public building, Acme Construction Co. Ltd., of Saint John; $443,585.

Fraser River, B.C. — Dredging, British Columbia Bridge and Dredging Co. Ltd., of Vancouver; $58,700.

Fort William, Ont.—Public building, Pigott Construction Co. Ltd., of Hamilton; $280,925.

Only 250 Dogs In City So Far Have Licenses

Almost three months have expired since the final period of grace allowed for dog owners to secure license tags, and the reluctance of city police to enforce the by-law has been misinterpreted by a large percentage of dog owners as meaning they are going to escape paying the tax.

Commenting on the fact that the police are going to start a check-up immediately and that all untagged dogs are liable to be seized and destroyed, Inspector James Reid remarked that only 250 licenses have so far been issued as compared with the 550 licenses that were taken out last year. "That means, assuming that the dog population has not materially decreased since last year, that over half the dogs are running around untagged", he stated. "It is a situation that must be altered and I would like to point out that in addition to having their dogs seized and destroyed owners themselves are subject to prosecution under the provisions of the city by-law".

Ft. Erie Boy Nabbed Stowaway in N. York

PORT ERIE, Ont., July 31 (CP) —Chief of Police A. E. Griffin was advised by telegraph to-day from New York that 15-year-old Bernard Train, missing about six weeks, is being held at Ellis Island, N.Y., by U.S. Immigration officials. Train, who disappeared last Fall and was picked up by Children's Aid Officer in New York, recently left a note at the home of his father, Joseph Train, Canadian Customs staff here, saying he was going to California. According to notification sent Chief Griffin, the lad was stowaway on a vessel just arrived from Sprin. Arrangements will be made to bring him home.

Inspectors To Check Handling Of Beer

TORONTO, July 31.—(C. P.). — "A rigid system of inspection" of the handling of beer and wine n hotels will be enforced as soon as all authorities are issued E. O. Odette, chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, declared to-day.

Mr. Odette said the board would send out its own force of inspectors and in addition would utilize both municipal and provincial police forces. The announcement followed the warning last night that the chairman would not tolerate rowdiness or repeated disturbances in Ontario taverns.

County Cricket

LONDON, July 31 (CP Cable). — Results of first class cricket matches started Saturday and finished to-day follow:

Essex defeated Glamorgan by two wickets at Cacton. Essex, 214 and 307 for eight (Pope 108, O'Connor 51); Glamorgan, 162 and 358 (Nichols five for 87).

Gloucestershire defeated Worcestershire by an innings and 34, at Dudley; Gloucestershire, 326 for six, declared; Worcestershire, 326 and 266 (Lyttleton 53, Howarth 70, Goddard seven for 105).

Lancashire defeated Leicestershire by nine wickets at Liverpool. Lancashire, 403 and 47 for one; Leicestershire, 246 and 202 (Berry 56, Pollard four for 42).

Derbyshire defeated Hampshire by 10 wickets at Derby. Derbyshire 377 for seven, declared, and five for none; Hampshire, 192 and, following on, 186 (Arnold 85, Copeon four for 67).

Middlesex won on the first innings from Somerset, at Taunton. Middlesex, 516 for seven, declared; Somerset, 181 and 226 for five (F. Lee 130 not out).

Surrey won on the first innings from Kent at the Oval. Surrey, 501 and 207 for five, declared (Sandham 85, Squires 61); Kent, 451 (Todd 87 not out), and 229 for nine (Ames 62, Chalk 62 not out).

SHIELDS FALLS TO FRED PERRY

before Shields, rushing wildly to the net behind his service, smashed the ball wildly out of the court and then fell heavily on his face.

Perry, throwing his racquet 20 feet in the air, leaped the net to help Shields to his feet, apparently unhurt, as the crowd stood and roared its acclaim of the most exciting set of tennis any of them probably ever had witnessed.

Offers Congratulations

NEW YORK, July 31 (CP)—"England is to be congratulated and I think the better team won," said Holcombe Ward, chairman of the United States Lawn Tennis Association's Davis Cup committee, when advised to-day of England's victory at Wimbledon.

"Naturally I'm disappointed we didn't win the cup," Ward said, "but I am perfectly satisfied with the way Captain Williams handled the team."

Fernon S. Prentice, non-playing captain of the 1933 Cup team, was "terribly disappointed."

"We never can have a really great tennis season in this country until we win back that cup," Prentice said. "Fred Perry and "Bunny" Austin are two great competitors. We found that out last year."

Wood Beaten by Austin.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 31. —(A.P.) — Great Britain to-day completed its conquest of the United States in the challenge round of Davis Cup competition to win the five match series four matches to one, as Fred Perry and Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin defeated Frank X. Shields and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., respectively in the closing singles.

Perry first won from Shields in a desperately fought four set encounter 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 15-13 for the clinching victory and Wood then tossed the final match to Austin 6-4, 6-0, 6-8, 6-3, making little effort to win.

Youths Rob Veteran During Auto Ride

HAMILTON, July 31 (CP)—Police are seeking two young men who literally took a war veteran "for a ride" early to-day. James Brunhill, of Galt, lies in hospital here suffering from bruises and shock and minus the money he hoped to spend in joining the Corps Reunion in Toronto.

Brunhill arrived here yesterday on his way to Toronto with $85 in his pocket. He went into a local taproom and sat down to a table to have a glass of beer. Two young men were at the table and engaged him in conversation. They invited him out for a ride in their car. When they were a mile or so outside the city limits on the Niagara Highway, they attacked Brunhill, rifled his pockets and hurled him onto the shoulder of the road.

RELIEF PARLEY IN FINAL STAGE

Taschereau Withdraws to Consider Quebec Situation —Fears Difficulties.

B. C. STATES NEEDS.

OTTAWA, July 31 (CP)—The Dominion-Provincial Conference entered its final stage at noon to-day when discussions were opened on the lump sums to be advanced by the Federal Exchequer to the provinces to assist them in carrying direct relief costs. Starting with British Columbia, discussions were arranged with each province to determine the amount of money to be advanced under the new scheme.

With the exception of Premier L. A. Taschereau and his Quebec Ministers who left this morning for Montreal, all delegates to the conference met in session for over an hour, adjourning at noon. Plans were made for individual conferences for each province with the expectation they would be completed to-night or early tomorrow. An early hour was set for Ontario to permit Premier M. F. Hepburn to catch a night train for Toronto.

Although no official announcement was made, it was taken for granted Premier R. B. Bennett's new scheme for direct relief payments was accepted by the provinces, if not endorsed. Under the old agreements, the Dominion paid 33 1-3 per cent. of the cost, then 25 per cent under a temporary arrangement. The Prime Minister announced yesterday the Dominion would pay monthly lump sums to the provinces, based on actual needs and to be spent as they saw fit.

Difficulties in Quebec.

MONTREAL, July 31—(C. P.) — The decision of Premier R. B. Bennett to supplant the present unemployment relief agreements with lump sum payments to the Provinces will create a difficult situation in the Province of Quebec, sad Premier L. A. Taschereau today. He had just returned from Dominion-Provincial Conference at Ottawa.

Mr. Taschereau said he had asked for a delay of 15 days to consult members of the Quebec Government and the municipalities so that a figure might be set for Quebec's needs.

"While Premier Bennett is responsible for the enactment of the present unemployment relief system," Mr. Taschereau declared, "he now abolishes it and leaves the Provinces and municipalities to extricate themselves as well as they can from a situation created by him. There is no doubt that in Montreal the situation will be most difficult, and the same may be said of Quebec.

Mr. Taschereau added the declaraton of policy of Premier Bennett "is bound to create much perturbation in the population of the larger cities, Montreal particularly."

BUS CONTRACTS LET BY BOARD

A. J. Meyers Secures Both Runs For Transporting Schol Children.

CAMBELLFORD MEETING.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Both school bus routes, bringing pupils into the Campbellford High School, were let last evening by the Board of Education, when A. J. Meyers of Campbellford, was successful in securing the tenders for both these runs. His contract will be for one school year at a total figure of $3,582 for a maximum of forty-five pupils, with a charge of $62 for each additional pupil over this number for the year, or proportion thereof, according to the length of time the pupil attends the school. Dividing the two routes, the tender was: Roseneath, thirty pupils, $2,462; Orland, fifteen pupils, $1,126.

In all, six tenders were received, the remaining five being: Roy Bell, Orland route, $1,795; T. R. Kerr, Orland route, $1,800; P. A. Morgan, Hastings route, $800; P. Hall, Orland route, $1,875; F. C. Lingard, Roseneath, $1,800, Orland $1,700, Hastings, $700.

Before opening the tenders it was definitely decided to operate the Orland route this year, following a report given by T. E. Hall, chairman of last year's bus committee. This showed that on the Orland route sixteen pupils had attended the school, with a derived revenue for the board from the bus charge and grants of $2,214.80 The cost of contract and operation of the bus had cost $1,982.50, the surplus on the route being $272.30. On the Roseneath route Mr. Hall stated that thirty-one pupils had been carried, with a total revenue derived of $5,256.10. Operating cost had been $2,936, the surplus being $2,310, or $2,582 on both routes for the year. Over the past three years, since buses had been operating, he stated that the board had derived a net profit from them of $4,876.24, only one year having shown a deficit, that of 1931-32, when $103.36 had been tallied on the wrong side of the ledger.

The new bus committee was appointed, and consists of A. J. Armour, G. A. Thompson, George O'Sullivan, and Principal E. H. Greig. Speaking on behalf of the board, the chairman, G. A. Kingston, expressed their appreciation of the work done last year by both bus drivers, especially in their efforts in keeping the roads open during the winter months.

Mr. Hall, as chairman of the property committee, reported in connection with the building of a principal's office in the public school, the contract having been let to John Nancarrow, according to the figure set by the board. Mr. Nancarrow was also fixing the beaver board in the basement of the school and around the steps, at a cost of ten dollars. James Mitchell was doing the plastering in the school, he stated, while James Jacobs, local plumber, had installed a new heater. This report was accepted by the board.

Brought to the attention of the board by A. G. Thompson, the secretary Wesley Stephens, was requested to write the insurance company, asking for a report on all claims dealt with relative to the school accident policy. A request from H. M. Fowlds and Son for the supply of steam coal to the school for the coming winter, was referred to the property committee.

Board members present were: G. A. Kingston, chairman, A. J. Armour, Dr. O. C. Watson, George O'Sullivan, A. G. Thompson, W. M. Stephens, Roy Loucks, Walter Henson, Dr. H. O. Richardson, T. E. Hall, William Cook, Ray Connor, and J. A. Irwin.

Will Named Successor

PARIS, July 31 (CP-Havas). — Chancellor Englebert Dollfuss left a political will naming Kurt Schuschnigg as his successor and Prince Ernest Van Starhemberg as military leader in the event of his death, according to a dispatch from Vienna to the newspaper Intransigeant.

Schuschnigg was named Chancellor over the week-end after Prince Starhemberg had occupied the post for the few bloody days that followed the Nazi Putsch and the murder of Dollfuss. At first it was thought Prince Starhemberg would hold the post permanently, and the finding of the Dollfuss will might have caused the change.

Predicts Failure

BERLIN, July 31 (AP)—The German press predicted to-day that the new Austrian Cabinet headed by Dr. Kurt Shuschnigg would not last. It said further trouble may be expected before long in Vienna.

Conviction was expressed by The Hamburg Frembenblatt that jealousy between the Heimwehr (Fascist Home Guards) and the Christian Social Party, of which Schuschnigg is a member, would result in a fight for power.

Press Eases Attack

ROME, July 31 (A.P.)—The Italian press put the soft pedal to-day on references to Germany. It apparently was reflecting the desire of the government to refrain from heaping coals on the Austrian fire when it seems to be dying down.

Comment was in marked moderation to the bitter remarks of the past few days.

But a government spokesman made it clear that Italy does not intend to relax her vigilance.

This position was emphasized despite reports Yugoslavia disapproved Mussolini's plan to act alone if Austrian independence is violated.

(The Yugoslavian legation in Berlin said unilateral intervention might have serious repercussions, which was interpreted by newspapers as a "warning to Mussolini.")

(Belgrade despatches represented Yugoslavia as resentful of Italy's lone hand policy, holding Austria's neighbors should be consulted before steps are taken.)

Many of the thousands of Italian troops concentrated at the Austrian frontier are also near the Yugoslavian border. Many Nazi refugees have fled into Yugoslavia from Austria.

Walnut Bed Ends Found On Highway

An unusual find was made by Herbert Stewart, 301 George street, while motoring from Dunsford to Peterborough last night. Observing an obstruction on the highway near the eastern limits of Omemee, Mr. Stewart discovered a pair of walnut bed ends on the pavement, an ironing board, and the rack off the truck from which the articles had obviously been lost. He recovered the articles and left them in the safekeeping of the night watchman at Omemee Tannery. Later, he reported the matter to city police here.

SHOT?

WINDSOR, Ont., July 31 (CP) — Maintaining he was shot while out near the Essex Golf Club, Mike Shure, 13, of La Salle, is in Hotel Dieu with mysterious injuries which have resulted in amputation of his left fore-finger. There were picture wounds and powder burns on the left arm, neck and face, and this, coupled with the absence of pellets, have led Provincial Police to believe Mike was playing with a torpedo or dynamite cap.

CAMPBELLFORD

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE TRENT TOWN DISTRICT

The Rev. H. P. L. Seymour, Mrs. Seymour, and family, and Mrs. G. W. Turner, have returned from a vacation trip in Northern Ontario. During the month of August, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour and family will reside in Trent Bridge, the guests of Mrs. Dickson, at her summer cottage. On Sunday last Mr. Seymour commenced his ministry in his new charge at Springville, where excellent congregations were registered. In the evening he was the guest preacher at St. James' United Church, Peterborough, where he delivered an inspiring sermon.

Dr. H. B. Longmore is a business visitor to Toronto to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. MacColl, and family have returned home from their vacation which was spent in the Bancroft district.

Judge L. V. O'Connor, Mrs. O'Connor and family, of Cobourg, were guests of Mrs. P. J. Kelly, on Sunday. They also visited points on the Trent.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Glover spent Sunday visiting at Crowe Lake.

Mrs. Ida Agnew, who has been ill for some time, has returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Adams, Seymour West. She is much improved in health.

Miss Helen Coxwell, after spending some weeks visiting at Trent Bridge, has returned to her home here.

Acting On Orders

Sensational testimony at the trial of Otto Planetta, former army sergeant charged with being Dollfuss actual murderer, and Frans Holweber, accused of leading the putsch which resulted in the seizure of the chancellory, is exciting all Vienna.

Both swore their orders came from "higher ups" and they were instructed to avoid violence. But Holswerber said, when the chancellory had been successfully taken no one came to give him instructions. Planetta said he shot the little chancellor by accident.

"I was aiming at a big man directly in front of me—I do not know who he was—who had just put up his hands at my command," he said. "Someone darted past me or against me from behind and my pistol exploded.

"When I turned to see what had happened I saw the chancellor had been struck. I was dismayed when I saw what had happened and ran into a corridor to call for bandages. Then I tried to find a surgeon in the house. Word was sent out for one, but he never arrived."

The testimony of Holswerber and Planetta was at variance with other versions of the putsch.

Rintelen, Dollfuss' Choice

More startling to political circles was the testimony of Major Emil Fey, former Vice Chancellor, who was taken prisoner by the Putschists, that Dollfuss, dying, had requested that Dr. Anton Rintelen, the Nazis' choice for Chancellor, be called upon to restore peace to Austria.

Rintelen, arrested shortly after the uprising, is in a hospital, seriously wounded by bullets fired while in jail. Authorities claim he attempted suicide and he was for days reported dead, while in reality under guard in the hospital. He is Minister to Rome.

"The last words I heard the dying Chancellor speak," said Fey, "were 'Rintelen must make peace'."

No More Bloodshed

"He first had asked me to see that his family was cared for, then he said, "Let there be no more bloodshed.' A little later he said, 'Rintelen must make peace.' Those were the last words I heard him say, for just them I was taken from the room and did not see him again alive."

The official newspaper Wienersaitung omitted this part of Fey's testimony from its account of the trial. He is now Minister of Security in the Schusohnigg Government.

Fey, with Von Starhemberg a leader of the Heimwehr, completed his testimony to-day.

SAFETY RULES FOR BLASTING

experienced in the use of dynamite, he was assisting for the first time that day, and had taken his instructions from Tait. "I had sand in my hand and asked if I should put it in the hole. He said wait a minute, and that is all I remember."

Asked how long he had been working at the second hole, witness replied, "Just long enough to light the fuse." He subsequently stated that the cap was in the dynamite when Tait had brought it over to the scene of operations.

Over 20 Years' Experience.

Charles F. Szammers, civil engineer, said he first knew Tait 20 years ago and he had at that time been engaged in the use of explosives. There were no regulations laid down in the camps governing the use of dynamite, witness said. It was largely left to the individual powder men to use their own judgment regarding details as to handling of explosives. They were all experienced men, and any interference with their respective practices in the discharge of their duties he felt was liable to add to the danger rather than detract from it.

Asked as to his opinion as to the cause of the premature explosion, Mr. Szammers stated, "It seems to me as if the fuse was short-circuited in some way or other."

Crown attorney—Would not the use of a longer fuse be justifiable as a precaution against similar accidents in future, assuming a short circuit might result?

Witness—It probably would; but the practice is to use a short fuse. The 18-inch fuse is regularly used with very few accidents. He agreed with Mr. Kerr that a fuse of double length would tend to add an element of safety, but added "the short fuse is perfectly safe in springing operations."

Advances Theory.

Charles S. Tanner, a juryman, asked Mr. Szammer if he did not think it possible that the charge may have been accidentally exploded if Tait had exerted undue pressure when placing the charge in position with the tamping stick.

It was a possibility that had to be considered, said witness.

John A. Stewart, camp foreman, said that on occasions he had seen Tait light the fuses and then tamp the charge into place as he had done on the day of the accident. The holes were being "sprung" to allow the drills to go deeper.

E. W. Bailey, superintendent, Canada Cement Company, said he had many years practical experience in handling explosives. He expressed the opinion that the work of practical powdermen should be supervised by someone in the nature of a Government inspector. Failing that, he stated, the manufacturers of explosives were always willing to send an experienced technician to check-up on men engaged in the handling of explosives.

18-Inch Fuse Dangerous.

Witness regarded the use of 18-inch fuses as dangerous, and stated the manufacturers of fuses say nothing shorter than 3 feet should be used. It took two minutes, he said, for 3 feet of fuse to burn.

"If you shorten the fuse you are allowing a shorter time for insuring safety," he remarked.

Colonel Ogilvie was inclined towards the theory advanced by the juryman, Mr. Tanner. He believed it quite probable that when Tait was tamping in the charge preparatory to putting in the sand the charge may have exploded when the detonator accidentally went off. He did not think a faulty fuse had anything to do with the accident.

Regarding the use of an 18-inch fuse, Colonel Ogilvie described the practice as "undesirable and unnecessary," but one that was quite common. In many instances even shorter fuses were employed.

Commenting on Mr. Bailey's suggestion that work of the powdermen should be supervised in the interests of safety, the colonel felt that it was a suggestion that might well be considered by the provincial authorities.

The Individual.

"If the department could spare somebody to look after the explosives it might obviate the possibility of accidents," he said. At the same time Colonel Ogilvie stated, "Everything practically depends on the individual shot-firer, and there is obviously danger in interfering with the shot-firer because he is supposed to be an expert at his job."

Advancing a suggestion by which such fatalities might be prevented, he thought shot-firers might be called upon to carry around his record as a shot-firer when applying for a situation by means of which employers would be able to recognize who were skilled in the use of explosives and who were not.

There were no regulations regarding the handling of explosives, only excepting mines, and in the manufacture and storage of explosives, he said.

The jury was composed of Messrs. Allan H. Clark (foreman), George H. Spence, Anderson Davis, Herbert J. Brown, Stephen Harrison, Jack Hill, Charles S. Tanner, Samuel Charlton, George Hamilton, William J. Hillman.

'PROMISED LAND' IS DISCOVERED

discovered that it is not yet named —lies to the south along the boundary of British Papua with four peaks rising to 13,000 feet.

Flying over the mountains in Australian government planes, the explorers were astounded to find a grass-covered plateau country on the other side, stretching away to the horizon.

Astonishing Sight

"We just rubbed our eyes," said Mr. Chinnery. "We couldn't believe what we saw. Instead of endless jungle we saw beautiful rolling country ahead of us with rivers meandering through green valleys. It was a kind of country we never imagined could exist in New Guinea. Most of the plateau is between 5,000 and 6,000 feet above the sea and the climate is cool and pleasant."

Later the explorers pushed into the new country on foot. The natives were not unfriendly, said Mr. Chinnery, although the strangeness of their language made interpreting difficult. Penetration of the new territory is still proceeding, he said, but it is being done gradually and carefully so as not to arouse the natives.

"It is a pretty big responsibility to add 200,000 natives to the British Empire and make sure they won't be exploited," he explained. "For the present we are trying to introduce a system of indirect rule under which one man from each village is chosen to do the government work of keeping law and order."

Committee Handling the Gardens for Unemployed Announce Prize List.

JUDGING BEFORE AUG. 15

Owing to the smaller number of prizes offered this year for the Community Gardens the committee is unable to extend the list to the home gardens. It realizes that the people who have to walk—often a long distance—have greater difficulties to overcome than those at home.

All the prizes offered were entirely unsolicited and the committee appreciates very highly the kindly interest shown by the donors in this community effort.

Prize List.

For most attractive lay-out of mixed garden—Prize of $2.00 by Dr. A. J. Madill.

For best women's mixed garden—Prize of $2.00 by Miss McCarthy of The Examiner.

For best mixed garden on sod lots only—$2.00 (goods) Hamilton's Grocery, 136 Simcoe street.

Best mixed gardens—First, $5.00; second, $3.00; third, $2.00.

The above three prizes are offered by The Examiner and the committee is grateful for the generous cooperation in this and many other ways since the work was inaugurated.

Gardens will be judged and prizes awarded on or before the 15th of August, entry of garden is not required as all lots not classe as home gardens are automatically entered.

The committee urges all gardeners to pull odd weeds that will go to seed as these are the source of next year's weed supply, the committee appreciates very highly the splendid cooperation thus far and a little attention to late weeds will complete a most successful season.

JAPAN INTENDS TO KEEP ISLANDS

Pacific Investments Large — Uncertain on Naval Treaty Action.

TAX BURDEN TOO HEAVY.

TOKYO, July 31. — (AP) — Japan does not expect Great Britain and the United States to reduce their naval armaments to Japan's level, Premier Keisuke Okada told foreign correspondents today.

Japan is undecided, he added, whether to abrogate the Washington treaty of 1922, by which the United States, Great Britain and Japan established a 5-5-3 ratio.

At his first meeting with representatives of the world's press, the new premier expressed confidence the 1935 naval conference would succeed.

"In order to reduce the burden of taxation borne by people of the world," he said, "naval armaments must be reduced to the smallest proportions possible. Such naval limitation must come from reductions on the part of the heaviest armed nations."

He said Japan is determined to retain islands in the equatorial Pacific held under a mandate of the League of Nations, although her secession from the League is effective next march.

"There is no reason for Japan to relinquish the islands," Premier Okada asserted. "We are determined to retain them chiefly for commercial reasons. We have money invested and are carrying on businesses there.

"Concerning difficulties regarding trade which Japan recently encountered in various quarters of the globe, I believe they can be settled through mutual concession and conciliation.

"We are a rapidly advancing nation, whose aspiration, however, is to achieve progress while ever maintaining the promotion of friendship toward all countries."

$1,552,500 FEE

CHICAGO, July 31.—(AP)—What was termed the largest fee ever fixed in this federal court district, and probably the largest for the country, has been granted attorneys in the telephone rate case.

The sum of $1,552,500 was set by the United States court of appeals as the compensation for the seven year labors of counsel who won a refund of $20,700,000 from the Illinois Bell Telephone Company for certain classes of service.

Reds Defying Court Are Given 30 Days

TORONTO, July 31. (CP).—Joe Derry, Peter Kosck and William Brennan, young Communists who at their trial on charges of vagrancy defied the court by telling Magistrate Edmund Jones they would do as their organization ordered whatever he said to the contrary, to-day appeared for sentence.

"You are of the same opinion still?" the court inquired.

"We are," they answered.

"You still defy the court?"

"We do," they replied.

"Oh well," the magistrate said. "Thirty days."

When defence counsel objected that the accused had been in jail for nearly a week already, Magistrate Jones replied: "It doesn't matter. They would not be happy or consented unless they felt they were being made martyrs."

The three were arrested on charges of vagrancy for interfering with traffic during an anti-Nazi demonstration before the North German Lloyd offices. A girl companion was given a similar sentence a week ago in women's court.

U.S. Seeks To Deport Radicals To Russia

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — The Washington Post says deportation machinery is being set up by the United States Government to ship back to Soviet Russia all radical agitators hailing from that country as well as other Russian aliens here illegally.

It says Walter W. Husband, Assistant Secretary of Labor during the Hoover and Coolidge administrations, will be sent to Russia to negotiate terms on which persons considered to be undesirable Russians will be accepted back into the Soviets.

There is at present no way of returning Russian citizens to their home country because Russia has not been issuing the necessary passports, the newspaper says.

Weddings

CORNELL—TAPE

A quiet wedding took place at St. John's Church-on-the-Hill, Toronto at high noon yesterday, when Mildred Grace, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tape of Port Hope, became the bride of Robert Gordon Cornell, only son of the late Mr. Robert Grey Cornell and Mrs. Cornell of Lindsay. Only immediate relatives were present. Rev. Henry Marsh, formerly of Lindsay, performed the ceremony and a cousin of the bride, Master Billy Wickett of Port Hope played the organ. The ceremony was followed by a luncheon at the University Women's Club. Afterward the bride and groom, who are both graduates of Queen's University left for a motor trip through Eastern Canada and New England. On their return they will live in Peterborough.

McGARRITY—MURDOCK

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday morning by the Rev. Dean O'Sullivan, at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, when Marguerite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Murdock, became the bride of Mr. Emmett McGarrity, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGarrity.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely ensemble of pale pink, silk crepe, with white accessories and bouquet of Butterfly roses and maidenhair fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Lillian Murdock, sister of the bride, was in poudre blue crepe trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of Premier roses.

Mr. Francis McGarrity was groomsman for his brother.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. Later, Mr. and Mrs. McGarrity left for Chemong Park, where they have taken a cottage for the honeymoon. On their return, they will live at 294 Dalhousie street.

URGE SCHOOL HOLIDAYS BEGIN UPON DECEMBER 10

(By George Hambleton Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 31.—(C.P. Cable). —There was a little touch of Santa Claus in advance as the House of Commons separated to-day for the summer recess.

Taking time by the forelock, the government member for Liverpool-Everton, F. Sornby, present a bill to extend the shopping facilities at Christmas and begin public and elementary school holidays on Dec. 10.

The bill, distributed as the members met for the closing session, was only a private measure and has far to go before it becomes law.

$1,000,000 ALTERATIONS BY BREWING CORPORATION

LONDON, Ont., July 31.—(C.P.). —The building and alterations programme of the Brewing Corporation of Canada, in the Province of Ontario will approximate $1,000,000 in the next year or two, it was stated to-day in authoritative circles here.

Carlings Brewery, of London, one of the units will likely come in for considerable alteration work but there will be no new construction for some time, it is understood.

There are three plants of the Brewing Corporation of Canada in Western Ontario, in London, Windsor and Waterloo.

The total strength of the Corporation in Ontario is nine breweries, and in addition to the western Ontario units include three in Toronto and one each in St. Catharines, Hamilton and Ottawa.

Alterations in the way of new equipment will prove costly, while at some of the plants some construction work of a major nature is said to be planned.

1,720,000 EGGS WERE COLLECTED AT GOVT. MASKINONGE HATCHERY

Tremendous Increase at Government Hatchery Near Omemee.

ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND

Believe it or not folks, there are 50,000 fish-eggs to the quart. This may not have a thing to do with the situation in Austria, but it means a lot to men who run the government Muskinonge hatchery at Omemee. This hatchery, which once was referred to by the one-and-only Gregory Clarke, in the Toronto Star Weekly, as an unpainted shack about the size of three-and-a-half outhouses, is the only Lunge hatchery in the British Empire. This spring 1,720,000 eggs were collected. Last year's collection of 200,000 eggs was considered a record but an earlier start this season accounts for the tremendous increase.

The season this year began the 9th of April, when the nets are placed across the channel directly in front of the hatchery. Every morning the nets were raised and the "catch" taken out and placed in tubs containing river water. One female fish at a time is then picked from the tubs, held under the arm of one of the men while he runs his thumb down the fish's belly, forcing out the unfertilized eggs or spawn, which are placed in a dish.

The sperm of the male fish, which is necessary to fertilize the eggs of the female, is collected in the same manner and placed in a dish containing a little water. The sperm of three or four male Lunge is required to fertilize the spawn of one female. This sperm is poured over the spawn, and the water changed in the dish every quarter-hour. In from two to four hours the eggs fertilize or set. When the process is over the eggs are quite hard and can be picked up by hand, and placed in glass jars, where by means of a glass tube inside the jar they are kept in a "boiling" motion.

The eggs in the jar are left until the fish inside the egg is visible to the naked eye. This takes from one to three weeks, then the eggs are lifted from the jars to trays, where the bad eggs are taken out. By this time the tiny fish is ready to come out of the egg, which it does tail first.

Attached to the baby lunge is a feed-sac which supplies it with feed for 14 days after that it must feed itself, then he is known as a "free swimmer."

Yes, it takes all the time and effort to replenish the lakes and rivers with lunge for the millions of followers of the "Sport of Loafers", but don't let it bother you, just throw the small ones back and give them a chance, you'll catch them later.

Obituary

JOHN GUERIN

Funeral services, which were semi-military in character in recognition of the deceased's military service was accorded to John Guerin this morning.

Held from the family residence, 499 Parnell street, to the church of the Sacred Heart where requiem mass was celebrated prior to interment of the remains at Douro cemetery, the obsequies were attended by a detachment of members of Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion in charge of Captain James Abraham. The casket was draped with the Union Jack, while a poppy wreath was also provided by comrades of the Legion. "Last Post" and "Reveille" was sounded by Lieut. W. Peryer.

Mr. Guerin, a resident of Peterborough county during a greater part of his life, died suddenly at his residence on Monday. He was in his 66th year. Son of the late Martin Guerin and Johanna Meade he was born in Douro township and was widely known as a lumberman. During the Great War he served overseas with the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

Three brothers, William, Dennis and James of Peterborough and one sister, Mrs. Henry Stratton of Rochester, N.Y., survive.

The Weather

TORONTO, July 31 (C.P.)—Synopsis: The weather was decidedly warm yesterday in Alberta and Saskatchewan but some light scattered showers have occurred and it is now becoming somewhat cooler. There have been heavy thunderstorms in some parts of Ontario and Quebec but temperature is moderate from the Great Lakes to the Maritime provinces. Pressure is high over Hudson Bay and Lake Superior also on the Pacific coast but low over Saskatchewan and the Missouri valley with a moderate depression centred in Quebec.

Lower Lake region and Georgian Bay: Moderate to fresh northwesterly winds; partly cloudy; comparatively cool to-night. Wednesday: moderate to fresh winds; fair and a little warmer.

Northern Ontario: northwesterly winds; fair and cool to-night. Wednesday: winds shifting to easterly; mostly fair and somewhat warmer.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley; moderate northwesterly winds; partly cloudy and comparatively cool to-night. Wednesday: moderate winds; fair and a little warmer.

POPULAR MAGICIAN DEAD

Bert Johnston, popular magician, who has visited Peterborough on several occasions died recently and was buried at Cobourg on Sunday. The funeral was largely attended. The deceased was accorded military honors in recognition of the fact that he was an ex-serviceman. Mr. Johnston suffered a stroke some weeks ago and passed away at Galt.

SANS UNDIES

Cows at Whetstone Lake, in the vicinity of Dan Wood's camp, show a decidedly partiality to rayon underwear, as two American tourists from New Jersey learned to their sorrow. Laundry hung out overnight was chewed up by the cattle, who left untouched woollens. A hurry-up trip to Peterborough to replenish their wardrobe was made by the visitors.

SEEKS $500 DAMAGES.

As a result of an accident on Highway 28 at Springville on Friday evening last when two automobiles were in collision, Alfred Mason of 7, Haddington avenue, North York township, is seeking to claim the sum of $500 damages. A writ was issued in County Court to-day naming J. A. O'Brien, Margaret Cameron and Harold E. Davis as defendants to the action.

Davis, who also faces a charge of reckless and negligent driving, is to appear in police court to-morrow morning, it is understood. He is alleged to have been driving the local car south on Highway 28 at the time it was involved in a smash with the other car proceeding in the opposite direction. The local car is stated to be owned by Miss Cameron.

CHIMNEY FIRE.

A chimney fire at 547 Waterford street called a crion of the Fire Department appar-atus out at noon to-day. Apart from the one isolated alarm the department reports "all quiet."

BOYS ENJOYING STAY AT CAMP

Doug Loomis, Physical Director of Local "Y" Again in Charge This Season.

HOLD LONG HIKES.

With forty-five youngsters answering to the cook-house bell three times each day, the Kawartha Boys' Camp at Clear Lake is going strong. The enroiment has been high throughout the summer and the enthusiasm of the youngsters unsurpassed.

A number of water trips to Eel's Creek, Gilchrist Bay and other choice spots around the upper waters of Stoney Lake have been features of the camp programs this summer. On the other hand, some of the lads prefer to boast of some of the good-sized bass they have landed when voicing their opinions regarding feature activities. And still others speak of their prowess as softball players. There is something bound to catch the imagination of each youngster to be found somewhere in the schedule of camp activities.

Doug. Loomis, physical director at the "Y", is again in charge. From week to week he had a body of older boys serving under his direction as leaders. This week the group of leaders includes Jack Daring of Toronto, Don Welch, Arnold Reynolds and another Torontot lad, Ian Douglas.

Last week, Ken Brown of this city offered a course of instruction in drawing and painting at the camp. The effort proved an unqualified success, winning the enthusiasm of quite a number of the boys in camp. Other leaders have been successful in teaching a considerable number of the younger visitors to the camp the art of swimming. As in other years, the diving tower with a five-foot and a 12-foot platform is proving one of the favorite pieces of camp equipment.

The camp is to continue until August 18. There is lots of room for new recruits, Doug. Loomis reports. Boys are welcome for stays of any length of time at the regular $6-per week rate. Transportation to the camp is provided regularly each Monday by Rotary members.

TOUGH

HARPER'S FERRY, Ia., July 31 (CP)—A Shorthorn bull proved he could take it, too, by plunging 200 feet from a Mississippi River bluff, getting up and taking a drink. The animal's only injury was the loss of patches of hair, sheared off in the descent over sharp rocks.

A Generous Pair

HAMILTON, July 31 (C.P.)—When Samuel McKelvey and Gilbert Lang got drunk they are very generous, it was revealed in court to-day. On Friday night they were seen giving away to passers by baskets of tomatoes, cucumbers, and adding to this by distributing a quantity of beer.

They pleaded guilty to charges of theft. They had been generous with other people's goods, it developed, the gifts being lifted off a truck owned by John Drury.

PARK MEETING PERMITS DENIED HUNGER GROUP

Toronto Commissioner Adamant—Will Gather Anway Say Paraders.

LASHING RUFFS HEPBURN.

TORONTO, July 31.— (C.P.) — Ontario "hunger marchers" already have held meetings in three city parks with out sanction of the Parks Commission, but discussion over issuance of permits to the group has aroused a controversy in civic circles.

Park Commissioner C. E. Chambers returned to-day from a holiday in Quebec to take charge of the matter, and immediately announced no permit would be granted the marchers to stage their demonstration in Queen's Park when they go to interview members of the Government to-morrow afternoon. He said this was his original stand and he had not altered it.

Prior to Saturday the Parks Commissioner and his subordinates announced no permits would be issued. But last week-end E. F. Collins, general superintendent of parks, told the Board of Control permit applications would be granted. This should be done, he thought, in view of the decision by the new police commission to permit the march and demonstration in Toronto.

The Board of Control condemned the parks commission for "vacillating."

Then Collins announced, after a long-distance telephone conversation with his superior, the permits would not be granted. Chambers confirmed the decision to-day. And now he will give a written report to Mayor Stewart to explain the confusion.

Permit or not, the hunger marchers say their meetings will be held.

The marchers, sitting in conference at the Labor Temple, appointed a committee of 11 members to wait on Chambers and discuss the matter with him. But the meeting will be held, they said.

Poor Policy

OTTAWA, July 31. (CP).—"If they are going to talk that way they will not get very far," said Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn today after he had read the account in the press of the "tongue lashing" given to his government by the hunger marchers in Toronto, who also denounced him personally as a "demagogue." They have not been very kind, to say the least, after the consideration I've shown them."

The premier said he would go to Toronto to-night "to deal with the situation."

Mr. Hepburn intimated that the Dominion Government's proposal that a lump sum be granted to the provinces and municipalities could hardly be satisfactory to Ontario, "How we are expected to know the amount of money we will want I don't know, especially as we can't tell how much money the Henry Government spent during election time."

Three Major Strikes Are Settled In U.S.

(By the Associated Press)

The capital - labor pendulum swung back toward peace in the United States today as at least three major strikes were ended.

Only in the strikes of Minneapolis truck drivers and Chicago livestock handlers were there adverse developments. Leaders of the striking truck drivers issued an ultimatum to Governor Floyd B. Olson that unless all trucks are halted for 48 hours, they will stop them by force.

The Chicago stockyards strike threatened to spread to the packing plants, but General Hugh S. Johnson was reported unofficially to be planning personal intervention.

The Pacific Coast Longshoremen's strike became history as the 12,000 strikers turned back to the docks today and other maritime workers signified their readiness to return to work, turning over their grievances to arbitrators.

FIVE TO DIE FOR ARSON

MOSCOW, July 31 (AP) — Five Russian technicians were sentenced to death at Sverdlov yesterday for burning the forging plant of a machine building factory.

Six others were sentenced to long prison terms. The verdict did not name a foreigner alleged to have been a go-between who bribed the Russians to carry out the plot in the interest of a foreign machine building sydicate.

MARTIAL LAW NEW ORLEANS

Governor Under Huey Long Seizes List of Qualified Voters.

GUARDS HOLD OFFICE.

NEW ORLEANS, July 31 (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long directed a pre-election attack on the city administration to-day, his National Guardsmen holding the New Orleans registration office under partial martial law.

More than a score of Guardsmen appeared at the City Hall Annex last night, battered in the door and took possession of the lists of names of qualified voters for the September Congressional Primary.

Governor C. K. Allen, a Long supporter, issued a proclamation establishing partial martial law and explained that the action was taken to protect the registrar's office from "insult and intimidation."

Mayor T. Seemes Walmsley, bitter enemy of the Louisianna "King-Fish," sat in his City Hall office across the street at the time. He said:

"It is apparent that they want to scratch the names from the registration books under the protection of the militia. They already control the Registration Office here through State appointment of the local Registrar."

In his hotel suite, from which he directs his political campaigns, Senator Long sat with Governor Allen and other State officials and directed the attack. The "King-Fish" has conducted a stern campaign against Walmsley for the last two weeks, charging that the city was a "cesspool of corruption."

Guardsmen were employed late in the night and early this morning handing out circulars headed "honest registration guaranteed."

HAMILTON, July 31 (C.P.) — Harold Young, aged four, died in the General Hospital early to-day as the result of injuries received when he was run over by a truck yesterday. The truck was driven by Clarence Decker, of Galt. Dr. O. A. Cannon, chief coroner, is investigating.

Hollywood Fashions Adopt Evening Cape

HOLLYWOOD, July 31 (AP) — The movie ladies are saying farewell to evening coats. The stars who establish the trend in cinema styles say the cape is the thing today.

Outstanding in smartness and simplicity is one of the new type of evening wrap worn by Gertrude Michael, over a gown of white satin. The combination of Russian sable and white satin alone announces that Hollywood's new trend is toward the height in subtle richness, which leads the evening mode away from glitter and frippery.

But whether it be sable, velvaever assimilation of flat fur—it should be a cape. It should have a distinctly Russian or Cossack silhouette, says the designers, and it should be long and sumptuous.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

SARATOGA GOT under way yesterday and have every prospect of a very successful season with the best pieces of horseflesh on the American continent being quartered at the grounds. The track is in the comparatively small village of Saratoga Springs situated in the northern part of New York state and during August of each year caters to thousands of racing fans from all over the United States and Canada. The other eleven months of every year, it is just like any other village, with only the highway traffic passing through to break the monotony. It was at this track that Man-O-War, Sir Barton, Sun Beau, Equipoise and all the super horses saw some of their greatest triumphs.

It was also there that Jim Dandy defeated Twenty Grand in the mud and paid off at 100 to 1. It was Twenty Grand's only reverse of that season, so you can very easily see that most of the highlights of American turf history were written at this place. It was here that Philadelphia O'Brien, the greatest plunger the turf ever knew breathed his last a few years ago, at a hotel overlooking the paddock. He died right in the harness you might say as on the day of his death he sent his betting commissioner over to the track with a list of horses to wager on and did not live to hear the results.

THERE IS no racing in Ontario at all this week until Hamilton throws open its gates on Saturday. Uppity looks like a sure fire winner at the Mountain City. He has come along nicely lately and is all primed for a winning effort. They are opening a new track this week at Providence, Rhode Island, and from the calibre of horses shipping in it looks like some good racing will result. This is the spot where Calgary Kay will cause a riot. Hawthorne at Chicago opened yesterday with practically the same horses that cavorted at Arlington which closed on Saturday last. Princess Camelia is expected to gallop off with a win at this place. She is right in tip top shape and raring to go. The same also goes for Tarnish at Detroit. This fellow is just hitting his true form and there will be many platers take his dust in the distant events from now on.

The Detroit season is now over two months old and still going strong. The Motor City is a real hot bed of racing and it looks as if their plan of running for one hundred and twenty consecutive days is not going to be a bit too long. Stamford Park were well pleased with their first meeting and have announced dates for their next session which will be August 18th to August 25th, inclusive. Fire Brigade is over at Hamilton and has been training there for the past couple of months. He has been troubled with dinky legs but seems to be coming around all right. He will be a winner at the fall meetings around Toronto. Pat Galety is another that has been awfully slow coming to hand this year, although he did manage to win his last in very cheap company.

Larry Fitzpatrick and Castonguay Tally Goals That Cinch Game.

TORONTO, July 31. (CP).—Verdun Park eleven, Montreal's crack soccer squad, to-day awaited the crowning of Western Canada's soccer champions for the Dominion final, slated for Winnipeg this week-end. Verdun Park will face the winner of the series between Weston of Winnipeg and Victors of the Saskatoon-Prince Albert series.

Five gruelling games were required before Verdun Park downed Frood Mines from Sudbury in the eastern Canadian final. Verdun defeated Frood Mines 3-1 in the deciding struggle at Ulster Stadium last night after the teams had played four drawn games. The first game ended in a 2-2 tie; the second 1-1 and the third 2-2 with the fourth last Saturday resulting in a scoreless draw.

Frood Mines, although tired and weary went down fighting. They held the Montrealers in check until 20 minutes before the final whistle. Verdun kept up a relentless attack on the Frood citadel until victory was obtained.

Cinch Victory

At half time the score read 1-1 with the fans expecting another drawn game. Frood Mines were driven into their own territory by the Verdun onslaughts until Larry Fitzpatrick and Castonguay tallied the Montreal counters that placed the Quebec soccer stars in the Dominion final.

Verdun gave the 2,500 fans a treat when they succeeded in scoring after several smart attacks during the first three minutes with Larry Fitzpatrick beating Goaler France. At the 10 minute mark Angus MacDonald equalized for Frood Mines on Young's pass.

BEARS-BISONS SPLIT.

(By The Associated Press)

Syracuse Chiefs, who are going nowhere at a quiet, steady pace, appear to take a keen delight in wrecking the ambitions of those International League clubs that have them.

Only last week the Chiefs caught Toronto Maple Leafs when they were trying hard to overtake Newark's league leading Bears, shook their hopes badly by winning both ends of a double header, and followed the next day by holding the the second place club to a tie. The latest Syracuse achievement cost Montreal Royals a chance to annex fourth place from Albany.

As the Senators dropped a night game to the Maple Leafs, a victory yesterday afternoon would have put Montreal in the first division.

When Syracuse finished, however, Montreal was whipped 11-4. The Chiefs slammed out 21 hits, while Bobby Coombs was granted only eight. Rain twice halted the proceedings, and when Umpire Carroll failed to appear, Butch Henline, of Montreal, and Zach Taylor, of Syracuse, had to umpire on bases.

Keep on Bears' Trail

The Leafs kept doggedly on Newark's trail by beating Albany Senators, 4-2. Gene Schott held the Senators in check and outpitched Art Herring. The Bears and the sixth-place Buffalo Bisons split a double-header, Newark winning the second game, 7-2, after dropping the first, 3-1. Each team benefitted from a well-pitched game. Frank Pearce, formerly of the Phillies, held the Bears to three hits in the opener, while his mates nicked Charlie Devens freely.

In the second game, Jack Larocca scattered Buffalo's eight hits effectively and Vince Barton's 25th home run of the season helped Newark earn a draw for the evening.

Rochester Redwings pulled up within a game of Toronto as they swept both ends of a double-header from the last place Baltimore Orioles, 4-3 and 6-3. The Orioles came from behind in both games to make threatening gestures, to no avail.

FERRELL SHUTS OUT SENATORS AT WASHINGTON

8-0 Victory Over Washington is His 9th in 12 Starts for Boston.

WHITE SOX LOSE 4-3.

Appling's Ninth-Inning Error Decides as Browns Stage Comeback.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Judging by results so far, the purchase of Wesley Ferrell, who refused to play this season for the salary Cleveland offered him, was about the best stronge of business Boston Red Sox have put over.

With Lefty Grove still disabled and other flingers not going so well, Ferrell's arm has been an important factor in keeping the Sox in the American League's firs division. Boston to-day was safe in fourth place, and only 2½ games behind the Indians despite Clevaland's recent spurt which has netted 14 victories in 18 games, and Ferrell's record alone showed triumphs enough to keep the Sox away from the second-division leaders.

His Ninth Victory

Since joining the club at the end of May, Ferrell has appeared on the mound 15 times, starting 12 games, and yesterday's 8-0 triumph over Washington was his ninth of the season against one defeat. This record compares favorably with that of any flinger in the league in the way is was compiled, although it is far short of Lefty Gomez's 16 victories or Schoolboy Rowe's 10 straight. Wes won only once as relief pitcher, and got credit for only one game he failed to finish.

It was a bit like picking on cripples when Wes blanked the Senators, although he was touched for 10 hits. With a makeshift lineup, resulting from injuries, Washington failed to offer a real threat until the ninth inning. Then Ferrell finished the game by whiffing Ossie Bluege with the bases loaded.

Three Senator regulars, Heinie Manush, Joe Kuhel and Johnny Stone, were missing and as a result the utility infielder, Red Kress, was in right field, Rookie John Gill in left, and a catcher, Luke Sewell, on first.

Ed Linke, just back from the minors, did a fair job of opposing Ferrel for six innings, giving up three runs on a few well-bunched hits, but he weakened rapidly after being struck in the stomach by a drive from Lyn Lary's bat in the seventh.

After this mishap the Sox bunched three hits and a pair of walks off Linke and one blow off his successor, Al Crowder, for five runs, and settled the game.

Back in Sixth Place

The defeat returned the Senators to sixth place after they had advanced to fifth, Sunday. St. Louis Browns, with one of the late rallies that have marked their progress under Rogers Hornsby's management, came from behind to whip the White Sox, 4-3, and take fifth by a full game.

Trailing 3-1 after Chicago had nicked Dick Coffman for three hits and as many runs in the fourth, the Browns tied the count when Sam West socked a home run with one aboard in the eighth. The winning counter came as a ninth-inning gift from Luke Appling, who fumbled Oscar Melillo's bounder with the bases loaded.

The other American League clubs and the entire National League had a day off, as a couple of games originally placed on yesterday's schedule had been played off earlier in the campaign.

MENIE TAKES LEAGUE TITLE

Champions Swamp West Seymour 14-3 in Second Game of Playoffs.

WILL MEET MAROONS

BURNBRAE, July 31.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Swamping West Seymour under a 14 to 3 deluge of runs, Menie softball team won the second game of the Seymour League play-offs and the championship of the group on Saturday evening. The score in no wise indicates the play as both pitchers turned in excellent cards and only poor defensive work by a few of the West side players gave Menie the margin. The winning team played a wonderful game in the field, the work of Roy Oddie being particularly brilliant. McCook, Hooper and Fraser played nice games for the losers but could not stem the tide.

Will Meet Maroons

The new Seymour League champions meet the winners of the Campbellford grouping for the Glover Cup. As this group has not declared a winner, Menie have several exhibition games arranged. Next Saturday evening they meet a picked team from town, while on the eleventh of August Petherick's and Menie tangle on the High School diamond. A series between the Seymour champions and the Rawdon winners, either Mt. Pleasant or Springbrook, would be a great drawing card.

GRIMM PULLED BONER OF YEAR IN PHIL SWAP

Camilli Going Great Guns With Willow While Hurst in Batting Slump.

CUB FANS SORE.

The difference between a smart baseball manager and a dumb guy who is just cluttering up the bench is a rookie's batting average.

This strange fact is borne out by what's happened to Dolph Camilli, Don Hurst, Charley Grimm, the Chicago Cubs and the Phillies this summer.

Or, rather, what Camilli is causing to happen.

The youthful Italian first baseman come to the Cubs from the Pacific coast, costing $35,000, which was the price tag affixed to him by the Sacramento, Cal., ball club. But Charley Grimm believed Dolph was worth every nickel of that amount.

Came the first weeks of the 1934 baseball season. The Cubs got into the pennant fight early and gave every indication of sticking right there.

Grimm was and is the Cubs' first baseman besides being manager but he wanted to be certain that the club had a steady workman to replace him whenever necessary. Was Camilli that player?

When a team is in a pennant fight it cannot afford to look too far in the future since next year's pennant is no better than to-day's and if to-day's flag may be captured, plans for campaigning for next year's championship can wait.

So, though the Cub management probably had not wavered in its judgment of Camilli's future brilliance the youth, who was in something of a batting slump at the time, was traded to the Phils for Don Hurst, a veteran who had been cracking out base hits and many of them for years.

At the time of the trade Hurst and Camilli were batting about even and, on paper, it seemed that the Cubs, with 1934's pennant a good possibility might have made a smart move.

Had Hurst come through in smashing fashion and Camilli failed to show much in Philadelphia, Charley Grimm would have been hailed as a master mind. However, just the opposite took place.

Camilli's batting average has improved greatly since becoming a Phil and Hurst is in an even greater batting slump than when he joined the Cubs.

And is Charley getting panned by those Cub fans!

MRS. K. N. KINGSTON WINS IN KITCHENER

Former Local Woman Plays Great Game in Twin City Tennis Tournament.

Semi-finals and finals in the Twin City tennis championships tournament were run off at the Granite Club courts Saturday, July 21, afternoon and evening.

Winners of the championship cups were: Ladies' singles, Mrs. K. N. Kingston; ladies' doubles, Anna Moser and Mildred Ward; men's doubles, Dr. Russ Zinkann and C. Rempel; mixed doubles, D. L. Kropf and W. Jansen; men's singles, Dr. Russ Zinkann.

The ladies' singles class saw a hard struggle between Mrs. Kingston, Miss Jansen and Miss Flemington.

In the semi-finals, which went to three sets, Mrs. Kingston defeated Miss Jansen 5-7, 6-2, 6-2, and then proceeded to defeat Miss E. Flemington in the final 6-3, 3-6, 6-1.

Mrs. K. N. Kingston, formerly Miss Isobel Davidson of Peterborough, won the ladies' singles championship in Peterborough last summer. She also succeeded in winning the ladies' doubles with Mrs. J. A. Dewart as her partner, and the mixed doubles with Mr. Herbert Wilson.

SIXTH LINE TAKES 11 TO 9 VICTORY

Rurals Hold Lead Gained in Early Frames—Good Fielding Display by Liners.

Sixth Line Girls contributed their share of the upsets which have become common in the second half of the Ladies' Softball Loop, last night when they took the C.G.E. Girls into camp, 11 to 9, in a close battle that saw the Rurals take an early lead and hold it for nine frames, on their home diamond.

Inability to hit the slow, puzzling ball pitched by Agnes Weir for the Liners, and a splendid display of fielding by the Liners, cost the Electries the victory. The C.G.E. collected three safeties in the first when they tallied three runs, and two in the sixth when they grabbed four more counters, but the other four singles were well scattered. The winners slapped out six bingles in the first two innings to score as many runs, pushed one more over in the third and three in the fourth. They were held scoreless in the next three, but added one in the ninth. Mary Miller was the star of the Liners, hitting four singles in five trips and catching a smart game behind the bat. K. Nelson and A. Weir each hit three singles. Winnie Snowden was the fielding star for the losers, playing a bang-up game at short.

Marg. Snowden and Elsie Gates divided the pitching. The teams:

C.G.E.—DeCarlo, lf; W. Snowden, ss; Byers, 2b; M. Snowden, p, cf; Hodson, rf; Bosley, 3b; Self, 3b; Millar, c; Todd, 1b; Martin, cf; Gates, p; English, lf.

If skies are blue this gloamin', the little world serial—sometimes laughingly known as the E.P.L. playoffs of baseball—will resume at about 6.12 in the Exhibition Grounds. The teams are due to start sharp at six, but with our unfailing sense of dishing up service to the customers, we've found—after checking on the time E.P.L. games started all season, and hitting an average—that 6.12 is the ideal time to walk in the gate. We trust this will give the fans time to clean up a second helping of pie before galloping to the game. You're quite welcome. Oh, yes, this E.P.L. playoff game of baseball is between C.G.E. and Cogs.

• • • • • •

Now, C.G.E. have found themselves on the under-side of two previous playoff tilts last week, and on the upper-side of none. It stands to reason, this state of affairs cannot go on indefinitely. Comes a time when Cogs have copped enough playoff tilts to smilingly exit from the scene with the Tip Top Tailors' trophy, the E.P.L. title, a ticket to the O.B.A.A. playdowns—in fact everything but a bankroll. Or else C.G.E. will suddenly come to life and knock off an E.P.L. baseball playoff tilt or two themselves. This may be the eve, especially as we hear today that Percy Vannest will be off Cogs' lineup a game or so with an injury.

Orphans punctured Johnston's Tires, 9-0, yester p.m. at Central, thereby practically putting the skids under the Deckman for the second half. Frank Shine tossed six-hit ball—no, no, Mr. Printer, not six-bit!—and had lovely support, plus a couple of three circuit clouts by his teammates, while the Tiremen used their whole hurling staff in a vain attempt to get through that whitewash. But, no, 'twas horse-collars, not hoss-shoes, for Bert's boys. Tonight's game between Johnston's and Brintons may wind up the first-half, if the remaining games scheduled are seen to have no bearing on the standing.

Good prizes are offered, and they do say that the ladies of the Bridgenorth United Church dish up swell suppers. A huge crowd is again expected to this annual event.

In the bantam baseball loop, Habocos pulled out a 5-4 win over St. Peter's last night, thereby surprising the Saints no end, as they say in dear old Lunnon. Lads named Lucane and Creighton toiled for the losers with one Foster kid tossing a good game to allow but three hits for the Habocos. Wednesday evening at 5.45 in the Oval, Habocos and King Edward meet in the final scheduled game, the playoffs commencing likely in the Exhibition Grounds Saturday. At this time, it looks like St. Peter's and King Edward in the finals—but one never knows in baseball. At least, that's what a lot of folks remarked sadly as they left Riverside Park last Saturday.

The old dope bucket in the gals' softball loop is being upset oftener these days than a canoe in a tilting contest, Sixth Line doing the trick at home last night, 11-9, to C.G.E. Agnes Weir slow-balled Electris to death, and had fine backing. Kay Nelson, playing second for the Line, injured an ankle during the game but hung on grimly to the end and played a good game. Isabel Davis took care of everything in neat style at the hot corner. Westclox lasses were billed to go to the mat twice this week but we hear both tussles have been postponed due to the factory being closed down for the week. That's all we know about it—nothing official.

Today's city tennis matches will have quite a bearing on the finals to be staged Thursday. Ladies' singles will be held on the Peterborough Club courts with Mrs. J. A. Cooper Makes Good Drive At Burleigh

Light Horse Harry Cooper, famed professional American golfer, was a week-end visitor at the Park Hotel, Burleigh Falls. Proving that he is quite as able with the rod and reel as with the driver or putter, he secured an excellent string of bass—several around the four-pound mark—during his stay.

Putting on an informal demonstration of his driving prowess at the request of other hotel guests, Mr. Cooper set a mark for other golfing visitors at the hotel to shoot at. From the front lawn of the hotel, he drove a ball 300 yards against the wind to drop it into the water the other side of the Burleigh Falls dam.

The management of the hotel reports that the tourist movement in the district is the heaviest in several years. The hotel has been full since early in July, it was stated.

Cable)—The empire's big track and field guns will start to boom at White City Stadium Saturday, just as quickly as the colorful pageantry of opening day at the second British Empire Games is over. Canadians will lead the parade of more than 500 athletes and officials in the grand march.

Games officials have concocted a tasty morsel for opening day of the three-day meet, including heats, semi-finals and final of the classic 100-yard dash.

It may be a day where the laurels will be shared by the far-flung dominions and mother England. It was the impression among critics here that Canada, England, the Irish Free State, Australia and South Africa would make a fairly even distribution of the spoils. There might be title sweeps later, but not on opening day.

Five finals in the men's division will be decided—the 100 yards, three-mile run, discus throw, 440-yard hurdles and running hop, step and jump. Women stars will decide three championships — javelin throw, running high jump and 880-yard relay in which each country will be represented by two 220-yard sprinters and two 110-yard runners.

Girl Athletes Feared

Canada's contingent of feminine athletes was frankly feared. Saturday will be the first test. Eva Dawes, dark-haired Toronto girl who placed third in the 1932 Olympic games, will start a strong favorite in the high jump.

The spring power of the Canadian girls will be tested in the relay. There was no announcement as to the lineup but it was believed the 220-yard legs would probably be run by Hilda Cameron of Toronto and either Lillian Palmer of Vancouver or Eileen Meagher of Halifax. There was a host of sprint material to choose from for the 110-yard legs.

"Mystery man" of the men's 100-yard dash will be Bert Pearson, the Hamilton blonde. England heard with astonishment of Pearson's failure in the Canadian trials this month after he had whipped virtually every sprinter of note in North America.

Expected to Make Showing

Little Bob Rankine of Preston, Ont., is expected to make a fine showing in the three-mile event. On its record in distance events, Canada is not expected to provide the winner but there is great respect for Rankine.

Fifteen-year-old Sam Richardson Toronto schoolboy and the youngest track athlete in the games, is expected to place high in the running hop, step and jump where the favorite is Australia's Jack Metcalfe, credited with a jump of 50 feet, 2 inches. Ray Cooper of Toronto also is entered.

Canada's big athletic brigade was the last to reach the scene of activities. Performers of every nation worked out to-day in the London area, swimmers splashing in various pools, boxers and wrestlers working out in gymnasiums and cyclists practicing either here or at Manchester where the pedal events will be staged.

PECK SOCCER CUP DRAW ANNOUNCED

C. G. E. Go Into the Final Game To-night—No Games Saturday.

The regular meeting of the P. and D. Football Association was held last night, in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, with President William Anderson in the chair, and a full representation of the clubs and executive.

It was decided, at the clubs' request, that there be no games on Saturday and the holiday, owing to the players' desire to have the holiday out of the city.

Peck Cup Draw

The result of the Peck Cup draw was as follows: Packers vs. Caledonians, on Saturday afternoon, August 11. Kick off at three o'clock. In the evening, Lindsay meets the Deloro aggregation in a league engagement, at six o'clock, on Saturday, August 11. Referee, Alex. McKinley. W. Harrington in the afternoon.

To-night the Caledonians meet Deloro. Kick off at six o'clock. On Tuesday night, August 14—C.G.E. meet Packers in league. Kick off at six. W. Harrington.

On Saturday afternoon, August 18—Caledonians meet the Packers in a league engagement. Kick-off at two o'clock. Also on that date there will be a footballers' race, open to all players who play in the league. It is expected that the committee who have charge of the arrangements are going to make many attractions for that date. All the finances will be handed over to a player as a benefit.

Many players have a habit of going home for a bath and change of clothes after a game.

I've found it necessary to hurry away from the course quite often without giving much time or attention to such luxuries as a shower or complete change of clothes.

Doing such things one can't be as comfortable as the fellow who takes plenty of time over his change. Certainly there are several drawbacks such as the failure to change shoes which is bound to tax the feet.

After carrying your weight for several miles your feet are deserving of a rest and whatever you can do to refresh them.

Changing shoes as often as possible is one way to keep your feet in good condition.

Peterborough Bees Beat Lakefield 3-2

Peterborough 'B' team won 3 matches to 2 over Lakefield in the Kawartha Tennis League over the week-end, Lakefield winning the first men's doubles and the ladies' doubles.

The scores: A. Ward defeated L. Lawless in the men's singles, 6-4, 4-6, and 6-4; doubles—A. Rutter and W. Howden lost to Dr. J. C. Smith and J. Langley, 6-2 and 6-3; D. McPherson and B. Maybee defeated W. Spence and N. Kelley, 1-6, 6-4 and 11-9; ladies, doubles—B. Cutting and Miss B. Scott lost to Mrs. Grier and Miss C. Stewart, 6-1 and 6-3; mixed doubles—Miss M. Donaldson and W. Perks defeated Miss E. Tanner and C. Jarrett.

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—(U.P.)—The bout between Cleto Locatelli, claimant of the European lightweight championship, and Frankie Klick of San Francisco, scheduled for last night, was postponed until to-night because of threatening weather.

ORPHANS BLANK JOHNSTON'S 9-0

Harrison Sluggers Lambast Offerings of 3 Deck Hurlers All Over Lot.

COUNT 6 IN 5TH.

Orphans blanked Johnston Tires 9-0 last night at Central. Frankie Shine white-washed his opposition for the 9 frames, letting them down with but 6 hits, to give a masterful display on the mound for the winners, while his teammates were lambasting the offerings of 3 of the Deck hurling staff to all parts of the field and pile up a commanding lead.

Scates-Harrison and company began early to take a liking to offerings of Parsons, and their attack reached its climax in the 5th stanza when they dented the rubber 6 times, knocking out Elliott who succeeded Parsons, while Price, who relieved him, fared little better.

Max Board did the heavy stick work for the Waifs with 3 bingles out of 4 tries while Shine helped his own cause with 2 singles out of 4 trips to the plate. Shine had the Tiremen handcuffed throughout, Dorrington being the only one to get more than 1 hit off his delivery collecting 2 for himself.

The contest was featured by 2 sparkling double plays, both by Orphans, Fleming-to-Board in the 2nd and Wilshaw-to-Board in the 4th. Only one error cropped up during the entire contest, that by Ellis in the fifth, to mar an otherwise perfect fielding exhibition. The game was played in remarkably fast time, being over before 7.30 and by winning this game Orphans have yet to lose a game to the Deck men in the second half.

Johnston Tires—Starr, c; Dorrington, 3b; Anderson, lf; Allen, lf; Montgomery, rf; McQuade, cf; Stanger, 2b; Ellis, 1b; Crary, ss; McCarroll, ss; Parsons, p; Elliott, p; Price, p.

SILVER SLIPPERS BY Temple Bailey

Joan Dudley, vacationing in Maine with her wealthy aunt, Adelaide Delafield, is engaged to marry Drew Hallam, man of the world, who is twice the age of his fiancee.

(Now go on with the story)

Chapter 2.

Drew told himself that Joan's youth was lovely. And as for the aunt, she was a vain old creature. A little tact and loads of flattery would keep her complacent. Joan had a right to believe herself an heiress, and it would make a great difference in every way if he could be sure she would inherit a fortune. Romance if it was to be worth while for himself and Joan must have its nest well feathered.

They set their horses presently to a gallop. They rode on and on like wild wraiths in the mist, hearts beating, blood surging, gay, careless of the future. The present was enough. They would make the most of it.

Their way led back across the moor, and up to the top of a bluff where stood a log house which had been originally the summer residence of a retired sea captain from one of the towns below. Wings had been added from time to time because of the needs of an increasing family of children and grandchildren. But now there were no children. There was only Penelope Sears, a widow of 60, to walk through the sedate and silent chambers, and remember the companions of earlier days.

Penelope, having only a modest income, took paying guests in the hot season. She had made the log cabin comfortable with bathrooms, huge fireplaces, and old furniture which belonged to the simple and somewhat austere background. She wanted people to be satisfied and as a rule they were. But this summer there was one woman who was not satisfied. She sat now in her room which overlooked the bluff and voiced her dissatisfaction to her English maid, Farley.

"The sooner I go the better."

"Miss Joan will be disappointed."

"She'll have to get over it."

Farley, who had just put on her mistress' head a transforming structure of carefully waved white hair, studied the effect in the mirror. Then she said, "Will the Hallams go if we do?"

"Of course. He's mad about Joan."

Nothing further was said about it while Farley added finishing touches to her mistress' toilet, but Mrs. Delafield's quick brain was busy. Drew Hallam and Joan! A good thing for both of them. And as for herself, a troublesome grandniece off her hands and a charming grandnephew gained! She liked Drew and his sister, Nancy. They treated her as contemporaries, though she was easily three decades ahead of them. Her 70 years to Drew's 40 and Nancy's 38. And way down the line, Joan—sweet and 20!

Adelaide was dressed and ready for dinner, when Joan came in from her ride. By all the arts at Farley's command she had been refreshed and rejuvenated. There was a faint flush of rose on her old cheeks, but she was in a frightful temper. The coming of the fog had been the last straw. She felt that somebody besides Providence must be to blame for it. And if they were not to blame, at least she could vent her spite on them.

Joan bursting in had a beauty which needed no artificial aids. Her riding-coat was green, and her breeches white, her hat was off and showed her hair, thick and brown, with a wave of its own, and drawn, Madonna-fashion, over her ears. Joan's shorn head was a thing of the past. She hated the commonplace. When everyone else was shingled, it was time, she felt, to have a nice flat little bun at the back of her neck. Her eyes were darkly blue, her lashes black. She was not beautiful but the richness of her coloring and a certain slender grace made her good to look upon. There was, too, in her manner, an appealing, almost child-like quality which gave the lie to her 20 years.

"Darling," she said, "I'm afraid I'm late. But it was such a perfect ride . . ."

'Perfect? In this weather?"

Her tone should have warned But it did not. She blundered on, "How lovely you look. That green and silver gown is gorgeous."

"Are you saying that because you mean it, Joan? Or because you want my money?"

Joan stared at her for a moment, speechless. Then she demanded, chokingly, "Oh, why should you say a thing like that to me?"

She began to sob. She was overexcited, and the reaction from her ecstatic moments with her lover broke down her composure. She cried and cried, standing in the middle of the floor with her hands before her face.

"Joan," Adelaide commanded, "stop it."

But she couldn't stop. "You should n't have said it. Oh, you shouldn't."

Her distress was so genuine, that Mrs. Delafield softened. "Well, perhaps I shouldn't. I'm a cross old thing, Joan. And the deadliness of all this is driving me mad."

Joan dropped on her knees beside her aunt's chair, and slid her wet cheek against the wrinkled hand which gripped the arm of it. She was still crying, but with less passion.

The old woman bent down to her, "I'm a cross old thing," she repeated.

Joan lifted her head, "You know I love you," she said.

Adelaide knew that the child was telling the truth. Strange as it might seem, Joan loved her. And not many people loved Adelaide Delafield. She was witty and worldly-minded, and a power in her own social circle. But it had remained for Joan to put her on a pedestal and worship her.

When, after a time, Farley came to announce dinner Joan was not dressed. She sat on the floor at her aunt's feet, talking quietly. She had not told her, however, about Drew Hallam. She had meant to do it the moment she arrived, but the things which had been said had made it impossible.

When she went to her room to make a hurried toilet, she was conscious that the exaltation with which she had left her lover had been succeded by a deep depression. She felt like one who is lost in a wood . . . a beautiful wood, but strange and with no way out. . . . She said to herself, "How silly," yet she knew she was not silly. Love was a tremendous thing. And being lost in a strange wood was no light matter. Even if the wood was beautiful.

When Joan came down that night for dinner, she found the Hallams and her aunt in front of a roaring fire in the living room. Back of the house was the darkness of a great forest, in front of it the grim bluff that overlooked the sea. But within the fog was shut out, and the light of the low lamps and of flames of the pine logs played on the silver and green of Adelaide's gown and the sapphire of Nancy's and made a rich pattern of color amid the shadows.

Joan was in white with a string of pearls wound twice about her throat. Her arms were bare, there was a silver ribbon about her hips, and her slippers were of silver. When Drew Hallam placed a chair for her and she sat down in it, he touched her shoulders lightly with the tips of his fingers. It was a caress and it thrilled her.

Nancy Hallam saw the caress and wished that Drew wouldn't. He thought he was in love with Joan, and the money would help a lot. But Drew and Joan! Nancy couldn't see it. The child had dreams. And Drew would never live up to them.

Nancy was long and lithe. Her hair was red and she admitted frankly, that she had made it so. Before changing its color she had been an insignificant ash-blonde. Now everybody looked at her and that was what she wanted. She wore colors which were keyed to the red of her hair. Tonight in her sapphire gown with a metal rose of a copper shade catching up the sheer draperies she was a striking figure. Penelope Sears coming in to announce dinner, felt as if there had strayed into her Maine cabin something exotic like a gay-plumaged bird, which didn't belong there and which was better away. She didn't approve of Nancy Hallam. She didn't in fact approve of any of her summer guests except Joan Dudley. She was glad they were going. Mrs. Delafield had talked with her earlier in the day and had stated that she would see that Penelope lost nothing by their unexpected departure. Penelope had said, stiffly, that other people were waiting for rooms. She told herself that she would miss Joan. The child was sincere and sweet. And she was falling in love with Drew Hallam which Penelope felt was a pity.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, August 1

An active, interesting and memorable day, with many surprises and unforeseen developments, is the presage based on the prevailing mutual and lunar aspects. The meeting of a stranger, an elderly person disposed to be of real service, may be at the root of this abrupt reversal of current affairs. With watchfulness as to intrigues and subtlety, these changes and unsettled conditions may be turned into situations of great and lasting benefit, although they bring some unusual, perplexing and inexplicable conditions or occurrences into the life.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of the sudden and unexpected, with change, travel, new interests and associations. The actuating factor in this new opportunity may be the interest and substantial cooperation of an elderly person, or possibly institution. But the change should have solid returns if a measure of alertness as to shrewd, subtle or intriguing circumstances be exercised. Some perplexing or baffling secret enmity may come into the open, to be diplomatically dealt with. Personal reactions should be pleasant.

A child born on this day may be unusually talented but restless and changeable.

She Has Real Playmates

AN OLD TIME CLOWN WITH DOG AND FRED

Not all boys and girls have real clowns, lion cubs, cute little Shetland ponies and a score of varieties of dogs to pick from for playmates. But little Fred Hunter, son of one of the officials with the Al G. Barnes Circus has all these and in fact an endless array of the weird and bizarre that nature has bestowed, to entertain and amuse him. Fred is three years old and first saw the light of day in a New Hampshire city where the big show was playing.

The boys and girls of the Al G. Barnes Circus coming to Peterborough, Wednesday, August 8, for performances at 2 and 8 p.m., number nearly a score. Some of them represent the third and fourth generation of famous circus families. They comprise, in addition to Fred, two tiny concert dancers, a smart young bicycle rider, several acrobats and gymnasts, two Japanese boys and others who travel with their parents. They are a modest, healthy, honest part of playmates. Dan McAvoy, the "omst lettered man" with the show, who holds several degrees from an Eastern university, is assigned the task to conduct school for these youngsters every morning. In the ring McAvoy is a famous clown whose drolleries have convulsed circus audiences of American and Continental Europe for two decades. But outside of the ring he is a very serious minded young man.

The training of these children begins almost at birth. Indeed, in the vast majority of cases, there is the powerful effect of heredity, which exercises an influence upon the child and helps it to overcome obstacles to others well nigh impossible. The chief effort is to create courage and daring, to develop those qualities where they already exist. The lungs are broadened and expanded by hearty exercise, and the muscles are hardened and developed by athletic work.

RIGHTS OF THE ANCIENT PAGANS USED AT BIG WEDDING CEREMONY

New German Cult Revives Custom Followed 1,800 Years Ago.

VOWS ARE STRANGE

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.
Central Press Canadian Writer.

ALTSTETTEN, July 31.—Followers of the new Germanic faith had their big day when for the first time in nearly eighteen hundred years, a marriage was solemnized according to the rites of the old pagan cult. The wedding took place at Tubingen. Two proselytes of the Wotan-Freya-Tor religion, which flourished in Germany in the sombre days before Christianity poured its vitality and civilization northward from Rome, were married by Prof. Hauer, leader of the Wotan cult, which has now been re-established in the reich.

In a hall decorated with flowers and verdure, the young couple were seated on chairs surrounded by green birch branches. Except for the chairs and the hall—and the clothing of those in attendance at the wedding—the ceremony was exactly like a wedding celebration in the Teutoburger forest or the marshes of Brandenburg two thousand years ago, Prof. Hauer explained. If Tacitus and other writers may be credited, however, the Teutonic tribes of that distant epoch did not bother a great deal about ceremony when they were married. Of course seizure and kidnapping also involve a certain ceremonial—of violence.

Sing Hymns to Nature.

Three white-draped tables before the bride and groom were decorated with red roses and blue cornflowers. On the centre table lay the wedding rings, while on the other two tables stood candelabra in each of which burned three yellow tapers—not seven of course. One wonders what a party of hirsute, skin-clad Teuton warriors would have thought of the candelabra. Would they not, perhaps, like the Russian Cossacks in Holland in 1814, have eaten the tapers and used the candlesticks to belabor each other?

After the wedding guests had sung a hymn to spring, the preacher told the bridal couple the legend of Sigurd, who saw a mighty fire rising skyward as he was riding across the mountains one day. As he came nearer, Sigurd recognized the Amazon Brunhilde, in armor and helmet. Then Odin appeared and began to sing his strange ymns. As Brunhilde lay on the ground lulled to sleep by Odin's magic, Sigurd cut open the breast-plates of her armor—in other words disarmed her.

"Man Shall be Trained for War."

Then Prof. Hauer read a portion from Nietsche's "Thus Spake Zarathustra" on the duty of wedded couples as follows:

"Everything in woman is a riddle, and everything in woman hath one solution—it is called pregnancy."

"Man if for woman, a means: the purpose is always the child. But what is woman for man?"

"Two different things wanteth the true man: danger and diversion. Therefore wanteth he woman, as the most dangerous plaything."

"Man shall be trained for war, and woman for the recreation of the warrior: all else is folly"

"Too sweet fruits—these the warrior liketh not. Therefore liketh he woman;—bitter is even the sweetest woman."

"Better than man doth woman understand children, but man is more childish than woman."

"In the true man there is a child hidden: it wanteth to play. Up then, ye women, and discoSer the child in man!"

"Woman But a Toy."

"A plaything let woman be, pure and fine like the precious stone, illumined with the virtues of a world not yet come."

"Let the beam of a star shine in your love! Let your hope say: 'May I bear the Superman!'"

"In your love let there be valor! With your love shall ye assail him who inspireth you with fear!"

"In your love be your honor! Little doth woman understand otherwise about honor. But let this be your honor: always to love more than ye are loved, and never be the second."

"Let man fear woman when she loveth: then maketh she every sacrifice, and everything else she regardeth as worthless."

"Let man fear woman when she hateth: for man in his innermost soul is merely evil; woman, however, is mean."

"Whom hateth woman most?—Thus spake the iron,to the lodestone: 'I hate thee most, because thou attractest, but art too weak to draw unto thee.'"

"The happiness of man is, 'I will.' The happiness of woman is, 'He will.'"

"Lo! now hath the world become perfect!'—thus thinketh every woman when she obeyeth with all her love."

"Obey, must the woman, and find a depth for her surface. Surface is woman's soul, a mobile, stormy film on shallow water."

"Man's soul, however, is deep, its current gusheth in subterranean caverns: woman surmiseth its force, but comprehendeth it not."

Pray to Mother Earth.

The ceremony was brought to a close by Prof. Hauer invoking as a blessing for the bridal pair: Earth, our Mother, and Heaven, our Father, which bear and cleanse all human beings."

Various other couples were united, in accordance with the same ritual at Schwarzfelse by Prof. Hauer a few days ago. This ceremony was performed on a hilltop under a linden tree.

At the Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL

RUTH CHATTERTON AND "THE MERRY FRINKS"

Ruth Chatterton, with her pointed lovely face and a little less manner than ordinarily, is the star of "Journal of a Crime," the absorbing story that makes the second feature on a double bill at the Capitol.

Although marred at moments by slow music that gives an artificial touch to the play, it is extraordinarily interesting. Ruth is Francoise, wife of a successful playwright (Adolphe Menjou), who falls in love with his leading woman, the singer Odette (Claire Dodd). But his wife is determined that he shall not leave her, come what may, and she pays a large price for her wish. The manner in which this fine actress simulates strong emotions of varying types makes a picture that is very "different."

Then there is our old friend, Aline McMahon, as the principal figure in the story of the "cooooo" Frinks, who are anything but "merry," but provide plenty of excitement and interest for their audience. They are an erratic tribe who rely entirely on the hard-working and long suffering "Ma" Frink. Pa Frink is Hugh Herbert, boozing newshound who gets fired from one paper after another. His old mother is an unlikeable person with a similar fondness for a cheering drop of liquor. And then there is the radio-mad daughter and the Socialistic son, and the no-account younger son. They make a mad medley of noise and quarrelling, and Ma finally walks out on the lot, after the advent of an Australian uncle, who adds a gay note to the scene.

The "Merry Frinks" would be enough in themselves for any program. Combined with Miss Chatterton, they made a mighty fine program.—Jeanette.

Magistrate Issues Warning In Attempt To Put Stop To Drunkeness on Streets

Expressing a determination that Peterborough shall be maintained as "a decent place" and that "wide open" drunkeness as seen on the street's in the past few days has got to be curbed, Magistrate O. A. Langley, K. C., this morning issued a stern warning from the bench in dealing with a group of "drunks".

While the usual penalty for first offenders in this respect is $10 and $4.50 costs, His Worship stated his intention of gradually increasing the fines for drunkeness until they reached the maximum of $50 provided for under the L.C.A.

"Next week", the Cadi warned, "I intend to increase fines for drunkeness to $15 and costs; the week after I shall raise it to $20 and so on until the maximum has been reached. If there is any misunderstanding by reason of the change in the regulations, that you can consume liquor where you like you are all wrong. It is all right to consume it in the beverage rooms but intoxication or consuming of liquor in a public place is still subject to the same penalty as hitherto". His Worship observed.

The remarks from the bench were directed to four local and district men who were arrested on MacFarlane avenue last night while consuming a bottle of wine. Their automobile was parked nearby. Each of the quartette was assessed $10 and $4.50 costs or in defeut 10-days imprisonment.

Robert Knox of 542 Waterford street pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a motor vehicle on George street last evening while in an intoxicated condition. He was sentenced to serve 7-days in the County Goal which is the minimum penalty for such offence. The Chief Constable remarked there had been nothing flagrant about the case and that defendant had not been involved in an accident.

BRITISH PRESS AGAINST ARMING

Editors See Baldwin's Reference to Rhine as Meaning Germany Main Enemy.

MEMORIES 20 YEARS AGO.

By THOMAS CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 31 (C.P. Cable)—"It is hard to take seriously the allegation that the British government is initiating a new era of competitive armaments," declared the London Times to-day in remarking on acting Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's speech in the House of Commons yesterday. Mr. Baldwin expressed concern over the present inadequacy of Britain's air defences.

"The armaments race did not slacken because we stood out of it, nor is it likely to be quickened now that we have made up our minds not to be left hopelessly behind," said the Times. "For Britain to go on neglecting her defences can only prolong and intensify the unsettlement in Europe."

Mr. Baldwin's phrase about Britain's frontiers now lying, not at Dover but at the Rhine was seized upon by several other editorial writers in London newspapers. The News-Chronicle considered it constituted a practical admission the enemy against whom the government thinks it should build fighting planes is Germany.

The Daily Herald considered the phrase "unhappy, bringing memories 20 years back." The paper said it naturally suggested Britain was bound to France by some exclusive alliance.

SIX POUND BASS IS ANGLER'S LUCK

Catch Made by Charles Griffin Opposite Country Club Links.

What may prove the record bass of the year, not only for local waters but also the waters of this county, was pulled out of the canal at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club last evening by Charles Griffin. 504 Water street. The fish was a small mouth black bass 20 inches in length which tipped the scales at 6 pounds.

Demonstrating to local anglers who go far north for their bass the proverb: "Far fields look green" he landed the hard-fighting fish only after a long battle. To-day he is proudly showing it to friends who might spurn less direct testimony regarding the fish's dimensions.

NEW YORK, July 31.—(U.P.) — Art Lasky of Los Angeles and Steve Hamas of Passaic, N.J., were matched yesterday fora a heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden Bowl, Sept. 27. It will be a 10-round bout. They are title contenders.

Macdonald Surprises Kentville Rotarians

TRURO, N.S., July 31 (C.P.) — Aboard the private car Loch Lomond, Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay Macdonald, Britain's Prime Minister, was in Nova Scotia's railway hub to-day planning a trip into Pictou County.

The premier surprised the Kentville Rotary Club luncheon meeting yesterday by making a dramatic entrance just when Rev. Dr. J. H. Macdonald of Acadia University was speaking on "obstacles on the road to disarmament."

"Politicians have carried on and made a success up to a point," the premier told the members, "but they seem to be unable to maintain the confidence, goodwill and understanding that goes with a club such as this with its international program of peace and good fellowship."

It was his first public appearance since he left the United Kingdom, several weeks ago in search of health.

FAMILY LEAVES FOR COSTELLO IN NEW ONTARIO

Mrs. John Harvie and Four Children go to Join Husband and Father.

BEEN ON RELIEF

Came to Canada Five Years Ago With $1,500, But Met Misadventure.

Mrs. John Harvey, accompanied by her four children, left by the C.N.R. yesterday afternoon for northern Ontario to join her husband who is being assisted by the Ontario government in its land settlement scheme. The family had lived in a house at the rear of the row of buildings on Water street, opposite the market, having come to Peterborough several years ago. They have needed assistance from the city almost continuously since that time.

Mr. Harvey applied for recommendation from the city council for settlement in northern Ontario, and left here about the first of June to occupy a house and property that had been vacated by some other settler who had abandoned his effort to make good on the land. Their new farm is situated in the vicinity of Costello, seven miles from Charlton, the nearest railway station.

This family came to Canada five years ago next October with a savings of $1500 which they wished to invest in this country. They purchased a farm near Tweed, but by misadventure were unable to retain it, and lost both the property and their money. Shortly afterwards they came to Peterborough.

By the government's land settlement scheme a family receives $600, one-third of which is paid by the city. Transportation costs are paid out of the fund. An additional sum of $100 was expended in purchasing clothing and other necessities for Mrs. Harvie and the four children, two of whom are young enough to travel on the mother's ticket.

CAMP IS CLOSED AT MOIRA LAKE

C. G. I. T. Girls From Tweed, Belleville, Trenton, Madoc Spend Real Holiday.

SPORT RESULTS GIVEN.

MADOC, July 31. (Examiner Correspondence). — Yesterday was breaking-up-day at the C.G.I.T. camp, Moira Lake, and it was with deep regret that "good-byes" were said, and hopes were expressed that many a life-long friendship has had its inception during the camp days of July 20-30 of 1934.

The C.G.I.T. camp was opened on July 20th, under the leadership of Miss Dorothy Card, Belleville, immediately after the breaking up of the boys' camp from Belleville.

Camp Community at Moira Lake has become an annual feature in the lives of many of the boys and girls of Belleville, Tweed, Madoc Trenton and the surrounding districts. About forty-six girls have been in camp this year and it has been an "Alice in Wonderland" camp, which accounts for some of the names.

Sports day was held on Wednesday, July 25th and was also Visitors' Day. The girls were divided into groups corresponding to the cabin or tent in which they sleep. Each girl tried to win points for her group and each entrant counted a point. Looking Glass Cabin (No. 2) came first with 35 points; Rabbits' Hole (Cabin 3) came second with 32 points; Wo-He-Lo (Cabin 1) was third with 25 points; Palace Inn (Cabin 4) was fourth with 16; Ceder Nook Tent was fifth with 14 points. (It may be added that in the tent were only six girls while there were ten in each cabin).

Weddings

CARTER—SIMPSON

BALLYDUFF, July 31. (Examiner Correspondence).—The marriage of Miss Letta Simpson and Harry Carter was solemnized on Wednesday evening at the manse at Newtonville, the old home town of the groom. Following the ceremony the happy couple left by motor for a brief honeymoon trip before taking up their new home at Pontypool.

McKENZIE—RICHARDS

CENTRETON, July 31 (Examiner Correspondence)—On Wednesday, July 25, a pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized at Warkworth when Edith Ruth, eldest daughter of Mrs. Richards and the late Dr. N. J. Richards was united in marriage to Roland McKenzie, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McKenzie of Centreton. Rev. G. R. Duncan officiated. Immediate members of the family were present.

The bride was unattended and wore a gown of peach flowered chiffon. Following luncheon the couple left for Montreal and other points. The bride travelling in a white and yellow ensemble with white accessories to match. On their return they will reside in the village at Centreton.

PRATT—ELLIOTT

(Examiner Correspondence)

BRIDGENORTH, July 31. — On Friday evening, July 27, 7 o'clock at the United Church parsonage, Bridgenorth in the presence of but a few friends, the marriage took place of Miss Lillian Mae Elliott, only daughter of William and Mrs. Elliott of Selwyn to Charles Lyndly Pratt, son of Mr. Thomas and the late Mrs. Pratt of Peterborough. Rev. C. C. Miller officiating.

The bride looked charming indeed in her gown of white imported brocade organdie with a veil of old lace with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lily of the valley and baby's breath.

Miss Grace Bickell of Peterborough acted in the capacity of bride's maid, her gown was of printed chiffon and she carried pink roses.

The groom was attended by Vern Janeway of Peterborough.

After the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents when about twenty guests from New York, Peterborough, Lakefield and Selwyn sat down to a most carefully planned wedding supper. The toast to the bride was proposed by her minister. The bride and groom left the same evening midst showers of confetti and best wishes for a motor trip to Toronto and other points. The bride's travelling ensemble was of brown silk crepe trimmed in white with accessories to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Pratt will reside in Peterborough.

YELLWSTONE PARK, Wyo., July 30. CP).—The silver tip grizzlies of Yellowstone Park are going in for bigger families.

Four mother bears, each with a set of triplets, have been coming to the bears' "lunch counter."

LONDON.—Fifty British schoolboys will sail from here Friday to explore and survey a hitherto unmapped area of Newfoundland. This is the third expedition organized by the Public Schools Exploring Society of which the Prince of Wales is president.

Leader of the party, leaving this week, is Surgeon-Commander Murray Levick.

--:--

BRANTFORD. — With local banks charging seven per cent discount for acceptance of U. S. silver, local merchants are beginning to be wary of accepting silver coinage from across the line. With tourist traffic increasing, the amount of such silver in circulation is also gaining. Many merchants have been pocketing the loss. But as the higher rate is enforced, it is expected they will discount the coin.

--:--

WARSAW.—More than 50,000 Polish families are destitute as a result of recent disastrous floods, and it is impossible to estimate the number of those who lost their lives, or the property damage, Premier Kozlowski told a meeting of the government party to-day.

--:--

TOKYO.—The Korean Government General announced to-day that more than 300 persons are dead or missing following recent floods in South Korea. The losses were estimated at about $9,000,000. It was announced 12,000 houses were swept away; 83,000 inundated, and more than 300,000 acres of farms had been destroyed.

--:--

MONTEUX, France.—A 70-year-old housemaid, Mme. Valopin, was arrested to-day on a charge of having obtained 500,000 francs from three Avignon art patrons, who allegedly were deluded in the belief they were buying rare pictures and royal hairlooms from the magnificent Paris residence of the Princess Bourbon-Parme.

--:--

REYKJAVIK, Iceland.—John Grierson, British flier whose seaplane crashed here during an attempted flight from Rochester, England, to Ottawa, left to-day for Leith, Scotland, aboard an Icelandic steamer with the damaged parts of his machine. The parts will be repaired in England and Grierson said he hoped to return within two weeks and resume his flight to Canada.

--:--

ESSEX.—Two men held up the Trimble Garage here early to-day and at point of gun forced the night-man, Harold Brown, to turn over nearly $10, all the cash in the place.

Brown was tied up in the stockroom but managed to loosen his bonds in time to see the bandits heading east on Number 3 Highway. Police have found no trace of them.

--:--

BRANTFORD. — Applications for naturalisation have materially increased here since the disturbance in Central Europe became acute, according to figures obtained to-day at the county clerk's office. During July, 14 applications were filed, the largest monthly number on record. The figures compare with four filed in June, five in May and four in April.

--:--

VATICAN CITY.— Pope Pius XI left the walls of the Vatican at 5.37 p.m. to-day for his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo.

He and his suite made the trip by motor car. The Pope rode with Monsignor Caccia Dominioni. The blinds of the automobile were drawn.

--:--

CALLANDER.—The 65-day old Dionne quintuplets kicked tiny legs as usual in their incubator today, unaware they are the attraction of hundreds of tourists.

Daily through this part of Northern Ontario scores of motor cars arrived here just so their occupants can get a glimpse of the little Dionne farm house or the parents of the five baby sisters.

--:--

WINDSOR.—A 15 year old Chattanooga, Tenn., guest in Essex county jail went swimming to-day in the Detroit river without the consent of the guards who spent an anxious half hour before they found the youth hiding under a small dock. Just how he managed to "break jail" is not known. Now he is in close custody.

--:--

BRISTOL. — The touring Australians made a good start to-day in their match against the Gloucestershire county cricket eleven, batting first and running up 246 runs for loss of only two wickets.

Unnamed Vessel Sends Out Word Body Picked Up

All Hope For Peterborough Paddler Is Not Abandoned As Reports Cannot Be Confirmed—Steamer Gives No Further Word—No mention of Canoe.

CHANCE HELD ADVENTURER MAKING WAY ALONG LONELY SHORES OF NEWFOUNDLAND

MONTREAL, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Renewed hope that John Smith, Peterborough's intrepid canoeist, was still alive, followed a close checkup of radio stations in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence and Newfoundland that failed today to confirm reports that Smith had perished on his lone trip from Gaspe, Que., to Cape Ray, Nfld. A wireless report announcing his body had been picked up 100 miles from the Canadian shore was received in New Carlisle, Que., and by the Canadian government steamship Cartier off Halifax but the source of the message could not be identified. The Cartier reported she had not seen the young paddler.

All government radio stations were canvassed for information and they reported they had not heard the message relating to Smith and thought the announcement of the finding of his body was without foundation.

Should the reports be incorrect the only hope for the 24-year-old voyager appeared to be that he had made shelter at some isolated point perhaps in Newfoundland. A check showed he had not arrived at any inhabited place.

Smith, who left his native city of Peterborough, Ont., on June 18, planned a voyage which would eventually take him to Peterborough England, departed from Gaspe about 10 days ago. Mariners expressed concern over the ability of the frail craft to stand up to the waves of the gulf.

Carried No Compass.

He had to compass, intending to draw upon his lengthy experience as a seaman to guide, himself by the stars. He carried provisions for some weeks. The canoe, "The Pride of Peterborough," was not located when his body was found, according to the reports which were received in New Carlisle, Que., yesterday.

A doubt as to the accuracy of the reports appeared when it was found that the steamer first mentioned as having found the body had reached Quebec three days after but had not picked up any body. The waters, however, are well traversed by craft of various types and some other steamer may have made the grim discovery.

Unreported

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 1 (CP)—Long overdue for his projected arrival at Cape Ray from Gaspe, Que., John Smith remained unreported in Newfoundland to-day. A slight hope persisted that the daring young Ontario canoeist might have succeeded in reaching some isolated spot on the coast, but no report to this effect had reached St. John's.

No Informaion

HALIFAX, Aug. 1 (CP)—Officials of the East Coast Radio Signal Service, Department of Marine, said to-day they had no information concerning a report that the body of John Smith, missing Ontario canoeist, had been found at sea.

Ottawa Skeptical

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP)—Officials of the Marine Department to-day voiced skepticism at reports emanating from New Carlisle, Que., to the effect that an "unidentified steamer" had wirelessed a message declaring the body of John Smith, Peterborough canoeist, had been picked up.

"There is no such thing as an 'unidentified steamer' sending radio messages these days," one officer of the department said. "We attach little credence to the report."

STRIKE FAILS TO SPREAD.

MONTREAL, July 31. —(C P.)— Four thousand striking members of the Amalgamated clothing workers of America, makers of men's clothes will continue to picket shops without the support of 3,000 additional strikers they had been counting on. A complete tie-up in the clothing industry in Montreal was averted last night by the decision of officials of the International Ladies' Garment workers.

MOTHER WAITS FURTHER WORD OF JOHN SMITH

Ray of Hope is Held in Latest Reports of Peterborough Canoeist.

STARTED JUNE 18.

Made Name For Himself in His Paddle Down St. Lawrence.

Prostrated by the report yesterday afternoon that her son John's body had been picked up in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Mrs. Theresa Smith, widow mother of the lone paddler, clung to a new hope as she waited hour after hour today in her Benson avenue home for confirmation of the tragic news. Her outlook was considerably brightened by the reported possibility that he may yet be alive somewhere along the rugged coast of Newfoundland.

News of the original report concerning the finding of the body was broken to the anxious mother shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon. The despatch from New Carlisle telling of a wireless message from a ship in the Gulf was relayed by The Examiner to the Police Department and Detective-Sergeant William Meagher went immediately to the Smith home. Although she had been advised to expect the worst by a reporter visiting her the previous day, she suffered severely from the shock.

Considerably Heartened

At 10 o'clock in the evening further word reached The Examiner revealing that no confirmation of the wireless message could be secured. A reporter hastened to carry the news to her and she was considerably heartened. Her other sons, Earle, Carl and Gordon, remained by her side to comfort her in any way possible.

Earle and Gordon, who are employed at the Kingdon cooperage shop and Baker's wood yard, went about the regular duties as usual today pending more definite information. They, as well as Carl and their mother, cling to the belief that John may yet be found alive.

INSPECTS HOSPITAL.

As one of the first official acts upon assuming his duties as Medical Officer of Health and City Physician of Peterborough today, Dr. G. Murray Fraser made a tour of inspection at Queen Mary Isolation Hospital. He was accompanied by Alderman Walter Stocker, chairman of the Board of Health.

During the course of the present week, the M.O.H. intimated to The Examiner he intends to carry out a complete inspection of all milk dairies and distributors within the city and to follow up with a further inspection of the producers of milk in the urban and rural districts with a view to satisfying himself as to whether or not provisions of the by-law governing the handling and sale of milk are being adhered to.

Appointment of Dr. Fraser took place at a special meeting of city council, called at the request of Alderman Stocker, on the evening of June 13 last. It was unanimous and the salary was stipulated at $3,000 per annum.

Dr. Fraser was born in Toronto, the son of the late Alexander R. Fraser. He has had much experience in public health matters. While a student at the Medical School at University of Toronto he enlisted

Dressler Estate Total Undisclosed

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.— (A. P.).—The amount of money and property left by Marie Dressler, movie actress, whose funeral was held yesterday could not be learned today, although she is believed to have amassed a considerable fortune in the last seven years of her life.

She is understood to have left large cash sums in various banks, and stocks and bonds, besides her large home in Beverley Hills.

A sister, Mrs. Richard Ganthony, the former Bonita Koerber, Toronto, Ont., now living in Richmond, Surrey, England, is believed to be the only near relative of Miss Dressler, whose real name was Keola Koerber.

It could not be learned whether Mrs. Ganthony is a beneficiary in the actress' will, which was said to be in possession of A. B. Walker, Santa Barbara, one of Miss Dressler's closest friends. He is reported to have been named by her as executor of the estate.

PRINCE HOLIDAYS

WINDSOR, Eng., Aug. 1. (AP). The Prince of Wales left for Paris to-day by aeroplane—his favorite method of travel—on his way to Biarritz where he plans to spend a three weeks' holiday.

PARIS, Aug. 1. (S.P.-Havas).—Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister to France, will leave for Nancy to-morrow to attend the state funeral of Marshal Louis Lyautey, the "maker of Morocco."

Daytime Jail Terms Given Newspapermen

DANVILLE, Ky., Aug. 1. (AP).—Jail sentences during the day time which prevented them from working were given Wesley Carty and Jock Durham, Danville newspapermen, on contempt charges to-day by Judge Jay W. Harlan.

The pair has gone to jail daily with one exception since July 24 for refusing to testify at Judge Harlan's court of inquiry into the hanging in effigy of Representative J. Sterling Towles. They claimed they received advance information as to the affair in confidence. The judge contended that under the law he had to punish for contempt any witness who declined to answer a competent question.

Hitherto the newspapermen had been called before Judge Harlan at 4 p.m. and given three to six hours in jail which did not interfere with their work.

Your Evening Smile

CHISELING CHARLIE

At a matinee a little man called at the theatre, bought two tickets, and proceeded to enter, followed by his wife and 11 children.

"Here!" shouted the doorkeeper, "where are the other tickets?"

"What other tickets?" asked the man.

"Why—for this crowd."

The man with the family answered angrily, "Did you not advertise children under 12 with parents admitted free?"

"We did," retorted the doorkeeper, "but these are not under 12."

"Then count them and you will find there's just 11 of them—we left the other at home."

Diversion

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Aug. 1. —(CP)—No wonder police were perplexed—the undertaker was stepping out.

Officers took charge of a hearse which apparently had been abandoned, coffin and all.

Then appeared James Singleton, Negro undertaker, who explained the coffin was empty. He came from Florence, S.C., for a body, but it had gone south by train, so he went to a party in Harlem.

ONTARIO CROPS ARE CUT IN HALF BY DRY SPELL

Spasmodic Rains Have Brought Relief in Few Sections of Province.

PASTURES DRIED UP.

(By The Canadian Press)

Cooling breezes and spasmodic rains have brought relief in some sections to Ontario's parched farmlands, but absence of moisture in other districts for nearly two weeks, has left a seared path across part of the province, darkening hopes of harvesting bountiful crops.

Reduced 50 Per Cent.

Estimates that crops will be reduced about 50 per cent in fields bordering the shore of Lake Ontario are made in Kingston area where one rain has fallen in two weeks, while showers that dampened Brockville territory were insufficient to rejuvenate wilting crops and pastures. Milk supplies are reported 50 per cent below normal, and operations of cheese factories are being affected correspondingly. Dry creeks and wells are reported for miles around.

A long brown scar, caused by a torrid sun, extended west from Toronto over a narrow area extending far down to Lambton and Essex counties.

Apple Crop Hard Hit

Brant, hard hit for the last three weeks, predicted apple crops would not be more than half normal, while Waterloo reported poor wheat and root crops generally, though pastures are barren in many places.

Disappointing potato yields also are indicated in Oxford, where in many parts farmers are being forced to carry water for their stock. Some sections of the county reported no rain since June 18, while to the north a heavy storm Monday materially assisted pastures, corn and root growth.

Perth, a little to the north of the torrid zone, presented a more opti-

GERMAN RUMOR MONGERS BUSY

Claim Hindenburg Has Political Will Urging Restoration of Monarchy.

HEIR NOW IN DETROIT.

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (C.P.-Havas) — Since the sanguinary events of June 30, nothing has given such an impetus to the favorite occupation of the German people — rumor mongering—as the present illness of Reichs President Paul Von Hindenburg.

As is usual in a time of crisis, the newspapers have been completely muzzled, and the most startling reports are being circulated by word of mouth.

It is said, for example, that Von Hindenburg, who is now thought to be in his last hours, has written a political will urging the restoration of the monarchy. The report gains some adherents when it is recalled that the aged president always was faithful to the Kaiser.

Should there by any truth to it, observers pointed out, and should the plan prove acceptable to the Nazis, which seems very improbable, the 27-year-old son of Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm, Prince Louis Ferdinand, who is now working in the Ford factory in Detroit, would presably be heir to the throne.

The ex-Kaiser and the ex-Crown Prince both abdicated, and the Crown Prince's first son is excluded because he married a commoner.

Uncertainty shrouds that fate of John Smith intrepid Peterborough canoeist who dared the Gulf of St. Lawrence alone in his 16-foot canoe. Yesterday it was reported that a wireless received at New Carlile on the gulf had stated a ship had picked up Smith's body. But hour after hour passed and no confirmation can be obtained.

Three-Eyed Fish

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP)—Even three eyes didn't prevent this fish being caught. A freak pickerel, loaned to North Bay's tourist information bureau by Herbert Lloyd, who captured it in Lake Temagami, has a third eye on its top right gill that is just the same as its other optics. The fish is otherwise normal.

FRAUD CHARGES SLAGHT CLAIMS

Petition Made to Government Before Meighen Named to Hydro Commission.

EVIDENCE REFUSED.

TORONTO, Aug. 1. —(CP)— A statement that a petition was before the government asking investigation of Senator Arthur Meighen's conduct of business in companies with which he was associated at the time he was appointed to the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission was made today before the "Abitibi deal" Royal Commission.

The statement was made by Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., Royal Commission counsel who sought to introduce into the evidence a question regarding the petition, but was not permitted to do so.

In a statement in which he sought to introduce the question Mr. Slaght said: "There was before the government a petition tyled, setting forth facts and documents and asking an inquiry into charges of fraud against Mr. Meighen."

Inquiry Launched

The Commission counsel declared an inquiry had been launched before the senator's appointment to the Hydro Commission and that it had been stopped after his appointment.

He sought to ask former Attorney-General W. H. Price if he knew at the time of Mr. Meighen's appointment that such a petition was being probed. The question was disallowed, however, on the grounds

All England Ready For Record Holiday

By GEORGE HAMBLETON

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, Aug. 1. (C.P. Cable).—All England is holidaying. By this week-end will see a record migration by rail and road to Britain's seaside resorts and Moorlands. the railway passenger business will boom.

From one London station alone 150 fast express trains will leave for Somerset, Devon and Cornwall on Friday and Saturdy. The Northern and Midland systems are placing 600 extra trains in operation to handle the vacation throngs.

England's popular "mystery trains" which convey the adventurous to destinations unknown, have returned for the mid-summer occasion.

One railway excursion covers the length and breadth of England, from Berwick-On-Tweed to Portsmouth, and back in one day.

MOUNTIES RUSH TO COAL MINES IN NOVA SCOTIA

Several Injured as Strikers and Non-Strikers Clash.

POLICE ATTACKED.

STELLARTON, N.S., Aug. 1.—(CP).—Reinforcements were rushed into Stellarton to-day by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to prevent further riots among miners of the Acadia Coal Company.

Early this morning pickets stormed a group of six policemen, injuring two and bruising others. They broke windows in the Allan shaft washhouse and the company office and were out searching for mine manager A. H. Baudaux when they were distracted by a fire which destroyed a large barn on the colliery property.

Violence first broke out on the Albion property yesterday afternoon when strikers and non-strikers clashed. Several miners were injured and seven who had ignored the strike call were thrown into a nearby pond.

A mob gathered as the night shift finished at the Allan shaft and when police guarded four workers wantedd by the pickets stones began to fly. A police car was battered but the four men were transported safely to their homes.

Police Save Car

When police returned the strikers were in the act of tipling another police car. Destruction of the car was prevented but stones flew thick and fast and Constable J. A. Neilson went down with a bad cut below one eye. Constable Firzell was hurt and others were bruised.

Picketers manned a large motor truck which was driven to the home of Manager Baudoux but the manager was not there. While the pickets were waiting around they heard the fire alarm. Suspicious of a trap were dispelled by streams of red across the sky and they returned to the colliery to find the barn in flames.

Excitement over the fire apparently climaxed the night's disorders and no further disorders were reported.

The strike, in protest over suspension of a miner for using profane language to a manager, has kept operations at the Allan shaft and Albion colliery at a minimum for several days.

Attempted To Buy Pound of Chloroform

TORONTO, Aug. 1. (CP). Frank Wood, one of five men held by Police in connection with an attempted kidnapping of John Stanley McLean of Toronto, prominent Canadian businessman, tried a few days ago to buy a pound of chloroform from Edward Vogelman, New Toronto druggist, police said to-day. Vogelman refused to sell it.

The five men to-day appeared in court for preliminary hearing and were remanded without bail until Aug. 9.

BENNETT FAIR SAYS HEPBURN OF RELIEF MEET

Amount of Lump Sum Ontario Will Receive Not Yet Determined.

MUCH RE-ORGANIZING.

New Department of Municipal Affairs to be Functioning in Few Days.

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—(C. P.)—Well satisfied with the result of the interprovincial conference at Ottawa, Premier Mitchell Hepburn arrived back at his office today and resumed his work of re-organizing the services and departments of the Ontario government. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was fair in every way, he said, and the discussions with regard to Ontario's relief problems were amicable.

"Mr. Bennett and I got along splendidly," said the new Liberal premier.

The amount of the lump sum payment Ontario will receive from the federal government to aid in carrying on relief has not yet been determined, Mr. Hepburn said but further negotiations will be carried on shortly. Under the new arrangement the Dominion will cease contributing to relief works and direct relief on a one-third cost basis and make a straight grant to each province based on its requirements.

Unpaid Accounts

Before a definite agreement can be entered the question of certain unpaid accounts under the former agreement between Ontario and the Dominion must be settled. Before the election Mr. Hepburn said the Ontario government started certain works which had not been authorized by the Dominion government. The cost of these amounted to a considerable sum and the Dominion objected to paying a share.

The premier said there was "quite a conflict of view between Mr. Bennett and our relief officer." (J. A. Ellis) over the Dominion's liability. Mr. Ellis had claimed former Premier George Henry told

VON HINDENBURG TAKES BAD TURN

Heart is Slowing and Aged President Gradually Losing Consciousness.

VISITED BY HITLER.

BERLIN, Aug. 1. (A.P.).—An announcement at 8:28 p.m. tonight said President Von Hindenburg's death agony had set in and death was expected in less than an hour.

NEUDECK, Germany Aug. 1— (A. P.)—A sudden turn for the worse in the condition of Reichs President Paul Von Hindenburg was reported to-night by the physicians attending him.

They issued the following bulletin:

"The President's weakness is increasing. He is gradually losing consciouaness. His heart is slowing.'

Previous to that announcement the immense vitality of the 86-year-old former field marshal had caused a ray of hope that he might weather his present illness. For a time, the physicians even ceased giving out bulletins.

Persistent rumors that Von Hindenburg already was dead—with the announcement withheld until the Nazis deem the time more opportune—were promptly denied by responsible government officials in Berlin.

Chancellor Hitler came here by aeroplane from Berlin to-day to confer with the sick president Hitler was in the President's home sightly more than one and a quarter hours.

DRUGGIST DIES IN CRASH

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 1.—(CP). Thomas E. Totten, prominent druggist, age about 45, managing director of A. C. Smith Co. Arrests Nip New Toronto Gang's Kidnap Plans

PLOT IS FOILED TO KIDNAP HEAD CANADAPACKERS

Five Men, Including Two Brothers, Son of One of Them Arrested.

$100,000 RANSOM.

Claim Victim Was to be Held in Tunnel Under New Toronto Tourist Camp.

TORONTO, Aug. 1.— (C. P.) — Silent regarding their operations, police today continued probing an alleged conspiracy to kidnap one of Canada's leading business men and hold him for a reported $100,000 ransom. Believed the first case of its type in the Dominion, the alleged plot was aimed at James Stanley McLean, president of Canada Packers, Limited.

Five men, including two brothers and a son of one of them, are in police toils in connection with the case. Three are charged with conspiracy to commit an indictable offence. They are Harry Leslie, 40, James Leslie, 36, brothers; and Frank Wood, 33-year-old unemployed man of New Toronto. Police said the Leslies came here from Winnipeg.

Held as material witnesses are Peter Leslie, 18, son of Harry Leslie, and Fred Hastings, 30. The Leslie Brothers are proprietors of a tourist camp on the lakeshore highway and were arrested at their homes with Harry's son while the other two men were taken into custody yesterday in the New Toronto home of Wood.

According to police the alleged

Osage Rain Maker Is Disappointed As Pow-wow Brings Shower But No Flood

FAIRFAX, Okla., Aug. 1 (AP)—Nee-Shu-Kah-Nah, the Osage Indian medicine man, is muttering the Osage equivalent of "You can't get blood out of a turnip."

The worst drought in tribal records had settled this summer on the people of the old necromancer, whose name in the white man's tongue is "Rain Maker." Crops had withered; cattle are choking with thirst; the heat was almost intolerable."

Nee-Shu-Kah-Nah decided to do something about it.

He had brought rains before, he confided to fellow braves.

Before he left to climb the high hill where he proposed to charm the weather, Rain Maker issued a flood warning. The biggest downpour in history would fall, he said.

Nee-Shu-Kah-Nah built a spell-making fire which sent a long blue plume into the shimmering sky. He beat his prayer drum, chanted the rain-making songs he had learned long ago—then awaited results.

At the appointed time the sky darkened, black clouds gathered. Wind swirled through the buffalo grass, and forked lightning split the sky.

It sprinkled. And that was all.

Rain Maker shook his head. He had done his part.

Pin Ousts Bull

ONEIDA, N. Y., Aug. 1.—(C P)—A safety pin was used by a woman to ward off an infuriated bull which had knocked her down and was attempting to trample her at a nearby farm yesterday.

Mrs. Josephine Wysocki, 35, screamed as the animal floored her. While her 17-year-old daughter who was attracted to the scene beat the bull with a broom, Mrs. Wysocki removed a safety pin from her dress and jabbed the animal until it retreated. It was shot later by state troopers.

UNITED STATES ENDS PARLEYS ON RECIPROCITY

No Further Discussion Until Issue Settled Between Canadian Parties.

BRITAIN, GERMANY ON LIST.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (CP) — President Roosevelt's plans to open up Canadian, British and a number of other attractive markets for United States goods by means of new reciprocal trade agreements are not progressing as rapidly as had been hoped at one time, an authoritative source discloses.

Canada, Great Britain, Germany, Soviet Russia, Argentina and Austria have been placed on a list by United States officials relegating them to a back seat in immediate discussions.

It was said no negotiations with Dominion officials were in the offing because reciprocity is a political issue in the land north of the border. An outline of what each country is willing to give and take has been informally discussed between W. D. Herridge, the Canadian Minister, and State Department heads. It is definitely understood, however, that until the reciprocity issue is settled between the Canadian political parties, the tariff bargainers will not get down to cut and dried propositions.

The British position has been stated several times in the last few months by Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade. He favors delaying trade conversations until the world's economic picture becomes more clarified.

Countries with which Washington will likely start negotiations soon are Sweden, Portugal and several other smaller European countries.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP)—Covering an estimated distance of 501 miles in 25 hours, a homing pigeon, released in Minneapolis, Minn., returned to its owner, Arthur Milner, here. Milner was notified by wire when the bird was liberated.

AUSTRIA POINTS ACCUSING FINGER GERMAN NAZIS

Revolt Orders Came From There—Code Seized in Messenger's Shoe.

PRISONER CONFESSES.

By WADE WERNER
(Copyright, 1934, By The A. P.)

VIENNA, Aug. 1.—Austria officially pointed an accusing finger at Germany to-day for the blood which flowed from a Nazi attempt to seize the government one week ago.

An announcement approved by the cabinet said directions to Austrian Nazis were sent into the country several weeks ago from Germany.

The plans, which included the possibility of civil war, said Walter Adam, propaganda chief in a radio address, were seised in the shoes of a man arrested in upper Austria. This man confessed receiving $100 for delivering the documents—now partially decoded, Adam said.

The cabinet is stil delaying action on aprpoval or rejection of Vice Chancellor Franz Von Papen as a special envoy to Vienna.

Charge Against Fascists

Although the revolution is aparently crushed except for sporadic bombings, the Fascist government headed by Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg continued its vigorous anti-opposition campaign.

A startling interview was given by Franz Winkler, former Vice Chancellor under the late Chancellor Dollfuss, in which he charged the Fascist Heimwehr (home guard) had planned to overthrow Dollfuss until the Nazi Putsch beat them to it.

The Heimwehr is now a most important cog in a truce government with its leader, Prince Rudiger Ernst Von Starhemberg, serving as Vice Chancellor.

In linking Germany with the Putsch, Dr. Adam said the man arrested with the plans had a German passport in the name of Franz Heel. Nazis were not named, he said, but were referred to as "our people."

Marmora Samples First Hotel Beer

MARMORA, Aug. 1 (Examiner Correspondence).—The new beverage room installed at the Royal Hotel, Marmora, operated for the first time at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, with the arrival of a belated license. The small consignment of bottled beer was quickly consumed by the number of local "wets" who got tidings of its arrival.

Some of the old timers who were among the first patrons, asked in jocular mood, how the new beverage tasted, replied enthusiastically, "Very good."

Favors Hapsburg

BARON KURT WIESNER

If ex-Empress Zita of Austria, succeeds in placing her son, Prince Otto, upon the ancient throne of the Hapsburgs this is the man she will have to thank for their return to power. He is Baron Dr. Kurt Wiesner, personal representative of the exiled royal family, who is behind the scenes directing all monarchist activities in Vienna. The royal family makes no move without his counsel. He is declared one of the most astute diplomats in Europe.

with the 1st. Battalion Canadian Expeditionary Force and served in France as lieutenant, suffering wounds that caused him to be invalided home. On his return to Canada he continued his studies in medicine and graduated from University in 1921.

He entered the service of the Department of Health and took charge of the Provincial Laboratory at Owen Sound. In 1926 he was transferred here and had charge of the Laboratory here until 1927, when he became associated with the Standard Medical and Surgical Clinic upon taking up private practice.

Asked by The Examiner as to what plan of action he was contemplating, Dr. Fraser replied: "I am going to get in touch with Alderman Stocker and make a thorough inspection at the Isolation Hospital today. As soon as possible, probably during this week, I also intend to make an inspection of all milk dairies and milk distributors in the city and to follow up among the producers in the urban and rural districts to satisfy myself as to whether or not provisions of the milk law are being adhered to."

"That," the M.O.H. added, "is about all I have lined up for the immediate future although there are of course a lot of things that have to be done."

He referred to the proposals of the city fathers that call for the combining of all public health services in the city expressing the opinion it was a matter that would require much careful study and consideration, and one that could not be unduly hurried.

While the new suite offices that are being prepared for Dr. Fraser in the city hall under direction of the City Trust are being completed ready for occupancy in about ten days' time, Dr. Fraser is temporarily at a loss to know where to locate his office, but observed that such a circumstance would not prevent him from getting down to business at once.

BUILDING PERMITS TOTALLED $15,910

Construction in City to End of July Totals $92,685.

Thirty-one building permits were issued by the city engineer's department in July authorizing building construction aggregating $15,910 in value.

While the figures show an increase over the previous month when building permits totalled a value of $11,000, a decrease is shown over the first seven months as compared with the corresponding period of last year. From January to the end of July this year building construction in the city was valued at $92,685 as compared with $108,877 at this time last year.

Of the thirty-one permits issued twenty-six were miscellaneous, three were for dwellings, and two were for garages. The major permit listed under the head of miscellaneous permits was for additions to the Brewery Warehouse at an estimated cost of $5,700, the work on which was suspendde on Saturday.

The three dwellings in course of erection are on Lansdowne street where H. Gainor has a contract to build a house for Dorothy S. Cocks and Archie H. Cocks, to be completed by October, at a cost of $2,000; on Douglas avenue where F. Routley is having a bungalow erected by Fred. Dummitt, contractor, at a cost of $2,000; and also on Douglas avenue, a house which is being erected by Russell Henry at a cost of $1,500.

HITLER INTENDS TO BE PRESIDENT AND CHANCELLOR

Scheme Means Dictatorship as Absolute as Any in the World.

NO CABINET OPPOSITION.

Wait Death of Slowly Sinking Hindenburg—Only Snag Seen in Army.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
(Copyright, 1934, By The A. P.)

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—Adolf Hitler intends to be both President and Chancellor of Germany, one of his close friends told the Associated Press to-day.

This would give Hitler a dictatorship as absolute as any in the world.

Hitler flew to Neudeck with his staff this morning to be at Von Hindenburg's bedside, after ordering the cabinet back from vacations for a session to-night.

The German press was commanded not to speculate on Von Hindenburg's successor.

Physicians watching over the President as he lies near death at Neudeck, East Prussia, reported he was weaker to-day. The end of the 86-year-old leader seemed near.

Very Brief Ceremony

If Von Hindenburg dies, the Associated Press informant said, Hitler would call the cabinet together and read a brief law concentrating all power to himself as President and Chancellor.

"The whole thing will take but a few minutes" he said, "for the cabinet will of course endorse the proposal. It will simplify Der Fuehrer's (Hitler's) whole work immensely if he need not first ask somebody whether he may do this or that."

An indication of the reliability of this source is that Sunday he revealed Von Hindenburg's turn for the worse and was the first man to tip off the fact that Hitler was going to Venice to meet Mussolini.

Under the constitution Dr. Erwin Bumke, President of the Supreme Court, would become acting President until an election could be held. "All that has been taken care of" was the terse statement the propaganda bureau on the matter of succession. To many observers this indicated the stage has been set for Hitler.

Unlimited Power.

A foreign office official pointed out "The Hitler Government holds emergency power enabling it to do almost anything."

If such are the plans of Hitler, the time is speedily approaching when Germany's enigma, the Rechswehr, or regular army will have to uncover itself. It has long been devoted to Von Hindenburg, Germany's world war hero.

Men who know the spirit of the Recihswehr say it is possible Hitler would not have such smooth sailing if he seated himself in the Hindenburg chair.

Ever since 1919, it was pointed out the Reichswehr has adamantly refused to become the football of politics. The army was the chief instrument of the President, while police the agency of political cabnets.

An Army About-Face.

To place the Reichswehr under Hitler, the head of a political government and a political party, friends of the army say, would mean an about-face on a policy carefully nurtured as a heritage of the army for 15 years.

Hitler's powers would become unlimited. They would include that of removing men like General Werner Von Fritsch, chief of staff of the army, who is said not to be in accord with Nazi policies.

Political circles regarded it an open queston whether the Reichswehr would quietly accept subordination to Hitler.

RECORD SHIPPING SEASON IN SIGHT FOR CHURCHILL

CHURCHILL, Aug. 1 — (C. P.). —Warm winds whistled down Hudson Strait to-day as harbour crews at this northern seaport prepared to open navgation season of 1934 Shipping agents busied themselves around the dock, winches creaked and machinery hummed as the port went into preliminaries for the opening on August 10.

With 10 steamers definitely chartered and more bookings in the offing port officials were enthused over bright prospects for a record shipping season. A complete crew already is on hand to swing machinery into action at the huge elevator filled with 2,500,00 bushels of wheat.

First of the fleet of vessels to trade here this season, the S. S. Dalworth will bring a general cargo from Newcastle and Antwerp.

NO PHEASANT SHOOT

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP) —Voicing objections to the annual open season on pheasants, a one-day shoot in October, Wentworth County farmers are suggesting a moratorium be declared on the birds this year. It was pointed out that many pheasants were killed by the severe winter, and that farmers' property, particularly their poultry suffered from onslaughts of the city sharpshooters last year.

Freak Animal Is Only a Pet Ferret

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 1. (Examiner Correspondence).—The animal recently shot and killed on the farm of W. G. Barrie and described in a previous report as a freak animal being half weasel and half cat, has been identified as the pet ferret that belonged to Frank Cope, summer visitor at Harper's point.

The animal was recently found by Mr. Barrie playing at the feet of an infant child. "Pete" as the ferret was fondly known by his owner had escaped from his cage during the night and had wandered abroad ony to meet with his death.

The owner accepted the apologies of Mr. Barrie and replaced the deceased Pete with another ferret who has already made himself at home in the cage recently occupied by his predecessor.

Mill Takes 9-4 Win In Snappy Fixture

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, August 1.—In a snappy game of ball played on the High School grounds last evening, in the Campbellford Town Softball League, the Mill got away with a 9-4 win over the Aces, but only after seven innings of hard play, with anyone the victor up until the seventh.

Chalking up three runs in the first innings, the Mill was held close by the Aces, who registered two counters in the second frame, and had their advance closely blocked throughout the larger portion of play, until they got a break in the sixth, registering three runs.

Hurling was good, with both McComb and Maybee doing excellent work on the mound for their respective teams; Maybee registered thirteen strike-outs, while McComb's tally was fifteen. Fielding was close and base play splendid.

The teams:

Mill — Owens, c; Holmes, 3b; Montgomery, lf; Ingram, 2b; Pallington, 1b; McComb, p; Stuart, cf; Peake, rf; Johnston, ss.

Aces—Flint, 3b; Bush, 2b; O'Sullivan, ss; Robertson, cf; Owens, 1b; Maybee, p; Kerr, lf; F. O'Sullivan, c; Hoolahan, rf.

Score by innings.

VETERANS GATHER TORONTO REUNION

Viscount Allenby and Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt Will Review Returned Soldiers.

TORONTO, August 1 (C.P.) — Veterans of the war trooped into Toronto to-day to prepare for the greatest gathering of those who fought in the great conflict since 1918. Between 50,000 and 60,000 of the Veterans are expected to crowd into Toronto for the opening of the Canadian Corps Reunion Saturday. Saturday morning wreaths will be placed at the Cenotaph in memory of those who failed to return, and in the afternoon a huge parade will wend its way to the Exhibition Grounds, where a review will be held with Lieutenant Governor Herbert A. Bruce taking the salute.

Viscount Allenby, the noted soldier who snatched Palestine from enemy hands; and Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt, Admiral of the British Fleet and hero of the Battle of Heligoland, will be present during the review. They will be met at Union Station, Saturday morning, by troops of militia.

Regiments will hold numerous dinners during the reunion, which will last for three days.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (C.P.)—Where there's a will, there's a way. Nelson P. Collier, 27, and Lowell Miller, 22, have but one leg between them, but that didn't stop them from making a journey of more than 200 miles from their home town of Mitchell, Ind., to see the World's Fair. Collier who lost the use of one leg because of infantile paralysis, pushed Miller, who is legless, in a wheel chair.

The trip took 23 days.

Apsley

A very pleasant and successful garden party was held on Friday afternoon and evening at the parsonage grove, under the auspices of the Apsley United Church choir. The unction attracted a large number of visitors. Tea was served amidst the pines on prettily decorated small tables, the young lady attendants (two to each table) wearing costumes and caps to match. The fish-pond and canteen procured good business during the afternoon. In the evening the grounds presented a pretty effect, being illuminated with colored lights. A program staged as a mock radio broadcast was given, under the chairmanship of Announcer Rev. G. Porter, as follows: Community singing, led by Susie and her songbirds; duet, Mrs. Harold Tucker and Mrs. Watson; recitation, Mrs. Staples; piano accordeon, Peter Enrico; solo, Charley Collins; guitar trio, Doris Whitmore, J. McGregor and H. McCauley; recitation, Margaret Hastings; trio, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Tucker, C. Collins; reading, Mrs. John Tucker; guitar and banjo duet, Roddy Theobald and Lloyd Boddison; skit, "Young Lockinvar"; solo, Roddy Theobald; skit, "Rambling Kids" (blackface). During the program little Keith Watson, dressed as a messenger boy, came on the platform and handed the announcer a telegram, which read, "Program being much enjoyed by friends at Kalamazoo." The choir is to be congratulated on the success of its first garden party.

FAMOUS RIDING CLOWN

... "POODLES" HANNEFORD ...

"The show that is different," as the Great Al G. Barnes Circus is known, gained its worthy slogan by presenting each year only the best known circus acts and costliest features.

This season it is no exception, and scores of acts and displays, the foremost in the world, and new novelties, are listed under the huge show's banners. Of these, the famous Hanneford Family of bareback riders, starring "Poodles" Hanneford, the world's greatest riding clown, is again by popular demand one of the high-light attractions to be seen in Peterborough, Wednesday, August 8.

In addition to the Hanneford Family, there are many other renowned features presented by the hundreds of men and women arenic stars. Among them, the famous Mabel Stark, who appears in person at each performance in a breath-taking act in which she battles forty ferocious lions and tigers, the largest group of the savage beasts ever before presented at one time by any trainer in the word.

The performances, at 2 and 8 p.m., open with a gorgeous and sublime spectacle, "The Fiesta of the Rio Grande," embracing the efforts of more than 1,000 men, women, horses, elephants, camels and yaks together with 100 dancing girls.

Rev. Dr. Barr Speaks At Ballyduff Service

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LIFFORD LINE, August 1. — The pretty little rural cemetery surrounding Ballyduff Presbyterian Church, was the scene of a large gathering on Sunday afternoon, it being the occasion of the annual decoration service, when worshippers were present from distant points, including Toronto and Peterborough.

The local band was present and led in the singing of many old favorite hymns.

Rev. Dr. Barr of Peterborough, delivered a powerful and appropriate address which left an indelible impression upon his hearers.

Rev. Mr. Lindsay of Whitby, a second guest speaker, chose "God's Garden," as the subject for a much appreciated address.

Fred Bowen, M. P., of Bowmanville, also addressed the gathering in fitting terms.

A male quartette, Messrs. Harry Preston, J. J. Clarke, Ed. Bray and Chanc White, accompanied by Ralph Preston and Ben Page, rendered touching numbers, including "God is Calling."

Rev. Mr. Walker of Janetville, pastor of the church, acted as chairman for the outdoor occasion.

Mention was made of the fact this Mrs. Gillis, who is a pioneer residing near Ballyduff, and is 92 years of age, was among those in attendance. Previous to the hour of worship friends had beautifully decorated the graves of departed friends and relatives with lovely summer flowers, making this particular God's acre, which is kept so attractive at any time, a special credit to those who take such a deep interest in adding to its beauty and to the energetic workers connected with the Ballyduff church.

Bailieboro

Messrs. Robert and Alf. Dawson were visitors to Oak Lake on Sunday.

Mrs. L. McConkey, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Thompson.

Misses Mildred Dawson and Ruth Dawson have returned from the Bay of Quinte summer camp held at Oak Lake.

Mr. F. Barnard attended Oak Lake summer camp last week.

Mr. Pomeroy, of Gore's Landing, visited his son, Mr. E. Pomeroy, on Sunday.

Oxford Group Team.

On Sunday a team of the Oxford Group from Peterborough came to the churches of the Fraserville circuit and conducted services at Fraserville and Bensfort in the morning and then held a union service at the local church in the evening.

Rev. Mr. Cook conducted the worship service and then gave the meeting over to the leader, Mr. Barrie, of Peterborough. Among those of the group present were: Mr. and Mrs. Graham, Mr. Barrie, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Glen, Mr. and Mrs. H. Borland, Mr. S. Church, Mrs. Ballard.

The church was well filled for the occasion and the service was well received by the large congregation.

Camp Inglestone

Dear May Lou:

Here I am at Y.W.C.A. Camp, Inglestane, Stoney Lake, for the first time and such joy! Would that I had your power of description to paint for you, a picture of one day's activities. Here goes for a feeble effort.

Rising bell wakens you at 7.30 and if you do not indulge in a morning dip you can snitch a few more winks or putter about working up an appetite for a good breakfast at eight fifteen. My room faces the dock and as I don't swim I am partly repaid for the lack by listening to ohs, ahs, gurgles, giggles and shrieks and as one girl after another plunges into the deep.

After morning worship the day slips all too quickly. One has leisure for reading, writing or prowling about the delightful island, until the whistle sounds for morning dip, when all swimmers gather either at the dock or the beach. You would be amazed at the progress made under the guidance of our very efficient Camp officers. I have with me, a girl of twelve who had never done any deep water swimming and already she is plunging of the dock into deep water. The first time she disappeared and did not come up for what seemed to me ages I had a fellow feeling for the poor hen who had mothered the duck, but like the duck she appeared again. This child has also learned to handle a skiff.

After a ravenous appetite has been more than satisfied by a good dinner there is a rest period when the camp is delightfully quiet. The program for the remainder of the afternoon is varied, sometimes picnics by boat to interesting places such as Viamede, Burleigh Falls and Kawartha, little excursions to other beaches for a swim followed by shore tea, and paddling or rowing about the lake making new discoveries.

Yesterday there was an all day excursion to Bobcaygeon for those wishing to go and I revelled in the scenery and wonderful air.

The evenings are also varied. There are stunt evenings, when campers perform, scavenger hunts, weiner and marshmallow roasts on the shore or before the grate fire according to the weather, singsongs, etc., etc. Oh, you would love it! Couldn't you steal away from your camp visitors some week end and join me while I'm here? Here is hoping.

Love,
ESTELLE.

PLOT IS FOILED TO KIDNAP HEAD

plot called for snatching McLean from his home and hiding him in a tunnel under the cabins at the tourist camp near the Humber River. Police believe McLean was to have been taken by auto to Weston and then by sideroads to the tourist camp hideaway.

Police said excavation work had been started at the tourist camp on the Lakeshore highway, half a mile from the Humber River. They declared planks over which dirt was hauled from the tunnel were found along with picks and shovels.

Tipped Off July 23

Provincial Police headed by Inspector Charles Gurnett made the arrests yesterday. Chief Inspector William Stringer, head of the Criminal Investigation Department, first received word of the alleged conspiracy on July 23 and with Inspector Gurnett delved into the matter, helped by city police.

Little information about the case would be obtained from the officers as they questioned the prisoners. Officers refused to say whether any papers or documents had been seized or give any further information.

The 56-year-old businessman also was silent.

With the arrests it was revealed incidents which aroused the McLean home had occurred near the palatial Bayview residence. Valuable dogs, owned by Mr. McLean, had been killed or injured by shots in the ravines in the neighborhood. One valuable setter was found in the driveway of the McLean home with its side riddled with shotgun pellets.

THE PREMIER'S PROTEST.

When Premier Hepburn publicly and broadly hints to Liberal job-hunters that he would prefer them to stay away from his office for a while, and let him get on with the important affairs of the province, he probably does not realize that his post-election intimations of contemplated dismissals were interpreted as an immediate opportunity by party lieutenants and camp-followers who now embarrass him with their self-seeking.

The fate of F. A. Gaby, director of the Hydro utilities, was announced by the Premier-elect before the defeated Henry Ministry had departed the posts and scene of power to which they had confidently predicted their return. And promptly during that second week in July when the new regime was inaugurated the firstling to Mr. Hepburn's heart was the firstling to his hand, and Mr. Gaby led the retiring procession.

Possibly the expectant office-seekers might have been temporarily deterred in their quest if there had been from the outset fewer official references to projected dismissals in the new Government's plan of administrative economy. That was the time to discourage the stalwarts of the party from crowding the corridors at Queen's Park. But, with the newspapers publishing daily lists of Government employees who had been dismissed, the Liberal job-hunters naturally arrived early in their importunity before the available supply of plums had run out.

This experience has driven Premier Hepburn to say in an interview at Ottawa this week: "If our friends would only leave me alone for a while so that I could get the loose ends together and have the existing picture complete, better service would be rendered to the province. But they all want to see me, and I want to see them, but I think it hardly fair that they should all want to see me at the same time."

One of the results of this diversion of the Premier's time is seen in the hurriedly prepared beer measure that went into effect last week without provision for any form of inspection by officers who, it was expected, would be specially appointed or instructed to assume regulatory control.

The Government's desire to fulfill its pre-election promises is to be commended in a general sense, and Mr. Hepburn's energy and directness are also recognized, but the pace set during the first few weeks of transition seems to the more cautious and deliberate mannered citizens seems rather immoderate. Some of the reactions of the public to the first products of the new beverage rooms have created an impression counter-acting the approval of the Hepburn economies and promising changes in various departments of the Government.

"RELIEF A NATIONAL DUTY."

Four years ago unemployed Canadians were regarded by Premier Bennett as a challenge to the nation and its resources. To-day he apparently considers that the primary responsibility for relief rests with the provinces.

Instead of the Dominion Government continuing its contributions for the financing of relief on a percentage basis, Mr. Bennett proposed to the provincial premiers in a conference at Ottawa this week that federal assistance should be paid in a lump sum.

By this amended system the provinces would be required to estimate the sum of assistance they would require for the period from the present to the end of the federal year, March 31 next, but the Dominion could alter this estimate in accordance with its ideas of the needs of each province.

Dissatisfaction with some aspects of the administration of relief by municipalities and provincial governments is assigned as one of the causes for this proposed departure from the existing policy by which the Dominion has contributed one-fourth to one-third of the relief expenditures in the various provinces. It is believed at Ottawa that more efficiency in the administration of relief would be accomplished if the principal responsibility was transferred to the provinces.

Dominion contributions to unemployment relief throughout the nation has already amounted to approximately $120,000,000, and the Government has recently undertaken a diversified program of public works for which $40,000,000 has been appropriated.

Essentially, therefore, Premier Bennett is adhering to his pledges of four years ago, but provincial conviction clings to the view that the unemployment problem rests at Ottawa's door, and that the Dominion is trying to "get out from under" in regard to the important factor of responsibility for the continuance of relief.

Four years ago there was nothing equivocal in Mr. Bennett's willingness to accept unemployment relief as a national responsibility.

Speaking at Edmonton, June 13, 1930, in the federal elections campaign of that year Premier Bennett said:

"I will not tell them (the unemployed) to seek charity in their towns and cities. I will not tell them to seek relief from their provincial governments while I do nothing. I said that the unemployed are not of one city, or of one countryside, or of one province. They are everywhere in the nation, and every one of them, the fathers and the mothers and the little children, they are no less a challenge to our national well-being than to our national duty and our national pride.

"I accept the challenge, and I say again that I will call Parliament together at the earliest possible moment to provide at once the remedy—employment—for all who can and will work. I will help them to help themselves, but I will not help them to remain in idleness."

Mr. Bennett called an emergency session of Parliament shortly after he was elected leader of the new Conservative Government, and $20,000,000 was appropriated to be applied at once for unemployment relief. That system and responsibility has been maintained up to the present. There has been a substantial industrial improvement, but gains in employment have not been sufficient to encourage the provinces to assume any larger proportion of the cost of assisting those who are still out of work.

Unemployment and its relief remain a tremendous problem and a national duty. Many municipalities find their liability for this "national duty" already straining their depleted treasuries without having to assume any additional financial burden.

MAY YET ENTER CABINET.

Reports still persist that Premier Hepburn will invite W. E. N. Sinclair, dean of the Ontario Legislature, to enter his Cabinet. The latest report, from a Toronto source, is that Mr. Sinclair will be a Cabinet Minister before the next session of the Legislature opens, and that he will occupy a front seat on the Government benches.

While much of this is mere conjecture, yet there is more than a possibility that such a thing should happen. Mr. Sinclair's experience would be invaluable to the Government in facing its first Legislature session. His twenty or more years in the Legislature fit him to give wise counsel and advice to the Prime Minister and his colleagues, the majority of whom are without previous experience in the provincial House, and now that Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Sinclair have shaken hands, and broken bread together, the way seems to be open for a complete reconciliation by the appointment of Mr. Sinclair to a Cabinet post.

It had previously been stated that Mr. Hepburn, in taking the provincial treasureship, had done so only as a temporary measure. Could it be that he foresaw the possibility of Mr. Sinclair ultimately taking over that portfolio? Stranger things than that have happened in politics, and it may be that before long the member for Ontario riding will be "Hon." W. E. N. Sinclair.—Oshawa Times.

MOVIES, MEN AND MORALS.

Backed by a considerable body of public opinion, a number of churchmen of all denominations have formed themselves into a "Legion of decency" to combat what they describe as indecent entertainment.

That there is an overwhelming measure of justice in their viewpoint is shown in the tremendous volume of support they have been given.

It is always easy to find inquisitors; not so easy to make them popular.

But if we are forced, reluctantly, to agree that stage and screen have fallen by imperceptible degrees into an unwarranted habit of nastiness, we are also forced to proclaim with some vehemence that stage and screen are not responsible for it.

The box office is still the final censor where entertainment is concerned. If people will support a certain type of play or picture, the producers will inevitably give them more of it.

So if our stage and screen have grown smutty and vulgar and suggestive it is because the public has demanded smut and vulgarity and suggestiveness.

The fact that the public is moved now to such emphatic protest against these things means nothing more than that the public subconsciously realizes its responsibility for the present state of affairs and is shocked at and afraid of its own creation.

It is never very hard to change manners and morals. They are the most fluid quantities in our social experience.

So if there is anything to deplore in the theatre's unhappy tendency towards excessive dirt, it is not so much that the stage has failed as a moral influence as that the public's taste and humor and discrimination have fallen so lamentably low.

The humor of any people is an uncertain and changeable thing. What is regarded as funny by one race is regarded often by another race as sad.

And among no people exists the fundamental notion that sex is intrinsically funny. Jokes have been built up around the sex theme because, until recently, sex was a forbidden subject. Thus a sex joke had the double merit of teasing the sense of humor and pleasing the sense of rebellion, both of which senses reside in the human mind, one just as persistently as the other.

Here then we have an age-old fiction that sex is funny. On the other hand, we have the newly-born liberty in the matter of sex discussion.

The combination of the two has led us into a license that has flooded the stage and screen with jokes and situations that have shocked at last even their authors.

There is nothing to be greatly alarmed about, nothing that cannot be simply remedied. All the situation needs is a little shaking down and a little common sense.

Now, as always, we are less worried about the theatre debauching the public than we are about the public debauching the theatre.—Vancouver Sun.

LOWER INTEREST RATES RUMOR PERSISTS.

Rumors that the rate paid by the chartered banks on savings deposits might be cut again were reported in the Monetary Times some weeks ago. These rumors have again been current in Ottawa, and while nothing official was heard on the question, it was stated that the Government favors a further reduction of two per cent. on such deposits. Any announcement would come from the banks themselves.

Repeatedly during the last session of Parliament and before the House committee on banking and commerce, members of the Government agreed with expression of opinion that interest charges were too high. The Government's attitude toward this question was further emphasized when legislation was enacted designed to hold down to a minimum the charges that loan and discount companies could exact from borrowers.

Undoubtedly the banks would prefer to leave savings interest rates where they are since they desire to maintain deposits at a high level to cover their own lending operations, but if the Government expresses strongly a desire that such a downward revision be made the banks would probably agree.—Monetary Times.

CANSO, N.S.

One of the oldest settlements on the continent. It is said that the harbor was frequented by fur-traders and fisherman within a dozen years of the discovery of America by Columbus.

In after years Britisher, Frenchman and Indian fought and died in a series of small wars that raged for several years. The harbor was a rendezvous for Wolfe's fleet on the eve of the final conquest of Louisburg.

The town was regularly laid out in 1764 and for a time bore the name of Wilmot, in honor of the governor of that name. The name "Canso" is derived from the Indian word "Kamsok," meaning "opposite the lofty cliffs."

THEODORE HABICHT

Part played by Theodore Habicht, Austrian Nazi leader now in exile in Germany, in the uprising in which Chancellor Dollfuss was murdered, is being investigated.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Mastin.)

THE WOUNDS THAT DO NOT HEAL.

There on the inner side of the second finger on my left hand, there was once a little wart.

It troubled the small boy who had it there. He was always injuring it, fooling with it, making it bleed. At last he cut it off, rooted it out and allowed it to become infected. For days it was swollen and sore and a mighty battle was fought in that finger between the armies of the white corpuscles that rushed to the battleground to envelope the enemy germs and leave them dying in the breach through which they had hoped to storm and conquer a human body. The defenders won, the besiegers died, the wound healed, skin grew over the battleground. Peace was declared and he w ar was over.

I look at that finger now and see no signs of that mighty little conflict. Not even a scar. Not an inward pain. All gone. All faded. And only memory tells me there was ever a wart on the second finger of my left hand. The victory was complete . . . because I WANT it to be.

But I remember other conflicts. Mistakes I made. Injuries I suspected and resented. Small troubles I puffed up until they seemed as large as the balloon at the country fair. Wounds to my pride, to my self-respect, to the picture everyone carries of himself as a strong, bold or sensible human being.

And these injuries do not heal quite so smoothly. You get over them. You throw them, you think, out of your life. But you do not quite win the battle. . . . The white corpuscles of the spirit are not as formidable as the small soldiers in the blood stream. The soldiers of our courage, our sanity, our saving philosophy, are so often betrayed by our sanity, by our stupid fears, by our unexpressed desires. We keep our wounds open because we do not have quite enough faith in life, sufficient desire to be whole and happy. We, who live in our bodies, are not so wise as our own amazing habitations. We wound ourselves and perpetuate the scars. . . . And when, years afterward, we come upon those scars they still have power to flame with shame or rage. Because we will not let them heal.

A Thought

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Red Williams

CANADA'S FIRST REFORMER.

On this date, in 1863, Robert Gourlay died at Edinburgh, Scotland. That mere statement means nothing to the average Canadian of today, but it records the passing of Canada's first Reformer. Born in the parish of Cere, Fifeshire, Scotland, in 1778, he attended At. Andrew's University and at once began his interest in "the under dog," which marked his whole career. The conditions under which the poor lived in the old country aroused his interest and indignation. He began an agitation for the reform of the poor laws; he did not gain all he wanted, but he made some improvement. He came to Canada in 1817 (why I have not learned, since he had already secured a leading place in Britain) and settled at Kingston. He had not been there very long before he was convinced that the administration of the landlaws was a scandal. He published a "Statistical Account of Upper Canada", which denounced the government of the day with such vigor that it was not long before he was regarded as "Public Enemy No. 1". He was arrested for libel; he faced a jury at Kingston without a lawyer and was acquitted; he carried his campaign into the citadel of the enemy in York (Toronto) was denounced in and out of parliament, and by official proclamation; and was finally arrested at Niagara. There he engaged a lawyer and was convicted of sedition under a statute specially passed to meet his case. He was expelled from the p ovince and went back to Scotland but many years after (in 1842) the Assembly of the Province of Canada admitted that his trial had been grossly unfair, "illegal, unconstitutional and without possibility of excuse and apliation", and the sentence was declared null and void. In 1856 he came back to Canada and was offered a pension of fifty pounds a year, which he refused because he did not consider that his vindication had been complete.

Gourlay was hot-headed, impetuous, careless of affront, but deadly in earnest, and his memory should be revered by the present generation for his crusades were the cradles for many of our present day liberties.

RAIN STORM MARS INSTITUTE PICNIC

Janetville Picnickers Forced to Conclude Annual Gathering Indoors.

JANETVILLE, Aug. 1 (Examiner Correspondence).—The annual picnic of the Janetville Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at Rollway Park, Lake Scugog, with a large crowd attending. When all had arrived and the sport program commenced, the gathering was suddenly disorganized owing to the unexpected rain storm. As the rain commenced, the crowd found refuge on the verandahs of nearby cottages and in their cars. Finally deciding the weather was unsuitable for picnicking, the disappointed ladies went to their club rooms on Community Park. A hearty supper was served to all present, after which the weather became pleasant and an enjoyable game of baseball was held on the athletic grounds.

Masters Rowen Walker, Jack Walker, Carson Howe, Ross Carrow and Carl Deyell have returned home after spending a week at camp at Balsam Lake.

Rev. H. C. Wolfraim and Mr. J. R. McGee took the boys on this most enjoyable expedition.

Messrs. Val Raham and Alfred Ingle of Toronto spent Sunday with friends in the village.

Messrs. Gerald Ayotte and Sherwood Campbell of Clydesdale visited with friends in the village on Sunday.

Miss Mary MacNaughton of Peterborough is spending ten days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron MacNaughton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Northey of North Smith passed through the village on Sunday enroute to the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ralph Garbutt of Warsaw.

Mr. James Forrest, of Bobcaygeon spent the week-end in the village the guest of friends at the Lakeview House.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Richardson and daughters Nancy and Ruth accompanied by Mrs. Jack Rawlins, all of Windsor arrived in the village on Tuesday morning for a two weeks vacation.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 87c to 92c; oats 35c to 36c; barley 45c to 46c; corn, 71c to 80c; rye, 48c to 50c; buckwheat, 58c to 60c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Prices were unchanged on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday.

On the butter market, fresh No. 1 was quoted at 19½ to 19¾ cents a pound in carlots or less, unchanged from previous levels. Small lots to retailers were 21 cents a pound for solids and 22 cents for prints. Receipts 1,904 boxes.

Cheese prices remained at 10½ cents a pound for Ontario colored, and 10 cents a pound for Quebec cheese. Arrivals totalled 3,188 boxes.

The trend was steady on the egg market, graded shipments in carlots or less being 21 to 21½ cents a dozen for A-large, 20 to 20½ cents for A-medium, 16 cents for B and 18½ cents for C. Receipts totalled 2,272 cases.

On the potato market, new Quebec were priced at 45 to 50 cents per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Unable to absorb extensive profit-taking sales, wheat and corn yesterday imitated Jack and Jill.

Wheat fell down nearl 2c, and corn came following after almost 1½c. A conspicuous reason was notable shrinkage in the volume of speculative trade, and this in turn was more or less associated with uncertainty as to the market effects of August unofficial crop estimates due to-day from most Chicago statisticians. These estimates had been preceded by a single radically bullish report which was put out Monday in advance of others.

Wheat closed shaky at the day's bottom level, 1¼c to 1⅞c under Monday's finish; corn, ¼c to ⅝c down; oats, ⅛c to 1¼c off, and provisions varying from 2c decline to 12c advance.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Weakness at Liverpool and a forecast of some relief for the sweltering Prairie Provinces, which caused "scary" purchasers to quickly reverse their operations and seek what profits there were to be had sent wheat futures prices 1½c to 1⅝c lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday.

The decline, first serious check to nearly a week of steadily rising values, left futures at the session's lowest levels, the July option ending at 85⅝c, October 87⅛c, December 88⅝c to 88⅞c, and May at 92⅛c.

Sales of only a few scattered loads of Canadian wheat for export provided almost the sole support to the market to-day and futures, weighted with the offerings that came from several sources, eased steadily throughout the session.

Sales of oats and barley featured cash grains, all other varieties closing practically unchanged. Coarse grains futures also were featureless, easing along with wheat.

DOME LEADS GOLDS.

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (CP).—Discarding the attitude of cautiousness that has been uppermost in the last few sessions, traders entered the mining section of the Toronto Exchange on the buying side today and the rush of orders pushed prices up, particularly in the gold group. Senior gold shares participated in, the advance with Dome in the lead for a rise of about $2. Base metal and silver shares were firm though quiet on the whole.

Nickel, trading in heavy volume on some outside buying orders, closed at 23 3-4, up 5-8. The other metal, smelters, closed 11 points higher at 141. Heavy building in Ford "A" put that issue up to 18 7-8 and the close down 1-8 from there showed a net gain of 7-8. Brazilian and C.P.R. added about 1-4 each.

A buying wave in the beverages was led by distillers Seagrams for volume and that issue had a gain of 1 1-4 to 11 5-8. Walkers Common gained 1 3-4 to 24 3-4, while Industrial Alcohol gained 1-4 to 7 1-4 and brewers and distillers was up 5 to 95.

International Pete was the strongest of the oil group with a gain of 1-2 to 25 3-4.

HEALTHY GAINS IN INDUSTRIALS

Metal, Distillery, Brewery, Oil, Steel and Food Shares Move Forward in Good Volume.

INTERLISTEDS FOLLOW.

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (CP).—The Industrial share market jumped out of the rut today and chalked up substantial gains pretty well over the board. Metal, distillery, brewery, oil, food and steel shares and the other interlisted leaders, including Ford "A" moved forward on good volume. Consolidated Smelters set the pace by jumping more than 10 points to 141.

The stronger tone was traceable to the upward trend that developed on the New York Board this afternoon. Hollinger was taken readily at a price above $18 and Dome touched $41.50 in substantial turnover. Teck Hughes closed 15 cents higher, Wright Hargreaves up 25 cents and McIntyre at $46 was up $1.80 in slow trade.

God's Lake, from a creeping morning advance, speeded up the rise this afternoon to leave the $3 mark behind for a net gain of more than 50 cents. About 10,500 shares of the stock changed hands. Gunnar Gold, second in volume, made only modest headway on the up side, while Little Long Lac added 15 cents and San Antonio 20 cents.

Lamaque Contact, appearing for the first time on the board, came out in volume around 30 to 31 1-2, Granada met with profit-taking and fell back to 70 for a loss of 5 cents.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, Aug. 1. — (CP) — Trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange turned brisk and spirited after a quiet beginning and most issues were up at the close today.

National Steel car gained 2¼ at 15¾ and National Breweries advanced a full point to 27½.

Fractional gains were recorded by Power Corporation, Canadian Car preferred Dryden, International Nickel, Charles Gurd, Canadian Pacific and Canadian Industrial Alcohol "A" and "B".

Canadian Celanese declined ⅛ to 16, a new 1934 low. Shawinigan Power, Howard Smith, Winnipeg Electric and Canada Cement were fractions lower.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP).—Displaying quiet strength, stocks rose 1 to more than 3 points today. Rails were quiet on the recovery, but metals and scattered industrials pushed up briskly. Late quotations were around the best. Armour of Illinois Preferred (New) and Wright Aeronautical got up about 5 points each. U.S. Smelting, California Packing, U.S. Steel, American Telephone and Case gained substantially. Transfers approximated 775,000 shares.

PLAN CELEBRATION.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Aug. 1. — (C. P.). — Preparations have advanced well to-day for a large provincial celebration in Saint John, August 16 and 17 of the 150th anniversary of the establishing of New Brunswick as a separate province.

Couldn't Wait

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1.—(CP) —Half an hour was too long to wait for a train to run over his head, so an unidentified man got up and walked away from the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Fourth Avenue station.

The man lay on the tracks after telling passersby, "I'm going to kill myself." But the assistant station agent told him: "The next train won't be along for nearly half an hour."

LEEMING AND LEEMING
Phones 2786—2787

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 1st:

Jellicoe has opened up a large silicified zone on their property in the Jellicoe Gold Area. Diamond drilling has been started to prove conditions at depth. Earlier shallow drilling revealed a 12-inch quartz vein.

Adanac: Cross-cutting south of the shaft has advanced a distance of 80 feet at the 125 and 250 foot level. A drift westward from the shaft at the 250 foot level has been started to pick up a vein.

Crown Cons. Mines: Shares will be called for trading on the Montreal Curb today.

Lafayette: According to a wire from the mine last night, discovery pit No. 1 on tench No. 1 at six foot is full of free visible gold across a 12-foot face. Trench No. 1 east showed $36.80, while trench No. 2 east showed $16 values at old gold price.

New York, N.Y., Aug. 1st:

While the market has given a few encouraging signals during the past few days it has not as yet reversed the down trend or proven that the October lows will hold. Overhanging uncertainties are still too numerous to justify great hopes for an early and sustained advance.

The speculative picture can change suddenly for the better, however, particularly if the administration should do any one of several things clearly within it's power. The gold price may be raised overnight or the inflation needle injected in some other direction.

Most of the buying witnessed in the utilities is based upon hope and faith, hope that political agitation for rate reductions will not be carried to extremes and faith that inherent soundness of the industry. If these were normal times such issues as Gas and Telephone would be commendable purchases. However, present conditions are not normal and may continue so for months to come.

BROKERS' OPINIONS.

Jenks Gwynee: "The market action has many indications of a bottom scraping process."

Munds, Winslow & Potter: "Further irregularity without much net change in prices may be in prospect for another few sessions, but we think the rise will get under without much additional if any delay.

CUSTOMS RETURNS REVEAL INCREASE

Gain of More Than $7,000 Over Month June at Local Port.

Reflecting increasingly prosperous business conditions in Peterborough, a gain of more than $7,000 over the month of June was noted in the Customs House collection total for July. The total was $85,073.18 as compared with $77,994.83 the previous month.

The figure represented an even greater increase over the total for July last year, $73,053.56. Although the figures for the first quarter of the fiscal year which begins in April have not been compiled, it is expected they will be far ahead of the corresponding figures for 1933. Steady gains have been shown almost every month.

AT TORONTO

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (CP)—Customs and excise revenue for July at the Port of Toronto showed an increase for the 13th consecutive month, according to figures released to-day by Collector J. H. Bertram. Yesterday's customs and excise revenue amounted to $767,377, a new record for a day's collections.

July collections were $3,750,342, a gain of $397,036 compared with the same month last year.

AT HAMILTON

HAMILTON, Aug. 1 (CP)—Customs and excise figures, although showing a sharp decline from the month of June, were much greater than in July of 1933, the monthly report released to-day indicated. Customs returns were $296,925.76; excise, $686,289.34; total, $983,215.10. In July, 1933, the total was $897,308.99.

FRAUD CHARGES SLAGHT CLAIMS

the fitnessof Mr. Meighen to hold office as a Hydro Commissioner was not before the inquiry.

The question caused vigorous argument between counsel and the commissioners, Chief Justice F. R. Latchford, chairman, and Hon. Robert Smith.

It also provoked from Senator Meighen an accusation that it was brought up in an effort to damage his political reputation although it had nothing to do with the inquiry. The senator said he would be "ashamed" to seek to introduce such evidence himself.

This remark led Mr. Justice Latchford to remark: "You would be ashamed if you knew what had been written to me to deter me from acting in this inquiry." He did not go further into the matter, however.

First witness called to-day by Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., commission counsel, was J. R. Croft, internal auditor for several companies in which Senator Arthur Meighen, former Hydro commissioner, was interested.

Croft surrendered copies of letters purporting to show $171,500 worth of O.P.S.C. bonds were on deposit in New York Aug. 18, 1932, as collateral for Canadian General Investments, Limited, Third Canadian Investments, Limited, and Fourth Canadian Investments, Limited.

Minutes Removed.

Mr. Slaght, seeking to introduce as evidence minutes of the meetings of the Fourth Trust, suggested records of meetings held July 15, 1932, and August 4, 1932, had been removed from the minute book.

Mr. Slaght suggested purchase of O.P.S.C. bonds had been authorized at those meetings.

Croft was unable to explain how the minutes had disappeared, but suggested the date of the minutes had been inserted in subsequent minutes in error, and that the meetings were not held July 15 and Aug. 4.

Mr. Slaght sought, as he said, to "jolt the theory" of witness that the July and August meetings were not held.

Senator Meighen asked Croft if there was "any possibility of purchases or sales for these companies not recorded in the minutes."

Witness said no.

Croft said the Meighen companies had larger holdings of bonds in other corporations than they had in the O.P.S.C.

Robert Rankin of St. Catharines, retired civil engineer, was called. He was an investor in the Canadian General Investment Trust and a member of the Advisory Board of the company in 1932. He said he had protested to the management the "gambling of common stocks on margin" carried on by the company.

At a meeting in June, 1932, Rankin continued, Mr. Meighen told him the Trust had numerous O.P.S.C. bonds "and that he believed the government was going to take over the position."

He said Mr. Meighen told him the action of the Government "would make the bonds go up," but witness had not felt inclined to risk his own money "on a thing that would not stand on its own feet." He added he was afraid the Government might change its mind.

Former Attorney-General W. H. Price was called.

Mr. Slaght asked him about an interview he had early in June, 1932, with Mr. Meighen regarding the O.P.S.C. situation.

Mr. Price said Mr. Meighen telephoned him to ask for an appointment for the interview, which was held in the presence of Hon. William A. Finlayson, former Minister of Lands and Forests, and Hon. Charles McCrea, former Minister of Mines.

Witness said previous to this "our Cabinet had been giving consideration to certain phases of the Abitibi Canyon project." At the time of the interview he knew the O.P.S.C. was finding it difficult to complete its plan.

Mr. Price said Senator Meighen told him he sought the interview on behalf of companies of which he was an officer. He then proceeded to give an account of the interview."

"Mr. Meighen," he related, "said in approaching the interview that his companies held certain of these Power Service bonds. He also said these bonds were very largely held throughout the province by insurance and other large investment companies.

"He said if the Government were going to take over the Power Service Corporation it would be better if it took whatever action it intended to take as soon as possible."

Witness said Mr. Meighen did not indicate he knew what the Government intended, but reiterated it was the Senator who sought the interview. He could not recall any specific mention by Mr. Meighen during the interview that he had any personal holdings of O.P.S.C. bonds, but remembered he indicated some of his companies held such bonds.

He did not think Mr. Meighen expressed a preference for any of the possible modes of assistance to the O.P.S.C. discussed at the meeting.

"No one took a stand on the matter," he said, "because I told them I was not conversant with the matter and that it would have to wait until the return of Mr. Henry." Premier George S. Henry was away at the time.

Disclosed Nothing

"None of us," witness continued, "disclosed anything to Mr. Meighen that had been discussed in council regarding the matter." He said the question of the Hydro Commission being interested in the situation did not come up at the meeting and that he did not seek Mr. Meighen's views on the matter.

Witness did not know at the time of the Senator's appointment to the Hydro Commission whether he had any Hydro or engineering experience.

Mr. Meighen objected vigorously to introduction of evidence regarding a petition asking for an investigation of his conduct of the companies' business.

The Senator said he would be "ashamed" to introduce such evidence himself.

Mr. Justice Latchford replied: "You would be ashamed if you knew what had been written to me to deter me from acting in this inquiry."

A vigorous argument ensued as to whether the petition was admissible as evidence.

W. N. Tilley, K.C., counsel for members of the late government, joined the objection and asked that the purpose of the question and its relation to the inquiry be revealed before the question was put.

Mr. Justice Latchford said: "After 36 years on bench this is the first time I every have heard a question objected to before it was put."

After further argument Mr. Slaght finally asked Mr. Price "was there lodged before you—and before your government, a petition addressed to you as Attorney-General—"

Further interruption occurred, and Mr. Slaght, seeking to reveal the purpose of his question made this statement:

"There was before the government a petition filed, setting forth facts and documents and asking an inquiry into charges of fraud against Mr. Meighen."

He said after this petition was received by the government an investigation was launched which was stopped subsequent to Mr. Meighen's appointment as a Hydro commissioner.

Further discussion ensued in which Mr. Meighen said Mr. Slaght had sought to bring the question before the inquiry to damage his political reputation although it had nothing to do with the probe. The question was disallowed as irrelevant.

Threat of aphids, dread menace to root crops patricularly during dry weather, has struck Middlesex, where this growth along with second growth of hay have been hard hit. Water for stock is being drawn from rivers.

Pastures have been burned bare in Lambton and farmers expressed fear they would have to feed stock during the winter from the small crops they expect to harvest, while in Essex officials described the outlook as "serious." Wheat and oats crops are below normal in most places, and though corn is holding well, yields in the sugar beet area are threatened.

5 Balloons Soar Off In National Air Race

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 1. — Five big balloons soared over the southland to-day with a cash prize and a place in the international races at Warsaw, Poland, Sept. 23, as the reward.

Four of the bags in the national race floated off in a northeasterly direction into the darkness from Legion Field here last night. The fifth, the navy entrant, went higher and caught a northwest wind.

The winner is determined by the air line distance from the starting field to the point where the balloon lands.

The three balloons making the most distance will win an opportunity to enter the international contest, in which the Gordon Bennett trophy is the prize. In addition, first place gets a cash purse of $700 second prize, $500; third, $300 and fourth, $200.

LITTLE CURRENT, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Albert Eadie, Little Current has given up motoring for life. He became so disgusted when he wrecked his car driving to Spring Bay that he sold it to the first man who came along for $25. He announced that from now on he will drive a horse and buggy.

To Hold Meeting Without Permit

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (CP)—Representatives of the Ontario Hunger March appealed to the Board of Control for a permit to stage their demonstration in Queen's Park to-day, but they met with little success. The board unanimously refused to interfere with the decision by the Parks Commission, and when a spokesman demanded resignation of the Parks Commission, Controller Sam McBride ordered the group from council chamber.

They left without protest, determined to stage their meeting anyway.

BENNETT FAIR SAYS HEPBURN

him to go ahead with the works as the Dominion would be ready to pay.

One of the reasons for the federal government discontinuing the former practice of paying a share of the cost of relief works, said Mr. Hepburn, was that Prime Minister Bennett felt it placed the provinces and municipalities on "competitive spending basis." They each sought to spend as much as possible in order to get the better of one another in the amount of federal money paid out. The Dominion wished also to be free from the annoyances attendant upon the passing of relief accounts and the approval of schemes.

New Department Ready

"In the course of a few days," said Mr. Hepburn, "our new department of municipal affairs will be set up under the direction of Hon. David Croll. That will be a new departure so far as governmental relations with municipalities are concerned and we will try to help them with the difficulties."

Many Ontario municipalities now bankrupt, he said, would be able to bear their share of relief costs if their revenues were not eaten up in paying high interest charges. These charges would have to be reduced.

In any case, he declared nobody in Ontario would starve. Both practical and humanitarian considerations made the continuance of adequate relief necessary. When people became undernourished epidemics broke out such as the influenza epidemic during and following the war which was directly attributable to the British blocade of the central powers and the consequent deterioration of the health of the people and which spread far beyond their borders.

MOTHER WAITS FURTHER WORD

George Street Wharf waving him a farewell. He made rapid progress down the Otonabee to Rice Lake and the Trent River and thence to Lake Ontario paddling between 20 and 30 miles each day in his red 16-foot canoe, "Pride of Peterborough".

With one or two exceptions, he slept in the open each night, using his canoe for shelter.

Smith attracted the national spotlight when he set out from Kingston and proceeded to shoot each of the rapid sections on the turbulent St. Lawrence River on his way to Montreal. In a daring effort he conquered the Long Sault rapids, the fourth man in history to make a safe passage down the north channel of the boiling waterway in a canoe. After conquering the Cedar Rapids, reputed to be the most dangerous on the river, he proceeded to take the famous Lachine Rapids in his stride, having already a half-dozen minor rapids to his credit. At Montreal he was hailedd as the first canoist to have negotiated the entire natural course of the mighty river.

Pausing but a few hours at Montreal, Smith hurried along on his intended course to St. John's Newfoundland, and thence across to Ireland. He followed the south shore of the river along the Gaspe Peninsula to Gaspe. With hurried preparations for his first real battle with the open sea, he set out from Gaspe for Cape Ray, Newfoundland, 270 miles across the Gulf, on July 21, little more than a month after his departure from Peterborough. Seamen sighted him thirty miles out from Gaspe late that day struggling to keep his craft afloat in a high wind. No report of him had been received until the wireless message from "an unidentified ship" was relayed from New Carlisle yesterday.

Smith planned to follow the coast of Newfoundland around to St. John's after reaching Cape Ray. At St. John's he intended to buy condensed foods, a sextant and a mariner's watch, and after loading the light, canvas-covered canoe with as much fresh water as it would carry, strike out on a straight course for Ireland.

DELORO'S LAST MINUTE TALLY DEFEATS SCOTS

Local Team Loses Two Goal Lead in Second Half—Brooks Scored All Three.

SMELTERS 3, CALEYS 2.

Deloro soccer team redeemed themselves in the second period of the soccer league engagement against the Caledonians, by getting the decision over the local eleven to the count of three to two after being down two goals, following 15 minutes of play, before a good attendance of spectators last night.

Both teams played an excellent brand of the code. W. Hart, new recruit of the visitors is improving in every game, and made the openings for the goals scored for the winners. Misfortune still clings to the Scots, who struck the uprights repeatedly.

This win puts Deloro one point behind the C.G.E., providing that they win the next two.

Clark Opened Scoring

The Caleys won the toss to become very aggressive around the Deloro goal in the early stages, with Gore carrying the offensive right against the full backs. He split the defence to bang a hot drive against the upright, and Mowry driving a low grounder for the corner, was touched out of danger. Deloro's combination transferred the ball to the other end, where scrimmages ensued to Melrose's discomfort. A free kick against the visitors relieved the preasure. Leggitt sending his forwards into the Deloro territory. Clark outwitted the full backs in the flag corner to send a lightning drive into the far corner of the upright. Deloro retaliated with long swinging passes that finally went to Gray, who went down the right wing and sending a low grounder over in front of goal looking for the necessary touch.

They were rewarded with two flag kicks. One of them being fisted clear by Melrose, while Smith was right upon him. Give-and-take prevailed in midfield for a while, until a free kick taken by Denisen sent Gore inside the defense, who split the opposition to pick the inside of the goal-post to give the goalie no chance to save. Brown went right back into the Scot's area through Brown dribbling his way towards goal, until a favorable opening presented itself, as he landed an oblique shot into goal. The Scot's custodian punting clear. Then Brooks missed the rebound, but he made amends a little later, as he accepted the timely pass from his inside man to reduce the Scots' lead. Caledonians, 2; Deloro, 1.

Visitors Equalized

Deloro opened up the play, on resuming, by driving the ball forward right upon the full backs. Denisen and Mann repulsing dangerous attacks to eventually concede a corner kick taken by William Hart on the right wing. Brooks met the ball with his cranium to pick the near corner of the upright to get the equalizer. Thereafter, the play travelled from end to end at a terrific pace to test out the abilities of the custodians. O'Neill making spectacular saves when hard pressed near goal. It was first one forward line bombarding the citdel, then the other applying the same tactics. After a continued seige by the local squad inside the eDoro area, in which they tried to get the leading count, it went the other way when Hart, on right wing, lifted the ball over to Brooks, who was all set to let go a rocket-drive and he accomplished the feat by bulging the net from ten yards out. With only eight minutes to go, the Scots put on the preasure to register a count, but the official consulted the other official on the line to award an offside ruling. Play hovered around the visitors' goal, but the losers' attack found that Cousins and J. Hart, on the defence, were well squad inside the Deloro area, in that one goal lead until the finish. Deloro, 3; Caedonians, 2.

Goal scorers.—Deloro, Brooks (3), and Caledonians, Clark, Gore.

Caledonians.—L. Melrose, goal; H. Mann and W. Denisen, full backs; D. Whatman, D. Green and S. Leggitt, halves; G. Clark, A. Heal, D. Mowry, F. Dyer and J. Gore, forwards. Subs.—H. Webb, C. Heal, and E. Adkinson.

Deloro. — J. O'Neill, goal; T. Cousins and J. Hart, full backs; T. Smith, E. Bradley and J. Sproul, halves; W. Hart, R. Smith, G. Brooks, W. Brown and P. Gray, forwards. Sub.—S. Smith.

Referee—W. Harrington; linesmen—A. McKinley and J. Flynn.

STOCO AND TWEED MEN GIVEN FINES

One is Charged With Having Liquor, Other With Intoxications—Third Gets 2 Months.

TWEED, Aug. 1 (Examiner Correspondence).—William J. Grier of Tweed was find $10 and $27 costs before Magistrate Casement Tuesday afternoon on a charge of having liquor in his possession. The evidence was quite strong that liquor was consumed in the car driven by Grier. A second charge of driving a car in a manner dangerous to the public and exceeding the speed limit in the village of Tweed was met with a fine of $5 and costs; in default, 15 days in jail; both fines were paid.

Edward Conley, a laborer of Stoco, appeared before Magistrate Casement Tuesday afternoon on a charge of intoxication in a public place, and a fine of $12.50 was imposed, which was paid.

Francis Cassibo of Hungerford Township appeared before Magistrate Casement Tuesday afternoon charged with having liquor in his possession, also selling liquor to Mrs. Frans Klemstuber, May 23. Provincial Constable Kelly, who visited the Cassibo home on the night in question, recalled finding liquor on a table behind the door, also finding Mrs. Frans Klemstuber a short distance away. The accused admitted she had paid one dollar for a bottle of liquor to Francis Cassibo, which she accidentaly threw into the constable's car in mistake for her own car. In his defence, Cassibo denied all knowledge of having or selling liquor since he was arrested a year ago for a similar offence and for which he received very lenient treatment. Mrs. Cassibo denied assisting her husband in making liquor or knowing that he had it for sale. Magistrate Casement gave some very kindly advice to Cassibo, who had failed to take a previous warning and lesson. Numerous complaints were coming to the police from parents whose young sons were securing liquor from Cassibo. In passing two months' hard labor on Cassibo, His Worship felt he had dealt very leniently in the matter.

A. B. Collins, K.C., acted for Cassibo, and A. Donnan, Crown Attorney, for prosecution.

Omar the Tentmaker knew...

OMAR certainly knew the value of publicity—wherever his poetry was quoted, people spoke of his tents. Probably they were good tents—they might have been the best procurable—it is also quite likely that people from far-off villages came to buy from him, but—it was eight hundred years before all the world knew of him and his famous pre-prohibition slogan, "A loaf of bread, a jug of—" (pardon us). Eight hundred years after he died, we are all convinced that Omar made tents—not only that, but we have heard so much about them we are convinced they must have been GOOD tents. Were they obtainable today we would probably buy one. However, poor Omar has been gone nearly nine centuries.

● HIS ADVERTISING CAME TOO LATE TO DO HIM ANY GOOD

● Isn't it the way? Merchants who have anything to sell, decide to advertise and do so indiscriminately, without enquiring into the merits or demerits of the various media—the greatest mistake a merchandiser can make—and all for the want of five minutes' reasoning—for that is enough to convince any person that the best selling media are those which reach all of the desired market all of the time—THE DAILY NEWSPAPERS.

Vacation Days are KODAK Days

VACATION . . . every hour of every day filled with happy and exciting experiences. Capture these good times forever in snapshots . . . to enjoy again whenever you wish.

This year your vacation snapshots can be clearer, more appealing than ever. Make them on Kodak Verichrome Film. Verichrome eliminates all the old limitations of posing and waiting for bright sunshine. You get the natural expressions of people. And any weather is picture-taking weather with Verichrome. Try it and see how much better your snapshots turn out. Canadian Kodak Co., Limited, Toronto, Ontario.

Millbrook

Mr. and Mrs. Will Jones and daughter, Gertrude, and Miss Ethel Hatherly motored from Toronto on Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hatherly. Mrs. Jones and her daughter, and Miss Hatherly, with Gwen Jones, of Newtonville, are spending the week with their parents here.

Miss Elsie Spence, who has been holidaying with her parents, and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John and Miss Gertrude Spence, for the past week, returned to her position with the Hoover Company, Toronto, on Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Watson, of Toronto, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Spence, Miss Elsie making the trip back with them by motor.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Acton, and little son, of Detroit, spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Wentworth Gray. Mr. and Mrs. Acton had their baby boy baptised at St. Thomas' church on Sunday, at 9 a.m., "Ronald Lloyd," the rector, Rev. William Simpson, B.A., officiating.

Miss Rose Maccamara has returned home after holidaying with her father, and other friends, at the family homestead, Orillia.

Gordon Jones was remembered by his fellow-members of the Sunshnie Mission Band with an enlarged photograph of himself in his Cadet uniform as a momento of their affection, before his departure for his new home at Cardinal, where Rev Mr. Jones is now pastor of the United Church circuit. Gordon was president of the Mission Band for the past year; the presentation was made by William Ridge, secretary, and Velma Thornton, treasurer, and the whole event was under the supervision of Mrs. F. Stinson, leader of the boys' and girls' organization, and was held at the parsonage with a pleasant social hour following.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Curry, Mrs. Wray, and Mrs. Florence Hagel, of Toronto, motored to the village on Sunday and were guests of Mrs. (Rev.) Joseph Wilks.

Rev. Mr. Sisco, of the United Church charge, leaves this week on his three weeks' vacation, attending the summer school for ministers at St. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec. Mrs. Sisco and the younger children are not going away this year having just finished moving from Cardinal in the Montreal Conference. Rev. Dr. Mahood, of Peterborough, will fill the pulpit of St. Andrew's church each Sunday morning at 11 o'clock during the pastor's absence, and in the evening local organizations will be responsible for the service. On Sunday, August 5, the W.M.S. will have charge, and on August 12, the Young People's Society will take the service expecting to have members of the Oxford Group from Peterborough to assist. If this service is held on the 19th the 12th will have to be supplied by the Session, or some other group.

Local Cadets who expect to go to Ottawa and take part in the Dominion Rifle Association Cadet Miniature Rifle Prize meeting include Captain J. W. Thorndyke, Corporal Allen Winslow, and Cadets Robert Dunford and A. T. Armstrong, the latter substituting for Harold Howson. Their Instructor, Lieutenant B. B. Dawson, will accompany the team, and the trip will be through the courtesy of Mr. W. Widdis who will motor the party to the Capital City.

Mrs. (Dr.) B. C. Whyte and her son, Geoffrey, and daughter, Nancy, who have been visiting ex-Warden W. T. and Miss Margaret Wood, Mrs. E. J. Whyte, and other friends, left last week for their home at Battle Creek, Michigan, by motor, making the trip of 470 miles on a little over ten hours. Dr. Whyte, who was also here for a brief vacation, left for home earlier owing to his professional duties.

Born—At Dr. H. A. Turner's private hospital, on July 23, to Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Hunter, a daughter, Sylvia Louise.

Misses Eleanor and Henrietta Kerr of Toronto are visiting their aunt, Mrs. George Hetherington.

Thomasburg

The annual church parade and Divine service of Thomasburg Lodges, I.O.O.F. No. 293 and Crescent Rebekah Lodge No. 131 was held here in the United Church on Sunday, July 29th.

Rev. D. C. Hill, B.A., B.D., pastor of Roslin Presbyterian Church was the special preacher.

There were visitors from Tweed and Stirling who joined the lodges in their parade; also a large attendance from neighboring villages.

Mr. Albert Schwager spent an enjoyable week at Ottawa where he attended the O.A.D. convention of Chateau Laurier. He visited several points of interest including the Parliament Buildings, the Royal Mint, the Archives Museum, Art Gallery, Dominion Experimental Farm and the famous La Flache Cave in the Laurentian Mountains. Of particular interest was a gold brick in the mint weighing thirty-four pounds and worth $14,000. Gold stored in large bags ready for manufacture is valued at one billion dollars.

The village was almost deserted on Wednesday when a number of our residents attended the Morton, Bateman and Flemming picnics at Oak Lake.

The quoit game here on Wednesday evening between Foxboro and Thomasburg resulted in a 12-4 victory for Thomasburg.

Mr. Wilber Sherry has secured a job at Fuller.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carter and son of Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Leavens and daughter of Weyburn, Sask., and Mrs. Lauriston Ketcheson and two daughters of Tweed, were Tuesday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Yates and Mabel Sansome of Toronto spent a few days last week with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Beatty of Sulphide, visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coulson and family on Thursday.

Mrs. William Terry and Mrs. Herbert Palmateer and daughter Agnes, of Toronto, Mrs. Addie Miller of Cloyne, and Mrs. George Palmateer, of Buller Siding, visited Mrs. Walter Harrison one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Niel are working for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grills.

Misses Ana Morton and Betty Vance are holidaying at the home of their uncle, Mr. Floyd Holbert of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Yorke of Gilead visited Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chappell on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Prindle and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thompson and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thompson of Napanee on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson of Tweed visited Mrs. Ella Way on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fennell and son Ted, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fennell and son Gordon, of Norwood, Mr. James Rankin of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Southworth of Glen Ross and Miss Helen Southworth of Toronto, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrison.

Miss Jane Kincaid of Moneymore and Miss Grace Knight of Deseronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grills, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Morton and daughter Miss Luella, and Mr. and Mrs. Cooke and son of Belleville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Carter, on Sunday.

Keene

Mr. Arnold Starke of Norwood visited his cousin, Mr. Harold Mather, at Mather's Corners, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Churchill of Toronto were week-end guests in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Nelson of Stratford were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Shearer, Friday.

Miss Betty Jane Skinner of St. Catharines is a guest of her grandmother, Mrs. R. S. Skinner.

Misses Lois and Muriel Humphries and Jean Drummond visited their aunt, Mrs. J. A. E. Campbell, last week.

Mrs. Sarah Wood and Miss Edith Wood visited frends in Peterborough last week.

Mrs. Walter Thompson of Agincourt is visiting friends in the vicinity.

Miss Nora O'Neil of Kingston visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Rosche last week.

Mrs. Lela Ward of Guelph is a guest of Miss Mignon Teigman.

Mrs. L. Burley and Mrs. A. Newman and family of Belleville called on friends in the village on Thursday.

Mr. Paul Mooney of Toronto is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Kempt.

Last Friday evening the members of Keene United Church choir called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Fletcher and enjoyed a social evening in honor of their recent marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher were presented with a handsome silver tray and glasses from the choir. After several musical numbers, Mrs. Fletcher served bride's cake, and thanked the choir for their gift.

Pioneer Methodists Will Be Honored

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP). Services of three members of the first Methodist Society in America, Paul Heck, Margaret Embury Lawrence and John Lawrence, are to be commemorated through the unveiling at the Blue Church cemetery, Augusta township, on August 17, of a bronze tablet furnished by the Barbara Heck Commission, a United States organization.

The three Methodist pioneers, together with Barbara Heck, wife of Paul Heck and known as "the mother of North American Methodism" are buried there. Rev. D. N. Coburn, Prescott, president Montreal and Ottawa conference of United Church of Canada will preside and Mrs. Carl Fowler and Mrs. Anna Oustott, members of the Barbara Heck Commission will be present, the address being given by Carl Fowler.

Dan Cupid Is Again Back To Old Form

While June might still be popularly regarded as the peak month for weddings, the past month witnessed the heaviest parade of bridal couples to the matrimonial altar since June, 1931.

Dan Cupid was back on the job in earnest, having shepherded twenty-seven couples into the state of matrimony in July as compared with a mere twenty-four couples in the previous month. Not for a long time had he been so busy since in June three years ago thirty couples took each other "for better or worse."

But last month was a long way behind June of this year so far as the birth-rate was concerned. Maybe the stork was giving cupid his innings at bat. At any rate July only chalked up forty-three new arrivals as compared with June's high of seventy-two.

The death-rate showed an increase of two over June with a total of twenty-six death certificates filed at the city clerk's department for the month just ended.

Magistrate's Court

Strenuous objection to an adjournment which was applied for by the prosecution was this morning raised in Magistrate's court by J. A. O'Brien on behalf of Harold Davis, law student, of 221½ Brock Street, who entered a plea of "not guilty" to a charge of reckless and negligent driving.

On behalf of Davis who is alleged to have been driving a motor car on Highway 28 at Springville last Friday evening, which was involved in collision with another vehicle driven by Alfred Mason of North York Township, Mr. O'Brien intimated to the bench that the defendant was ready to proceed with the case.

Provincial Constable David Silvester by whom the information was laid requested adjournment for one week, a course to which His Worship subsequently agreed.

"I happened to be a passenger in the car and I know of no reason in the world why the Crown cannot go on to-day. It is my experience of this court that the Crown can ask an adjournment and get it but if the defence asks an adjournment it is a different horse. The officer was instructed that we would plead "not guilty" and that we would be ready to proceed.

Constable Silvester stating his reasons for requesting adjournment said he had not summoned his witnesses.

"Well. Why were they not summoned," Mr. O'Brien demanded.

No evdence was offered by the Crown this morning against Edward Caldwell of New Brunswick, employee of a Smith township farmer following his plea of "not guilty" to a charge of theft. The case was accordingly dismissed by Magistrate Langley.

Howard Dafoe of Haveock convicted of operating a motor vehicle bearing license plates that had not been issued for that particular vehicle, was fined $10 and $4.25 costs. The information was laid by Highway Traffic Officer Clarence Metcalfe of Marmora.

For failure to appear in answer to a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license, a bench warrant was issued against Leo Long, resident of this city stated to be working at a northern road camp.

740 Men Still Working On Trans-Canada Highway

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 1 (C.P.)—While some of the camps along the trans-Canada highway from the Sault to Port Arthur have been closed, 740 men are still at work and expenditures are being met from general funds, Dr. A. D. Roberts, M.L.A., and northern development engineer G. J. Lamb have stated.

The road can be travelled by truck to Memaines Point, 68 miles from the end of the present highway, at Batchawana. From Batchawana to Pancake Bay the road is 80 per cent completed.

Northern Ontario: Fair and moderately warm to-day and Thursday.

Ottawa, upper St. Lawrence, northwestern Quebec and Lake St. John: Fair to-day and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

POLICE, TROOPS FACE EACH OTHER IN NEW ORLEANS

City Tense Fearing Clash Between Mayor and Long's Forces.

ELECTION PRELIMINARIES.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1 (AP) Further answering the challenge of Senator Huey P. Long's militia mobilization south of the city, Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley to-day called 500 additional police to duty from the civil service lists, swelling the local constabulary force to 1,400 men.

Full arms, including riot guns, were issued to the augmented force at headquarters. All officers now on leave were recalled to duty and 12-hour police shifts were decreed for the first time here in 15 years.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 1. (AP).—National guardsmen, carrying arms under the banner of Senator Huey P. Long, faced Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley's police today, ready to battle for control of New Orleans.

The city was tense; fearing the first hostile move by either side might precipitate an actual clash between the state soldiers and the city police.

Senator Long, self-titled "Kingfish", moved about like a general "commanding" 500 National Guardsmen mobilized at Jackson barracks on the edge of the city.

The embattled Walmsley, once a friend of Long, held 400 policemen in readiness to resist any possible attempt of Long to usurp the city police power.

Almost two score militiamen held the city registration voting office which they stormed Monday night. Machine guns looked from the windows across a narrow street toward city hall.

Governor O. K. Allen's proclamation of partial martial law, applying to the city hall area, continued in effect.

Mayor Walmsley and Senator Long lambasted each other in speeches last night. The whole affair pointed to the coming Congressional primary in September, in which Walmsley and Long are supporting rival candidates.

Along with that issue was Long's announced determination to clean up the "vice and corruption" in the city, which Walmsley interpreted as a ruse for Long to seize control of the New Orleans administration.

Mayor Walmsley in his address described Senator Long as a "cringing coward," hiring bodyguards like "an Al Capone" and said the Senator would "pay the penalty as other carpet-baggers have done" if a single life be lost in defence of the city.

Sought For Slaying Girl, Youth Gives Up

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 1 (A.P.)—Facing murder charges in the death of Miss Marian Mills, former University of Oklahoma beauty queen, Neal Myers, young pharmacy student, surrendered to his attorney here to-day after eluding officers for three weeks.

Tired and worn from his wanderings in three states, the 21-year-old university student speared at the home of his attorney, W. P. Morrison, and disclaimed responsibility for the death of Miss Mills at Norman, Okla., July 10.

Young Myers fled from Norman following the death of the girl at the apartment of Mrs. Hazel Brown, a fraternity house cook. Mrs. Brown told authorities the girl had been taking quack medicines in an effort to avert motherhood.

Baldwin's Rhine Statement Logical

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP). — Stanley Baldwin was dealing with "realities which to-day face Great Britain and all the world" when he told the House of Commons in London that the Rhine, and not "the white cliffs of Dover," is now Britain's frontier, the New York Times declared to-day in its leading editorial.

Mr. Baldwin was not striving merely to utter an epigram, the newspaper went on. "His argument was logical. For years he and the British government have been seeking disarmament. But after long and repeated efforts to arrive at an agreement, that movements seems, at least for the time being, to have failed.

The paper says that when the acting Prime Minister declares the British frontier now lies in the Rhine "he tacitly ruled out France as a possible enemy" and continued:

"If Germany should again cross the castled Rhine to invade France, she would know that she was really ignoring a British frontier, with all the consequences of such an action. Mr. Baldwin did not in words single out Germany as the probable disturber of the peace, but his statement will certainly leave no doubt, whether in Paris, in Rome or in Berlin, what he meant."

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jobs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter.

NEW WATER MAINS AUTHORIZED.
As the sole main item of business transacted at the regular meeting of Peterborough Utilities Commission yesterday afternoon, Ross L. Dobbin, general manager, was authorized to expend the sum of $1,200 in laying water mains to connect with "dead ends" in the western section of the city. Other minor matters of business concerning regular routine included the passing of accounts. Gorden S. Matthews presided as chairman of the commission.

POTATO BUG ABSENT THIS YEAR.
Farmers and small-holders are anticipating a good unblemished crop of potatoes this season. Not only does the yield promise to be exceptionally heavy, but agriculturists are rejoicing over the virtual absence of the dread potato bug, who was apparently unable to withstand the severe winter experienced in 1933-34.

But while the farmer might find cause for rejoicing in this fact, the corner druggist is complaining that there has been little or no demand for Paris green this year, which is normally used in large quantities to wage war on the potato bugs.

"Oh, well. Whoever heard of all the people being pleased all the time?"

ARTICLES ASKED FOR.
We have been asked to get one double and one single mattress, also some pillows for a sick woman.

Please telephone Miss McCarthy at The Examiner and we will call.

BEVERAGE ROOM OPENS
The beverage room at the Montgomery House was opened this afternoon for the sale of beer, the management having secured the license to operate a beverage room from the Liquor Commission this morning. It is the sixth hotel in the city in operation.

Weddings

DELAHAYE—ARMSTRONG
A pretty wedding ws solemnized quietly to-day at two o'clock, at Mark Street United Church, when the Rev. J. E. J. Millyard, pastor of George Street United Church, performed the ceremony which united in marriage Dorothy Armstrong, daughter of Mr. Allan Armstrong of Peterborough and the late Mrs. Armstrong, and Mr. Albert Delahaye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Delahaye of Bethune street.

The bride wore a lovely gown of pale pink triple sheer, ankle length, with large white hat and white shoes and gloves. Her flowers were pink sweet peas.

The bridesmaid, Miss Hazel Hunter, was in a frilled dress of pale blue crepe, with white hat and accessories and bouquet of sweet peas.

Mr. Joseph Watson was groomsman.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Delahaye left on a honeymoon trip, and will live at 416 Mark street, on their return.

The bride travelled in an ensemble of navy blue crepe, with matching hat and accessories.

The young people received many handsome gifts from a wide circle of friends.

GOODSON—FOULGER.
The marriage was solemnized at half past one o'clock this afternoon, by the Rev. E. R. James at St. John's Church, of Rose Marion Foulger, second eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. Foulger, of Peterborough, and Mr. John Arthur Goodson, son of Mrs. Margaret Goodson of Rubidge street, and the late Mr. John Goodson.

The wedding music was played by Mr. F. G. Mann, L. Mus.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. J. Sadler, was gowned in white flat crepe, with small white hat and white shoes and gloves. She carried a bouquet of pink Butterfly roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Viole Foulger, sister of the bride, was in pink crepe, with pink hat and white shoes and gloves. Her flowers were Briarcliff roses.

Mr. Roy Wilson was best man.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. J. P. Paquette of King street, where decorations were carried out in pink and white, and refreshments were served to about forty guests from a table centered by the bride's cake and arranged with pink and white flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodson left later by train for a trip to North Bay, the bride travelling in an ensemble of dotted blue crepe, with blue coat, hat and accesories. They will live at the corner of Park and Bolivar streets.

The gift to the bridesmaid was a pendant and to the best man a silver cigarette lighter.

BISHOP UNCHANGED
HALIFAX, Aug. 1. —(CP)— The condition of Most Rev. Clare L. Worrell, primate of the Church of England in Canada, was reported unchanged today. Authorities at the hospital, where he has been confined three weeks, following an intestinal haemorrhage, said he passed a fair night.

FEW IN FAVOR OF RELIEF OFFER

Delegates Not Called to Conference But to Hear Ultimatum Says Macdonald.

HEPBURN DISSATISFIED.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP)—Provincial Government Ministers were resting to-day from two days' intensive study of the relief problem and facing the necessity of returning home with lighter budgets so far as Federal aid for direct relief was concerned, and some of them none too happy about it.

Taken unawares by the unheralded pronouncement of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, that from now until March 31, 1935, when the Relief Act of 1934 expires, Dominion Treasury would make monthly lump sum payments as grants-in-aid to the provinces for direct relief, instead of sharing one-third of whatever the total cost might be, at lease two of the Provincial Premiers were frankly outspoken in their protests.

Premier Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia, bitterly resented the Dominion procedure and, in a published interview, declared that "this was not a conference." The Premiers had been called to Ottawa to hear what was virtually an ultimatum, he said.

Finding Work Big Problem
Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Premier of British Columbia, accepted the new plan philosophically although not with approval. The direct relief problem was only a small item compared with the greater problem of finding work, said Mr. Pattullo, and in the final hour of the session he urged expansion of credit for a great rehabilitation move.

Premiers Mitchell F. Hepburn, of Ontario, and John Backen of Manitoba, supported Mr. Pattullo in his plea for a drive against unemployment, involving, as it would, some form of inflation.

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, and the Prairie Provinces, whose industrial unemployed do not present so great a problem, were more inclined to accept the new arrangement without protest since it was made evident the Federal Government's aid toward agricultural relief, land settlement and public works will be continued unaffected by the new proposals respecting direct relief.

"It is a case of the Federal Government saying 'Here's the alimony —now you bring up the children'," Mr. Hepburn said after emerging from the conference with the Cabinet Committee last night.

INTEREST HEADS ONTARIO SNAGS

Hepburn Claims Reduction in Rates Will Take Care of Relief.

ANOTHER PARLEY LATER.

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (C.P.)—Reduction in interest rates in line with the Dominion Government loan sold in the United States yesterday at two per cent would provide ample money for relief, Premier Mitchel F. Hepburn said to-day on his return from the interprovincial conference on relief matters at Ottawa.

The provinces, said Mr. Hepburn, were handicapped in seeking new money at low interest rates because they could not deal with foreigners. Investors abroad were not familiar with financial condition of the provinces and would lend only to the dominion, said the premier.

By borrowng money at two per cent interest charges could be reduced more than half, said Mr. Hepburn, with tremendous beneficial effect on government and municipal finances generally.

The money question must be dealt with before any solution of the problem of unemployment relief can be reached, said the premier. He was satisfied with the proceedings at Ottawa, but after hearing of difficulties of other provinces was more than ever convinced a lowering of debt charges would have to be brought about.

A number of provincial premiers at the conference, said Mr. Hepburn, pressed for initiation of some measure of monetary reform, and he believed the root of most of Canada's troubles could be described in the word "interest."

Mr. Hepburn said he understood Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was considering calling another conference later, but the Ontario premier did not know whether debt and money problems would then be taken up.

Queen City Fails To Produce "David"

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (CP)—Davids galore, and all kinds of accents, but not one in Toronto to fill the role in a film version of Dickens' "David Copperfield." So John Barrow, Hollywood scout, has left for Ottawa, still in search of some child between the age of 8 and 10 years, with an English accent who might be able to portray the part of Dickens' child character.

Farrow interviewed hundreds of girls and boys here yesterday, but none came up to his expectations, and he announced he would continue his search in Ottawa, and in Montreal if necessary.

A coin dated 1690 and believed to have been buried in a coffin, has been unearthed at Girvan, Scotland.

Brantford Rainmaker Lures Real Storm

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP)—Brantford has its rainmaker but unlike the Indian medicine man of Fairfax, Okla., he claims he produces storms not mere sprinkling. He is Frank Clark who says he has spent 15 years completing a device that draws moisture from the heavens.

Clark declared he had his device "on" for only four hours two days ago and "brought the storm." And a storm did fall at the time. But just a rainmaker is not only what the Brantford man has developed. He maintains it can also receive music.

The rainmaker, resting in a closet at Mr. Clark's home, is a tangle of wires with a packing box, an aerial and a mysterious box wrapped with insulating tape. The box is Mr. Clark's own little secret and when asked about it, all he said was:: "Well, it won't hurt anyone."

Pensions Inspector Sought By Ottawa

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—(C.P.)—Dominion authorities to-day were making a widespread search for Henry S. Dagg, 42, assistant accountant of the Department of Labor, and well-known local soccer player, against whom a warrant charging "uttering" has been issued.

Mr. Dagg was well known throughout Canada as an inspector under the Old Age Pensions Act, administered by his department, and was a travelling auditor checking accounts of expenditure on pensions moneys.

These charges are stated to involve sums of between $500 and $600 in pay cheques to Labor Department employees in Ottawa and other points.

LAMPS FOR PORT.
SEATTLE, Aug. 1.—(A.P.)—Under convoy of two coast guard cutters, the Alaska cannery tender, Otsego, once the German Great War raider Eitel Fredrich, limped toward Dutch Harbor in the Aleutian chain to-day with water in her forward hold.

Captain Max Darskie wirelessed no fears were felt for the ship's 500 passengers, salmon cannery workers whose season's work in Bristol Bay region of Western Alaska had ended.

The Otsego ran on the rocks of Cape Mordvinoff, on the north-western head of Unimak Island in the Eastern Aleutians, early yesterday morning.

The Peterborough Industrial EXHIBITION

(NOTE THE CHANGE OF DATES)

AUG. 20 TO 25

(INCLUSIVE)

ONE WEEK PREVIOUS TO THE OPENING OF THE CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION, TORONTO

GRAND STAND ATTRACTIONS

After considering many, the directors have finally arranged for these outstanding attractions to appear in front of the Grand Stand each afternoon and evening this year.

Bebney's Revue

The "Winter Garden" Revue of Talented Broadway Dancers and Stage Folk. Something new and proving very popular at outside entertainments. A galaxy of Precision Dancers in lovely routines.

Royal Buccaneers

Seven clever Acrobats performing seemingly impossible feats of daring. This is one of the world's most thrilling features in the field of athletic endeavor.

Joe Mandis' Troupe

Three men and a maid in a hilarious act of gymnastics and side-splitting comedy. You'll laugh with amazement at this equilibristic offering.

Mary Palmers' Circus

Enjoyment for the children, but for grown-ups too. Mary Palmer and Mr. Palmer have assembled an exceptional collection of cleverly trained Dogs and Ponies—one pony dances and plays a saxaphone.

Bob Eugene Troupe

One of the sensations of this year's grand stand show. A quartette of lightning fast horizontal performers—an original and miraculous display on the bars—formerly headlining Barnum and Bailey's Circus.

Horse Races, etc. etc.

If you like dots—incidently they're very fashionable—copy today's model exactly.

It is white tub silk with the dots in powder blue. For the unusually attractive collar and bow tie, the scheme is reversed. Powder blue, with white spots is used.

Another very likable scheme is light blue tub silk with navy trim.

Pique, linen, seersucker, handkerchief-finish lawn prints, etc., are equally nice fabrics for this fascinating model.

Style No. 2843 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39-inch material with ½ yard of 39-inch contrasting.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Eating out-of-doors is a pleasure few fail to enjoy. So if you are in the country or at the seashore make the most of the fine days and lose no moment of time indoors when you can be out in the fragrant open air. The next best thing to eating on the lawn is to have food served on an open or a screened-in veranda. There is nothing that gives one more of a feeling of living in the great open spaces, than to sit under some spreading tree before a table laden with fresh fruits and vegetables prepared "to the queen's taste." Appetites grow keen in the invigorating atmosphere, and foods are apt to be freshly plucked or gathered in their very prime. This alone is enough to give zest to the meal.

* * * * * *

Afternoon tea out of doors is a favorite summer mid-meal and a delightful choice of a place. It is a meal to linger over, and enjoy both tea and delicacies and by ways of conversation.

* * * * * *

Dinner at night is a little more difficult to serve out of doors, although it comes at such a time that one wants to be out in the open. Sunsets are glorious, and temperature is often the pleasantest of any time of the day. It is the fact that promptness is imperative, and there are apt to be laggards at the meal. With more dishes to keep hot than at any other meal of the day, the housewife's task is more difficult for it is annoying not to have the food eaten at its best, and to keep taking on and off the dishes is too much of a job. When the family is prompt, and meals are ready, it is hard to imagine a pleasanter place to enjoy one's dinner than out-of-doors.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

THE THREE QUEENS.

There is one player in Memphis, Tenn., who never again will like to see three queens in dummy. The hand which ruined his afternoon is shown today.

When North made a third hand opening bid of 4-spades, naturally East was glad to double upon his quick tricks, even if opponents were not vulnerable.

East led his king of hearts, and down came the declarer's 10, leaving East in doubt whether or not North was false-carding. In any event the king of clubs was led. Down dropped the declarer's 10 of clubs, leaving East still more uncertain. East shifted and led his king of diamonds. For the third time the declarer played a 10. Now East knew that North was lying about having to play a 10 each time, but he hadn't the faintest idea which suit was safe to lead, so East led his jack of spades. It rarely is good policy to put the lead into the declaring hand when you are able to force him to ruff. Giving the lead to North, by helping him to pull trumps, was about the worst thing which East could have done. The lead of any king would have defeated the contract, even if the declarer had ruffed. It could do no harm to establish a queen in dummy, if the declarer had no way of gaining entry there before he went down a trick.

The declarer an off trump after trump until he had won his first eight tricks. East had to make six discards. Five discards came readily enough as he had only to retain his three aces. Dummy followed East's discards, holding what East thought of as "the three infernal queens". East dreaded that eleventh trick, as he knew it would be another trump, and he hadn't the faintest idea which ace to let go. West had been of no help during the long period of discarding, as he had held a single loser of each suit.

When North led his last spade East felt that his safest discard was the ace of clubs, as dummy and East originally had held eight of that suit, so East held his worthless aces of both red suits. Dummy let go the last club, and so did West, leaving both the nine and two of clubs good in the declaring hand. North led his two good clubs, winning the last two tricks, and giving him his doubled contract. If West had let go all of one of his red suits, East could have seen that the declarer could hold no more of that suit, and let go the ace of that red suit, defeating the contract two tricks, by winning the last two tricks with the ace of clubs and the ace of the red suit which he held.

BE BEAUTIFUL

"Dear Miss Glad: I have very nicely shaped teeth, but lately they've become an unattractive hue. You see, I haven't been brushing them very vigorously, as my gums seem to have become very soft and tender, and bleed easily. How can I whiten my teeth again? LOUISE."

I would advise you first to have your gums examined by a good dentist. Softening and shrinking of the gums, and any tendency for them to bleed upon slight provocation, are the first symptoms of pyorrhea. And this distressing infection requires the services of a competent dentist for its correction. When you consult the dentist about your gums, have him clean and polish your teeth. This will remove all stains, and all calcareous and tartar deposits. Then, to keep your teeth white and clean, brush them at least twice a day, and use a good mouth wash always after each brushing.

"Dear Miss Glad: Your 'New Figure' booklet has proved most helpful to me, and I want to thank you for it. I lost all of 28 pounds from my bust, waist, hips and thighs through the reducing course in that booklet. And I feel like a regular Follies gal now, no kiddin'. However, I do my own housework, and find it hard to keep my hands white and free from stains. Can you tell me how to remove discolorations from my hands? EILEEN".

The best procedure for the average housewife is to keep half a lemon at the kitchen sink. Rub the lemon on any stains on your hands during the day. Then use a hand lotion at night to keep your hands soft. Another effective way to remove stains from the hands is to make an even paste of lemon juice and powdered pumice, and to rub it on the discolored skin. Be sure to rinse the paste thoroughly from your hands after you've used it. And always use a bleaching hand lotion after the rinsing, to keep your hands smooth.

"Dear Miss Glad: I know that a cold shower taken the first thing each morning is simply excellent for toning and revitalizing the body. I, however, find it most difficult to step under the frigid spray of a cold shower after leaving my warm bed. Also, I always feel chilled afterwards. How can I overcome this? LILLIAN."

If you find it difficult to tumble out of your warm bed and get under a spray of cold water, regulate the temperature of the water. Let it be tepid at first, and then gradually make it cooler. This will not detract from the effectiveness of the cold shower at all. The cold shower should always be followed by a brisk rub-down with a Turkish towel, to remove dead cuticle, to tone the circulation and to leave the body glowing with warmth and health. A cold shower should make you feel full of health and vigor. If it does not exhilarate you, if it leaves you chilled and shivering, you should raise the temperature of the water. Some people, you know, really can't stand the shock of cold water on their bodies.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

In addition to the report of scientific work done by its various members, the American Medical association at Cleveland this year had a number of exhibits illustrating experimental and clinical work in progress and completed.

Microscopes were set up, with charts and diagrams, models, X-ray plates, instruments, methods of confirming technical procedures and moving pictures, in booth after booth in a room as large as a city block. These exhibits were often of more practical value than the papers and addresses.

Notable were:

A demonstration of the treatment of pernicious anemia by injection of liver extract into the muscle. This is more effective than taking it by mouth, and since it uses far less liver extract, it is less expensive.

The Indiana Plan of Health Co-ordination. In all the discussion of medical economics there is nothing so convincing as the result of actual work. Generally when public health officers start to conduct a health campaign, such as the immunization of school children to diphtheria, there develops a three-cornered fight between the medical profession, the health department and the school officials. This the Indiana Plan has avoided. In essence, it centers the responsibility for health work of this kind where it ought to be—with the medical profession of the local community. It is working out splendidly, without friction, and is commended to every department of public health.

The formation of stones in the kidneys on a poor vitamin diet, and their prevention by a diet high in vitamins and acid ash, such as meats, poultry, fish and cheese, twice daily; prunes, cranberries, and plums; corn, asparagus, green peas, onions, cereals, a pint of milk, yeast and cod liver oil.

The exhibit on nutrition by the Committee on Foods: The foods that most often cause digestive trouble are listed as cabbage, apples, tomato, milk, chocolate, onions, lettuce, coffee, strawberries, eggs, meat, cucumbers, sweets, fats, radishes, cheese, cauliflower, peppers, prunes, oranges and salmon.

The necessity for a complete diet was shown. Some fallacies in dietetic precautions. "Patients often receive one or more of the following precautions and prohibitions: Be careful of your diet! Avoid fried and greasy foods. Avoid pie and pastry. Avoid red meat." So far as scientific evidence goes red meat is no worse than white meat; well made pie crust and pastry is not necessarily indigestible; foods properly fried by immersion in hot fat are not indigestible.

BEHIND the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL.

HOLLYWOOD, July 31.— The Crosby twins have been taken out of the incubator for the first time. Dr. Joseph H. Harris weighed them and one checked in at 4 pounds 6 ounces, while the other is two ounces lighter. Both the babies are in fine condition, but may have to remain in the incubator for another five weeks.

The Paramount crooner was on hand for the weighing in ceremonies, but Dixie Lee is still in bed.

IT MAY BE an old wheeze, but I never heard it before. Joe E. Brown was enthusing over a battle between a pair of coast heavyweights.

FORGETTING
the newest romances and divorces, filmland gossips can talk of nothing but the dramatic slaying of John Dillinger. Discussion of the case on a Columbia studio set brought a curious revelation from Geneva Mitchell, who is Lowell Sherman's steady. She displayed an almost obliterated scar on her arm, and confided it is an old bullet wound. Seems as Geneva lived in Chicago during her girlhood. Playing on the street one day, she had the bad luck to get right in the middle of an attempted assassination of Joe Colosimo, old-time underworld biggie. As so often happens to innocent by-standers, Geneva stopped one of the bullets.

HAS IT BEEN
printed that John Beal, late of the "She Loves Me Not" troupe on Broadway and now an R-K-O leading man, is a new bridegroom? He slipped away to New York and married his old sweetheart, Helen Craig, also of the footlights. The secret was out here when Beal showed up at the R-K-O studio to give his bride a look at his picture, "A Hat, a Coat, a Glove". The young actor's real name is Alexander Bliedlung.

MYSTERY PICTURES
will never lose their audience attraction, providing they are well-made, intelligently motivated, and contain sufficient suspense and thrills. Direct proof of this statement is offered by "The Ninth Guest," the Columbia production which opens at the Regent Theatre on Wednesday.

"The Ninth Guest" presents an interesting group of players. Donald Cook and Genevieve Tobin both popular screen stars, again give convincing performances. Less well-known are Edward Ellis, Helen Flint and Nella Walker, all three comparatively recently from the New York stage.

A FAST AND BREEZY
comedy romance titled "Ever Since Eve," Fox Film's latest release, makes its appearance at the Regent Theatre Wednesday. George O'Brien, who has long been associated with Westrans, has the leading role, and his change from breeches and spurs to top hat and tails is entirely a happy one. As a man-about-town, O'Brien gives a splendid performance in this hilarious comedy.

Mary Brian is ideally suited to her role as the bride of O'Brien, for her performance is a delightful piece of work. The other members of the cast who enact their roles perfectly, are Herbert Mundin, Betty Blythe, Roger Imhof, Russell Simpson and George Meeker.

KNICK-KNACKS—
Jean Harlow and William Powell just missed running into Carole Lombard and Russ Colombo at the Biltmore Bowl the other evening. After giving a party at which Bill was a prominent guest, La Harlow is now on a vacation in Arrowhead. . . . Very funny, the experience of Ella Burmeister, Hollywood extra. Her parents are in Honolulu and she wanted to see them. So she slipped aboard the S. S. Alexander, believing that the Columbia troupe making "The Captain Hates the Sea", was headed for a Honolulu location. After hiding out all day, she came up on deck to discover the boat still in the Long Beach harbor. Executives took pity and gave her work in the picture. . . . Barry Norton is Alice Terry's latest escort . . . You should see how Helen Vinson has taught her scotty to imitate a Hollywood chorine. . . . Arthur Beckhard, producer of "Another Language", has checked in at the Hollywood Plaza. . . . And La Garbo has caused eyestrain at M.G.M. by coming to work in gray silk lounging pajamas.

Reinhardt to Stage Shakespeare Plays and Perhaps Make Films.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1 (CP) — Many new faces soon will be seen in motion pictures, and behind the scenes there are numbers of new producers, directors and writers.

Max Reinhardt, the German director, will be here in the autumn to Stage Shakespearian plays in the Hollywood bowl, and perhaps make a film or two. A few of the newcomers are recruited from the current crop of radio stars; others come from foreign cinema fields, but most of them are from the stage.

Henry Hull, star of "Tobacco Road," is cast in Dickens' "Great Expectations." Jaques Beve, French playwright, author of the stories for the movies, ""Cardboard Lover," "Journal of a Crime," and "Angel," is to be working here soon. Serge Soudelkin, scenic artist for Manhattan's Metropolitan Opera and Balieff's "Chauve Souris," is also among the newcomers.

Many others will be busy in every department of the industry, technical men in the laboratories, cameramen, actors, actresses and writers. Hollywood must never get "stale," and the big influx of new talent from abroad is the chief guarantee against that disaster.

Many large industrial concerns in Japan are increasing their dividends.

BLAZE AT BOWIE—All that's left of stables, burned at Bowie, Md., race track. Damage is $30,000.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

REPORTS FROM Hamilton state that every stall available at that track is filled at the present time with the exception of twenty which have been spoken for. So it begins to look as if there will not be a scarcity of horses after all. Practically all the hides that campaigned at Stamford Park have moved over and quite a number were left there from the last Hamilton meeting to freshen up. Canny Age is showing wonderful form up there these mornings, and looks like the berries first rattle and roll. None of Sam McLaughlin's good ones have started yet at Saratoga, but should be out any day now. It is our opinion they will give American race track followers a grand awakening.

We hear they have shipped one called Wedding Ring to Saratoga and take it from us, this one can turn on the juice with any of them. Today marks the opening of the new track at Providence and we will endeavour to dig up a few from the pickle barrel for you at this place from time to time. Don Vern over at Detroit is ready for the question and the dividend will be one hundred per cent. Black Diamond is also there and the experts say he is back in his old time form. If this is so he will make them all sit up and take notice, when they slip the running shoes on him. Norman W. Church has shipped Toro Nancy, the recent winner of the Arlington Futurity to his ranch in California for a rest. In the same shipment was Gallant Sir and Riskulus who have won many stake races this year. These three are real topnotchers and after a short rest will be put in light training with a heavy winter campaign in view. This stable is one of the smartest in the business and trained by E. L. Fitzgerald, one of the most competent horsemen on the American turf.

AMONG THE horses at Hawthorne that are ready to win are Blue Day and Rubio. Both are of the highest calibre and equally at home in the mud or fast going. In the case of the latter Johnny Westrope will likely be in the saddle which will tend to make his chances of winning more certain. Charlie Davidson has Captain Red over there and this one can turn on the juice without any warning. He was a winter favorite for the Kentucky Derby not so long ago. Charlie also has the consistent Bagsmasher under his wing and he always gets his share of purse money with this one. Step Off is at Hamilton these days and is burning up the strip in his trials. He always improves in the fall season.

Canada's Latest Sculling Sensation

Heralded as a possible candidate for the Diamond sculls, Charles "Chuck" Campbell, 20-year-old Toronto high school boy, accomplished a feat which has only been achieved twice in Canadian Henley history. Campbell, a singles sculler, for only two months, rowed through the Canadian Henley to take the junior association and senior singles. He is a member of the Bloor Collegiate eight of Toronto which finished second to Buffalo Westsides. Thoroughly interested in sports, he plays rugby for his school and junior hockey.

NEWARK HOMERS CONTRIBUTE TO ROYALS' 5 TO 3 SETBACK

Leafs Drop 4½ Games Out of First Place by Falling to Orioles 9-1.

REDWINGS MUFF CHANCE.

(By the Associated Press.)

Once more the pace-setting Newark Bears appear to be well on their way to outdistancing the rest of the field in the International League pennant race.

At one time the Bears could boast of almost a dozen games, but a protracted slump, while Toronto and Rochester were spurting, cut their lead later to half a game.

Last night the Bears came through with their 11th win in their last 13 starts as they made the most of five hits off Ray Fritz to turn back Montreal Royals 5-3. Two home runs by Roy Schalk and one by Bob Gibson contributed heavily to the Bears' scoring. Vito Tamulis, young southpaw, held the Royals to eight hits; but he too was the victim of four base blows as Frisco Thompson and Frank Rieber connected for homers to score the Montreal runs.

Baltimore staged a mild uprising and dropped Toronto Maple Leafs 4½ games out of first place with a 9-1 beating.

The Orioles batted Bert Cole for 13. The tail-enders belted Cole for six runs in the third to clinch the game, while Bill Lohrman held the Leafs to five hits.

Rochester Red Wings dropped a chance to go into a virtual tie with Toronto for second place as they lost a close one to Albany 3-2 in 10 innings. The Senators came from behind to tie the score in the 7th and then won out in the 10th when Joe Mowry singled with the bases full for the deciding run.

Buffalo and Syracuse failed to get into action because of wet ground.

COGMEN TAKE THIRD VICTORY IN E. P. L. PLAYOFFS 3 TO 1

Battling Electrics Hold Run Scored in First Until the Fatal Sixth.

BILLINGSLEY ALLOWS 5

Taking advantage of C.G.E. errors in the sixth inning, Cogs scored three times to win out, 3 to 1, for their third straight E.P.L. playoff victory last night at the Exhibition Grounds. A fair-sized crowd watched a smart encounter till the Electrics blew up temporarily, long enough to lose out after leading from the first frame. Cogs need only one more win out of four games to take the title. Next game will be on Friday.

The C.G.E. crew scored a run in the first stanza and held that slim margin with a fine display of defensive ball till the sixth. Jack Barry was hurling good ball to allow a total of five hits and two walks as he struck out six. He had good support till the big blow-up. Lefty Billingsley, for Cogs, was also going nicely, his slow southpaw slants fanning two and holding Electrics to five scattered bingles. He had fair backing.

Leads at Bat

Padgett led the winners at bat with two singles in three appearances, while none of the C.G.E. stickers got more than one safe blow. Hatton hit a double. The fielding of Crary and Billingsley were standouts for Cogs, with Wilson and Moore making neat running catches. For C.G.E., three double-plays were pulled off, with Weir, Hillier and Johnston all going good.

Hatton doubled in the first for Electrics, went to third on an error and home on another miscue. Busby hit safely in the second and Weir in the third, but both were nicked off first. Hits by Mowry and Hillier in the fourth failed to materialize into runs, and they failed to threaten the rest of the way.

Cogs went out one-two-three the first three innings—except for a scratch hit by Billingsley in the third—four strikeouts helping to turn them back. In the fourth, the first two men up singled, but a play to home, followed by a snappy double-play stopped them cold. They broke loose to get three in the sixth. Wilson walked and stole second. He came home on Saunder's wild heave to first which let Crary go to second. The latter tallied on Padgett's single, Art moving up on the throw and taking third when the throw was bad. He scored when Barry fumbled Cadd's roller.

Maple Leafs Easy Victims For Keene

Keene girls bounced the Maple Leafs for an 19 to 4 loss last night at the Ashburnham Bowl, to keep the latter team in the cellar in the second half, in a game that saw Marilyn McCarthy, clever Keene hurler, fan ten batters and allow just four singles.

Maple Leafs gave a much improved performance, but were no match for the visitors in the batting, as the latter pounded out 21 safeties. Agnes Sturgeon pitched the nine innings for the losers. She fanned three and passed three. Helen Nelson led the Keene players in the batting parade with four hits, including a home. Lois McCarthy was next with two singles and a triple.

The teams:

Keene: Cocks, c; Brown, 2b; M. McCarthy, cf; Nelson, as; L. McCarthy, 3b; Wedlock, lf; Marilyn McCarthy, p; J. Nelson, 1b; R. Gainor, rf.

Maple Leafs: Cockerill, 2b; Rome, lf; Ferguson, cf; H. Mann, 1b; Ballantyne, ss; White, c; G. Mann, 3b; Trollop, rf; A. Sturgeon, p.

YANKS REGAIN AMERICAN LEAD BY DEFEATING SOX IN DOUBLE

Lou Gehrig Clouts 31st-32nd Circuits in New Yorkers' Twin Win.

ATHLETICS TRIUMPH.

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Like a couple of wild-eyed kids on a merry-go-round, New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers whirled dizzily aroud to-day, still snatching for the American League brass ring, and this time the Yanks had a finger on it.

In one full month of July, just closed, the Yankees and Tigers have been bouncing in and out of first place like the famous Mr. Finnegan. Three times since July the Tigers were on top and four times the Yankees. The Yanks started the month in front and just did manage to finish there.

With such familiar persons as George Herman Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Vernon Gomez figuring largely in the proceedings, the Yanks wiggled back yesterday before the month closed on them, by winning two games from Boston Red Sox, 11-2 and 2-1, as the Tigers were dividing a double-header with Cleveland Indians.

The youthful starch that has been stiffening the ageing attack and defense of the Yanks picked up where the veterans left off. After Lou Gehrig had hit two home runs in the first game onslaught to boost his season total to 32, while Gomez was pitching marvelous three-hit ball for his 17th victory, young Johnny Murphy and Jimmy Deshong held the Red Sox to five hits in the second. Babe Ruth picked a most opportune moment to hit his 17th homer of the season in the second game to give the youngsters exactly the edge they needed against Lefty Ostermueller. Roy John's homer with one on ruined a shutout for Gomez.

A record week-day crowd of 25,000 in Cleveland had their day spoiled two ways. The Indians, with Joe Vosnik, with a homer, leading a 15-hit attack on three tired Tiger pitchers, took the first game 7-2, but lost the second 4-2 and with it the services of Glenn Myatt, first string catcher, who broke his right ankle sliding into home in the third inning.

Myatt's double had scored a run and put the Indians ahead. Scoring on Earl Averill's single, the catcher's spikes caught the plate. He will be out the remainder of the season, leaving Frank Pytlak the sole Cleveland receiver. The Tigers came from behind then and belted Bob Weiland out of the game while Tommy Bridges held the Indians safe the rest of the way.

Sam Jones, the ancient one, neatly pitched the White Sox to a 5-3 victory over the Browns in a duel with George Blaeholder, and the Athletics took another fall out of the tumbling Senators, 8-2, as Ed Coleman hit his 10th homer with two on. Joe Cronin, Senators' manager, had to retire after Pinky Higgin's grounder hit him in the face.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Lon Warneke, Cubs.—Defeated Cards twice, finishing out play-off of protested game and then hurling regular contest.

Dolf Camilli, Phillies—Drove in three runs with two singles.

Joe Vosnik, Indians — Hit home run, double and single; drove in three runs and scored three in first game with Tigers.

Ed Coleman, Athletics — His home run scored three runs in victory over Senators.

Vernon Gomez, Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth, Yankees.—Gomez hurled three-hit ball and Gehrig hit two home runs in first game against Red Sox. Ruth won second game with homer.

DOUBLE WIN FOR WARNEKE

Chicago Cubs Vanquish St. Louis Cardinals in Game and Half.

BRAVES DEFEAT GIANTS.

Lon Warneken rovided the National League thrillsof the day as he rounded out the July 2nd game the St. Louis Cardinals protested with two scoreless innings to give the Cubs a 7-1 victory that had never been changed from the records. He stayed in, then, and pitched the regular day's game with the Cards, winning 7-2 before a crowd of 25,000. The first proven mistake of Umpire Bill Klem's career, a decision on an infield fly over-ruled by League President John A. Heydler forced playing the two innings over.

With the Giants bowing 4-1 before the Braves in Boston due to the combination of Huck Bett's pitching and Pinky Whitney's home run, the Cubs pulled up within 2½ games of the league leaders. Curt Davis pitched the Phillies to a 4-2 victory over the Dodgers, his 15th of the season, and the Pirates got exactly no where with the Reds, winning the second game 7-5 in 11 innings after losing the first 6-4.

The Braves' victory broke Freddy Fitzsimmons streak of nine straight victories.

TORONTO LEAFS PUTTING UP GREAT BATTLE TO GAIN TOP

Four New Players From Cincinnati Reds Will Add Much Strength to Boone Club.

"POISON JOE" BACK

Three to four games out of first place and battling all the way to bring that International League pennant back to Toronto—such is the program of Manager Ike Boone right now.

Ontario baseball fans are behind the Toronto Leafs in their drive to succeed, as proven with the response of all Ontario to the broadcast of the games. While the pitching fell off a bit during the last road trip through the southern end of the circuit, the Leafs have maintained their hitting power and with additional help—to the amount of four new players from Cincinnati, due to join the Maple Leafs by Civic Holiday, great things can be expected.

Already the third base problem has been solved with the deal that sent Outfielder Ray Fitzgerald to Buffalo for Third Baseman Bill Regan. The newcomer is a smooth fielder and is a standout at picking up the hot grounders around third bag. He is also a hitter of .300 average.

And the return of "Poison Joe" Brown to active service is great news for fans of the Toronto club. Brown has worked out the cold in his arm and is now ready to give his best for the Maple Leaf cause. There isn't a better hustler in baseball than the same Joe Brown and he should prove to be just the man needed to steady the younger players during the final dash to the finish of the regular schedule.

Charles Stainton (Steamer) Lucas is another reason for the success of the Toronto Leafs. When the pitching staff slipped a bit, Lucas arose to the occasion as a relief hurler, winning no less than five games in two weeks as a "pinch-pitcher." Lucas has a fast ball with a dinky little curve that makes the best hitters in the league appear foolish when it is working.

The August home stay opens with two afternoon games at the Maple Leaf Stadium on Civic Holiday with Albany Senators as the attraction. The Albany club is the team to watch right now. They have secured several outstanding players from major league clubs and are making a real fight to get into the play-offs. Pitcher Beck and Catcher Sukeforth are the latest to join the Senators from Brooklyn. They have Billy Brubaker, with the Leafs last season on third base. Del Bissonette, veteran slugger, on first, and of course the league's leading hitter in Jake Powell playing centre-field. Harris, Jones, Prim Pilley, Milligan and Cy Blanton give the Senators a strong pitching staff. Toronto and Albany play a night game Tuesday, August 7th, starting at 8.30 p.m. The fourth game of the series will be played Wednesday afternoon, starting at 3 p.m. The final game of this important series is listed for Thursday night, August 9th, at 8.30 p.m.

Cobourg Lacrosse Club Here Thursday

Cobourg is here for a lacrosse game tomorrow (Thursday) evening at six o'clock in Riverside Park. It is a regular O.A.L.A. game with the local Kiwanis crew, the Lakeshore team having been taken back in the grouping on their promise to live up to the schedule in future. This contest should be a real struggle, probably the best of the year so far here. These teams have met only once to date, in Cobourg, when Kiwanis nosed out a win by one goal. The Cobourg team has been practising regularly and will be at full strength for the clash here tomorrow.

Peterborough Kiwanis are on top of their standing at present, with five wins out of six starts. They hope to knock off their rivals in Riverside, Thursday, and take a substantial lead in their lacrosse group. Pete King may not be playing, but the other regulars are sure to be present, including Dundas, Creighton, Jack, Routley, Miller, Magee, etc. The contest will start sharp at six and deserves a good crowd, provided the weather is right. Box lacrosse played outdoors on a fine summer evening, if the teams are well-matched, offers the zenith in sporting entertainment.

Brintons and Johnston's wound up the second half of the men's softball last night at Central with the latter team grabbing off a 10-7 decision. The game was a wide-open affair with the Tiremen coming from behind in the final innings to cop the win.

Price hurled steady ball for the winners while Currie, Abbott and H. Dormer all took a turn on the hill for the Carpetmen, with the latter two being nicked for all the runs and Dormer charged with the defeat.

Dorrington and Ellis did the heavy clouting for Bert Deck's crew, collecting three out of five apiece while Pat Calladine with three out of six did the most damage for Brintons.

The fielding was just fair with both sides looking bad at times while on some occasions it was good. One double-play was completed by Johnston's in the fifth, Stanger taking a line drive to step on second for an unassisted double and kill a promising Brinton rally.

British Critics Call Canadian Olympian to Win in Speed Tests.

FACES TOUGH OPPOSITION.

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(C. P. Cable) — England wondered today if the most famous schoolboy sprinter in the world, tow-headed Bert Pearson of Hamilton, Ont., was as far away from form as his Canadian trials would indicate. British critics, who follow the form charts closely, were inclined to call the Canadian Olympian the favorite for the British Empire Games sprints which open Saturday.

The conqueror of United States' Ralph Metcalfe indoors, victor over Jesse Owens, America's No. 2 dashman outdoors, Pearson got the call today in England despite the fact he was defeated in the Canadian trials by lanky Bill Christie, star Toronto dashman.

When the pick of the Empire's sprinters face the starter at White City stadium Saturday Pearson will be against the field in the eyes of all England.

Among Pearson's foes are an Indian ace, R. A. Vernieux, who has been credited with running 100 yards in 9.7 seconds, H. S. Yates of Australia has been caught in 9.8 seconds. Bob Murdoch of Scotland, Bill Rangeley, veteran English sprinter and F. A. W. Sweeney of England are others who are considered real threats to Pearson.

When the games open here Saturday, Canada will receive a real test of speed. Men's 100-yard dash will be decided and heats of the women's century will be decided. Canadians were certain they would qualify four for the femine sprint classic final.

Audrey Dearnley, tall Hamilton girl who has impressed critics here with her easy style, stood out as Canada's best prospect in the women's sprinters. But Peggy Matheson and Mildred Fissell of Toronto and Betty White of Hamilton were not far behind. Chief competition was expected from Marjorie Clark of South Africa, Clarice Kennedy of Australia and Nellie Halstead and Elsie Hiscock of England.

Harry Hart, giant South African who copped two titles at the Hamilton games four years ago, was favored to repeat his discus throw win, but Bob Waters of Vancouver was one of several who may dethrone the popular titlist. Hart's empire record is 135 feet, 11 inches. Waters' best mark is 130 feet.

But there was stiff competition through the entire program. The only top-heavy favorite was Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan of the Irish Free State in the hammer throw. O'Callaghan, a colorful performer, holds the world record. He has won the event at the last two Olympic games. Two weeks ago he demonstrated he is still the best in the world by tossing the hammer 166 feet, 8¾ inches.

Hilda Cameron, Toronto 220 yard sprinter and Mrs. Roxy Atkins, Toronto's ace hurdler, were the only Canadian athletes to be affected by illness since reaching England. Despite an infected throat Miss Cameron continued training and was in good condition to-day. Mrs. Atkins was recovering from a light attack of influenza.

Cavalcade Leading In The Stake Events

NEW York, Aug. 1. (AP)—Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's Cavalcade, with $111,235, won this year, is far ahead in the race for the three-year-old thoroughbred championship, but whether he is superior to Joseph E. Widener's Peace Chance second on the money-winning list with $45,060, may not be definitely decided unless they both race in the Travert stakes on the closing day of the current Saratoga meeting.

Cavalcade soundly defeated Peace Chance in the Kentucky Derby, but Peace Chance trounced Cavalcade's stablemate, High Quest, in the Belmont stakes. High Quest, third on this year's money-winning list with $37,165, is the only horse that has beaten Cavalcade this year, nosing him out in the Preakness.

C.G.E. presented Cogs with another E.P.L. playoff victory last night at the Exhibition Grounds, 3-1 being the size of their latest presentation. We thought it looked rather dumb following a wedding to see guys running after the poor newlyweds and throwing boots their way, but that had nothing on the dumb running and booting shown by Electrics yester eve! Between that display of base-running and the sixth-inning bobbles, Cogs could hardly help but win, despite some really fine hurling by Barry and good defensive play by his teammates in other frames.

• • • • • •

Lefty Billingsley—the "gay deceiver"—had the boys so frightened of his tosses to first after the third inning that they went down there and hung right onto the bag with both hands. He picked off three in three attempts the first three innings, catching them flatter than we are the day before payday. His trick motion and throw to first was clicking 100 p.c. He probably cut off a couple of runs, while the C.G.E. blowup in the sixth handed Cogs three markers, which was enough for the win.

• • • • • •

The game itself was interesting enough, one of the best yet pulled off by the E.P.L.-ers. The losers turned in three double-plays and looked like the better team till the one bad frame late in the tussle. Even at that, as the score indicates, it was a good game. Cogs have now won three in three starts of this four-out-of-seven little world serious. They need just one more (aw, do tell, Mr. Mathematician!) and can finish it up Friday. They will be trying to do that little thing, and C.G.E. will have to bank on more than just luck to prolong the affair.

Men's Softball League schedule came to a close last p.m. with Orphans on top and Brintons second. Fashion-Craft defaulted their remaining games, so the playoffs will commence Thursday. The loop executive will meet tonight to decide on playoffs. As both Johnston's Tires and Brintons qualified for the first half playoffs, and Brintons and Orphans for the second half, it looks like maybe a two-out-of-three series between Johnston's and Orphans will be ordered. Then, the winner will likely meet Brintons in the five-game finals. We'll know tomorrow.

Keens put the skids to Maple Leafs, 19-4, before a large crowd at the Bowl last night, with Marilyn McCarthy pitching some shucks to fan ten and give but four hits. She walked just three and had fine support, Helen Nelson homering. Some of the fans howled 'cause ye umps called a base-runner out when she was hit by a liner while standing on third. The umps was right as Section 12 of Rule 48 says: "If a fair hit ball strike him (or her) before touching a fielder, and, in such case, no base shall be run unless necessitated by the batsman becoming a base-runner, but no run shall be scored or any other base-runner be put out until the umpire puts the ball back into play." The rule has to do with "When base-runners are out."

Beginning Thursday (tomorrow), the Mark St. Bowling Club will sponsor a series of Thursday night tourneys with good individual prizes for the nightly winners. At the end of August, the player having the highest number of wins and score will receive a valuable tea set. This is open to bowlers of the city and surrounding district and rinks wishing to participate should notify Tom Hendry the day before each tournament. Phone 2606-W. The greens are in perfect shape and with fine lighting equipment.

Looks like Cobourg lacrossers actually will be up here tomorrow for their O.A.L.A. game with Kiwanis. It takes place at six beels in Riverside Park and can materially reduce the Petes' lead or else put them well out in front. Cobourg has a good squad when at full strength, one that is quite likely not only to win here but to work into a playoff berth and then sweep the series to leave two very disgruntled teams in the Belleville Aajmaa Club and the local Kiwanis. Tomorrow's game ought to be worth taking a squint at.

Just to keep the screwy C.O.B.L. record of a season of upsets intact, Kingston Ponies pranced into Belleville last e'en and copped a 5-0 victory. Jack Williams allowed only seven hits while fanning nine, but Speedy St. Louis had an edge on him, and his teammates hit in the pinches, Boyd and Smith having five bingles between them. The win pu ils the Ponies up into a third-place tie with Oshawa and cuts the Nats' lead over the Petes to one full game. So close is the Central League race now that there is a difference of only two and a half games between Belleville on top and Oshawa and Kingston in the cellar—and four weeks to go.

JOE KIRKWOOD NOT DEFENDING CANADIAN TITLE

Classy Field Will Tee Off in Opening Stages of Tourney Thursday.

11 FORMER CHAMPIONS.

TORONTO, Aug. 1. (CP).—Joe Kirkwood, the trick-shot wizard who won his first major title in the Canadian open golf championship last year will not defend his crown in the tournament opening at the Lakeview Golf Club here to-morrow.

The Australian considered cutting short a European exhibition tour to attempt a repeat performance and filed his entry. But Royal Canadian Golf Association officials announced to-day he would not be present.

Even without the champion the field will be the classiest that has ever gone in hunt of the third ranking golf title in the world. Among the 164 whose pairings for Thursday and Friday were announced to-day were top stars of the game in the United States and Canada.

Eleven former champions will attempt to master Lakeview's narrow fairways and rolling greens, to shatter the par of 70 and get down in front of the international field in the 72-hole tournament. Among them are two, Walter Hagen and Tommy Armour, who also have won both the United States and British opens.

The 82 pairs play 18 holes Thursday and Friday, the low 60 going into the final 36 holes Saturday. Bud Donavon, of Winnipeg, and Art Neve, Toronto, lead the way at 9.05 Thursday morning and they will get away at five-minute intervals until 3.50 in the afternoon.

Horton Smith and Macdonald Smith are the only stars apart from Kirkwood who were counted on to complete and have not yet made an appearance. Most of them have been feeling out the course for the past few days. Several have broken par in practise but figure they'll have to be good to do it under tournament conditions.

BIG FIELD IN GOLF CLASSIC

Canadians Meet Strong Invasion From United States in Canuck Open.

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—(CP).—Canadian golfers from coast to coast will assemble to meet an unusually strong United States invasion, when the Canadian Open golf championship is held atthe Lakeview course near here from Aug. 2 to 4.

Ever since the competition was resumed after the war stars from across the border have walked away with the title, which ranks next to the British and the United States opens in the golfing world. The last Canadian to win it was Karl Keffer of the Royal Ottawa in 1914.

The entry list is one of the longest in the 30 years' history of the championship. The coast-to-coast aspect is lent by Jimmie Rimmer of Sydney, N.S., formerly at Jasper Park, and Ken Black of Vancouver, runner-up in the Canadian amateur last year and shooting some great golf on the coast this season.

Practically all the leading professional golfers in the United States with the possible exception of Paul Runyan will be on hand, following the American P.G.A. at Buffalo. Joe Kirkwood of Chicago, the trick-shot artist, will defend his title. He has been across to Europe with Gene Sarasen and the latter, who has never captured the Canadian title despite his success in other fields, will also be in the battle.

Many Champions Back

Olin Dutra, the present U.S. open titleholder and his brother Mortie, are coming. So is Walter Hagen, winner in 1931; Harry Cooper, winner in 1932; Tommy Armour, winner in 1927 and 1930; Horton Smith; Lee Diegel, four times winner; Bill Mehlhorn, Billy Burke, Johnny Farrell and Denny Shute, former British titleholders, Ed Dudley, Al Watrous and others of front rank Every titleholder since 1924 is to be back except Macdonald Smith, 1926.

Lakeview course is in splendid trim for the big tourney. Bad or close lies are almost unknown and the greens have more "velvet" than usual. The course is rectangular, for the most part shorn of trees, and mildly undulating. Both nines begin and end at the clubhouse.

Par is 70, and the course is 6,263 yards. Despite the apparent lack of length Lakeview is tough and well able to penalize misdirected shots. The first nine, although the longer, is actually about a stroke easier than the second, with the 16th hole the hardest of them all.

HIS SECOND SET

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 1 (C.P.)—G. B. Hart celebrated his 77th birthday by cutting the first of his second set of teeth.

"I'm not surprised," he said. "My grandfather cut his third set after his 70th birthday.

KINGSTON WINS FROM NATIONALS

St. Louis Outpitches Chief Williams to Give Ponies 5-0 Victory.

Scrutton's Play Features.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 1.— (C.P.) — Kingston Ponies jumped back in the running in the C. O. B. L. last night when they defeated the Nationals, 5-0. St. Louis, who was on the mound, clearly out-pitched Jack Williams, and was always on top of the hitters. The Ponies outhit the locals seven to six, and made their hits count. The Nationals secured two hits in each of two innings.

In the first frame Kingston scored on Boyd's single and Smith's triple while in the second they manufactured another on Quinn's double, a sacrifice and an infield out. In the fifth Stone singled and Ford overthrew first the player going to third on a fly ball and scoring on Mills's error when he let the third strike get away from him. The eighth saw two more go over the plate when Webber walked and Boyd tripled. Smith then singled, scoring Boyd.

Williams struck out nine and walked one, while St. Louis whiffed five and did not issue a free trip. The feature play of the game was supplied by Scrutton when he made a shoestrng catch in centre on Weir's bid for a hit. The Nationals are still one full game up in the league race.

BAILIEBORO GIRLS GOING GREAT GUNS

Cobourg, Bethany and Zion Teams Vanquished in Exhibition Games.

BAILIEBORO, Aug. 1.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The local girls' softball team have, during the past week, been playing a series of games against neighboring clubs and apparently their ill luck which prevailed during the earlier part of the season, has changed and the girls with their manager, Fred White, now feel that the team is well organized and in remaining games which they will play during the season they feel confident that a good exhibition of ball will be demonstrated to the fans, who have become very enthusiastic over the exhibition games in which the locals have taken part.

On Friday evening the homesters won from Cobourg Ontario Hospital girls by a score of 24 to 13.

On Wednesday they trounced the girls from Bethany on the local diamond by a score of 15 to 12. This was the first game of a series the locals have taken from the fast working Bethany nine.

A game on Friday with Zion ended with the locals leading by a score of 28 to 6.

The team has recently been reorganized and several junior players including E. McMahon, H. McMahon, H. Thompson and W. Gainer have been added to the line up.

The team lines up as follows: R. Wood, p; A. Barnard, c; M. Wood, 1b; T. White, 2b; D. Dawson, p; F. Carl, 3b; M. Whittington, cf; J. Campbell, rf. The alternates filling in when necessary.

No "All-Star" Game For International

NEW YORK, Aug. 1,—Officers of the International Baseball League turned thumbs down yesterday on a proposal for an all-star game and heard encouraging reports about attendance figures.

President Charles H. Knapp presided at the regular summer session, which proved to be a routine get-together. Suggestions had been heard from the baseball public that the league stage an all-star game.

Officials declined to say whether or not the protest of Montreal Royals about umpiring was discussed. The Royals were reported to be disgruntled at a number of decisions in their recent games, particularly one at Baltimore in which a miniature riot broke out.

Secretary William J. Manley said attendance for the 1934 season already was more than 100,000 ahead of last year.

SILVER SLIPPERS

By Temple Bailey

READ THIS FIRST:

Joan Dudley, vacationing in Maine with her wealthy aunt, Adelaide Delafield, is engaged to marry Drew Hallam, man of the world who is twice the age of his fiancee. Mrs. Delafield becomes restless and decides to leave the log house, run by Penelope Sears, a widow, where she, Joan, Hallam and his sister, Nancy, have been stopping.

(Now go on with the story)

Chapter 3

The dinner was, as usual, an achievement. From soup to shortcake everything was superlative. Penelope's guests were aware that at no resort hotel would they find roast chicken so delicious, vegetables straight from the garden, such whipped cream and fresh blackberries between layers of flaky crust.

While there was a woman to help with the heavy work about the house Penelope did all of the cooking and serving. She had no sense of degradation in any household task. A sea captain's granddaughter could not be lowered by her occupation. A princess with a tray in her hand was still a princess!

Throughout the meal Joan had little to say, and when after dinner, they adjourned to the living room and while others had their cigarets, she sat among them, smiling into the fire, rapturous in the thought of her happy secret, yet shy because of it.

The discussion had to do with their changed plans. "We shall have six weeks before the hotel closes," Adelaide said, "and we hope you'll go when we do."

Nancy was eager. "I'd love it. But Drew will have to decide."

Halam, delaying his decision, askod: "Is there anything for a man to do down there? I'm keen for the out-of-doors you know. That's why I came to this place."

"As much as there is to do here. You can ride with Joan, walk with Joan, play bridge with Joan . . ."

Adelaide's voice trailed off into laughter.

Hallam laughed, too. He tossed his cigaret into the fire, then with a quick lift of his head faced Mrs Delafield:

"If you'll promise to let me play with Joan for the rest of my life I'll agree to anything."

Joan caught her breath. How daring! And how well he knew Aunt Adelaide. She adored sensations. His boldness would please her.

The brown eyes in the old face sparkled. "So that's it, you want to marry Joan?"

"Who wouldn't want to marry her?"

"Oh, well, she's not a belle and a beauty."

"She is more than that—she is springtime and violets and morning stars . . ." His eyes as he looked down at Joan burned with a deep light. "Give me the word and I'll carry her off."

Adelaide demanded of Joan: "My dear, do you want to marry this—highwayman?"

"Oh, he isn't that, Aunt Adelaide."

"Why not? He wants to steal you from me." Mrs Delafield was playing a game, and getting a lot out of it. She wanted Joan married, yet it pleased her to enact the role of reluctant guardian. "He wants to steal you my dear," she reiterated, "and I repeat that he's a—robber."

Hallam drew Joan up beside him—"Give us your blessing, Aunt Adelaide' he said, with a sort of delightful impudence.

The old woman glowed under his smiling glance. "A thousand blessings, if you wish." She made a little gesture with her hands.

Joan kissed her aunt. She was trembling with emotion. She wanted to cry in her lover's arms. But of course she couldn't. She could only stand blushing and smiling while Nancy said, "You're too good to him," and Drew flung back, "You don't know how good I can be, Nancy."

Later in the evening, when Drew was at the telephone getting Granite head and information about the hotel

Joan went out to the kitchen where Mrs. Sears was washing dishes. The big room was warm and shining, and Penelope was making the matter of dish-washing an attractive rite, with her bright pans, her snowy suds, the smooth, checked towels of Irish linen.

"I am sorry we are going away," Joan said.

"I am sorry to have you go."

"Nothing will ever be quite—like this . . ."

Penelope, setting hot plates in the rack, said: "You mean being up here?"

"Yes."

There was silence for a moment between them, then Joan asked, "Can't I help you with the dishes?"

"Not in that dress."

"Oh, but I'll get an apron."

She found one of Penelope's in a drawer. It was of blue gingham and it covered her up. Below it shone the silver slippers.

Penelope, caught by the shine of the little shoes said: "I never wore silver slippers."

"These are my first. Before I lived with Aunt Adelaide I had very few pretty things."

"Do you like living with her better than at home?"

"Oh, yes. It has been rather wonderful. Of course, if mother were alive I shouldn't want to be away from her. But then if I hadn't been with Aunt Adelaide, I shouldn't have met Drew Hallam. I am going to marry him, Mrs. Sears. I wanted you to know."

Penelope waited for a moment before she said: "My dear child, I wish you happiness . . ."

"I am so happy now that I feel a bit frightened—as if it couldn't last. Yet I know it will—last."

Penelope's brain rapped. "How can you know it?" But she did not voice her doubt. She went on washing dishes.

When Drew Hallam came into the kitchen to look for Joan, she was wiping the last cup. He frowned as he saw her occupation. "Take off that apron, Joan. I don't like it."

She stood in front of him. "Am I always to obey orders?"

"When it comes to your looks!" He had crossed the room and was busy with the button on the bib of the apron. It was at the back of her neck, and for the second time that night she thrilled to his touch. "There," he said, at last, "and don't do it again. You belong to beautiful things, not to serviceable ones."

He turned away without a word to Penelope. But Joan, following him, waved a hand and said with a note of defiance, "I'll do it again sometime, Mrs. Sears, when he isn't looking."

In the hall Hallam stopped. "You mustn't do it."

"Why not?"

"Because you should be above it."

Joan was puzzled, "Above what?"

His tone was impatient. "Don't pin me down to definitions. I want your loveliness untouched by practical things." He put a finger under her chin. "Look at me, Joan."

She lifted her eyes to him, her cheeks pink with excitement. "I want you beautiful always . . . for me . . . for my kisses . . ."

How strong he was! Her bronze head lay now in the hollow of his arm. How strong he was . . . and splendid . . . !

The door was open and they went out into the forest. The moonlight came splashing through the trees in a golden shower. The dark branches made shadows on the ground.

Joan said, leaning on her lover's arm, "Don't you adore the stillness?"

He smiled down at her. She was like a nymph in the enchanted night, with her pale draperies, and the sheen of her silver. "Of course I love it. With you to make it perfect."

"I don't mean that," she insisted. "Even if you were not here I should feel there was something solemn and sacred about it—like a cathedral. Do you know what I mean? It's as if there were nothing between the tops of the trees and heaven."

He laughed aloud, "You funny little thing."

Her eyes were startled. "What do you mean by 'funny'?" she asked.

"With your raptures and enthusiasms. They are out of date, my sweet."

"Don't you like them?"

"Of course. Only you mustn't live too much in the clouds. Or I can't follow you."

He caught her up in his arms at that, and as he set her down he whistled under his breath a waltz song from a popular musical play. "We have never danced together. Let's see how well we do it."

They took a step or two, tentatively, then swept on. It was a magical night, the pine needles made a soundless floor under their feet, the moonlight splintered against Joan's hair in a thousand sparkles.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, August 2

A particularly lively and pleasant day is forecast from the rule of the planets. In business there will be fine stimulus for attacking important projects, although those of independent initiative will be more successful than those in associations with employers or other superiors, although secret bodies, rings, or mergers will be readily approachable for practical propositions. In the realm of the social, domestic and romantic there is sign of much activity, with the accent on the latter in the prospect of courtship, marriage or other ardent demonstrations.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very lively and constructive year, with much stirring in business as well as private affiliations. There will be well-stimulated energies in all directions, with enterprise and fresh initiative urging into independent lines of endeavor rather than in connection with employment. But large corporations, rings or secret bodies will be found ready to assist sound projects. Courtship, marriage, amusements and many lively diversions are auguries for the private life.

A child born on this day should be ardent, aggressive and enterprising.

DELAYED

TORONTO, July 31 (CP) — The Royal Commission under Mr. Justice F. R. Latchford investigating the "Abitibi deal" of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, adjourned without sitting to-day, until tomorrow.

The Commissioners found they were unable to proceed at the moment and adjournment was made.

Bills of large denominations are decreasing in numbers in England while those for small amounts are showing a marked increase.

BISHOP IMPROVES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Suffering from typhoid fever, Dr. J. Dewdney, Bishop of Keewatin, was "getting along nicely" in hospital here to-day. Hospital officials could not say, however, when the Bishop would be able to leave the institution. Dr. Dewdney was brought from Churchill last Friday night, where he had been conducting one of his periodical missions.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK - - By R. J. Scott

TROOPERS QUIET TRUCK DRIVERS

Seize Headquarters in Minneapolis and Nip Plan for Tie-up.

LEADERS ARRESTED.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 1 (AP) — Men in khaki with guns on wheels seized headquarters of striking truck drivers to-day, arrested the ringleaders, and smashed before it got started, an organized movement to stop all truck transportation in defiance of military law.

With the National Guard in full control and occupants of the building dispersed, Adjutant General E. A. Walsh mapped a plan of action designed to break up any other unauthorized meetings of strikers.

"The roundup of these officials," said General Walsh, "was started because they defied orders of military rule by holding a meeting at the parade grounds late night without a permit. Effective immediately, and pickets cruising the city in automobiles will be arrested."

Among those marched off to the Fair Ground for incarceration in the stockade there, were Vincent Dunne and Mose Bork, two of the strike leaders. Books and records of the union were left in the building, placed under a guard selected from the 1,000 troops surrounding the place.

All were ejected from the headquarters. The four field machine guns drawn up before the entrance rolled back to the armory, the troops sheated their tommy guns and gas guns, and all except the few men left as sentinels, hiked back to the armory within two hours after they had struck in the graying light of early dawn to meet no resistance.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 1 (AP) — The second death in the current truck drivers' strike was reported to-day.

John Belor, a picket wounded in the clash with police when strikers attempted to stop a loaded truck July 20, died at a hospital to-day. Henry Ness, another picket, died from wounds the day after the outbreak.

Italy To Withdraw Troops At Border

ROME, Aug. 1.—(C.P.-Havas).— Italian troops stationed on the Austrian border will shortly be withdrawn, it was understood here today.

The improved Austrian situation justified the Italian relaxation of precautionary measures taken at the time of the abortive Nazi coup in Vienna, well informed circles said.

No further difficulties were expected, the Carinthian and Styrian outbreaks following the July 25 action in Vienna apparently having been completely suppressed.

Army manoeuvres in North Italy, previously announced, will take place as scheduled, it was indicated.

BANNED

BERLIN, Aug. 1. (C.P.-Havas)— The Swedish weekly "Veko" has been banned in Germany for three months. "Systematic poisoning of German-Swedish relations" was given as the reason.

Back To Shorts

LONDON, Aug. 1. — (C. P. Cable.)— Little Lynda Adams, Vancouver's 13 year old high diver at the British Empire games, was mightily relieved to-day to be able to wear the shorts and skirt she likes to wear in semi-public. The demands of Royalty are almost beyond Lynda.

When the Canadian team moved on St. James' Palace yesterday to meet the Prince of Wales, Lynda was ready to wear the usual garb. But state officialdom demanded that the little diver wear stockings and a long dress. They were "uncomfortable," declared Lynda.

As soon as the reception was over the petite Miss Adams returned to her hotel and donned short skirts and no stockings at all. "I don't like feeling like a grown-up," she added. "I don't feel grown up at all."

N.R.A. DEPICTED REFORM AGENCY

Economist Claims Plan Has Strengthened Trusts and Large Scale Producers.

NEW ENTERPRISE STIFLED.

ORILLIA, Ont., Aug. 1. (CP)— The N.R.A. in the United States has been more successful as an agency of reform than as an aid to recovery in the opinion of Maxwell S. Stewart, economist of the Foreign Policy Association, New York, who addressed the Lake Couchiching conference of the Canadian Institute of Economics and Politics to-day.

He reviewed the benefits and the defects of the N.R.A., declaring that the codes with a few exceptions had "tended to strengthen the trusts and large-scale producers against the small business man and to freeze existing economic dislocations."

"As the result of increasing inflexibility, new enterprise has been stifled," he said, "and normal industrial expansion checked.

"Labor," he continued, "has by no means been satisfied by the improvement which it has achieved under the N.R.A. In many cases the rights granted under sections 7A and 7B of the National Industrial Recovery Act have been denied in practice. The recent wave of strikes in the United States may be attributed primarily to violations of the spirit of the Recovery Act by die hard employers."

The N.R.A., he said, had practically abolished child labor and resulted in profits for certain business enterprises for the first time during the depression

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Every golfer acts as though he's living only for the moment. I mean by this that he seldom looks ahead.

One man will miss a drive, wind up in the rough and then attempt to hit a long shot from a bad lie with a wood club. He thinks only about making up for the distance lost by the bad tee shot.

Chances are he'll miss shot out of the rough and his ball will come to rest in a worse hazard. His score and possibly his disposition will be ruined for the day.

Now, if he'd just try to see the picture as a whole the value of playing each shot with regard for the next move would be seen.

The one way to cut down scores is by always keeping your ball in position to play an easy shot to the next large landing area.

A little attention to this will pay big dividends.

City Tennis

Max Cotton defeated John Donaldson in men's singles semi-finals of the city championship tennis tournament yesterday, 6-4, 7-5 and 6-3. Sets were played on Peterborough Club courts with a driving wind making it a match of wits since straight driving could not be relied upon. Cotton, last year's champion, forced the play throughout, working himself up to the net for frequent placements and smashes. Donaldson played his usual steady game but Cotton was a little too good for him in the pinches.

In men's quarter-finals, Ben Swartz defeated George Scott, 4-6, 7-5 and 6-3, the veteran Peterborough player and runner-up last year for the title, was not quite consistent enough to win from Swartz, who played a real steady game. The former won the first set without extending himself and then dropped the first four games in the second. The veteran rallied brilliantly and almost carried the match, but after winning five straight games his strength failed and Swartz took the next three for the set. The younger player then ran out the third set with comparative ease.

W. Jackson eliminated G. M. Kirkwood in the other quarter-final match, 7-5 and 6-2. Both players relied on accurate slicing to the corners, occasionally going to the net. Jackson's experience carried him through to victory over his 18-year-old opponent, who matched the former with stroke for stroke but lost points at the critical moments. Jackson and Swartz play three out of five sets at the Peterborough courts to-night at 5.00 p.m.

In men's doubles yesterday, A. Ward and W. Perks defeated O. Benson and R. Charlton, 6-3 and 6-3; M. Clarke and W. Young turned back A. Rutter and W. Howden, 2-6, 6-4 and 9-7; and in mixed doubles, Miss G. Carvolth and J. M. Kirkwood won from Miss R. McKee and R. Friend, 8-6 and 6-4.

Matches for Thursday at Peterborough Club: Ladies' singles finals at 5.00 at Kawartha Club—Max Cotton vs. W. Jackson or B. Swartz; men's doubles at 5.00 at Peterborough Club—J. T. Donaldson and J. H. Bell vs. R. Maybee and D. McPherson; mixed doubles at 5.00 at Peterborough—Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Langley vs. Miss B. Scott and G. O. Scott; mixed doubles at 6.00 at Peterborough—Miss G. Sorby and C. Richmond vs. Miss B. Cutting and A. Rutter.

CLAREN LEADS FIELD

GOODWOOD PARK, Eng., Aug. 1 (C.P. Cable)—The five-year-old Claren, owned by H. C. Sutton, won the Goodwood Stakes to-day from a field of 12 over a gruelling two miles and three furlongs. Claren finished a length and a half ahead of Son of Mint, Jesse Brown's seven-year-old campaigner. Whiteplains, Sir Woodman Burbidge's entry, was third, a short head behind Son of Mint.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

INVESTIGATE NAZI PAMPHLET ASCRIBING MURDER TO JEWS

Notorious "Protocol of Elders of Zion" Subject of Court Action.

WAS USED BY CZAR

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian writer.

ZUERICH, Aug. 1.—A court trial of world-wide interest and importance is to be held in this city in the course of the month of September. It is a safe prediction in connection with this trial that it will explode once and for all one of the most abject calumnies ever formulated against a people in the course of history. The supreme court of the canton of Zuerich will namely examine the authenticity of the so-called "Protocols of the Elders of Zion," a document that has brought incalculable harm and that continues to harass the Jewish people all over the world with its base and malicious slander.

When the Nazi party of Germany decided recently to have its Zuerich branch distribute one hundred thousand copies of the "Protocols" in the German-speaking districts of Switzerland, the Social-Democratic party, the Christian-Socialist league and the Jewish community of Zuerich combined in a protest to the federal authorities, stating that a diffusion of the document was bound to have unfavorable repercussions and was clearly an attempt to disturb the peace as the members of the Jewish community in Switzerland, along with all Jews the world over, were grossly maligned in the document.

Authors to Testify.

The supreme court thereupon decided to invite all persons having any positive knowledge on the subject of the "Protocols of the Elders of Zion" to come forward and submit their evidence. Your correspondent as one who has made some study of this curious fabrication is among the witnesses cited to appear before the court and will attend the trial in Zuerich, if his work permits.

Unexpected but vitally important evidence is to be submitted at the trial by a number of Russians, who have proof in their possession that they were on the committee of authors of the "Protocols" appointed by the Okrana, the secret czarist police, to forge a document that might be used to give some semblance of justice to the massacres of Jews in the Ukraine and other parts of the czarist domains.

The discovery of the whereabouts of these former literary agents provocateur of the czarist police goes to the credit of Dr. Nachum Goldman, the official representative of the Zionist organization to and Canadian Jewish circles. I am reliably informed that the government of the U.S.S.R. will place at the court's disposal the evidence relating to the "Protocols" existing in the old czarist archives. I am not permitted to disclose the names of the Russians who are coming to testify in Zuerich as their identity and place of residence must be kept secret in view of possible attempts by organized anti-Semitism to keep them from testifying. Three of them are residents of Paris; that much may be safely said.

Charges Jews with Murder.

"The Protocols of the Elders of Zion" purport to be the minutes of a secret congress of Jewish leaders held some time in the '80's in a Russian city where it was allegedly decided that Jews could with impunity deceive Gentiles, rob them even and murder their children in order to extract blood from their bodies for ritualistic purposes. An indignant protest ran through the entire civilized world when the Russian government of Czar Alexander III. published this forgery.

Both the pope and the Archbishop of Canterbury protested in no uncertain terms, as well as the heads of other Christian communities against the diffusion of so slanderous a document. The Russians peasants, however, steeped in ignorance and superstition at that time, did what the publication of the document intended to have them do. They turned against the Jews. Thereafter whenever czarist government felt itself in danger through revolutionary ferment, it brought out new editions of the "protocols" and so diverted the pent-up anger of the masses in the channel of anti-Semitic outrages.

Frightful massacres took place; the last czarist pogrom under the Hetman Simon Petlura cost 200,000 Jews their lives in Ukrainia in 1920 The Soviets did away with the whole barbaric practice of ruling by incitement to racial hatred, religious prejudice and international rivalries.

Nero Started Charge.

The origin of the ritual murder charge to be found in the "Protocols" goes back to earlier days than Russian czarism. To czarism merely goes the odious distinction of having given it official sanction. The charge of ritual murder against the Jews bobbed up repeatedly during the middle ages in different European countries. Its origin, however, must be sought in Rome of the imperial epoch. There is ample reason to believe that the ritual murder accusation was included in the general charges that were brought against the Christian community of Rome by the emperors Caligula and Nero. One of the great Roman historians speaks of "the abominable practices of the Christians in the catacombs."

It should not be overlooked in this matter that the early church was almost entirely Judeo-Christian. Its leaders in Rome, St. Peter and St. Paul, were Jews. When Christianity was raised to a state religion by the Emperor Constantine, after his miraculous victory over Maxentius, the allegation of ritual murder could no longer be brought against Christians, of course, and was transferred to the Jews. The Christians had by that time installed themselves in the glorious temples of Rome, the Jews still worshipped in sombre synagogues in back streets.

Appeared in America.

How slowly such monstrous accusations die was evidenced a few years ago when the charge of ritual murder was actually brought by the rural constabulary of the state of New Jersey against the Jewish community of Trenton, when a little Christian girl in that city had disappeared. The child was subsequently found unharmed. It had wandered off into the woods, become exhausted and had gone to sleep.

The most sensational case of ritual murder accusation was without question the trial of Mr. Mendel Beilis, who died a few weeks ago at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. He was the central figure in a trial held in Kiev. The trial lasted two years, from 1911 to 1913.

Before the World War, when Russia was the home of one-half of the world's Jewish population, Beilis, and with him Judaism as a religion and as a civilization and the whole Jewish people, stood arraigned in the courts of the Russian czar at Kiev to answer the hideous charge of human sacrifice in connection with religious ceremonies.

In vain the friends of humanity in America, England, France and Germany protested that this accusation of cannibalism was an utterly baseless libel on Judaism, an insult to western culture, and a dishonor to those who formulated it. The Russian bureaucracy recoiled from no means that would ensure the conviction of Beilis, as it would have furnished a convenient apology for pogroms, past and future. However, in November, 1913, an all-Russian jury acquitted Beilis.

Non-Jews Refute Accusation.

The Beilis case has become one of the classical examples of the martyrdom of the Jewish race in modern persecution, in which false accusations as to the practice of ritual murder by various bodies have often been made. Many proselytes to Christianity have strenuously defended the Jews from the charge, and the vast majority of the literature refuting the myth of ritual murder comes from non-Jewish pens.

I knew Mendel Beilis quite well in New York, where I helped him in 1924 in the publication of his personal narrative. He was a very simple person and I doubt whether he was aware of the fact that once he held the centre of the world-stage.

RACE STRAIN PURE IN RURAL QUEBEC

Only Two Places Outside Quebec Where Whole Population of One Race.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP)—If one looks for racial purity in Canada it would appear Quebec is the place to find it. Following up the Dominion census of 1931 the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has made an analysis of the population of Canada on racial lines.

A glance down through the long list of municipalities from large cities to rural townships and small hamlets reveals few places where the population is wholly of one race. With two exceptions they are in the province of Quebec and the racia origin is French.

Thus in the county of Arthabasca, Quebec, there are several townships and villages populated wholly by people of French origin, St. Clotilde-de-Horton with a solid French population of 1,453 is one. The situation is not uncommon in rural Quebec.

Ontario has only one such place, the township of Jennings in the district of Sudbury, where the scattered population of 146 is all French. The only other such place in Canada and the only one where a non-French racial group has a monopoly is the township of Hampton in Annapolis County, Nova Scotia, where every one of the 314 people is of English origin.

The Indian reserves, of course, are set apart by law for that race and in most cases contain no others.

HYDRO DROPS INSURANCE MUNICIPAL UNDERWRITERS

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—(CP)—The Ontario Hydro Commission announced today it had decided to discontinue all policies of insurance placed with the Municipal Underwriters, Limited.

The Municipal Underwriters, Limited, is a private concern, incorporated in 1923. Its recent president was T. J. Hannigan of Guelph, secretary of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association. I. B. Lucas, Jr., is secretary-treasurer. Other directors are: Willouby Ellis of the Public Utilities Commission of Hamilton, and I. B. Lucas, K.C., former general solicitor for the Hydro Commission.

The Hydro Commission has instructed the secretary, W. Pope, to notify Mr. Ellis, his services as representative of the provincial body on the Hamilton Commission are to be dispensed with.

DIRECTORS PLAN BIG PROGRAM FOR GRANDSTAND

Splendid Performances Will be Seen Every Evening During Week.

FIVE BIG ACTS

Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition which this year has been moved ahead almost one month opens on August 20 and continues until the evening of the 25th. The directors bearing in mind that the weather at this time of year should be much warmer at night and people will be able to watch the grandstand attractions with more ease have lined up a splendid program.

Heading the list is Bebney's Revue which in reality is a "Winter Garden" Revue of talented Broadway dancers and stage folk. It is something new in outdoor entertainment and has been proving most popular. Then there will be the Royal Buccaneers who are seven clever acrobats performing seemingly impossible feats of daring and is considered one of the world's most thrilling features in the field of athletic endeavor.

The Joe Mandis' Troupe is composed of three men and a maid in a hilarious act of gymnastic and side-splitting comedy. Enjoyment for the children will be found in Mary Palmer's circus. Mary Palmer has assembled a collection of cleverly trained dogs and ponies. One pony dances and plays a saxaphone.

One of the sensations of this year's grand stand show will be a quartette of lightning fast horizontal performers giving an original and miraculous display on bars and formerly headlined with the Barnum and Bailey's circus.

Pictures of all these acts are to be seen in The Examiner window and the directors of the exhibition feel sure that this program will suit all those who attend the grandstand performances.

Why Thousands No Longer Fear

HAY FEVER and Summer Asthma

If your Hay Fever or Summer Asthma hasn't started yet, don't let it start. If it has started, check it. Thousands now to ward off their annual attack, or stop it if it has started. "For five or six years I suffered without relief for 3 or 4 weeks each September," writes Wm. Schryer, Rockland East, Ont. "My eyes ran water, and were itchy, I had a cold in my head. I choked and coughed until I couldn't lie down." Then he heard about RAZ-MAH. "When I use RAZ-MAH," he adds, "tears and itchiness of the eyes stop, I can breathe and sleep easily, my nose stops running and I neither spit nor cough."

USE RAZ-MAH CAPSULES

RAZ-MAH is easy to use. No snuffs, sprays and serums. No harmful results or bad reactions. Just clean capsules. 50c and $1 per box at all druggists.

ROTARY TO HOLD FAIR AND DANCE

Campbellford Club to Raise Money for Work Among Underprivileged Children.

COMMITTEE NAMED.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 1.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Following the custom of previous years the Campbellford Rotary Club will hold an annual street fair and dance this season, which it is expected will take place some time during the month of August. This was decided upon at the weekly luncheon, held in the St. Lawrence Hotel, on Monday, when the club went into a committee of the whole to discuss ways and means for this annual function.

This function has as its primary object this year the raising of funds by the club to carry on with their proposed work among crippled and under-privileged children, one feature of which is the holding of a sick childrens clinic in Campbellford in the very near future, whsi these children will be given the benefit of the advice of specialists who will attend this gathering

A survey of child conditions in the district has recently been made by the club members, and Dr. H. B. Longmore, chairman of the committee, reported that about thirty children need attention. The action which the club will take in regard to this work rests entirtely with executive of club, following the report Dr. Longmore will haid them. Their action will be based to some extent by the finances on hand, and to enlarge the scope of this work, Campbellford Rotarians are looking for the support of the general public when they stage their street fair and dance.

Speaking on the subject President Stanley Neale stated that he was opposed to roping off of the streets in town for the fair or dance, as public opinion was against this action, but he appointed the following committee to dicide all matters regarding the fair, including the date and advertising. The committee is: Rotarials C. B Williams, S. A. Maguire, C. H. Davidson, C. Calver, with the secretary Edge Dolman. The dance will be handled by Charlie Davidson.

A vote of thanks was tendered Rotarian Abram Rappaport by the club, for his splendid services and donation to the club last week when he staged his open swimming contest.

BROOKLYN, N.Y.—An "air train" consisting of an aeroplane and three gliders, took off from Floyd Bennett Field to-day on a flight in which the gliders plan to cut off at Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington.

--:--

TORONTO. — Told by neighbors that a number of residents had been trapped in the flames eating their way through the home of Clarence Varey, who lives alone, firemen early to-day crashed their way through windows and searched the blazing two-storey building before discovering the place was empty. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

--:--

ANCHORAGE, Alaska. — Alaska May offer a haven for drought-harassed farmers of the United States, through a government colonization plan. Jacob Baker, assistant chief of the Federal emergency relief administration, surveyed 1,000,000 acres of the fertile Matanuska Valley and is enroute to Juneau to-day to discuss with Governor John Troy the feasibility of bringing 2,500 families, ruined by the drought, to a Federal colony in Alaska.

DORLAND AMONG 3 MEN, 2 WOMEN NOW IN CUSTODY

Former Remanded Without Plea—Central Figure in Recent Frame-up Case.

SERVED 3 YEARS.

Toronto Couple Nabbed in Detroit Apartment With $8,000 Cash.

TORONTO, Aug. 2—(CP)—Three men and two women are being held by police in three Canadian cities in connection with a $25,000 bank holdup here last Thursday.

Those taken into custody:

Albert Dorland, 34, arrested in Toronto on a charge of armed robbery.

John Valkoff, 37, alias Valley, arrested in Montreal on a similar charge.

Ray Alderman, alias Geauvreaux, arrested in Detroit on a similar charge.

Mrs. Effie Hoar, taken in Detroit along with Alderman and held for questioning.

Mrs. Bessie Harris of Montreal, also held for questioning.

In none of the cases would police authorities discuss the matter, indicating further arrests might be expected.

Central figure in the inquiry into charges he had been "framed" by Toronto police in an abortive bank holdup four years ago, Dorland was arrested today.

Dorland was arraigned before Magistrate Robert Browne and, without pleading, was remanded until Aug. 9.

The accused, released from Kingston penitentiary after serving

FINDING OF ROPE NIPS TORONTO PRISON BREAK

Guard Discovers 59 Feet of Bed Sheets Tied Together in Yard.

JUST BEFORE EXERCISES.

Plot Formed in Corridor Where Thompson, Husband of Slain Woman, Is Held.

TORONTO, Aug. 2. —(C. P.). — What authorities described as an attempted organized delivery of prsoners from Toronto jail, was frustrated to-day with the finding by a guard of a 59-foot rope made from prison bed sheets.

No official statement was made regarding the planned break, but officials revealed the plot was formed in corridor three of the jail located on the banks of the Don river It is in this corridor Alwynne Thompson, held on a charge of perjury following the slaying of his youthful wife two weeks ago to-day is held.

The long improvised "rope" with a hook on one end, presumably was woven durng the night. It was believed about "a dosen" prisoners planned to use it to scale the tall brick wall durtrng the exercise period this morntig, authorittes said.

A guard, however, discovered the sheets prior to the exercise period and the prisoners were kept in their cells pending a full inquiry.

The rope was said to have been thrown from a corridor windcw to the exercise yard just before the prisoners were to be released and taken down stairs for recreation. In the yard, it was thought the unarmed guards were to have been distracted by prisoners, hoping to flee along the wooded slopes of Don valley.

Famous Statesman-Warrior Surrenders to Death at 86, Twenty Years to the Day After Germany Mobilized Her Troops to Enter Great War—Millions Mourn.

NATION-WIDE PRESIDENTIAL VOTE AUG. 19; ARMY WILL PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE TO HITLER

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff
(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press)

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—President Paul Von Hindenburg died today and within seven hours Chancellor Adolf Hitler had succeeded him and ordered a nation-wide presidential plebiscite to be held Aug. 19.

Also within that seven hours was formulated a new oath by which the Reichswehr—the standing army of Germany—will pledge its allegiance to Hitler.

Von Hindenburg died in his 87th year at 9 a.m. (3 a.m., E.S.T.) in his country mansion at Neudeck, East Prussia. Almost simultaneous with the announcement of his death came the announcement that the offices of the Chancellorship and the Presidency had been merged.

Hitler is both Chancellor and President.

Any doubts as to what position the reichswehr, long faithful to Von Hindenburg, might take were dispelled, at least temporarily, by Wener Von Blomberg, Minister of Defence who announced that the army would take a new oath. It is expected to be administered within the next few days.

New Allegiance

The oath reads:

"I swear by God this holy oath: That I shall be absolutely obedient to Der Fuehrer (the leader) of the German Reich and people, Adolf Hitler, supreme head of the army, and that I will be ready as a brave soldier to give my life for this oath."

The ceremony of oath-taking will be followed by three cheers for the new supreme army commander — who is also the supreme commander of the Nazis storm troops and their black-shirted brethren, the Schuts Staffel—and by the two German national anthems, "Deutschland Uber Alles" and the "Horst Wessel Song", the latter a Nazi anthem.

Funeral Friday

Funeral services for Von Hindenburg are to be held tomorrow at Tannenburg where he stopped the Russian advance in 1914 and he is to be buried Saturday at Neudeck, 30 miles away, on the grounds of the estate where he died.

It was expected that the presidential plebiscite will have the double purpose of expressing an endorsement of Hitler as president and of the policies of the Nazi government.

Members of immediate family were at Von Hindenburg's bedside. They were his son, Colonel Oskar Von Hindenburg, and two married daughters, Frau Irimeare Von Brockhusen and Frau Anna Marie Von Bentz.

Von Hindenburg's wife died in 1921.

A few hours before his death the former field marshal slipped into a coma.

Prostrate trouble combined with infirmities of old age caused his death. One of his physicians said his mind wandered last night, hours after his end had been expected.

Nation Mourns

The cabinet admonished the German people to go into general mourning. Flags will fly at half-staff from all public buildings and schools. Ships of the German navy will accord the leader a 21-gun salute to-morrow.

Amusement and other public places closed. Traffic, shops and factories will be suspended for one minute during the funeral hour.

In an order to military forces General Werner Von Blomberg, Minister of Defence, said:

"Hindenburg, our leader in the reat War, has left us. His heroic life as a soldier, imbued with a spirit of duty to folk of the fatherland, is ended. Everyone has faith in Hitler, the leader of our people."

DIEGEL BREAKS LAKEVIEW PAR CANADIAN OPEN

Former Champion Finishes First 18 Holes Five Strokes Under.

COMMANDING LEAD.

LAKEVIEW GOLF CLUB, Toronto, Aug. 2. (CP).—Playing in rain and wind storm, Leo Diegel, four times winner of the title, beat Lakeview's par by five strokes today and went into a commanding lead in the first stage of the Canadian open golf championship with a score of 65. Taking a 34 going out in good weather, he shook off the handicaps of wind and rain coming home to chalk up a 31, four under par.

Diegel, an immense favorite with Canadian galleries, rimmed up the cup on the 18th or he would have had a 64. The par of 70 has never before been broken here. At the 18th he was to the side of the green and down a slope. His third was 15 feet from the hole and the fourth just rimmed it.

Diegel's spectacular round was four strokes better than anything that had been turned in before to-day. He started out with a spurt and never let Old Man Par get him down. Diegel, clown of the links, was in his element with a large gallery and a low score. He kidded his followers from the

PRINCE LOUIS READY TO SERVE

Hohenzollern Heir, However, Has Little Anticipation of People Calling Him.

EXPECTS NO TROUBLE.

WINDSOR, Aug. 2. —(C. P.). — If the Holenzollern family ever reign over the German people again it will be because the people of Germany demand their return, His Royal Highness, Prince Louis Ferdinand, son of Crown Prince Wilhelm declared in an interview in Detroit with the Border Cities Star as he expressed regret regarding the death of Von Hindenburg.

His Royal Highness, who is registered under the name of Dr. Louis Ferdinand, stated that he had heard nothing about the rumor that there would be an attempt made to bring the monarchy back to Germany and place Prince Louis on the throne.

"Naturally" he said "if the German people call upon me to take the throne I expect that I would accede to their request but it is entirely in the hands of the German people themselves. I do not anticipate anything like that. I may say. Nor do I expect that there will be any troube following Von Hindenburg's death.

"I am sure that the German Government has taken all the required steps to see that there is no untoward disturbance.

"Germany is to-day quiet and peaceable and the Government in power is there because the majority of the people want it. Hitler has a very strong following."

rDo you think that there is any possibility of Hitler being elected President of Germany?, he was asked.

"As to that I cannot say," he replied, "but he has a very strong following.

"Here on this side of the water Germany is not understood.

"You know you reporters forget that I am a private citizen now and have automobile interests in Germany. I have also to look after the Hosenhollern estates which we got back from the German Government in 1926 and I am in charge of them."

BROKEN PADDLE ALL SMITH HAD

Set Out Aross Gulf of St. Lawrence With Just One Paddle Letter Reveals.

WROTE FOR TWO MORE.

John Smith, missing trans-Atlantic canoeist, set out on his 270-mile paddle over the turbulent waters of the Gulf of St. Lawrence with only a single, broken paddle aboard to propell his 16-foot craft, a local man who received a letter from Smith, mailed just before he set out from Gaspe on the perilous voyage on July 21, revealed to-day.

Desiring to be connected in no way with what he considers a suicidal venture, the receipent of the letter, an acquaintance of the paddler, states that it contained a request that he secure two new paddles and forward them to St. John's, Newfoundland. Smith related in his message that he had lost one of the two paddles with which he started out from Peterborough on his course down the St. Lawrence and that he had just "broken" the other one. He said that he was setting out from Gaspe across the gulf with the one broken paddle in the hope that it would last until he reached his goal in Newfoundland.

The letter reveals that Smith was entirely confident that he would reach St. John's without difficulty. He stated he expected to leave St. John's for Ireland about August 1. The letter arrived in Peterborough about a week ago and is likely the last word received from Smith by any local person before he headed out from Gaspe. It was post-marked July 20.

'Rain Maker' Works, Brantford Drenched

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 2. —(C.P.)—The drouth whic hhas held the Brant district in its grip since June 18 appeared to have been finally broke here to-day. At 11.30 rain clouds which had been hovering over the district through the morning let loose with a real downpour, and with indications that it would last at least all day. Farmers with empty wells and creeks, and with crops that were being blasted by continued hot wetaher, rejoiced.

Frank Clark, local inventor of a "rain maker" has been trying since Monday morning to bring about a shower in this district, but until noon to-day results were nil. When it started, however, it rained with emphasis, making up for all the holding out it had been doing on Mr. Clark.

One of the most important influences in the volume of cheese produced per pound of milk is the butter-fat content of the milk.

FERGUSON HOLDS GREAT BRITAIN LEADING NATION

Claims Soundness of Canada Due to Heritage of British Ideas.

HOME FOR HOLIDAY.

By A. J. McKENNA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC, Aug. 2.—(CP)— England is still the greatest country in the world and the soundness of Canada today is due to her heritage of British ideas, said Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, on his arrival here today in the Empress of Britain for a holiday.

Mr. Ferguson said he will call on Premier R. B. Bennett and members of the government and take a rest among his friends, spending part of the holiday in his old home of Kemptville, Ont. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ferguson. His present plans are to return to his post early in October.

In some countries, Mr. Ferguson said, codes and so forth had been tried, but had not resulted in starting the wheels of industry.

"The English are the most remarkable people in the world, the most resourceful and capable. Take the people in other countries. They are trying to rebuild their structures from the top by fixing wages and so forth, but that doesn't start the wheels of industry.

"The English said the first thing to do is to get your soil right and your financial structure sound.

Beer Price Action . . Next Week—Odette

TORONTO, Aug. 2.—(CP)— Edmund G. Odette, head of the Ontario Liquor Commission, said today he would "have something to say" next week regarding the price of beer in Ontario.

"We are taking up the whole question of prices now," the liquor commissioner said, but he declined to intimate what result might be expected from the investigation.

Mr. Odette also took the opportunity to reafirm that "dry areas" will remain dry unless a vote, according to law, makes them "wet" in future."

The board has learned definitely that Perth and Peel, previously regarded as dry counties, are not dry, said Mr. Odette. The status of Huron county is under investigation now.

BEE INSPECTORS GET LIBERAL AXE

183 Inspectors Are Fired by The Hepburn Government.

SAVING INDUSTRY.

TORONTO, August 2 (C.P.) — Adding 183 bee inspectors to the long list of Conservative Government appointees to join the "big parade," Premier Mitchell Hepburn described their appointment as an act of pure political patronage. The bee inspectors were appointed last February and were paid at wages of $3 and $4 a day when they were called upon to work with travelling expenses.

"They wanted to sweeten the boys with a little honey," said Mr. Hepburn. "They almost had an inspector for every bee."

The bee inspectors will lose their posts at once, but some thirty dairy inspectors and 50 Provincial policemen appointed in the last few months of the Conservative regime are in a different position. Their cases will be carefully considered.

A local beekeeper to-day when informed of Mr. Hepburn's action, declared that the inspectors were an absolute necessity. Six counties in this district compose a quarantine area on account of foul brood and it was necessary to get this cleaned up or the industry was through as far as Central Ontario was concerned. The inspectors, The Examiner was also informed, while appointed by the Government, were recommended by the Ontario Beekeepers' Association and that a registration fee was charged each beekeeper according to the number of colonies he had, and this more than paid the wages of the inspectors.

Lake Vessel Grounds 40 Lives In Danger

CHICAGO, Aug. 2. (AP).—The coast guard was notified to-day that the freighter Wisconsin with 40 men aboard is aground on a reef 17 miles northeast of Green Bay, Wis., and is damaged.

The cutter Perry was dispatched from the Green Bay station to effect a rescue.

PLAN TO PLACE BETTER BUSES ON CITY STREETS

Five Re-conditioned Buses Go Into Service in a Few Days.

HOLD 30 PASSENGERS.

Making announcement that a fleet of five reconditioned 6-cylinder, 30-passenger buses is to be put into service here early next week, Frank J. Mitchell, president of The Border Transit Limited, stated to The Examiner: "We are putting on better buses than are now in service in gambling that the travelling public will give us increased co-operation."

Here from Walkerville on other business in connection with Peterborough Bus Lines under management of his brother, Laurie R. Mitchell, the president of the company said he had been forcibly impressed with the poor condition of the present fleet. The old buses in service for seven years since the company first started operation of a transportation system here were showing decided signs of wear and tear, Mr. Mitchell admitted.

Aggregate 2,000,000 Miles

It is not surprising in view of the fact that during that period the entire fleet of twelve buses, including those held in reserve, have travelled an aggregate distance of 2,000,000 miles. An outstanding fact, however, and one of which both Mr. Mitchell and his brother are justly proud, is that the drivers hold a record of performance, believed to be unequalled anywhere in America. In 7 years of operation they have clocked up over 2,000,000 miles

Code Promised To Govern Industry

HONEYED WORDS FAIL TO SATISFY HUNGER GROUP

Still Disgruntled After Roebuck, Hepburn Assure Consideration of "Demands."

SHYSTER EMPLOYER TO GO.

Leaders Leave Session, Berate Government, Urge Setting Up Soviet in Canada.

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Aug. 2. —(C. P.)—Proclaiming their dissatisfaction with the attitude of the Ontario government towards unemployment relief and their distrust of the "honeyed words and soft phrases of the ministers," participants in the "great Ontario hunger march" prepared to move off to their homes today in government trucks.

Their interview yesterday with government heads resulted in the statement by Attorney General Arthur Roebuck, K.C., that the government would attempt to have a code to govern industry. He promised the marchers there would be legislation enacted at the next legislature session to end for good gross industrial abuses.

"It will be an act with more teeth in it than is contained in existing legislation," he declared. "We are going to bring both sides together to work out a code. We are going to put the shyster employer out of business altogether in Ontario. There are other gross abuses which we will abolish."

A delegation of 200 marchers interviewed Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, Mr. Roebuck and Hon. David Croll, Minister of Welfare, and for three hours their leaders spoke of the unfortunate lot of the unemployed and presented a series of "demands."

Premier Hepburn said he received them in the friendliest possible spirit and assured them of consideration for all their "requests." He said he thought the word "demand" was out of place when dealing with a friendly government. ... .

The marchers immediately paraded out into the park where a mass meeting of several thousands awaited them. The sa:.e spokesmen who addressed the ministers denounced the government and warned the workers to beware of honeyed words from capitalist politicians.

They appealed for the setting up of a Soviet in Canada.

The Marchers' Demands.

The demands included non-contributory unemployment insurance for all workers, unemployed as well

Rally of Veterans Nears 50,000 Mark

TORONTO, Aug. 2. —(C. P.). — Registration today neared the 50,000 mark as the veterans gathered for the Canadian Corps re-union Saturday by a huge parade and review. Ex-service men from all which will be opened officially on parts of the Dominion and members of the Imperial forces will take part in the re-union.

German, Austrian and Bulgarian veterans will join with those they opposed on Flanders fields.

Lieut. Col. Fraser Hunter, member of the re-union committee, said 52,000 veterans would take part in the ceremonies with the possibility 75,000 might be present. A huge parade opens the proceedings Saturday afternoon.

In connection with the re-union the annual convention of the Ontario Provincial Command, Canadain Legion, is underway in Torontot. A dinner attended by 500 legonnaires was addressed last night by Hon. D. M. Sutherland, Minister of National Defence, and Brig. General Alex Ross Dominion Legion President.

Pages From Life of Paul Von Hindenburg, Idol of German People

A military career that lasted for three-quarters of a century, during which he became the idol of his beloved German people, is marked by many outstanding achievements of the 86-year-old "iron man" who died at his country home at Neudeck. Three Words, "He is Dead!" Stun Thousands of Hindenburg's Worshippers.

THOUGHT ETERNAL AS OAK.

BERLIN, Aug. 2. (AP).—Three words plunged Germany into the deepest of sorrow and mourning to-day:

"He is dead!"

That was all that thousands could say.

First news of President Paul Von Hindenburg's passing reached most Berlin residents through the immediate half-staffing of flags on government buildings.

Solemn groups congregated on street corners. Large crowds besieged newspaper offices where—before extra editions could be issued — telegrams announced the President's death. Then came the radio announcement, the news spoken so slowly, the voice so full of import, that the sorrow was brought home anew to listeners.

Crowds. Crowds everywhere. But silence. The sorrowing, solemn throngs had no heart for conversation. Just those three words:

"He is dead!"

Only three words, but what they conveyed was shown by the taut faces.

To those who did not at first appreciate its full significance it was a matter of curiosity. It did not take long, however, for them to realize that their President, the man many thought as eternal as the oak with which his name was linked, had gone.

Immediately the tempo of the capital changed. Under the staggering report, Berlin life slowed up, almost stopped.

BREAD GOES UP.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 1. —(C. P.). — Bakers here to-day announced an increase in the price of bread to eight cents a loaf, effective August third, due to an increase in the price of flour.

CAMPBELLFORD

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE TRENT TOWN DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, August 2. —Ever interested in the welfare of Campbellford and especially that of the children, Abram Rappaport has again come to the rescue with a long left need, that of teaching the kiddies of the town to swim. Following his very successful marathon swim last week, he has commenced now to give lessons to the children each afternoon, except Saturday and Sunday. The classes will be held opposite the fair grounds, safety swimming belts being on hand for beginners. It is understood that Mr. Rappaport will give prizes for efficiency in this art.

To rush the work on the Campbellford - Havelock highway, two shifts have now been formed, one working from 4 a.m. to 12 noon, the second from 12 noon to 8 p.m.

Needs of the tourists have been looked after by town authorities, a camp having been established at the junction by the town power house on the east bank of the river in Seymour township. The ground has been cleared, toilets installed, and benches and seats fixed. It is understood that many tourists are camping at this point and taking advantage of this facility.

Local police are investigating another false alarm that turned out the fire brigade on Tuesday evening to a call box by the dancing pavilion. It is thought that boys playing in the vicinity of the box sounded the alarm in a spirit of playfulness.

Mr. Lorne Scott, of Deseronto, is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. G. Hankinson, of Peterboro is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. Fred Barnett and two sons are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Milburn McCarthy, at their Healey Falls cottage.

Mr. M. S. Mowat, local C. N. R. agent is holidaying with relatives in the Stouffville district. He is being relieved by Major J. M. Bygott.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Morrison, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Horkins at their summer cottage, near Beaverton.

CAMPBELL CASE IS DISMISSED

No Evidence Produced Linking Oscar Campbell With Death of Betty West.

NO EYE WITNESSES.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 2 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Arrested following an accident in Campbellford on June 16 last, when Betty West, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George West, was alleged to have been knocked down by a car on Front street north, and died in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, some hours later, Oscar Campbell of Campbellford, appeared before Magistrate J. M. Bygott yesterday afternoon in the local police court, on a charge of unlawfully causing grevious bodily injury, the case against him being dismissed.

Although ten witnesses in all were called to the stand, following a plea of not guilty by the accused man, the Magistrate, in dismissing the case, pointed out that although many of the witnesses heard a noise and saw a car passing up the road, no one could say that the car hit the child or to whom the car belonged, or who was driving.

"I am unable to find any evidence in any of the witnesses to give us a clue, and under the circumstances I do not feel justified in sending this man up for trial," said Magistrate Bygott; "I dismiss the charge against the accused."

Evidence of finding the body of the child on the road, between the sidewalk and the pavement, was given by Robert MacDonald, and his daughter, Mrs. Helen Cowell, who with other witnesses also saw a car proceed north on Front street shortly following the accident. No evidence, however, linked up the car with the death of the child, for no one saw the accident occur, nor was there any evidence that the child met her death by being struck by a car.

Not Sufficient Evidence

In making his plea for a dismissal of the case, Ross Douglas of Campbellford, who acted for the defence, pointed out that there was not sufficient evidence produced to send his client up for trial, or to show whether the girl was killed by a car at all, and if by an automobile, there was no proof that it was Campbell's car that was responsible.

The Crown Attorney, Col. F. D. Boggs, K.C., of Cobourg, pressed for a conviction, on the grounds that there was proof that a car was present, and that several of the witnesses heard a thud or blow, and that one witness saw a touring

SHIPS WATCHING FOR JOHN SMITH

Rumors Peterboro Canoeist's Body Located in Gulf Prove Unfounded.

THOROUGH CHECK MADE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 2 —(C. P.).— Ships patrolling the regular traffic lanes between Gaspe and Newfoundland on the Gulf of St. Lawrence warned their lookouts to keep their eyes peeled to-day for John Smith Ontario canoeist believed lost somewhere in the Gulf.

Mystery shrouds the whereabouts and the fate of the 24-year-old Peterborough Ont., man, who set out several weeks ago to paddle the calm waters of the St. Lawrence River and the rough waters of the gulf and the Atlantic Ocean in an attempt to reach Peterborough, England, in his frail 16-foot craft He has not been seen since setting out from Gaspe 11 days ago for a 270-mile jaunt to Cape Ray, Newfoundland.

Rumors that his body was picked up by an unidentified steamer in the gulf have been proven unfounded. On Tuesday, it was reported wireless message had been received from a steamer to that effect but a thorough check of both Government and private radio stations failed to reveal the source of the report and the rumor was discredited.

TWO CARS CRASH MAN IN HOSPITAL

Walter Eagleson of Toronto is Injured in Crash Near Bewdley.

TO FACE CHARGE.

Suffering from a split knee cap sustained in an automobile accident on Highway 28, north east of Bewdley, last evening, Walter Eagleson of Toronto was admitted to Nicholls Hospital. The smash, involving two cars, occurred at about 9 o'clock.

Eagleson, according to Highway Traffic Officer A. E. Hornick, is to face a charge of reckless and negligent driving. He is alleged by the officer to have been driving over the centre of the road on his wrong side.

Mrs. Wood, R.R. 2, Millbrook, and Mrs. Bert Byers of Bailieboro, passengers in the Eagleson car which was proceeding towards Bailieboro, sustained minor cuts and bruises and suffered from shock.

Neil Mutton of R.R. 4, Bowmanville, driver of the other car, and his passenger, escaped injury.

VATICAN CITY.—Pope Pius to-day eulogised teachers as "greater artists than painters or sculptors." His eulogy was delivered in the course of an audience granted 60 school teachers of the Canadian Superior Order. The Pope recalled a Biblical epigram, delivering his remarks to the teachers in order to make the point that artists and sculptors work with inanimate materials while teachers work "to form souls."

DRIVER IS GUILTY AND FINED $15

Heinrich Heuser Found Guilty By Magistrate Langley.

TWO CARS COLLIDED.

After a hearing lasting until mid-afternoon yesterday Heinrich Heuser, 23, son of Professor Dr. Emile Heuser of the research bureau Canadian International Paper Company at Hawkesbury was convicted before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., of reckless and negligent driving. He was ordered to pay a fine of $15 and costs totalling $10.70.

The charge was sequel to an accident in which Mr. Heuser was involved on the morning of July 8 on Highway 7 west of Marmora. According to evidence offered by Highway Traffic Officer Clarence Metcalfe, by whom the information was laid, and Provincial Constable Percy Gray also of Marmora, skid marks led to the conclusion that Mr. Heuser had been driving slightly on his wrong side of the road. His car collided with another vehicle being driven by J. A. Stockdale, 24, Toronto car salesman.

Mr. Stockdale also faced a charge of reckless and negligent driving hearing of which occupied a greater part of the forenoon, but the case against him was dismissed without costs.

Following the smash which occurred on the crest of a knoll the Stockdale car was wrecked when it plunged into a ditch and snapped off a telephone pole, according to the evidence. Ken Kenniger, one of the passengers in the Stockdale car, sustained a broken arm, while the other passengers, Robert J. Farquharson, Toronto, mining engineer, and J. D. Colins, prospector, of Hastings, were severely shaken-up.

The Heuser car in which defendant's father and younger brother were passengers also took to the ditch, but the driver was able to regain control of the automobile and regain the roadway.

The defendant Heuser was represented by Alex L. Elliott, while the defendant Stockdale had as counsel T. J. Carley. Both defendants were called upon to give evidence against each other.

STRIKERS REFUSE TO WORK

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 1. (AP).—Defying union orders to end their strike, harbor tug firemen refused to return to work here to-day. Other strikers were back at their jobs, or were ready to go to work provided the firemen agreed to man the tugs. Union leaders here said they understood strikers at other Great Lakes' ports had gone back to work to-day.

HONEYED WORDS FAIL TO SATISFY

as employed; failing that cash relief on an increased scale; a seven hour day and a five-day week abolition of slave labor; freedom of speech and assembly.

The Government was bluntly told it was too slow in fulfilling its election promises to deal with unemployment and was condemned for discharging civil servants and curtailing road work. The delegation asked for immediate specific answers to its demands and hinted at "desperation and intense struggle if they were not compiled with at once."

Premier Hepburn refused to give any specific answers and said the Federal government's decision to cut grants for relief was holding up Ontario in making plans for relief in the future.

Absolute freedom of speech was assured by Mr. Roebuck, who told the marchers to go on and organize and make themselves strong enough to force their demands on any government. There was no necessity for violence, he warned, and anyone who actually attempted to create disturbance would be prosecuted.

Among other things the marchers demands a $300,000,000 building program to give work to the building trades and clear up slums.

Mr. Hepburn was not impressed with suggestions as to how this amount could be raised, although he said the government might consider some form of additional tax on the rich. Men of wealth, he said, should realize the consequences which would ensue from a continuance of present condtions.

Presentation Made To Roseneath Player

ROSENEATH, Aug. 2.—(Examiner Correspondence). — A pleasant evening was spent in the Orange Hall on Friday when the Roseneath baseball team and friends met in a social way to bid good-bye to "Pat" Baird of the Royal Bank staff who has been transferred to Hamilton.

Music for dancing was furnished by Jim McHendry, Edward Turner, Frank Nill, C. W. Varcoe and Miss Joy Morrison and after an hour or longer, C. W. Varcoe called order and read the presentation address. Flex McMillan presented the gift, a leather club bag.

Immediately after the presentation lunch was served and dancing continued for a few hours longer.

Mr. W. Roth of Ridgetown has come to fill the vacancy as teller made by Mr. Baird.

SEYMOUR GIRLS SECURE HONORS

Stand High in Demonstration and Judging Competition at Wooler.

COUNTY AFFAIR.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 2 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — The Seymour West team, consisting of Irene Curle, as leader and demonstrator, with Margaret McCulloch and Beatrice Rutherford, as models, won first place in the demonstration of "good dressing," when they contested at Wooler on Tuesday, in the boys' and girls' judging classes held at that place for county contestants. Wooler team came second and Frankford third.

This entitles the winning team to a money prize which will enable them to attend the Peterborough Exhibition, where they will again demonstrate in competition with teams from other counties. The Seymour West boys' contesting were, Gordon McCulloch, Allan Curle, Mac Waddell, Edward Rutherford, Donald Free, Frederick Kelleher and Ernest Kelleher.

The high girl in the competition was Ruby Dunham with 491 points out of a possible 500; with Vera Clark a close second with 450 points; Leafa Hay third; and Marion Scott, fourth. The girls will receive cash awards, and will also receive special coaching on Saturday, by Miss E. Hopkins, of Lindsay. They will also hand entrance fee paid in Peterborough Fair and have transportation or its equal to Toronto Exhibition.

In house furnishings, Ruby Dunham and Marion Scott (Wooler) tied for first place; Vera Clark second, Margaret McCulloch and Doris McColl tied for third.

In nutrition—1, Vera Clarke; 2, Maggie Waddell; 3, Ruby Dunham; 4 Irene Curle.

In clothing—1, Leafa Hay (Seymour East); 2, Ruby Dunham; 3, Marion Scott and Mildred Cole, of Codrington, tied.

The judges in the girls' contest were Miss E. Collins, and Miss Eaddie, of the Department of Agriculture and Mrs. Mann of Peterborough.

WILL ASK TOWN FOR $100 GRANT

Society Will Proceed With Main Building Extension if Grant Forthcoming.

HORKINS STRESSES NEED.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 2. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Providing the town of Campbellford will make a special grant of one hundred dollars to the building of a new main building at the Seymour Agricultural Society fair grounds, a tender of Lindsay Fry for the building of the foundation and erection of the superstructure, for $283 will be accepted. This decision was reached at a recent special meeting of the board of directors over which W. S. Milne, president, presided, and at which T. J. Horkins, veteran member of the board and ardent worker for a better and bigger Campbellford, pressed the claim of a great need of a new exhibit building at the fair grounds.

The board was unanimous in the need for a new and better main building, but lack of finances was the main draw-back. Mr. Horkins, who is in his 80th year, and one of the oldest members of the board, was most enthusiastic in his efforts to have the board go on with this work, which is that of building an extention to the west of the present poultry building, and using that as a main building.

Draw Gravel

Early in the season Mr. Horkins solicited the rural members and got their promises to use their teams free for the drawing of gravel for the floor of the building which would eventually be finished with concrete, and for his share, Mr. Horkins promised to give the gravel free to the society. He has always contended that the main building should provide accommodation for merchants to show their wares, and concerns their machinery, and feels sure that this new extention would be a paying proposition. He feels however, that the town should assist the society by giving a grant toward the building, and expressed his willingness to present the matter to the town council. The property committee was given authority to attend to all matters relative to the extention.

The purse for speeding events was reduced by $70 from last year's figure, when a motion by Alex Hume and John Locke, set the amount this year at $230.

COUPLE OBSERVES 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Lukas Honored at Downeyville Social.

DOWNEYVILLE, Aug. 2. —(Examiner Correspondence.)—Mr. and Mrs. John C. Lucas were at home to their many friends and relatives Monday evening at St. Luke's parish Hall at Downeyville, when over 300 people came to enjoy with them their golden wedding.

A short musical program was enjoyed by all first, consisting of songs, duets, step-dancing, etc., the first part of the evening, then recreation of old times for the remainder of the evening.

The musical program was as follows:

Chorus by the entetrainers, "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Song—Clare Harrington.

Violin and piano duet — Clinton and Lolleta Lucas.

Song—Mrs. Joseph Guiry.

Step-dancing—Mr. Thomas Lucas.

Song—Gerald O'Neill.

Song—Mrs. Patrick Perdue.

Mouth organ and piano duet — Clifford and Lolleta Lucas.

Song—Angus Twomey.

Song—Thomas Abraham.

Song—Albert Meehan of Detroit, Mich.

A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all and a dainty lunch was served at which the bride's cake was served. The cake, which was made and baked by the bride of fifty years ago.

On Sunday evening previous a dinner was served to the families and immediate friends.

Fifty years ago John C. Lucas and Catharine Scully were married in St. Luke's' church, Downeyville, by the late Rev. Father Connolly. The attendants were Thomas Lucas, cousin of the groom, who was present at the celebration and step danced, and Miss M. Campbell of Lindsay, now deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas have eight children, all living, and twenty-six grandchildren. They are Messrs. Leslie and Joseph of Detroit, Mich., Dr. Stants of Detroit, and Charles and James of Downeyville, Mrs. John Perdue (Gertie) and Mrs. Albert O'Neill (Lila) of Downeyville, and Mrs. William Lynch (Viola) of Lindsay. All were present on both Sunday and Monday. Mrs. Lucas has only one sister living, Mrs. Charles Downey of Downeyville, and five brothers, Messrs. William, Frank, John and Joseph Scully of Downeyville, and Dennis, of Peterborough. Mr. John Lucas has two sisters living, Mrs. Henry Carroll and Miss Mary Lucas, both of Downeyville and one brother, Charles, also of Downeyville. Mr. Lucas is 74 years of age and Mrs. Lucas 70.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lucas are in splendid health and do not look their years. Both were born and lived all the time near Downeyville. Mr. Albert Meehan, a cousin of Mr. Lucas, came from Detroit, Mich., to be present and entertained the crowd with his splendid singing. This is the first golden wedding anniversary celebrated in Downeyville and all hope to see Mr. and Mrs. Lucas live to celebrate their diamond jubilee.

Obituary

MRS. MARY IRWIN

BONARLAW, August 1.—(Examiner Correspondence).—After a lingering illness which lasted over two years there passed peacefully away on Saturday last Mary Morton, beloved wife of the late William Irwin in her seventieth year. The late Mrs. Irwin was of a splendid christian character and dearly beloved by all who knew her. A good friend and neighbor in sickness and wherever a helping hand was needed she was always ready to do all she could.

She leaves to mourn her passing, one daughter, Mrs. Howard Finch, with whom she spent the last few years of her life. Her husband predeceased her in 1929. One son, Wesley, also died a number of years ago. Three sisters also survive and one brother, Mrs. John Pollock, Mrs. Norman Wellman and Mrs. Robert Scarlett and John Morton, all of Rawdon Township.

The funeral was held on Monday from the residence of her daughter, 9th concession, with service at the house. The officiating clergyman being Mr. Hind of Hamilton. Interment took place in Rylstone Cemetery.

HAMILTON, Aug. 1.— (C.P.) — Pudgy Carl Cronin, former Notre Dame and Winnipeg football star, who came here this spring with the intention of playing for Hamilton Tigers next fall in the Interprovincial Union, has left to live in Chicago, it was definitely established to-day. Cronin will not line-up with the Bengals.

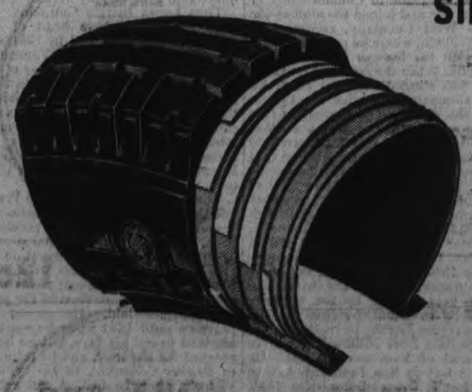
THE Greatest Advance IN TIRE CONSTRUCTION SINCE THE BALLOON TIRE



7 Built-In "SHOCK ABSORBERS"

Every Gutta Percha and Roadcraft Tire is built of the highest-quality cotton cords, every strand impregnated with and protected by rubber.

These protected cords are built into criss-cross layers for added strength, and are further protected at crucial points by broad pads of live gum rubber built-in between the plies to safeguard the cords from damage, as shown in the photograph at the left. See for yourself how blows on the tread or side-walls would be cushioned by these "shock-absorbers." There are 7 of them—the 5 you see in the photograph and 2 on the other side of the tire. Only Gutta Percha and Roadcraft Tires give you this safer construction at no extra cost.

IF VON HINDENBURG DIES?

Those tremendously fateful days of the first week in August, 1914, and the following months when the world took up arms seem to be lengthening their dark shadows over Germany as Paul Von Hindenburg, one of the last of the war lords, is reported sinking in death.

From the earliest stage of the war when his divisions practically wiped out the Russian forces invading East Prussia, and during the continuously disturbed years of his presidency of the new republic down even to a few weeks ago when he checked the slaying of Storm Troop leaders and others whom Hitler alleged to be planning a new revolution, Von Hindenburg has almost continuously been a man of destiny to the German nation.

During these latter years he has been literally like the shadow of a great rock in a weary land.

The death of President Von Hindenburg would gravely complicate the domestic dissension and strife that has swirled around him with increasing violence under the ill-starred Hitler regime. With the unfailing loyalty of the army and the common people behind him, he has been the one steadying influence in a nation rent by political and social discord and so-called purgings, and embarrassed by Nazi plots in Austria, a record of humiliation that leaves Germany friendless in the European scene.

In 1914, General Von Hindenburg became one of the immortals of the World War when, after Tannenburg, he trapped the Russians in the Masurian Lakes territory of East Prussia, relieving the threat on Germany's eastern front for many months.

Recent information from Russian sources establishes the fact that the invasion of East Prussia was undertaken by the Czar's staff upon the appeals of the Allies, who sought a diversion of the German attack in the west, that the Russian corps as a consequence of the haste of their despatch to the Prussian frontier were inadequately equipped and officered, lacked artillery and machine guns, and were in no condition to meet the well supplied, crack regiments of the Central Powers. However, the glory belongs to "Hindy of the Lakes."

From his Hanover estate after the flight of the Kaiser and the setting up of the German republic, Von Hindenburg was called to the presidency, was steadfast and loyal to the new political order, and remained the embodiment of the old German discipline and integrity down to these last few months when failing health demanded that he should have been in the quiet and seclusion of his home with his grandchildren.

After Von Hindenburg, will it be the deluge?

Certainly Germany under Odolf Hitler finds herself in an unenviable and parlous condition. Widespread unemployment and a severe crop shortage are pressing economic problems. Hitler is accused of having instigated the Nazi revolt in Austria, the death of Chancellor Dolfuss and thousands of his people.

The Nazi conspiracy to accomplish political and economic unity of Germany and Austria has created a definite estrangement with Mussolini and the Italians, brought Europe close to war, and left Germany humiliated and friendless.

The domestic situation is further troubled, not only by social and economic problems, but by the threatening cloud of civil war. Nazi Storm Troopers, friendly to the murdered Roehm, disbelieve the Hitler charges of a planned revolution against the Chancellor, are reported to be seeking revenge. Friends of the ex-officers, aristocrats and Catholics who were slain in Munich's week of terror are other enemies of the Chancellor.

Hitlerism may collapse in all the unrest. Then what? Possibly civil war, a danger that deepens if Von Hindenburg dies.

August of 1934 seems as fraught with dire trouble for the German people as that other August twenty years ago.

SUGGESTS EARLIER CLOSING.

A Brantford hotel man suggests that the closing time on Saturday nights for beverage rooms should be an hour earlier, eleven o'clock, instead of midnight. The reason for this change would be to avoid the necessary work of cleaning up in the first hour of Sunday morning.

Public opinion will probably be unanimous in approval of this proposal which acquires force and significance in the fact that it is advanced by a hotelkeeper. Many comments heard during the last ten days frankly doubt the wisdom of midnight closing every day in the week. Public opinion seems to be satisfied with eleven o'clock or even earlier.

The new system has not been long enough in operation for definite ideas to take form, but prudent hotelmen should appreciate the wisdom of unnecessarily offending sentiment that is opposed to avoidable work on Sundays.

TOURIST COTTAGE REGULATION.

Tourist bungalows in the province of Quebec must conform with new regulations announced by the Provincial Government.

In the first place, they must constitute an annex to licensed hotels. The cottages must be situated on a lake or river and the minimum number of such bungalows for each hotel is set at five. To make sure that travelers shall have plenty of room, the revised regulations require minimum bedroom measurements of one hundred square feet for a room with single bed, one hundred and twenty square feet for a double bed, and one hundred and eighty square feet for a room with two double beds.

Visiting tourists have become such a valuable asset to most of the Canadian provinces that a broader control of the accomodation for their needs seems to be a step in the right direction. Regulation of tourist camps and cottages in Ontario has been applied only in respect to general conditions of sanitation by the recently dismissed district officers of health. And their concern has been chiefly centred upon the protection of water supply reaching large centres. Other phases of control have been virtually omitted entirely in this district, and the conduct of this seasonal accomodation has been left to the discretion of summer resort owners, lakeside farmers and others with property on the main highways.

In many instances the cottages have been efficiently kept, comfortably furnished and provided with daily services of ice, milk and other necessities. There are so many of them in this district alone that inspection would be a rather difficult undertaking. To the credit of the owners of these cottages it may be generally remarked that practically no complaints of any kind have been heard from tourists coming into this district.

The tourist business ultimately reacts to the benefit of the province as a whole, and the annual estimates of its total financial returns indicate its importance.

NO CONTROL BY ADVERTISERS.

While developing his thought that political democracy was impossible without economic democracy, in the course of his address last week on "What is the C.C.F.?", Prof. Gregory Vlastos is reported to have quoted Prof. Duncan McArthur as saying: "Newspapers are run for profit, and are, therefore, dependent on the advertisers, the result of such dependency being that the policy of newspapers is largely determined by the larger advertisers, and in this way people are denied and will never get impartial information."

* * * *

It is common practice for irresponsible speakers to make rash statements about newspapers in the hope of gaining publicity. Ordinarily little, if any, attention is paid to such statements. Fortunately, the professoriate at Queen's University has been, and is, of a calibre that commands respect and confidence. When one of this distinguished group makes a public statement so recently given the lie in the very news columns he condemns, it is fitting that the truth should be pointed out.

* * * *

It seems strange that any university professor should make or repeat such a statement in the light of the most recent investigations by the Stevens Price Spreads Committee at Ottawa affecting, in some cases adversely, the largest national and retail advertisers in the Dominion of Canada. Had there been one vestige of truth in the statement credited to Prof. McArthur, concerning the dictation of the policies of newspapers by large advertisers, the news, as coming from the investigations of the Price Spreads Committee, would certainly not have been given holus-bolus to the people as an ordinary, every-day routine duty by the newspapers. The fact is that the evidence produced before the Price Spreads Committee was given daily without fear or favor, by large papers and small, without thought or consideration as to whether said advertisers like it or lumped it. It was a public investigation; the people were entitled to the news; they got it from the source to which they have learned to look with confidence.

* * * *

Fortunately, for the people of Canada, the newspapers of the country are in the hands of men with a keen sense of responsibility to the people they serve. Moreover, the newspaper industry, as a whole, is financially independent and able to stand on its own feet as a business proposition. It is thus enabled to give, without fear or favor, the news as it develops without regard to whom it may affect. We fear it would be a sorry day for the people of this country should the newspapers be mere tools of government, as in Russia, Germany and some other countries where the object of publication is not to give the people the truth, but to spread propaganda in keeping with the design of the dictators.

* * * *

The critics of newspapers sometimes confuse propaganda, for the particular cause which they espouse, with vital news. If the newspapers reject the propaganda, the crusaders immediately label the papers "sinister influences controlled by some external interest."

* * * *

We have no quarrel with universities or their teaching staffs, but we might point out that with a few minor changes the statement attributed to Prof. McArthur could, quite as logically, read as follows: "Universities are not run for profit and are, therefore, dependent on the political party in power and wealthy donors for the money to pay their staffs, the result of such dependency being that the policy of the universities is largely determined by the large donors and the political party in power, and in this way students are denied and will never get impartial information."—Kingston Whig-Standard.

DIFFERS WITH MR. BURNHAM

To The Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir:

Regarding Mr. J. H. Burnham's latest "Back to The Land" letter, I expect that next he will be advocating lead-lined bathing suits for deep-water swimming parties. Where does he get the idea of restoring balance by shunting the unemployed "Back to the Land?" His statement that one-fifth of the population can produce sufficient manufactured goods, and therefore four-fifths should be engaged in agriculture will not stand economic analysis. In the first place the so-called balance is an automatic effect and uncontrolable. Migration is always toward the place of better living conditions, whether the migrant be man or animal. Such is as it should be and desirable.

Secondly, does it require four-fifths of our population to produce our food? At present one-half of our population is rural, and as yet no evidence of food shortage despite inefficient methods of production, lack of machinery and a yearly decrease in precipitation. From my own observation I believe that with more modern machinery and efficient management, 20 or 25% of the population could produce an abundance of food.

Thirdly. Can one-fifth of the population produce sufficient manufactured goods? That would depend on what we call sufficient. While our consumption of farm produce is limited to the amount we can eat with satisfaction our ability to consume manufactured goods is limited only to the amount and variety we can produce. So far we haven't scratched the surface of supplying the commercial and industrial needs of the people. Would not the development and supplying of these wants mop up the unemployed in a much more satisfactory manner than committing them to slavery in an already over-manned industry.

Also, Mr. Burnham has failed to take into account the vast legion of men that could be employed in the mines, fisheries, lumber camps and processing mills, were we to concentrate our attention to the supplying of wants instead of kicking the unemployed in the face.

What are the potential wants that could be supplied to make Canada a better place to live. The following is a partial and conservative estimate and would do for a start: 1,000,000 new and modern homes; 1,500,000 new automobiles; $100,000,000 for housefurnishings; $600,000,000 clothing, and many billions for other nic-knacks. Were an initial order of this size launched it would virtually mean the tearing down and rebuilding of our cities and industrial organizations —making more work and billions of purchasing power. Mr. Burnham will naturally ask where are we going to get the money to start the thing going and finance it? And there is where the fly is in the ointment, and the sooner the people of Canada realize that our trouble is due to the failure of our financial machinery, the sooner we will be out of the woods. Our monetary system must be changed for we are doomed to gold slavery so long as the present system exists. By slavery I mean working that we may exist to work, whereas we should work to produce sufficient material goods to have a good time while we are here.

Under the present system the objective of every industry, government individual is to grab as much money from circulation and put as little back as possible. God Himself could not keep the channels of finance running with such hungry beaks fishing out the dollars By beaks I am referring to the ursers, who, when he fishes out a dollar, refuses to put it back into circulation until he has a certificate enabling him to remove it in a certain length of time with one or two more as interest.

Now, Mr. Burnham, I believe you are looking at conditions in an inverted manner, and if you will consider awhile I think you will agree that it is "Back to the City we should be moving. The migration has always been that way in better times and will be in the future if we are to prosper. Artificial adjustment will make things worse The only way to rectify a condition is to start at the base and work up to date. All our effort has been to treat the sore spot that happened to show. If you could induce the minister of the next Dominion Government (Bennett is hopeless) to invent a new dollar that would not draw interest, that will act as a medium of exchange only instead of a source of revenue for bondsmen, a dollar that has a fixed value in terms of commodities. If you can accomplish this against the squack of creditors you will be doing the nation a greater service than any benefactor of the people the world has ever known, and much greater than convicting our unfortunate friends to the hopeless and primitive existence of scratching the soil with sticks.

Thanking you,

William J. Wiggins.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

DIGBY, N.S.

In 1776, a body of New Englanders settled here under the leadership of William McDermott, but this settlement was largely broken up by frequent attacks of privateers. The town as it exists today, was founded by Loyalists from New England in 1783. The locality was first known as Conway, and the governor's grant was dated 1784.

The name Digby was given to the town in honor of Hon. Robert Digby, a British admiral, who superintended the transportation of many of the Loyalist settlers. Colonel Moody, a famous fighter of North Carolina in the revolutionary war, settled in Digby county.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

STORY WITH A HAPPY ENDING.

He was an old man and he had been very sad.

Here he was, an old man, coming close to the end of his living, and the world had no more use for his experience, for the knowledge he had garnered and used for so many years. It was a pity and he felt lonely and discouraged with little hope in him.

This old man of whom I write had come to this country many years ago. . . . He knew about wines. He was what we call "an expert". He knew the wines of Spain, of France, of Germany, and he came to know well the wines of his new home. . . . He knew where the grapes grew and how they grew, knew the soils, knew the sunshine, knew all the methods of the making of wines. . . . He knew the "good years", and he knew the bad. . . . Knew which wines improved in the bottle, knew when they grew old and sickened in the bottle. . . . He knew their colors, their aromas. He could lift a glass of golden wine or ruby red wine to the light, sniff it, taste a few drops and tell you all about it. . . . He had talent and he had experience. He was an excellent judge of wines; it was his business and it was his art, most precious thing in life for him.

Then they passed a law that made wine illegal and that stripped him of the use of his talents. . . . He was not wanted any more and he was growing old. And the wine of life that was in him, as wine is in a bottle, died—and he was unhappy. . . . I do not know if he had ever read that sonnet by Milton on his blindness, in which the poet mourned over "that one talent, which is death to hide, lodged in me useless"—but the old wine taster would have understood it. His talent, too, was lodged in him useless.

And then, for him, a miracle happened. That law was repealed and he was able, once more, to use the talents that had not died. . . . He was sought out, given work. He was busy again, doing again what he knew best how to do. Life was good for him once more. He was needed, he was being used. . . . Firms competed for his services and he lived in a glow of happiness. . . . And the old man was happier than he had ever been. He laughed, he walked briskly, he was glad to be alive.

The other night he died. In his sleep, quietly, peacefully, he went away. He had been happy. He had been miserable. He had been happy again. . . . It was indeed for him a happy ending.

A Thought

"I asked a hermit once in Italy how he could venture to live alone, in a single cottage, on the top of a mountain, a mile from any habitation? He replied that, "Providence was his very next-door neighbor."—Sterne.

Electric Cable Sets Fire To Wheat Crop

PORT ERIE, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP)—A curious combination of accidents occurred in Bertie Township shortly before noon to-day. An electric cable snapped from the heat and destroyed nearly an acre of wheat on farm at Fred Litchenberger. Due to the water shortage the farmer beat out flames with hastily improvised flails. On an adjoining farm while moving a stump, Floyd Anthony, 35, lost a portion of finger on right hand when a heavy section of pump fell.

When she fell on a fence striking her face against a tin can, 7-year-old Cecelia May McGraw in the same neighborhood forced a tooth into her jaw severing an artery.

CANADIAN COMPANIES DISBURSE $17,632,095, JULY DIVIDENDS

Total is Big Increase of Same Month in Past Two Years—Is Favored Month for Corporations to Declare Payments.

SEVEN MONTHS SHOW 30-MILLION INCREASE.

By CENTRAL PRESS CANADIAN

TORONTO, Aug. 2. — Dividend payments by Canadian companies continue to show improvement with the total for July, as estimated by Bongard & Company, members of the Toronto Stock Exchange, over $4,000,000 above July, 1933, and $3,000,000 above July, 1932. For the first seven months of the year dividend disbursements show an increase of over $30,000,000 as result of the consistent increase month by month in the current year to date, as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year.

Total distributions for July, 1934, estimated from official declarations, amount to $17,632,095, as contrasted with $13,580,939 in July, 1933, and $14, 681,434 in July, 1932. Accumulated total for the year to date is well over the one hundred million dollar mark at $114,866,305. In the first seven months of 1933 Canadian companies disbursed in dividends $84,324,977, and in similar period of 1932 a total of $102,127,786.

July Favored Month.

July is a favored month for dividends with Canadian corporations, as it follows the end of the first half of the calendar year, and the list on this occasion is representative of all classes of industry, finance and mining enterprise. As a reflection of the improvement in general conditions, and consequent betterment in earnings, shareholders in the month under review received payments on account of arrears of dividend on preferred shares, bonuses, and increased rates of distribution. Niagara Wire Weaving, Riverside Silk Mills, and Monarch Knitting are companies which are making payments on account of arrears of dividend. Extras are being paid by Canadian Industries, and Montreal City and District Bank, Dominion Textile has increased the quarterly payment from $1 to $1.25 a share, restoring the old annual rate of $5 a share, the disbursement on the outstanding shares of Canadian Investment has been increased, while Standard Fuel Company is making an initial disbursement of 50 cents a share on the common stock.

Mining companies are again large contributors to the month's total, with payments approximating $4,712,908. Dome Mines contributes the largest amount, with current quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share and bonus, paid out of 1933 earnings of $1.50, amounting to $1,906,668. Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada is paying a cash dividend of $1 a share, and United Gold Equities and Bralorne have increased their distributions to stockholders.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE FATHER OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

On this date, in 1877, British Columbia mourned the death of Sir James Douglas, the true father of the province. Born in Lanarkshire, Scotland, in 1803, he came to Canada when 17 years of age and joined the staff of the North West Company, reporting at Fort William, where he came into contact with the famous Dr. John McLoughlin. When the North West Company was merged with the Hudson's Bay Company, Douglas went west with the doctor. The youngster first served an apprenticeship in the Athabasca department was transferred to New Caledonia in 1824, and from that time on was identified with the Pacific coast. He spent several years at Fort St. James, Fort McLeod and other posts, in what is now northern British Columbia, married Amelia Connolly, daughter of the chief factor, and in 1830 was transferred to Fort Vancouver. In 1840 he commanded the party which was sent to raise the British flag above Fort Stikine in the territory leased by the company from Russia. On his return journey he removed Fort McLoughlin from Millbank Sound to the head of Vancouver Island. He built a fort at San Francisco bay in 1840 but it was abandoned in 1846. In the meantime he had been promoted first to chief trader, and then to factor.

In 1843 when the company foresaw that the boundary would lay to the north, Douglas built Fort Camosun (Fort Victoria) at the end of Vancouver Island there the western headquarters of the company were removed.

Thus began British Columbia. In 1846 Douglas became head of the western department and in 1851 was appointed governor of Vancouver Island, still remaining an officer of the company. In 1856, under instructions from the Colonial office, he divided the country into electoral districts and called the first legislature of Vancouver Island. Two years later, when the mainland was made a separate colony, Douglas was appointed governor there as well as of the island.

The discovery of gold on the Fraser and the Cariboo called for firmness and executive ability. Douglas possessed both. He was a constitutional governor on the island and an autocrat on the mainland, but he did his work well. British law was enforced; roads were built, and the foundations of the present province laid. He served his province until 1864 when he went to England to end his days, but his heart yearned for the west, and he returned to British Columbia, to his beloved Victoria, where he died. A true nation builder indeed!

FISHERMAN'S GOAL

PORT ERIE, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP) —More ancient than the honor of the Golden Fleece, much coveted by heroes of Homeric tales is that awarded to Dr. Charles W. Streets, who this year has been chosen head of the International Fishing Club, composed of Port Erie, Pittsburgh and Brantford men, who faithfully meet each July and August in a lodge near Turkey Point to fish to their heart's content.

Oatmeal-and-water drinks are being served free to horses in Edinburgh, Scotland.

MACDONALD ENJOYING TOUR

PICTOU, N.S., Aug. 1 (CP) — Resting quietly to-day in this county of Scots, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald remained at his hotel here. He will probably stay at Pictou until tomorrow and may take a short motor trip this afternoon.

The British statesman and his daughter, Ishbel, leisurely touring Nova Scotia, are in no hurry to return home, the Prime Minister said last night. They are proceeding to Cape Breton and plan to embark at Sydney on August 6 for St. John's, Newfoundland.

MOUSE HALTS CIRCUS

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 2 (C.P.)—Citizens of this city don't mind attending circuses as long as the animals are kept in cages. They were watching the lions and tigers go through their tricks yesterday when a cry of alarm suddenly went up. One of the animals was loose. No it wasn't a ferocious lion. It was a field mouse. But it "stopped the show" for a time.

THE FIRST DRUNK

PORT ERIE, Aug. 2 (C.P.)—The first charge of drunkenness since the sale of beer by the glass was legalized resulted in a six months' suspended sentence for James Zahn, Port Erie south youth.

NOTED WRITER ILL

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—(CP)—Thomas Blacklock, one of the deans of Canadian political writers is seriously ill here today. His associations with parliament went back to the days of Sir John A. MacDonald.

You will find many things in the Classified Ads of The Examiner.

MINES FOLLOW TORONTO TREND

Strengthen Noticeably in Last Hour Following Early Morning Sag.

SOME PRICE PARING.

TORONTO, Aug. 2 (CP).—The mining section of the Toronto Exchange slowed down in its trading pace in the early part of today's session to take stock of the situation and perked up noticeably in the last hour as the industrial markets firmed. Some paring of the price level occurred in the gold and base metal leaders, while the secondary and penny golds came into prominence with good turnover and firm to strong prices generally.

God's Lake churned about within a wide range under active profit-taking on its recent rise and closed the day off 15 cents to $2.83. Gunnar Gold, also under a degree of selling pressure, closed with a net gain of 10 cents at 2.40. Little Long Lac lost 10 cents, Sylvanite 5, Siscoe 5 and Pickle Crow, 4.

Dome, Hollinger, Teck Hughes, Braiorne and Pioneer closed down narrowly and Lake Shore gained 20 cents.

Action was slow in the silvers with Eldorado off about .3 cents and White Eagle down 2 to 19.

Trading expanded in the oil group with higher prices running. Howe was up 15 cents. Chemical Research backtracked about 6 cents.

NEWS IN BRIEF
SHORT ITEMS RECEIVED OVER C. P. WIRE

DETROIT. — Prominent business men, former or present bank officers and directors, began appearing in Federal Court this morning to plead not guilty to indictments returned yesterday by the Federal grand jury charging 28 men with violations of the United States banking code.

--:--

TORONTO —Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn to-day passed the hat around among his cabinet ministers, and collected money to assist the Ontario hunger marchers to buy food while on the way to their homes. Mr. Hepburn contributed $50 of his own money and the other ministers chipped in to the extent of $5 each, a total of $95. The marchers went home in highway department trucks which were placed at their disposal with drivers.

--:--

NANCY, France.—Marshal Louis H. Lyautey, fourth French war marshal to die, was taken on a gun carriage to-day along narrow, winding streets to a tomb among the 24 Dukes of Lorraine who also served France as soldiers, statesmen and colonizers since 1482. Half a division marched in a mile long procession as church bells tolled in memory of the "Maker of Morocco."

--:--

PORT COLBORNE.—George Boulton, 19, of Humberstone, was in hospital here to-day in serious condition with a broken neck suffered when he dived last night from the wall of the old Welland Canal at Humberston. Boulton failed to clear a float tied to the wall of the old canal and struck the heavy floating log, breaking his neck.

--:--

PARIS.—France sent her condolences to Germany to-day for the death of President Von Hindenburg, whose passing may mean much to this country.

President Albert LeBrun and Premier Gaston Doumergue telegraphed Chancellor Hitler expressions of sympathy.

--:--

TORONTO.—William Macladdery, Commissioner for Land Settlement in Northern Ontario, has been relieved of his post by Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor. The step was taken in line with the Ontario Governments' economy program and the work will be carried on by J. B. Thompson, former secretary to Hon. William Finlayson, Mr. Heenan's predecessor as head of the department.

--:--

CARRUTHERS, Sask. — The death of three persons near here was to-day described in the verdict of a coroner's jury as "murder and suicide, prompted by jealousy." John Sodergard, 35-year-old truck driver shot and killed two persons on a farm near this village and later committed suicide with the same gun when police sought to arrest him.

Sodergard's victims were Margaret Stajurk, 23, to whom he had been attentive for some months, and Clarence Tenny, farmer, who was widowed two months ago and leaves five children.

BUSINESS BOOMS

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 2.—(CP)—Completition of present factory additions and alterations costing $47,000 and an increase of approximately 75 in the number of men and women full time employees was noted in the report given today by E. G. Kerr, manager of the National Canned Foods Company.

In addition to the increased number of full time employees bringing the total now up to approximately 100, more than 100 more are given work at different periods during the year. At present time the company's payroll is $2,000, weekly, more than double that of a year ago.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP).—Extreme dullness gripped the stock market today and prices were unable to get far in any direction. Some consolidation of yesterday's wide advances occurred in the first hour, but moderate declines largely eradicated in late dealings. Alcohol shares drew a following, with National Distillers and Schenley getting up fractionally to a point. American Telephone, Howe Sound, General Motors and Chrysler were exceptions. Transfers approximated 440,000 shares.

ISSUES FIRM LATE TRADING

Recovery Reflects Strong Buying Movement in New York Liquor Group.

INTERLISTEDS ALSO UP.

TORONTO, Aug. 2 (CP).—Snapping out of a morning downward drift, the distillery shares came up strongly this afternoon to show substantial net gains at the close. The recovery reflected a strong buying movement in the New York liquor group. The general market firmed less definitely than the liquors and with a few exceptions, the interlisted leaders closed on the up side. Volume also picked up in the afternoon.

The death of President Von Hindenburgh of Germany caused markets to move cautiously through the morning period but the trend turned upward in the last hour.

Distillers Seagrams held the post for volume and along with Walkers Common added a point net. Canadian Industrial Alcohol closed with a gain of 1 1-8. Brewery shares closed unchanged or slightly lower with exception of Canada Malting, which gained 3-4.

Food stocks followed the general trend, registering gains for Canada Bread, Westons Common, the Loblaw issues and Consolidated Bakeries. Implement shares were strong and the utilities were higher generally. Power Corporation adding 1 1-2 and Consumers Gas, Bell Telephone, Beauharnois and Montreal Power showing net gains of about a half point each.

DORLAND AMONG 3 MEN, 2 WOMEN

about three years and five months of a five-year sentence for an attempted robbery of the Wellesley street branch of the Royal Bank, April 7, 1930, was taken into custody during the extensive police search for the trio that walked into the St. Clair avenue and Keele street branch of the Bank of Montreal, and after forcing the staff to lie on the floor, escaped with about $25,000 in cash.

Two Other Suspects

DETROIT, Aug. 2 (A.P.)—Working in conjunction with Toronto detectives, Detroit police have under arrest here Mrs. Effie Hoar, 27, and Ray Alderman, in connection with a Toronto bank robbery.

Police said they found the pair sharing an apartment, in which $8,000 currency was found hidden in a suitcase.

Officers held the pair incommunicado and prepared a trap in which they hoped to catch other members of an alleged gang. But none of the others showed up and police believe they are still in Canada.

The woman told officers she met Alderman in Toronto sometime after the robbery, and police said they were inclined to think the woman had no connection with the robbery and was merely picked up by the man.

No information regarding the pair could be obtained at police headquarters other than they were being held for Toronto authorities. It was not indicated if they would be returned or whether they would fight extradition.

Nothing to Say.

Toronto police authorities said they had "no announcement" to make in regard to the arrest in Detroit of two persons, presumably in connection with a Toronto bank robbery. It was believed, however, the arrests were made in the intensive search for three men who escaped with about $35,000 from the St. Claire avenue and Keele street branch, Bank of Montreal, after forcing members of the staff to lie on the floor, July 26.

KIDNAP PLOTTER GOT 'COLD FEET'

Toronto Paper Learns Member of McLean Case Gang Tipped Police.

HELPED DIG TUNNEL.

TORONTO, Aug. 2 (CP)—Police were told of the plot to kidnap John Stanley McLean, President of Canada Packers, Ltd., when one of the men who helped to dig the tunnel got "cold feet" and went to the City Detective Office, The Toronto Daily Star said it learned authoritatively to-day.

The tunnel was built under five tourist cottages in New Toronto.

Frank Wood, 25, New Toronto, former workman at the McLean home and one-time special guard at the Don Jail; James Leslie, 32, operator of tourist cabins on the Lakeshore Highway; and Harry Leslie, 40, brother of James, were arrested by Provincial Police Tuesday night and charged with conspiring to commit an indictable offence.

The man, who gave police first intimation of the plan to kidnap McLean and hold him for $100,000 ransom, took an active part in the planning and digging of the hideout, The Star said, but as the weeks wore on and the day for the actual job neared, he asked them several times to abandon the scheme. They refused, it is said, and declared they were going to see it through.

WOMAN PLAYS HEROINE

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 2 (C.P.)—A woman fully clothed plunged into Sydney harbor yesterday to save Bert Publicover, a war veteran from drowning. Publicover fell off a wharf and Mrs. Wilfrid McIsaac, talking to friends about 30 yards away, dashed to the scene and plunged in. She brought the man ashore in an unconscious condition. He was later removed to hospital where he recovered.

SUSPECT ACID KILLING FISH

PRESTON, Ont., Aug. 2 (C.P.)—Commenting on the report that many dead fish were floating in the Grand River here, Dr. J. S. Hogg, M.O.H., said he could not give any definite reason why the fish had died. He stated he thought it might be because of an acid in the water, as some of the fish he examined had red rings around their eyes.

HELD FOR THEFT

PORT ERIE, Aug. 2 (CP)—Harry Davis, 30, farmer of Caledonia, Ont., is held by Buffalo police on a petty larceny charge laid just as he was about to cross Peace Bridge on his way home.

Glenn Taylor of Buffalo charges David with taking $4.75 from his clothing after he (Taylor) had provided him with free lodging.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

MOOSONEE ROAD BILL OF EXPENSE

Extension Only Contractor's Proposition, Should Never Have Been Built Says Hepburn.

ATTITUDE UNCERTAIN.

TORONTO, Aug. 2 (CP)—The extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway northward to Moosonee should never have been constructed, Premier Mitchell Hepburn said to-day. He refused to say, however, whether the train service north of Cochrane would be curtailed or eliminated as the whole question of the railway was being considered.

"The line to Moosonee," he said, "was purely a contractor's proposition. It is only a bill of expense to the people. There is no one at the terminal and little prospect of development in the adjacent territory. I dont' know just what attitude we are going to take on the matter."

He had remarked, the Premier continued, to the general manager of the railway there seemed little sense in running a train to Moosonee every week which carried no passengers and no baggage.

The government also had an expensive hotel at Moosonee, said Mr. Hepburn which did little business. No decision had been reached as to its future operation.

BLAZE UNDER CONTROL.

FORT ERIE, Ont., Aug. 2.—(C.P.)—The old Riselay woods, west of Fort Erie, near Niagara Junction, has been burning seven days. Railroad men and farmers to-day reported flames have been practically extinguished.

The fire is direct result of drought which affected adjacent section of Bertie township some weeks, compelling farmers to haul water from Niagara river several miles to water stock.

BISHOP SINKING

HALIFAX, Aug. 2 (CP)—"Not quite as satisfactory," was the report to-day on the condition of Most Rev. Clare L. Worrell, Primate of the Church of England in Canada. His physician declined to amplify the announcement.

The church leader has had several blood transfusions since he entered hospital more than three weeks ago following an intestinal haemorrhage.

HE WANTS WATER

OTTAWA, Aug. 2 (C.P.)—If the town of Eastview won't take water to his house, he'll take his house to water, Ernest Grenon, told the corporation council. Council balked at the cost of laying water pipes where his house is located. It approved however, of the resident's request for right to occupy a town-owned lot on another street where there is water. So the Grenon establishment, wood, plaster and shingles, will be moved to the new location.

MINE TRADING MUCH GREATER MONTH OF JULY

23,938,836 Shares Change Hands Against 20,629,288 in Previous Month.

VALUE OF $23,315,362.

July trading on the Mining Section of the Toronto Stock Exchange at 23,938,836 shares showed a sharp appreciation over the 20,629,288 of the previous month. Total dollar values of transactions were likewise higher at $23,315,362 against $17,390,242 in June.

Apart from the increased activity of three million shares, the average transaction in July approximated 97 cents as compared with 85 cents in the previous month. This higher share price average was due primarily to the predominance of trading in certain of the junior gold issues during the first half of the month when God's Lake, in which 1,389,533 shares changed hands, rose from $1.80 to around $4. Later the high average share value turnover was further increased by the activity of the senior golds which were sold in quantities by New York to protect weakened margin accounts arising from the sharp sell-off in the industrial markets on the 26th of July.

The course of prices of the whole mining list during the month devolved upon these two factors. Following the God's Lake and Gunnar Gold movement, the sympathetic reaction of the list, as portrayed by the Exchange's index of 20 representative issues was toward higher ground. The upward movement persisted until the 15th of the month, when the initial move lost its momentum.

Later the list dipped slowly each day in accordance with the decline in these new market leaders until the New York break when the drop became precipitous. This sharp sell-off lasted for a day, the list later showing the tendency to recover with the gold index gaining approximately the ground lost during the sharp decline.

The miscellaneous index comprised of base metal and silver issues, while generally following the course of the golds did not show the same wide range of operations. In addition, the recovery in this group after the 26th was a trifle more pronounced, the price of silver at New York helping the group marketwise.

General trend of the list as a whole was depicted further in the 176 issues that appeared on the board during the month, 35 of which advanced in price while 124 declined, the remaining 17 being unchanged.

Steeped in War-Lore From Childhood Hindenburg Became Man of Destiny

HITLER ASSUMES UNLIMITED POWER WITH NEW OFFICE

From a long line of military men came Paul Ludwig Hans Anton von Beneckendorff und Hindenburg, born in Posen, Oct. 2, 1847, destined to be the president of Germany and now a national hero.

His father, Major Robert von Hindenburg was stationed at Posen, Poland, at the time of Paul's birth. Frau von Hindenburg had been Luise Schwickart, daughter of a prominent army doctor. Paul, the oldest of four children, lost his mother in 1859, but his father survived her until 1902 when he died at the age of 86 years.

Designed from birth for the army, Paul started taking private lessons from a tutor when he was seven.

His military strain showed itself early. His first plaything was a huge stuffed goat on wheels which the youngster would mount and on his fiery charger take command of whole divisions of phantom soldiers in his boyish playmaking.

Was Told War Stories

Shortly after starting his studies the regiment of his father was ordered from Posen to the garrison at Glogau where the family was joined by the youngster's maternal grandmother.

Tired of his grind at his books, mad at his "charger" which had thrown him during the afternoon's play the weary little boy would curl up in his grandmother's ample lap and be regaled to sleep by tales of the wars in which his grandfather had participated.

About this time, and apparently under the same benign influences two characteristic traits made their appearance in the youth. At ten years of age thrift and charity, the desire to make others happy entered the makeup of the youngster.

Further showing the youth's rapidly forming character was the last will and testament which he left prior to entering the military academy at Wahlstatt. He was twelve years old then, having left the grade school, and the principal stipulation in the "will" was that his parents "give poor Schreiger, my friend, a sandwich each morning when he comes by the house on his way to school."

Called a "Sissy"

He was, pardon the expression, somewhat of a sissy who couldn't take the Spartan training of the military establishments of that day Prussia. He wrote his parents whimperingly:

"I have stayed in my room all evening. I am terribly homesick and the laundry has not yet been washed. We received no supper tonight. I have only three handkerchiefs and a suit of clean underwear left. Last night, I couldn't sleep because of the bed-bugs."

Some 55 years later this youngster was sleeping for days in his boots directing the operations of his fatherland's millions of fighting men.

The Military Academy of Berlin received him when he was fifteen years old and four years later, as a shavetail, he was in the thick of the 1866 argument with Austria. At Koenigsgraetz, capturing two Austrian field pieces, he was wounded when a shell splinter punctured his steel helmet.

Rose Rapidly

Recovered with the end of the war, Lieutenant Paul von Hindenburg was transferred to the Third Infantry division at Hanover.

But the lull was short-lived. Four years later, aged 23, he was under way to the front again, this time in the Franco-Prussian war. His division was under the heaviest fire at the war and lost almost half its men before St. Privat. Von Hindenburg, too was wounded, but his gallantry under fire brought him a promotion as adjutant on the regimental commander's staff.

The rise was rapid. He served as military instructor in Berlin, the war ministry and later on the general staff. Named inspector of the eastern fortifications in 1878, he married a year later, Gertrude von Sperling, daughter of a general commanding an army corps.

Three children were born to the union. Oskar, later attaining the rank of lieutenant-colonel on his father's staff, Irmgard, now Frau von Brockhausen, and Annamarie, now Frau von Pentz. Frau von Hindenburg died in 1921.

Helped Kaiser Escape

Ever a monarchist, he, as field marshal of the German army during the war, advised the kaiser to flee, when it was seen that Germany was lost. He personally saw to it that the kaiser escaped.

Later, the kaiser safe across the frontier, Hindenburg started the sad trek of his defeated warriors back to the fatherland, where he assumed full responsibility for advising the kaiser to abdicate.

"Try me," was von Hindenburg's request to the Allies when, upon the signing of the treaty of peace, it was announced the former Emperor would be arraigned as the arch-criminal of the war. He wrote President Ebert, head of the German republic:

"The signing of the Peace Treaty gives me occasion for declaring that I was responsible for the decisions and acts of Main Headquarters since August 29, 1916, and also that all proclamations and orders of his Majesty, the Emperor and King, concerning the waging of warfare, were issued upon my advice and upon my responsibility. I beg you, therefore, to inform the German people and the Allied governments of this declaration."

300 "War Criminals"

Subsequently von Hindenburg was mentioned among the 300 "war criminals" demanded for trial by the Allies. There was a blanket indictment by both France and Belgium against the Field Marshal in which he, with General Erich Ludendorff, was charged with responsibility for "the cruel administration" and the destruction of villages in Belgium and the deportations from that country and from France. He was not brought to trial. Eugen Schiffer, German Minister of Justice, in charge of the prosecutions, decided that the acts complained of were done "under military necessity and therefore, cannot merit punishment."

Von Hindenburg was a veteran of three wars and, like his great conqueror, Foch, had been an instructor in a military college, the once famous Kriegschule in Berlin. He had fought in the Austro-Prussian and Franco-Prussian wars. Retired for disability in 1907 the military clique of Germany was sure he never could come back. Already an old man, a hero to every German schoolboy, reverses to the German arms gave voice to the public clamor for his leadership. So it was then he became Chief of the General Staff on August 30, 1916, succeeding General Erich von Falkenhayn, who was dismissed and General Helmuth von Moltke, who was retired for "ill-health" shortly after the war started.

The Field Marshal's chief claim to fame rested in his success in turning back the Russian armies, when after overrunning Poland and laying waste a great part of Galicia and East Prussia and threatening to invade the heart of Germany, he met and utterly defeated them at Tannenberg, among the morasses of the Mazurian Lakes, taking in one battle more than 40,000 prisoners.

Statue Unveiled

Thereafter von Hindenburg was known to every German as "the old man of the lakes" and believed to have almost superhuman power. Cities and streets were named in his honor and a great wooden statue was unveiled in Berlin into which the worshipful multitudes hammered nails as if to make their modern Odin ever more invincible. This statue, after the defeat of the Central Powers and the revolution in Germany, was ordered removed by the Ebert government. It fell into the hands of a lumber wrecking concern in whose yard it lay for months, until in 1920, the Berlin police confiscated what once had been a valuable piece of imperial property.

Upon taking supreme command of the German armies, von Hindenburg reassured the waning hopes of the people. They had expected a victorious, short, war and other commanders had disappointed them. Von Hindenburg prophesied the extermination of France. At first opposed to unrestricted U-boat warfare, he finally favored it. He also was accused of ordering the deportation of thousands of men, women and children from Belgium and Northern France into virtual slavery in Germany. He promised the Emperor a strong German peace by August 1917 and later said he would be "in Paris by April 1, 1918."

He was confident the struggle would be won by Germany before American could land an effective army overseas. He derided the United States and said its efforts reminded him of P. T. Barnum, the showman. He built the famous "Hindenburg Line," a system of communicating trenches and concrete fortifications extending from the North Sea to Switzerland. They were supposed to be impregnable and the highest type of German engineering skill.

Von Hindenburg suffered the first blow to his prestige when, after having ordered his troops to hold the town of Paaschendaele, Belgium, "at all costs", a division of Canadians stormed the town and captured it. British, French and American gunners finally smashed the famous "line" to pieces. Notwithstanding his reverses the "old man of the lakes" conducted a safe retreat and received the telegraphic congratulations of the War Lord but the Allied offensive after four years of attrition, however, made resistance hopeless.

On October 3, 1918, von Hindenburg was called to Berlin and there attended the council at which Prince Maximilian of Baden was made Chancellor. There the conqueror of Tannenberg presented the facts that on October 15 resulted in the armistice proposal to the Allies by Germany. He told of his decimated armies and the futility of longer continuing the struggle.

Retired to Roots

He took a soldier's farewell of his troops June 25, 1919, retiring to Hanover where he again thought he could enjoy the beauty of his rose bushes and neighborly chats in peace-time pursuits.

But Kismet ruled otherwise.

Although his heart, steeped in nationalism and the old Prussian army traditions of "For God and Kaiser" did not permit him to enter politics in the early days of the republic, he was later won over to become a candidate for presidency.

He kept in touch with his former liege-lord at Doorn by letters, but never visited the castle.

Upon his first election as president April 4, 1925, for a seven-year term, he withdrew from the monarchist Nationalist party led by Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, the man who enabled Adolf Hitler to secure German citizenship and eventually become a candidate against President von Hindenburg.

Elected President

In the election von Hindenburg received 14,639,300 votes against 13,751,615 polled by Wilhelm Marx, Catholic Centrist candidate.

Again the president was greeted as the "Savior of the Fatherland."

Throughout the seven years of his office the president adhered rigidly to the republican constitution which he had sworn to uphold.

Save for some internal political squabbles, among them the gradual rise of the Nazi party to power, the president had comparatively easy sailing.

Foreign investors, mainly Americans, poured considerable money into Germany, both in the shape of the Young plan loan and in credits extended to municipal state and governmental projects.

In 1931 the crash came.

All efforts to save the nation went for naught. Midnight sessions of German financiers were called, to no avail. A huge textile combine crashed and took with it the Danat Bank, one of Germany's largest institutions, necessitating a general banking holiday.

Enter Adolf Hitler

With the approach of the end of his first term in 1932, an effort was made to prolong the term by parliamentary action in the Reichstag and spare the troubled country the cost and political upheavals attendant on an election of this nature.

Ex-Corporal Adolf Hitler's Nazis refused to sanction the move and nominated Hitler to make the race against the old field marshal.

With Theodore Duesterberg, Steel Helmet leader (later booted from the organization because of his non-Aryan ancestry) and Adolf Hitler, Von Hindenburg entered the lists for his second terms. A run-off election was necessary with Von Hindenburg polling 19,359,642 votes against Hitler 13,417,460.

Death Means New Crisis

But from the beginning of his second term until his total eclipse as the Nazis came to power, the president began to be in hot water. He became displeased with the government of Heinrich Bruening and booted that astute chancellor out of office. Franz von Papen, still the president's favorite, was called to form a "presidial" cabinet that was one having the confidence of the president regardless of the Reichstag feelings.

Von Papen was tumbled and Gen. Kurt Schleicher, executed in the recent crisis, called the sphinx behind the military camarilla, which had been making and breaking cabinets, succeeded him. Von Schleicher's term was short.

In the meanwhile Von Papen had been working as a go-between for Hitler and Von Hindenburg so successfully that the Nazi leader was summoned to form a government on January 30, 1933.

It marked the end of Von Hindenburg's active participation in German politics though his presence even up until his death was still felt.

Long a sufferer from catarrh of the bladder, his health had been growing steadily worse during the past few months.

When he went, Germany faced another grave crisis.

11-YEAR LAD DROWNS

GALT, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP)—Sid Tory, 11, son of Joe Tory of the Gore lines of Beverly Township near Valens was drowned in a quarry swimming hole near there. The lad accompanying a farm hand to the bathing place last night was unable to swim and is believed to have got into deep water.

The body was recovered.

Thirteen Baby Band Members Are Reported—Series of Readings Given.

FENELLA, Aug. 2 (Examiner Correespondence) — The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Frank George with 28 members and visitors present.

Rev. L. W. Scott led the prayer. The scripture lesson was read by Miss Florence Macklin, the president and the devotional leaflet "His Resurrection" was read by Mrs. L. W. Scott.

The September meeting will be held on August 29 at the home of Mrs. George Montgomery with Mrs. F. Talling as program leader. The Baby Band secretary, Mrs. W. H. Sandercock reported thirteen baby band members. The egg donation collection was taken up. Mrs. F. Talling tendered a vote of thanks to the hostess.

Mrs. N. C. Leach was in charge of the program, reading Mrs. Brown's Life Story by Mrs. George Montgomery. A series of leaflets on "Holiday time with the missionaries" were read by the following ladies: "Africa," by Mrs. H. Macklin; "China," Mrs. W. H. Sandercock; "India," Mrs. Roy Smith; "The Homeland," Mrs. John Cowling; "Korea," Mrs. C. W. Macklin; "Trinidad," by Mrs. F. Down, also by Miss F. Macklin, a reading "What is Success," by Mrs. F. Talling.

The meeting was concluded with prayer by Rev. L. W. Scott, after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

TOO LITTLE EVIDENCE

FORT ERIE, Ont., Aug. 1 (C.P.)—After a number of remands Police Magistrate William T. Malkin has quashed charges of violating the Liquor Control Act preferred against Mrs. Mary Compton, hotel proprietress here. The charges followed a raid by police six weeks ago, when a quantity of liquor was seized. Magistrate Malkin ruled there was insufficient evidence to convict.

THE MOON

BY H. W. L. MAHOOD

Knowledge of the Moon now available does not satisfy the Astronomers. As eagerly as if nothing were known about this companion of the Earth, men and women in various parts of the Earth are studying with the aid of powerful telescopes its mountains and craters and plains.

Another rare feature of the Moon are the rills and the rays. The rills are rents in the surface. They are from ten to three hundred miles in length. How would you like to stand on the edge of one of these fissures and look down a quarter of a mile to the bottom? Then take a look out across the width of two miles. The guess is made you would not go near enough to look down and across. Nerve and stomach are needed to do that.

These fissures run in straight lines right across walled plains and through thick and lofty craters. They stop for nothing. These chasms must have a purpose. What Geologist or Astronomer can throw light on the design? Every phenomenon in nature has its definite purpose. Long search is needed to fathom some of the most conspicuous objects in nature. How the fissures were made is another and simpler query. A suggestion is here ventured. The surface of the Moon was once very much hotter than it is now. As it cooled the surface split. The cooling contracted the surface. The contracted surface split to make room for its interior. Pressure from beneath began with the contraction. The rent, or fissure, or chasm was the result of the pressure, and the cooling'

The Serpentine Valley to which the name of Herodotus has been given, is the most famous of these chasms. A fissure crossing the floor of Patavius rivals the Serpentine Valley. Look for these deep chasms where dark spots in the midst of the illuminated can be detected.

MILLBROOK W.A. TO PROVIDE TEA

Plans Are Made for Black Knights' Celebration on August 11th.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 2.— (Examiner Correspondence). —Mrs. Percy Stinson extended the hospitality of her home for the meeting on Wednesday afternoon of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's church, over thirty being in attendance. The president, Mrs. F. J. Smith, took the chair, the gathering taking place on the shaded lawn, with its lovely flower borders, on the east side of the hospitable homestead.

Business was chiefly concerned with the dinner and tea which the Association is serving on Saturday August 11, on the occasion of the Black Knights celebration to which other preceptorys over a wide area have been invited. Canvassers were appointed to secure the food supplies required, the president emphasizing the fact that money is needed the special object in view being the shingling of the parsonage. Tables will be in charge of Mrs G. Fallis, Mrs. W. W. Kennedy, and Mrs. Ross Edmunds, each to secure her own helpers. Mrs. Burnham Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Edmunds will buy the meat, and Mrs. Freelove look to the making of the tea.

Mrs. G. E. Burnham reported on behalf of the parsonage committee that a new range has been installed new blinds bought for the downstairs front windows and new linoleum laid on the kitchen, study, and halls. Two window shades and a rug for one of the bedrooms were bought from Mrs. Jones before her leaving. This amounted to somewhat formidable bills, which, on motion, were ordered paid the need for replenishing the treasury being again stressed. The treasurer, Mrs. J. McKnight, reported total receipts from the garden party of $88.70, expenses $36.61, leaving a balance of $60.09 talent money of $4.50 from afternoon tea and $1.00 from Mrs. Burnham, was also reported, and the secretary was asked to write a note of thanks to Mrs. O'Brien for the use of her home and grounds for the annual lawn social.

On request, Mrs. Fallis, Mrs. Thornton, and Miss G. Spence were granted the use of dishes from the church for use at the Sunday School picnic on August 2, and Mrs. E. Mitchell thanked for thoroughly cleaning the large pitchers, all tea stains having been removed and the containers looking like new.

A number of extra guests arrived for the tea served on the lawn following the business session, Mrs. Stinson and Mrs. T. Douglas being point hostesses, a number of others assisting with the service. The social hour proved so enjoyable that guests lingered for some time intrigued with the pleasure of the occasion. Quite a number afterward visited the lovely grounds of W. A. Wainman next door to Reeve Stinson's where artistic landscape gardening has developed what had been an ordinary back yard into a thing of beauty with central fountain playing, flower beds in full bloom, and of peculiar interest, valuable pheasants of brilliant plumage, and peacocks, with other birds, adding to its attractiveness. If arrangements can be made with the Peterborough Fair Board, Mr. Wainman, formerly of that city, will have a demonstration at the Industrial Exhibition this year of what can be done in the way of making a real beauty spot out of the back yard of any residence.

MOTOR BOAT HITS A SEDAN IN A DESERT

An Arizona Story That Makes News—Exasperating Climax to "a Lovely Tour."

The unusual experience of having his new Studebaker Commander sedan crashed by a motor boat in the middle of the Arizona desert is a story that is providing Hobart Bosworth, famous throughout the movie world, with delightful dinner conversation in Hollywood these days. It's one of those "man bites dog" stories that are so dear to the heart of a newspaper man and, therefore, takes a lawful place in the province of the journalist.

Hobart Bosworth and his wife recently took delivery of the Commander sedan at the Studebaker factory in South Bend, Ind., U.S.A. They started westward, after officially naming the car "Galvria" and christening it in the Indiana city. They were going to tour to their Hollywood home in leisure and keep account of the gasoline consumed as a favor to Studebaker executives.

In Middle of Desert

"We were having a lovely tour," writes Mr. Bosworth. "The last thing we expected was a crack-up with a motor boat—but that's just what happened and right in the middle of the Arizona desert, too. The motor boat, half filled with water, was on a trailer and when the crash came, the car drawing the trailer stopped suddenly. The motor boat then catapulted over the other car and landed on our radiator.

"We had been going three miles an hour. The other car was going between 45 and 50 miles per hour. There was a terrific crash and the window beside my wife was shattered to fragments, none of which left the frame because of the safety glass and my wife was uninjured. The body of the car was not even dented, although the right forewheel was smashed and our car was pushed to the edge of the deep ditch. It was an unavoidable accident, but Mrs. Bosworth and I are thanking Studebaker for a steel body that perhaps saved our lives."

Mr. Bosworth kept faithful record of 2,924 miles of touring with the new Commander and the amount of fuel consumed. He averaged 18.94 miles per U.S. gallon of gasoline over all sorts of roads in all sorts of altitudes on the trip, which he considered remarkable.

Arrangements Made Derry Day Program

MILLBROOK, Aug. 2.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Millbrook Royal Black Preceptory, No. 945, held a special meeting on Monday at 8 p.m., in the L.O.L. Hall, to arrange for the "Derry Day" celebration to be held locally on Saturday, August 11.

Worshipful Sir Knight, Brother Jas. H. Paul, took the chair, and it was decided to have the Nassau Flute Band No. 4, of Toronto, for the celebration, and also the Durham Regimental Band, from Orono; incidentally it might be noted that this will be the first occasion when the Nassau Flute Band has played outside of Toronto; it took first prize at the Twelfth of July Orange Walk this year.

Preceptorys are expected from Peterborough, Lindsay, Belleville, Pontypool, Omemee, Cobourg, Port Hope, Blackstock, and a number of other points.

The parade will start from the school grounds at 1.30 p.m. and proceed to the agricultural park where speakers will be heard, and a good sports' program provided. Dinner and tea will be served in the Armouries by the Woman's Association of St. Andrew's church.

The day will end with a dance in the Armouries beginning at 8 p.m., with a good orchestra in attendance; the dance must close before midnight owing to the celebration being on a Saturday, the actual date of the raising of the seige of Derry being August 12, which falls this year on Sunday.

One encouraging feature of the fruit and vegetable crops of this year in Canada is that insect pests generally are well under control. The work of the Dominion and Provincial governments is bearing fruit.

PERNICIOUS ANAEMIA IS CURED BY THE FINDING BLOOD PARASITE

Lieutenant Bailey Ashford is Honored by Many Countries.

BROKEN IN BODY.

(By Robert Angus, Central Press Canadian Writer)

The blazing sun beat down on a small army hut in the Caribbean as a young medical officer, drenched in perspiration, sat with one eye glued to a portable microscope. Hordes of refugees were fleeing before the hurricane which had swept Porto Rico. Pallid men, women and children were steadily dying of anaemia, of which no cause of cure was known.

After the youthful medico had taken his eye away from the microscope, he knew that he had discovered the cause of the indolence prevalent throughout these latitudes, in Mexico and the Spanish Main. When Lieut. Bailey Ashford arose from his chair, he had proven the cause of pernicious, progressive anaemia. It was caused by a parasite in the blood!

At his primitive clinic in the tropics, young Ashford treated thousands who recovered from the scourge of generations. International recognition followed, and, to-day, the whole medical world is acclaiming Ashford for his recognition of tropical sprue, another disease which has baffled research for years. And so we find this military medico completing his full circle. As a young man, he pioneered in laboratory research; now, as the established physician, he is successfully exploring new fields.

That his campaign against the dread sleeping sickness has been recognized in the British Empire as well as in the United States is indicated in the award by the British Government of the Cross of St. Michael and St. George. Egypt has given him the Grand Cordon of the Order of the Nile.

The pattern of this noted medico's life is as vivid and exciting as any action-novel. In "A Soldier in Science" (McClelland and Stewart, Toronto), he tells his tale with fearlessness, mingled with modesty regarding his achievements. Just after the United States declared war on Spain, Ashford graduated, from medical school. He was one of the lucky nine applicants for one hundred and forty-one vacancies in the Army Medical Corps. Sailing into Santiago, he saw the smoking wrecks of the Spanish cruisers.

At San German, the troops were in an exposed position. A cavalryman was Ashford's first patient. Without surgical equipment, Ashford used his braces as a tourniquet. A horse was shot under him. After the war, he reported that the country people were "a pale, dropsical, unhealty-looking class, evidently suffering from a lack of meat, although there must be something else not yet understood."

Stumbling in from the mountains the wax-like spectres huddled in the mud and rain. Typhoid swelled their numbers. Rice, beans and codfish were fed the refugees. They continued to die of anaemia! Not until four years later was Ashford to discover a cause and treatment. The high mortality was lowered when he discovered that this was not a nutritional but a parasitic disease!

In view of welfare work and hospitalisation in Canada, together with projected health insurance measure, Ashford's claim is significant. He says: "Until we immunize public health against politics, we shall never succeed in giving people their free rights of citizenship."

In Havana, he met Banting, newly-knighted Canadian discoverer of insulin. During the grand ball, Banting and Ashford sneaked toward the shore to rehearse their addresses of the following day.

"Banting read it just like a boy who has been told to write a composition and is afraid it isn't good enough," said Ashford.

Banting confessed that, after graduation, he made two dollars the first month of general practice. The second month, he made eight dollars. Discourage, he was about to give up medicine when he was offered a laboratory job by the University of Toronto.

To-day, Col. Ashford is broken in body, but not in spirit. In his wheel-chair, the noted surgeon is rounding out his life in the successful exploring of new fields.

MEN BEST BOSSES DECLARES EXPERT

Quarrels Over Financing Found to Have Wrecked Many Homes.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(C.P.) — Marriages in which the wife is boss go on the rocks more often than those in which the male dominates. Dr. Paul Popence, director of the Institute of Family Relations, reported recently after a survey of 3,000 married couples.

"Partnerships in which the husband and wife are on a 50-50 basis have the best chances," Dr. Popence said. "They turn out well 87 per cent. of the time—but they are an almost hopelessly unrealizeable ideal, even for most college people."

Of the man-bossed marriages studied, 81 per cent. were reported successful. The felicity score fell to 47 per cent. in cases where Madame was the head of the house.

An interesting sidelight on the research conducted under the professor's direction was that quarreling over family finances was a universal complaint in homes from which happiness was found to have fled.

WOMAN TRAVELS 300,000 MILES

German Journalist Reaches Montreal in Course of Globe-girdling Jaunt.

LOST DAY AND A HALF.

MONTREAL, Aug. 2.— (C.P.)— Few women can boast of the variety of experiences that has fallen to the lot of Lily S. Krug during the past four years.

Mrs. Krug, a German journalist and advertising writer, arrived in Montreal recently, having worked her way for more than 300,000 miles and visited most of the great cities of the world. After the death of her husband Heinrich Werner Krug, well-known German caricaturist, she started on her travels with little but her courage, intelligence and personality to see her through. And she has managed somehow to keep going, though it has not always been easy.

Versatility, Mrs. Krug considers, is one of the essentials if one is to be successful. "If I had insisted on taking only journalistic work to do in the places I have visited," she said, "I should never have been able to get along. I have always taken what work I could get, whether it was the work I was accustomed to doing or not."

In addition to writing advertising copy for a steamship company in return for her passage to South America, and writing articles for papers in Buenos Aires, Osaka and Bombay, Mrs. Krug has been a governess in Mexico and a "night-watchman" in a home for working girls in New York.

As her most horrible experience, Mrs. Krug told of the time when she was lost for a day and a half near the Great Wall of China. "It was the most terrible feeling I have ever had," she said. "Everything was snow and ice and desert—not a hut, a person, or a sign of life anywhere. At last I stumbled upon some tracks, and stayed in them, knowing they must lead somewhere. After a long time I was overtaken by a cargo train on its way to Peking and was given a lift, but by the time we reached the city the gates were closed for the night, and I had to sit outside all night."

In spite of some hardships, Mrs. Krug enjoyed her experiences, and was described by a local reporter who interviewed her as "a vivacious lady, as enthusiastic as a cub reporter on her first assignment."

A water color drawing, said to have been made by Queen Victoria, was sold recently in London for $2.50.

Most Daring Act In The World

MABEL STARK, WORLD FAMOUS TRAINER

In the most thrilling and breath-taking wild animal display in history, Mabel Stark, the world's greatest wild animal trainer, is again electrifying, in person, the vast audiences of the Great Al G. Barnes Circus.

Miss Stark is the most fearless woman of the age. The sight of her entering the great circular all-steel arena with a score of wild and ferocious tigers—fourteen tons of jungle fury, with only a whip and chair in hand to make the brutes work at her command, is a thrill never before offered in Canada.

She has experienced many narrow escapes from death, yet her greatest delight lies, it seems, in training newly imported beasts direct from the jungle, because they are more ferocious and treacherous. Over two-thirds of the animals used by Miss Stark this season are new arrivals from Africa and India.

Scores of thrilling acts will be found on the colossal program of this famous circus coming to Peterborough, Wednesday, August 8, and among them, the great "Poodles" Hanneford, the riding clown, and the Imperial Clarkonian trope of amazing aerialists. All together, over 200 acts, displays, and novelty numbers go to make the gigantic program.

HINDENBURG'S FRIEND DIES.

BERLIN, Aug. 1—(A. P.) —Major-General Ludwig Koenigk, retired, a class mate of President Von Hindenburg in the Lichterfelde cadet trading school from 1863 until 1866, died to-day in Berlin.

He was 87, one year older than Von Hindenburg, now near death. Both left the military school as second lieutenants.

SAFETY SPEED COMFORT SERVICE

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

There is No Substitute for Safety . . . . . at any Price.

It is easy to take for granted the safety of railway travel—easy, amid the excitement and pleasure of a holiday trip or in the commonplace run to and from business, to be oblivious to all the care and labour which go to make railway journeys the safest means of transportation in the world. Yet it should receive more than a passing thought from the travelling public, for it represents what is perhaps the greatest achievement of railroading.

To ensure the maximum of safety the highest demands are made on personnel and material. All operating employees must be in perfect physical condition and strict medical examinations are regularly made. They must further be skilled in their various occupations. In many passenger train crews will be found men who have spent more than twenty years in faithful service and have thereby acquired knowledge, resource, and dependability. The lessons which experience has taught are embodied in rules with which each operating employee is familiar, and in regard to which implicit obedience is imperative.

Behind all this, however, is a more important factor—the railwaymen themselves. No system, however carefully thought out, can be better than the men whose duty it is to administer it. Because of this, Canadian National employees are pledged, as their first consideration in all circumstances, to the strict observance of all rules and the prompt and faithful performance of all actions which make for safety of life and property.

This safety of railway travel is, therefore, no casual matter. It is the result of the adoption of the most rigorous standards and the application at all seasons and times of one principle—that nothing will be tolerated in railway operation which is not safe . . . . no shortcuts . . . . no experiments . . . . no substitutes.

At this season of the year when travel in all its forms is at its peak and highways are crowded, this matter of safety is of unusual importance. It should receive the serious consideration of the traveller, whether for long or short distances. Such consideration will show another and powerful reason for travelling by the C.N.R.

During 1933, of 9,434,812 passengers carried, not a single life was lost on the Canadian National Railways trains through collision, derailment, or failure of equipment.

U.S. CITIZEN FAILS TO APPEAR

Former President of Abitibi Can Not Be Forced to Come to Canada.

MAY GO TO NEW YORK.

TORONTO, August 2 (C.P.) — Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., to-day told the "Abitibi Deal" Royal Commission that disclosures at the probe into the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission's acquisition of Ontario Power Service Corporation assets might result in recovery by the province of sums of money.

Mr. Slaght, commission counsel, made this remark, on which he did not enlarge, after calling on the Commission to take steps to obtain evidence in New York of Alexander Smith, former president of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company and the Ontario Power Service Corporation.

Mr. Slaght called Mr. Smith, who failed to appear. The Royal Commission counsel explained he had subpoenaed the witness, but that the subpoena had no compulsion on a United States citizen.

He had been assured, he said, that Mr. Smith would be present, but presume he had changed his mind in favor of the suggestion his evidence be taken in New York. He emphasized Mr. Smith had expressed willingness to testify.

The Commissioners, Chief Justice F. R. Latchford and Hon. Robert Smith, took the suggestion under advisement and will render their decision later. Mr. Slaght assured them the evidence in possession of Mr. Smith was relevant to the inquiry into the acquisition by the Hydro Commission of Ontario Power Service Corporation assets.

The question also arose as to means that should be afforded counsel for various parties at the probe to cross-examine Mr. Smith should they so desire.

Alexander Smith, former president of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company and of the Ontario Power Service Corporation, was called but failed to respond.

Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., commission counsel, said Smith had been subpoenaed in New York, but had indicated a preference to have his evidence taken in New York. Mr. Slaght said Smith had evidence relevant to the inquiry and asked steps be taken to obtain his evidence.

A long discussion followed as to whether the commission should adjourn to New York.

Private Car Necessary

W. N. Tilley, K.C., counsel for members of the former government, said he believed opportunity should be given to counsel for cross examination of Smith. He suggested such a venture would involve considerable expense and that a "private car" might be necessary to transport the commission.

Mr. Justice Latchford remarked: "The era of private cars is about ended."

Mr. Tilley maintained the probe was an inquiry resulting from charges made during the recen:

Mr. Justice Latchford disagreed

Mr. Justitce Latchford disagreed on the ground the probe was into a business matter.

Mr. Slaght declared the inquiry was not political but was designed to reveal conditions under which the O. P. S. C. bond deal was concluded. He said facts revealed at the probe might result subsequently in substantial recovery of money for Ontario.

Mr. Meighen suddenly filed as an exhibit, a Dominion Order-in-council appointing Sir Lyman P. Duff royal commissioner to inquiry into allegations against him at his request. He said he took the step to show that move was made before any commisson was appointed in Ontario.

Mr. Slaght held the exhibit was irrelevant and confusing and moved to have it rejected.

Mr. Justice Latchford, however, said it was admissable "as a fact."

Mr. Meighen sought to introduce an indemnity agreement guaranteeing the Hydro Commission against any loss that might arise from its bond deal with the O. P. S. C.

J. C. M. McRuer, K. C., Hydro counsel, undertook to produce the document from Hydro or Government files.

Mr. Meighen said the idemnity also guaranteed the Hydro Commissioners against any loss suffered through their management of the O. P. S. C. property as trustees for the Government.

Mr. McRuer suggested to Mr. Meighen that the day he went to see former Attorney-General W. H. Price and other cabinet ministers about the O. P. S. C. situation. Mr Meighen had been visited by Alexander Smith, J. H. Gundy and E. G. Long, K. C.

The Senator said he could not remember.

Mr. Slaght said the commission's evidence was over except for examination of Alexander Smith.

Tilley Silent on List

Mr. Tilley declined to reveal whom he would call as witnesses. He referred back to the first day's proceedings in which permission was given to insert an exhibit while the commissioners were not present.

Mr. Tilley held an effort had been made to impound documents to prevent any other commission inquiry. He objected to inclusion in exhibit 2 of any documents "to be identified later." He said additions and identification were to be made later.

He asked for immediate identification of all documents in the exhibit or that the exhibit be left in charge of the registrar instead of being allowed to go back and forth between the Hydro Commission office and the court.

Mr. McRuer said he would ascertain if any other documents that could be added to the fyle of correspondence going back to 1916 relation to water power. He insisted nothing had been added to or subtracted from the exhibit.

Mr. Tilley called Roy Taylor, librarian and clerk for the Hydro Commission, and asked him for a list of contents of exhibit 2 which he said was a fyle of correspondence relating to the Abitibi deal between the Hydro Commission and the Government.

Mr. Tilley revealed he wished to see the fyle of I. B. Lucas, former Hydro solicitor. Mr. McRuer said the fyle had been brought to the inquiry every day.

The fyle could not be found.

Mr. Taylor finally said he had forgotten it and undertook to produce it.

Mr. Tilley asked Mr. Taylor to produce numerous memoranda and other documents supplementary to those already fyled as exhibits.

Weddings

JONES—HERRIOT.

HASTINGS, Aug. 3.— (Examiner Correspondence.)— A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Tuesday, July 31st, at 2.30 p.m., at the home of the bride's mother, when Isabelle Anne, only daughter of Mrs. and the late George Herriot, of Percy township, was united in marriage to Percy James Jones, son of Mr. John Jones of Campbellford, by the Rev. Mr. Duncan of Warkworth.

The ceremony took place in the living room under a prettily decorated arch of evergreens, arranged with white streamers and a wedding bell which made a lovely setting for the bridal party.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Flora Yule, the bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Benjamin Moir, of Campbellford, was becomingly attired in white chiffon organdie frock, white hat, gloves and shoes to match and carried a bouquet of snapdragon and baby's breath. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Mary Herriot of Percy, daintily attired in yellow printed organdie with accessories to match, and carried an arm bouquet of calliposis and baby's breath.

The groom was supported by his brother, Jack Jones.

Immediately after the ceremony a buffet lunch was served by four friends of the bride, Miss Irene Oliver, Miss Flora Yule, Mrs. Virgil Oliver and Mrs. G. Greenly.

The bride and groom later left by motor on a trip to Hamilton and Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a blue ensemble with white shoes and hat.

CLANCY—MASTERSON

The Church of the Sacred Heart was the scene of a very pretty wedding at eight o'clock yesterday morning, when Agnes Sara Masterson, youngest daughter of Mr. J. C. Masterson, became the bride of Mr. William Clancy, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Clancy of Otonabee. The brother of the bridegroom, the Rev. Dr. V. J. Masterson, officiated at the ceremony and the Nuptial Mass.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely frock of pink chiffon organdie, a large picture hat of white mohair trimmed with pink velvet ribbon, white slippers and white lace mittens. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Lorraine Masterson, sister of the bride, was gowned in blue organdie, with white hat, shoes and gloves, and bouquet of Premier roses.

Mr. Michael Clancy was best man.

Ushers were Mr. Leo Masterson and Mr. Michael Twomey.

Mr. J. Armstrong played the wedding music and Miss Minnie Allen sang an "Ave Maria", also singing, in duett with Miss Anna Johnson, a hymn, "Heart of Jesus, We are Grateful".

After the church ceremony, a wedding breakfast, attended by forty guests, was served at the home of the bride's father, where decorations were carried out in pink and white. The bride's cake centered the table, which was arranged attractively with flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Clancy left later for a honeymoon trip to Detroit, London and Toronto. On their return, they will live at 23 Park street north.

The bride's travelling outfit was an ensemble of white crepe, with white hat and accessories.

The young people received many gifts. The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a vanity set, to the bridesmaid a leather purse, and to the groomsman a leather billfold.

Minimum Measurements of Cruiser Canoe Required By American Canoe Association

Resulting from a dispute which arose at the Bewdley regatta yesterday afternoon, a request that The Examiner secure and publish the official minimum measurements of what may be termed a standard cruiser canoe as contrasted with a racing canoe has been made by a number of regatta competitors and followers.

The Canadian Canoe Association, interested only in racing craft, has no regulations concerning the measurements and design of a standard cruiser canoe, according to information secured from W. A. Richardson of the Peterborough Canoe Company. The regulation most widely accepted on the continent are those laid down by the American Canoe Association. They are as follows:

Minimum length....16 feet
Minimum beam ..20 inches
Minimum depth..12 inches
Minimum weight..60 pounds

The beam at the waterline with 150 pounds on board must be 86 per cent. of the extreme beam wherever found. For instance, if the extreme beam should be 30 inches, the waterline beam must be 86 per cent. of 30 inches—26.4 inches. The beam is measured outside the planking.

No set regulations have been followed at the various regattas in the Peterborough district and, in the efforts of the regatta committees to distinguish between legitimate cruiser type canoes and racing canoes, considerable confusion has resulted each year, Mr. Richardson said. He stated that, for a number of years, he has been urging the adoption of standard regulations by the Canadian Canoe Association. The solution of the local difficulties would be the formation of a Central Ontario Canoe Association and the adoption of its own set of regulations.

The dispute at Bewdley arose yesterday at the conclusion of the mixed tandem race. Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Caldwell of Wallace Point were declared winner over Drake and Madge Jopling of Chemong, in a close finish, and the decision aroused the ire of the spectators.

Protests that the canoe used by the Cardwells was of a racing type were made. Herb. Cardwell settled the matter temporarily by announcing, as president of the Rice Lake Aquatic Association, that any type of craft was eligible. It is understood, however, that an agreement to enforce certain restrictions at the remaining regattas in the Rice Lake Aquatic Association series was reached.

THIRD OF NAZIS DOOMED TO DIE OVER DOLLFUSS

Officer Admits Part in Death Raid But Denies High Treason.

OTTO ON WAY TO ITALY.

Chancellor Schusehnigg, Starhemberg Rumored About to Visit Mussolini.

(By Wade Werner, Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

VIENNA, Aug. 2 (AP)—Another member of the Nazi Putsch which brought death to Chancellor Dollfuss last week faced hanging before sundown to-day, when he went on trial by court-martial.

He is Paul Hudl, 41, former officer in the Austrian Army, twice wounded and five time decorated for bravery in the Great War.

Hudl admitted to the court that he had participated in the raid of the Chancellery, but pleaded not guilty of high treason.

Austria's Fascist government kept an attentive ear toward Fascist Italy to-day, but allowed no interruption of its campaign against Nazis.

Confirmation was lacking of reports Chancellor Schuschnigg and Vice Chancellor Ernst Von Starhemberg would visit Premier Mussolini, god-father of their rule, shortly.

(Dispatches from Rome quoted an official as saying nothing was known of such a conference. Likewise there was no confirmation of reports from London that Mussolini had called a meeting of powers in Rome to discuss Austria's situation.).

Nazi Hanged

Friederich Wurnig, a Nazi who killed a police commandant at the outbreak of the revolt, was hanged last night at Innsbruck, three hours after he was convicted.

The condemned man collapsed and was carried to the gallows. An alleged accomplice, Christian Meyer, was sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment.

Police denied reports Dr. Anton Rintelen, Minister of Rome, who was arrested after last Wednesday's Putsch, had "confessed" taking part in it.

Rintelen has insisted the Nazis used his name as "the next Chancellor" without his knowledge.

A dispatch from Brussels said there were persistent but unconfirmable reports that Archduke Otto, pretender to the Hapsburg throne, and his mother, former Empress Zita of Austria, have left for Italy.

Attaches of the household refused to make any statement.

From the Kaiser

DOORN, Netherlands, Aug. 2.—(AP) — Former Kaiser Wilhelm sent a telegram of sympathy today to Colonel Oskar Von Hindenburg, referring to his father, the late president of Germany, as the "immortal" hero of the Battle of Tannenberg.

The text of the former kaiser's message:

"The Kaiserin and I mourn with moved hearts, with you and the whole German people. A life richly blessed by the Lord has found its end. The Crown Prince will convey our last greetings and homage to the immortal hero of Tannenberg.

"Wilhelm R. I."

BRITAIN MOURNS VON HINDENBURG

King Sends Condolences—Sir Eric Phipps to Represent Nation at Funeral.

MACDONALD LAUDS.

LONDON, Aug. 2. —(AP)— Sincere grief and considerable apprehension over the political future of Germany was caused in British government circles today by the death of President Paul Von Hindenburg.

Even during the war years when the so-called "Hindenburg pillboxes" on the Belgian coast menaced England, all Britons held the German military leader in great respect.

Since then he has been regarded as the chief stabilizing force for both Republican and Hitlerite Germany.

The King was aboard the Royal Yacht at Cowes when he was notified of the passing of Von Hindenburg. A message of sympathy from His Majesty was sent to Colonel Oskar Von Hindenburg, the president's son. Official sources explained that this was because there had been no official notification here that Hitler had assumed the presidency.

The text of the message His Majesty sent to Colonel Hindenburg:

"I have learned with profound regret of the death of your distinguished father, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, president of the Reich, whose high qualities both as a soldier and a statesman will ensure him an honored place in the annals of your country.

"I offer you my sincere condolences in the great loss which you have sustained.

"George R. I."

Prince Will Not Go

Well-informed circles said it was most unlikely that the Prince of Wales would go to the funeral, as had been first believed, as it will not be a royal funeral.

"There is really no precedent to determine who should constitute the British delegation owing to the usual position Von Hindenburg held," an official said.

However, the Foreign Office settled the matter by announcing that Sir Eric Phipps, ambassador to Germany who is in England on leave, would represent the king at the funeral.

It was believed this lead by England would decide the question of representation at the funeral for all allied countries and that all would be represented merely by the diplomatic corps.

Because of the absence of Sir John Simon Foreign Secretary, J. P. Monck called at the German embassy to express condolences on behalf of the Foreign Office.

MacDonald Praises

PICTOU N. S., Aug. 2.—(CP)—Tribute to the late President Paul Von Hindenburg as a "great figure both in war and in peace" came today from the Prime Minister of Great Britain, now holidaying in Nova Scotia.

"The president's life has been known for some time to hang upon a thread, but I heard the news of his death this morning with profound regret," said Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald.

He was a great figure both in war and in peace," continued the prime minister. "He had been a stabilizing influence in Germany, and his death must have no little effect on the present position of that country."

For his heroic conduct in the World war, when he served as a private, the Bishop of Evreux has been awarded the Medaille Militaire, the highest distinction awarded a soldier in France.

REAL IRON MAN, PRESS MEMORY OF HINDENBURG

Interviewer Recalls Warrior's Bearing at Stiling 1925 Conference.

OPPOSED TO WAR.

"Just an Old Man Who Has Tasted Conflict in Bitterest Dregs," Reporters Told.

(By Louis P. Lochner, Associated Press Foreign Staff)

BERLIN, Aug. 2 (AP)—On Sunday morning, April 19, 1925, a week before the elections for a successor to Germany's first President, Fritz Ebert, I arrived at Hanover to report a conference the Presidential candidate, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, wished to have with the German press and foreign correspondents.

Prompt at 11 a.m., a huge impressive figure, the then septuagenarian, appeared in a Field Marshal's uniform, baton in hand. It was a first impression that I shall never forget.

The bronzed, impassive face, the sturdy unbent shoulders, the immaculate, excellently-fitting uniform with highest decorations by German and other potentates adorning it, the exact motions of his arms as he raised the baton from time to time in salute—all this was worth standing in a hot sun to see.

Immovable 4 Hours

But what amazed me most was the Field Marshal's ability to stand as though rooted to the spot for more than four hours. I confess to having been near fainting more than once during that time, and I could not but notice that his aides changed from time to time, the Field Marshal seeming not to mind the heat in the least.

In the evening at a press conference, the same picture:

The suffocating heat of a hall in a downtown club into which more representatives of the press had crowded than the campaign management had bargained for, made the strongest wince and the weakest leave the hall prematurely.

Von Hindenburg, however, now dressed in a sombre Prince Albert coat, and preceding his rather fatherly talk with a deep courtly bow, seemed unaffected by the heat and stuffy atmosphere.

The campaign address which he read from a manuscript, interesting though it was for its military curtness, did not impress me as much as did the short, impromptu talk to foreign correspondents in a small, familiar group afterwards.

Opponent of War

"You think of me as a bloodthirsty warrior perhaps," I remember him saying. "But I tell you I am an old man who has tasted war in its bitter dregs. Nobody is more opposed to war than I, for nobody knows it better than I."

Once again after that I had the privilege of meeting Von Hindenburg personally. In connection with the Olympic Congress held in Berlin, a garden party was given for the President, in May, 1930.

For every person invited he had an apt phrase. After all the guests had been assembled and placed at round tables in the beautiful gardens of the Presidential Palace, the President took turns sitting for a short time at several tables and saying touchingly sweet things to the ladies.

As the first of the guests was read to depart he again stood at the exit, erect and imposing, to dismiss each man with a firm hand grasp and each lady with courtly bow and kiss of the hand.

VERIGIN UPHELD BY DOUKHOBORS

Unanimously Endorsed as Leader—Urges Followers to Respect Law.

NOT LEAVING CANADA.

VERIGIN, Sask., Aug. 2. (CP)—Doukhobors throughout Canada to-day heard a call to widen their cultural activities. At the second all-Canada convention of the named Doukhobors of Canada, Peter Verigin, leader of the sect, urged members to stand by the principles of their order and respect the laws of the land of their adoption.

The Doukhobor chieftain characterized current communal difficulties as a spur to greater effort and blended a tone of optimism in his address to the more than 200 delegates assembled. He deplored the action of radical elements which, he said, were responsible for the burning of schools, and the origin of nude parades.

The spiritual leader was unanimously endorsed as leader of the organization at the close of a convention here Wednesday night.

Mr. Verigin characterized reports that he intended leaving Canada or removing any of his people to another land as falsehoods. Finances of the community, he said, were in good shape.

Recent action of the Federal Government in disenfranchising all Doukhobors was fully discussed and delegates asked to look upon the action with thanks rather than an affront.

"By this act," J. P. Shukin, vice-president of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, stated, "the Canadian Government has exempted us for all time from military service."

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

In summertime when fruits are ripe and delicious to serve, the homemaker finds her table linen needs more care in removal of stains than during the rest of the year. But she need not be apprehensive lest the pristine whiteness be harmed, for immediate care will in almost all cases, prevent permanent damage.

* * * * * * *

When fruit stains are still damp from the juices, they will respond well to the simple treatment of boiling water poured through them. If there is no actually boiling water at hand use very warm water, and it will serve the purpose almost if not equally as well.

* * * * * * *

When the stains are not taken out immediately they should have the identical treatment, only it will require longer to remove them. They may have to soak a little while, and be rubbed some. But avoid using soap lest you set the color, not always in the same hue as before applying the soap, but just as persistent in tone. The alkali in soap acts like salt in setting color. It is true, not all fruit stains are harmed by laundering with soap and water, but it is unwise to use the soap because it may prove detrimental.

* * * * * * *

Fruits of strong acid juices such as lemon, and other citrus fruits are likely to make spots rather than stains. That is they take out color instead of putting it on. Sometimes the color will return if the juice is taken out immediately by the warm water treatment before the acid takes effect. Colors sometimes can be restored by dropping a solution of oxalic acid on the spot, and rinsing it out almost as soon as it attacks the textile. This treatment can be repeated, always following the acid drops with plentiful rinsing in clear water. Fortunately white linen is not affected by removal of color by citrus fruit juices, although there may be a slight discoloration of yellow before the material is laundered. This is true of all white cotton or linen goods.

* * * * * * *

Turkey red tablecloths and napkins used to be popular for fruit courses some time ago, since this peculiar red is so dominant a color and so absolutely fadeless that it seemed as if almost nothing harmed it. Today this gay red is considered a bit garish for table use and fruit stain treatment is more needed than once it was.

500 Years of History Inspire New Modes

PARIS, Aug. 2. —(A. P.). — Five hundreds years of history running from the French directoire of the 1870's back through the renaissance and middle ages inspired the new evening mode launched to-day by a Paris designer before a throng of buyers.

The glamorous gowns of the directoire were recalled by evening frocks which were an outstanding feature of the collection.

More than 12 yards of material was required to fashion the shimmering satin gowns designed with low necks and very full floor length skirts.

The stiffness of the satin, which was of almost slipper weight, added an illusion recalling the beauties of Napoleon's day.

The evening wraps drew their inspiration from the renaissance and middle ages. One fitted floor length black velvet wrap had sleeves touching the ground, cuffed with burnished gold sequins.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

BRILLIANT DEFENCE.

A famous player, Mr. Joseph J. Cohen, of Winnipeg, Man., sat South and defeated an unbeatable contract, by early anticipating that no ordinary defence would answer, and making a brilliant play before the declarer would detect it as an only hope. Players learn slowly how important an element proper timing is. Frequently the detection of what to do is no more important than is knowing when to do it.

	♠4 2 ♥8 ♦10 9 8 7 3 ♣K J 9 8 7
♠K J 8 7 6 ♥Q 10 6 5 2 ♦Q 2 ♣A	W. E. N. S.	♠10 9 5 ♥A J 4 3 ♦A J 6 5 ♣Q 10
	♠A Q 3 ♥K 9 7 ♦K 4 ♣6 5 4 3 2

Bidding went: West, 1-spade, on his two-suiter; East, 2-no trumps; West, 3-hearts; East, 4-hearts, ending bidding.

The opening lead was the 10 of diamonds. If South held the missing K he would make it, but West was assured his contract in case one of the three important missing honors (K of diamonds, K of hearts, or Q of spades) lay right for him. The missing ace of spades must win, regardless of where it was held. The declarer let the 10 run around past the ace of diamonds. South won with the K, as expected he would.

South saw that West must hold nearly every important honor not visible in dummy or his own hand. He had won the first trick, and he would win a trump trick with his K. Also, his ace of spades was good for a trick. North could not be expected to win a trick. The bidding showed plainly that West held either a 6-5 or 5-5 hand in the two major suits. He could hardly have made an opening bid with any losers in clubs. Game was lost unless a ruse would deceive the declarer, and deceive him before he discovered that South held the missing K of hearts.

South led off his ace of spades, followed by the 3, as if he held no more, and sought an immediate ruff, in case North held the missing Q of that suit, and was allowed to win a trick with it before trumps were pulled.

Who wouldn't fall for the trick play, made on the second lead? West put up his K of spades, to win that third trick. If North held the missing K of trumps game was assured. In case South held the missing K the contract would be defeated a trick (losing 2 spade tricks, 1 heart trick and 1 diamond trick), but that was better than going down 2 tricks, in case South was allowed to obtain an immediate ruff of spades. When he led and finessed a trump, South's K won, then he led his Q of spades, putting the contract down a trick.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 2.—(C.P.) — Twelve prisoners were cutting weeds when one of them struck a beehive. Everyone, including the guards, ducked for safety as the bees vented their spite on a negro.

The prisoner put so much distance between himself and the bees so quickly that he hasn't been found since.

PLAN TO PLACE BETTER BUSES

without a single claim being made against them by insurance companies. In other words they hold a "no accident" record which is shortly to be recognized by the National Safety Council by presentation of medals to each of the company's drivers. Arrangements are being made, and it is hoped that Mayor Roland Denne will officiate at the presentation of awards.

In the same period the company has paid out $25,000 in insurance premiums for the protection of themselves and the travelling public.

A Proud Record

"Peterborough should be proud of such a record," Mr. Mitchell believed. "It is a record which I think is unequalled anywhere in America."

Commenting on the fact that the revenue of the company has shown a big drop in its local operations of recent years, Mr. Mitchell emphasized the point that he is taking a chance on recuperating those losses by bringing the local service up-to-date.

"We cannot do it," he acknowledged, "without the support and co-operation of the travelling public. And all we asked is for the measure of support from the public to which we think we are justly entitled. We realize the old buses have been a disgrace to Peterborough, but in remedying any defects we feel we are entitled to some consideration. If Peterborough had a municipally owned bus service, as so many other cities have, they would be operating at a huge deficit. You can make that statement without any fear of contradiction," he told a reporter.

Acknowledges Co-operation

"I want to say this about the Mayor and Council," Mr. Mitchell added, "that they have co-operated with us in a remarkable degree, and have helped us considerably to keep operating during a very difficult period."

Then expressing his confidence in the future of this city, Mr. Mitchell, who is a former Mayor of Windsor, remarked: "Peterborough is coming back faster than any town I know of in Ontario. That is not just talk. It is shown by your tax roll figures. Peterborough has been fortunate in having someone with foresight enough to encourage diversified industries here. Diversified industries have been your salvation through the years of depression."

Daily Mileage, 906

Other interesting facts provided by Laurie Mitchell, the local manager, regarding operation, disclosed that the average daily mileage for the fleet in service is 906 miles, with an average daily mileage per bus of 187 miles. Steady employment the year round is given to fourteen hands.

With an average daily consumption of 115 gallons of gasoline, the company contributes 40 per cent of the cost of gasoline to the provincial treasury in taxation. The annual cost for insurance and gasoline tax approximates $6,500 which has to be met before there is a nickle taken in profit.

Very little damage is reported to apples in Quebec and insects are under control in commercial producing areas. Commercial production is forecast as 162,000 barrels as compared with 306,500 in 1933.

FIRE FIGHTERS IN B.C. GAIN CONTROL OF BUSH FIRES

NELSON, B.C., Aug. 2 (CP) — Firefighters took advantage of a third day of calm and cool weather to-day to gain control of a score of forest fires which had raged since Sunday in the Kootenay and boundary districts of Southern British Columbia.

The big blaze in the Sheep Creek mining district, where the Emerald Mine Camp had been destroyed and other mine properties threatened, was reported safely held between fireguards. Another large fire on Fourth of July Creek was also being held by guards without further property damage, and no new fires were reported in the district.

TIGERS JUMP YANKS IN HARRIDGE CHECKER MIXUP

GIANTS THREATEN HOME RUN REIGN OF YANKS-ATHLETICS WITH 96 SO FAR THIS YEAR

Ott Collects 25th-26th Circuits to Aid in Terry's Double Win Over Braves.

CARDS BLANK CUBS.

Tigers Outslug Indians to Regain Top While Yankees Bow to Red Sox.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York Giants, who were accused of being "hitless wonders, of winning the world's championship with nothing but the strong arms of four pitchers and even of talking their way to the title last season have fashioned a reply with their bats this season.

Bill Terry's reputedly weak-hitting team has turned into an aggregation of home run hitters, collecting 96 so far to threaten the reigns of the Athletics and Yankees as kings of the circuit swat.

Mel Ott, youthful leader of the batting brigade, slammed his 25th and 26th homers yesterday to tighten his grip on the National League lead and to help his club strengthen its position at the top of the standing with a double victory over the Braves. In addition to his pair of homers, Ott hit a triple, two doubles and a single and sent home seven of the 21 runs the Giants scored. The scores were 11-2 and 10-3.

Johnny Salveson, making his first start since his return from Montreal, and Carl Hubbell shared the pitching burden of the opener while Hal Schumacher, this year's leader of the pitching "Big Four" rang up his 16th triumph in the afterpiece, contributing a homer to his own cause.

Cards Blank Cubs

The double triumph increased New York's lead to four full games as the third-place Cardinals, with Paul Dean on the hill, bumped off the second-place Cubs 4-0. The younger Dean pitched five-hit ball to beat Jim Weaver when the big fellow cracked in the eighth and gave up a walk, four singles and a wild pitch for all the St. Louis runs.

The almost daily exchange of first and second places in the American League by the Yankees and Tigers took place on schedule as Detroit walloped Cleveland Indians 10-7 in a free swinging contest which produced 31 hits while the Red Sox, with former Yankees in the starring roles, downed the New York Club, 7-4.

After piling up an 8-2 lead in six frames the Tigers had to call on Schoolboy Rowe to get the last couple of Indians out when Luke Hamlin and Red Phillips both weakened. Hal Trosky, Indian first sacker, was knocked out in the eighth by Goose Goslin's hit but was able to continue, Umpire Brick Owens was less lucky and had to retire when struck on the foot by a foul tip.

Gordon (Dusty) Rhodes, one-time Yankees pitcher, hurled a tight game against his former club while Bill Werber and Lyn Lary led the assault on bespectacled Johnny Broaca.

14 For Hafey

Down in the second division most of the excitement came from the Reds, who spotted Pittsburgh's Pirates a three run lead then won 7-6 on Chick Hafey's 14th homer plus a four-run rally in the seventh, and by the Senators, who battered out an 11-7 decision over the Athletics in a slugfest which produced five circuit blows, two by Doc Cramer of the A's.

The cellar dwelling White Sox took both ends of a bargain bill from St. Louis 10-6 and 4-2 to drop the lodgers into sixth place behind Washington. They had to go 10 innings to win the second clash with Zeke Bonura's 23rd homer. Brooklyn's Dodgers belted out an 8-4 decision over the Phillies with 11 well-placed hits off Pidgety Phil Collins.

ELECTRICS MUST WIN TO-NIGHT'S E.P.L. TILT

Cogs and C.G.E. clash in their fourth E.P.L. playoff game tomorrow (Friday) evening at six in the Exhibition Grounds. It will be Cogs' home game. They have captured all three tilts so far and by a win tomorrow will take the title and the Tip Top Tailors' trophy. The winner of this series meets the Lakeshore League champion within two weeks. Friday's game should be a good one as C.G.E. will be fighting to keep from being eliminated, while Cogs will be trying to win the series in four straight.

Casey Masterson will likely hurl for Cogs, and the slim righthanded speedball twirler for the Clubmen should prove hard to beat. He hasn't been defeated this season. Cogs will be at full strength, with the possible exception of Percy Vanneat. The Electrics have four available pitchers in Barry, McGillen, Armuor and Hetherington. It's just a tossup which one of them starts. At any rate, the team will be in there fighting every minute to break into the victory column before too late. The series is four out of seven, and it may be all over tomorrow night. Fans can look for a real struggle.

Toronto Splits Twin Bill With Orioles

KING EDWARD BEATS HABOCOS

South-enders Finish Bantam Schedule on Top of Heap With 8 Wins.

FINAL SCORE 5-3.

Final bantam baseball standing:

Teams:	P.	W.	L.
King Edward	10	8	2
St. Peters	10	6	4
Habocos	11	4	7
Leafs	7	1	6

King Edward turned back Habocos, 5-3, in a lively bantam struggle last evening in the Oval to wind up the City League bantam baseball schedule for the year. King Edward and St. Peter's now meet in the playoffs, first game at 1.30 Saturday in the Exhibition Grounds. Last night's game saw some smart hurling by Todd and Curtin, with the latter's support letting him down. King Edward went good defensively, though some of the basemen persisted in making the mistake of tagging sliding base-runners high after their feet had hit the bag. The teams:

King Edward: Jay, c; Lawson, rf; Berwick, 2b; Todd, p; Platt, 3b; Mackness, ss; Williams, cf; Hopcroft, lf; Ridley, 1b.

Habocos: Curtin, p; Bradshaw, 1b; Cleary, lf; McCormick, cf; Foster, 2b; White, 3b; Scriver, ss; Collins, c; Pammett, rf.

Marmora Clan Wins Free-Hitting Tilt

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, Aug. 2.—In a free hitting game which lasted seven innings, the Marmora baseball team won out winners against Deloro on the former's grounds on Wednesday evening by the score of 20-17. Marmora's two pitchers, McInroy and Brady were both allowed two appearances on the mound while Leal for Deloro took over from Callery in the fourth. It was a real batters night, heavy hitting by Marmora in the fourth being eclipsed by Deloro in the sixth.

Teams:

Deloro—O'Neill, 1b; V. Callery, rf; Leal, lf, p; M. Callery, c; F. Callery, p,lf; Smith, 2b; Simmons, 3b; Paquet, cf; Gray, ss; Stewart, 3b.

Marmora—Hewitt, 3b; Auger, ss; Woodhouse, rf; G. McInroy, c; Hughes, cf; Robertson, 1b; Brady, 2b, p; Shannon, lf; J. McInroy, p,2b.

NAPANEE GIBBARDS WIN FOURTH FROM PICTON

NAPANEE, Aug. 2.—Continuing the heavy hitting that has featured their playing throughout the season Gibbard Athletics made it four straight wins over Picton, last year's intermediate finalists as they disposed of them 12 to 2 in a scheduled Bay of Quinte game here this afternoon. Coach Gerow gave George Blasetich his right-handed ace the nod to go out and get his second win over last year's league champions and he responded in fine style. Seven one-base hits, of which three were bunched in the seventh for a two run score summed up Picton offensively and the star moundsman also had eight strike-outs and four assists.

COBOURG BEATS PORT HOPE

COBOURG, Aug. 2.—Cobourg intermediates defeated Port Hope here last evening in a seven-inning baseball game by a scoreof 4 to 1. "Hoot" Gibson was on the mound for the locals and pitched great ball, allowing only three hits and striking out eight. Len Wakley, southpaw pitcher for Port Hope, struck out six and allowed five hits.

Rollings and Brooks both slammed out two-baggers for Cobourg, and Jim Rowcliffe, Port Hope catcher, connected for a double in the first of the fifth inning. The score:

		R	H	E
Port Hope	.....000 100 0—1	3	2
Cobourg	.....000 301 0—4	5	3

Batteries—Len Wakley and Rowcliffe; 'Hoot' Gibson and Dick Mitchell.

Umpires—Crossett and Gordon.

Hot weather has a depressing effect on the consumption and quality of eggs, but during the hot weather spell this year, whether through better methods of handling on the farms or quicker dispatch to the markets, complaints have been distintly less than in previous years.

Montreal Royals Drop Pair of Decisions to Speeding Newark Bears.

BY ONE-RUN MARGINS.

(By the Associated Press)

Buffalo Bisons may only be a fifth place aggregation in the International League but they certainly take some sort of high ranking as periodic pill-busters.

A couple of weeks ago, when the Bisons slaughtered three Toronto pitchers for 25 runs and 28 hits for a total of 50 bases then turned around and took a 4-1 licking in the second game of the doubleheader it looked as if they were out to set the season's record for getting hits and for wasting them.

But last night the Thundering Herd showed that it was just one of those things which may happen any time to a club which apparently can't stop hitting once it gets started.

After dropping the first game of a bargain bill 8-2 to Syracuse when Ad Liska, veteran side armer, scattered their seven hits effectively, the Bisons belted four of the Chiefs' hurlers for 25 hits, good for 33 bases, to gain a 21-1 victory.

Double Win For Bears

The league leading Newark Bears provided a sharp contrast to Buffalo's profligate pasting when they made comparatively few hits good for a double victory over Montreal Royals, 6-5 and 4-3 and added a bit to their lead over Toronto. Vince Barton, home run king of the loop, personally took care of the both games. He propelled his 26th homer of the season to give big Walter Brown his 14th pitching victory in the opener then clouted No. 27 in the second clash, batting in three of Newark's four runs.

Rochester Red Wings and Albany Senators divided another twin bill under the lights when the Red Birds rallied in the last inning of the afterpiece to push over two runs and win 8-6 after Albany had taken the opener 4-3.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Paul Dean, Cardinals—Pitched five-hit shut-out against the Cubs.

Chick Hafey, Reds.—His 14th homer proved decisive blow in victory over Pirates.

Mel Ott, Giants. — Pounded 25th and 26th homers and drove in seven runs against Braves.

Pete Susko, Senators—Hit homer and single, accounting for five runs.

Zeke Bonura, White Sox. — Batted mightily in Sox' double win over Browns.

Walter Beck, the Senators' new acquisition from Brooklyn, hurled his first victory in the league although he had to slave off a Rochester rally in the final frame.

Toronto and Baltimore, second and eighth respectively, also divided a bargain bill, playing after midnight without getting anywhere. The Orioles concentrated their scoring in the early innings to take the opener 6-5 with the aid of a circuit drive by their new manager, Guy Sturdy and five Leaf errors. Toronto reversed the decision in the same way, landing upon Beryl Richmond to tally six times in the first two innings and win 7-5.

VETERAN WALTER ELIMINATES BENNY SWARTZ ON WEDNESDAY

Shields and Rishor Are Victors Over Sills and Rigby in Men's Doubles.

CITY TENNIS TOURNEY.

In the men's singles semi-finals of the city tennis tounrey yesterday, Walter Jackson defeated Ben Swarts, 6-4, 3-6 and 6-3, to qualify for the finals with Max Cotton at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Kawartha Club. It will be three out of five sets. The veteran yesterday eliminated his youthful opponent with his steady chop shots and tricky net play.

The first set saw Jackson breaking through service in the fifth game and hold his own to win at 6-4. Swarts put on the pressure in the second set playing Jackson's backhand consistently to run up a 5-2 lead, but he then weakened and evened it at 6-all but Jackson forced the play and ran out the set at 8-6. The younger player tired in the third and although he went into a 3-1 lead, he could not maintain his accuracy and lost the next five games and the match.

In the men's doubles yesterday at Kawartha, S. O. Shields and G Rishor defeated H. R. Sills and E Rigby, 6-4, 6-8 and 6-4. Junior men's singles at Peterborough saw H. Hammell turn back J. Sullivan 6-0, and 6-1; and G. M. Kirkwood win from H. Marsh, 6-1 and 6-3. In junior ladies singles at Peterborough, Miss G. Carvolth defeated Miss M. Harvey 6-0 and 6-0; while Miss A. Macdonald won from Miss D. Weese 6-1 and 6-2.

Matches for Friday: Junior ladies singles at Peterborough Club — Miss S. Bond vs. Miss B. Cutting; junior men's singles there at 3.00 — E. Cutting vs. R. White, and J. Patterson vs. G. Duncan; at 5.00 at Kawartha Club, men's doubles —Dr. C. D. Hewitt and G. R Langley vs. G. E. Nicholls and E. W. Jones; ladies doubles—Mrs. G. R. Langley and Miss K. Benson vs. Miss J. Harvey and Miss M Harvey mixed doubles—Miss K. Benson and J. T. Donaldson vs. Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy and S. O. Shields; at 5.00 at Peterboro Club, mixed doubles—Miss A. Macdonald and R. Maybee vs. H. A. Wilson and partner; Mrs. Dewart and M. Cotton vs. Miss R. Sutton and J. Cowling; men doubles there at 6.00 p.m.—J. Elmsley and J. E. T. Langley vs. G Kirkwood. Ladies' singles finals are at four this afternoon at the Peterborough Club.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

The much-maligned Cobourg lacrosse team is scheduled to play Kiwanis here at six bells tonight in Riverside Park. We have put the Lakeshore lacrossers on the pan before for treating the O.A.L.A. schedule as just "a scrap of paper", and we'll put the blast on them again if they muff any appearances.. But we are informed that they'll be here this eve and with blood in their optics. This team shapes up as worthy opponents to the classy homesters, having lost their only game to Kiwanis this summer by a lone goal. One goal in lacrosse is closer than the hands of the clock at high noon (by the way, is there such a thing as low noon?). Anyway, here 'tis, followers of this lively game.

• • • • • • •

The marathon E.P.I. series resumes tomorrow eve at six or so down at the Exhibition Grounds. C.G.E. and Cogs—same two teams—are at it again, and if Cogs win this one, they'll be champs once more. So it's up to the Electrics to toss some tools into the machinery that makes the Clubmen that way. Frankly, we wouldn't lay too many potatoes, even at five to two, on C.G.E., but one never knows. It being an important tussle, and there being no senior game here this week, it should draw well.

• • • • • • •

King Edward and St. Peter's, the two school teams—just goes to show what higher educations means—meet in the bantam baseball playoffs Saturday at 1.30 in the Exhibition Grounds. Schedule ended last night with the K.E. kids nosing out the gallant Haboocs, 5-3. It's been a good bantam season with four well-matched squads playing close games. The young fellows play pretty fair ball and, outside of base-running, the large diamond this year hasn't bothered them to any extent. The pitching, fielding and hitting has all been up to par—even if there weren't as many strikeouts as when the boys used the runty diamond. Playoffs are two out of three, second game next Wednesday and third, if necessary on Saturday. They're nine-inning contests.

• • • • • • •

The Petes will play an exhibition game in Napanee this Saturday, while Kingston is here for a loop fixture Monday, the holiday. The locals had a stiff workout last eve at Riverside, Knotty Lee having them going through their paces in great style. Then, later, they took hitting practice with Herb Ralph's juvenile Terriers in the field. Terriers have been practising with the Petes pretty regularly for some time and it shouldn't hurt them any when they meet Oshawa shortly in the O.B.A.A. playdowns. This year we're looking for the local juvenile team to bring us an Ontario title—it being the only minor championship we've never copped.

• • • • • • •

Looking over the senior averages of the Lee gang yesterday, we noticed the team was hitting .347—not a brilliant mark, but still it's coming along. Foley still leads the players with .328 while Murray is next with .305 and Konopka on his heels with a .293 mark. Burton is hitting .278 and Hollingsworth .276. The rest are below .250. While their batting marks aren't up to what they should be yet, and by a long way in some cases, the boys are beginning to cuff the ball in the pinches and knock in more runs. If they just keep this gradual improvement up, the Petes ought to be hitting their peak coming on playoff time late this month. Surely it is not too much to hope!

• • • • • • •

Peterborough Juniors—with a bye in the first round of the O.B.A.A.—will practise Friday evening at six o'clock in the Oval under direction of Pat Calladine. Their playdowns start about Aug. 25th, and the local lads should go places. These players are requested to be on hand tomorrow night: Gardner, 1b; Begley, 2b; Murdock, ss; McKinley, 3b; outfield, Galvin, Dickson and Williamson; Mowry, c; and pitchers, Clark, Phelan, Detlor and Gardino. A couple of week's steady drilling and this bunch of experienced juniors ought to step out and play ball with any junior squad in the Province.

• • • • • • •

The men's softball league executive held a stormy meeting last night to arrange for playoffs. This was what they decided: Games must start on time; playoff umpires will be Bob Batley at the plate, H. Weir on first and second, and Herb Payne on third; Brintons and Orphans meet in a two-out-of-three series, starting tonight, second game Saturday and third, if necessary, Tuesday. Then, winner meets Johnston's Tires in the five-game finals. But don't think it'll be run off as smoothly as all that—odearmeno! Brinton won't stand for this at all.

• • • • • • •

And Brintons are quite right. They were framed like a picture at this meeting. They qualified with Johnston's for the first half playoffs, and they qualified with Orphans for the second half series. Therefore, according to the loop constitution, they have two chances at the title, whereas the other teams have just one, except the one that wins its first series. But the other three teams last night and a couple of the minor officers ganged up on Brintons and forced them to agree to this: Have three slips put in a hat and drawn, one of the slips being a bye in the finals. Johnston's drew the bye which means that Brintons and Orphans meet first, winner then meeting Johnston's. There were too many present, without any right, at the meeting and horning in on proceedings. Pat Calladine represented Brintons and make a mistake in drawing from the hat at all. Anyway, Brinton players are flatly refusing to permit Johnston's to have a bye and will protest today, possibly even going to the O.A.S.A. So, as this is written, tonight's game may not be played. But it must be settled shortly. We have good friends on all four men's teams and have no axe to grind—but we like to see rules lived up to, and a team get an even break. More anon.

• • • • • • •

Grab-bag: Trouble in the gals' loop, too, as Ormemee lasses showed up for their game with Westclox here last night and claimed a default, saying they had not been notified that Westclox wouldn't play . . . . But the league secretary claims she notified them and also Sixth Line; anyway, they played an exhibition game and lost to C.G.E. . . . . And now Sixth Line insist that Westclox go through with their game tomorrow in Lang . . . . President Fred Scates refused to sanction that draw business at the men's meeting last eve and walked out . . . . How come Campbellford lacrosse players can play for Belleville? . . . . Walter Jackson eliminated Ben Swarts yesterday in city tennis singles semi-finals.

Lawn Bowling
BY Herb Martin

On Wednesday, Aug. 15th, we intend to hold our annual men's tournament — but this year, for several reasons, it will be somewhat more than just an annual event.

× × ×

In the first place we are celebrating our fifth year out on our new grounds — the finest and most complete and up-to-date bowling greens and club house in the province of Ontario.

× × ×

In the second place we are staging the biggest lawn bowling tournament ever attempted by any individual lawn bowling club.

And then along with these we are being supported by practically every manufacturer, and many merchants of our city.

There will be three contests. The "J. R. Stratton" sterling silver tankard (value $300.00), The Canadian Department Stores Trophy, and the Warne Cup.

Along with these there will be forty sets of prizes given away —some of these will be donated by the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club and some are being donated by the different manufacturing firms of the city.

The number of entries will be limited to 64—and play will begin promptly at 9 a.m. Standard Time.

× × ×

All other details in connection with this big sporting event will be seen on cards that have been sent out to other clubs....and also placed in our own club house.

To-night's Draw

Giroux—Veitch.
Ford—Slatter.
Burns—Russell.
Knox—Lawrence.
McGill—Williams.
Hutchinson—Hotrum.
W. H. Price—McCannon.

Skips and Vices Finals

Coleman—Wall.

Leads and Seconds Finals

McMillan—Taylor.

Down at Port Hope yesterday our bowlers were fairly successful....It was the annual mixed tournament ..... There were twenty-six entries. Our old friend Eddie Goodman of Oshawa was successful in carrying off first honors—J. H. Sedgewick of our club came second and G. Cairns third.

× × ×

Peterborough, 2nd prize: Mrs. M. Chenhall, Miss M. Sedgewick, M. Chenhall, J. H. Sedgewick, skip. Each a silver plated flower basket.

Peterborough, 3rd prize: Mrs. R. Hendry, Mrs. W. Hepburn, J. T. Braund, G. Cairns, skip.

Up at Uxbridge the boys were more fortunate. Out of an entry of 24 rinks, Harold Freeman won all three games and came home with first prize, C. Williamson, E. Wall, J. Fitzpatrick and H. Freeman, skip. Each won an electric table lamp.

GROVE'S $100,000 SORE ARM RESPONSIBLE FOR SOX' FALL

Instead of Winning 20 Games as Expected, Great Moses Has Only Taken Four.

MAY REGAIN OLD FORM.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—Bucky Harris admits, naturally with some reluctance, that the battle for the American League pennant race rests between New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers, but he is also convinced that only one fateful circumstance has kept his Boston Red Sox from riding the crest this season.

The reason, he insists, is Robert Moses Grove, whose $100,000 sore arm has meant a difference of at least 10 games so far to the Red Sox.

"Figure it out for yourself," says Bucky, "we had every reason to expect Grove to win at least 20 games for us. He has won only four and it's a question whether his arm will be in shape to start another game before the middle of August. Yet we are only nine games or thereabouts back of the leaders, neither of which has the staff to make any runaway of the race this year."

It may take another year to settle the great Grove mystery. The lean southpaw pitched in batting drill at the Yankees Stadium yesterday, displayed plenty of stuff and told Harris afterward: "My arm feels better than it has in weeks. The soreness is gone and I think I'll be ready to go soon."

"These hard-ball pitchers go fast when they go," suggested Babe Ruth, tossing some cold water on Red Sox hopes. "They haven't got so much left when the old hop disappears. I wish him luck, but I'll be surprised if Grove is ever a 20-game pitcher again."

W. Gladish Resigns Position With A.A.U.

TORONTO, August 2 (C.P.) — Resignation of W. M. Gladish as secretary of the Central Ontario Branch, Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, was announced to-day. Mr. Gladish resigned to accept the position of sports editor of The Sudbury Star.

In charge of the local office of the A.A.U.C. for the last two years, Mr. Gladdish has been an officer of various organizations, including secretary of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, and the Canadian Wheelmen's Association. He also was director of sports at Ottawa during the Confederation Diamond Jubilee in 1927. Prior to his appointment in Toronto he served with The Ottawa Journal.

TRACK RECORDS LIKELY BROKEN EMPIRE GAMES

Despite Fact England's Cinder Paths Unconducive to Speed by Foot.

TOO DAMP FOR FAST WORK.

Canadian Contingent Figures Largely in List of Potential Record-breakers.

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 2. (C. P. Cable). — England's cinder paths have been called "rutty" and unconducive to speed by foot. They say British weather is too damp for fast tracks. But however low in the estimate of England's foot speedways, critics made no bones about the fact to-day that they expect to see British Empire games records shattered within the next few days.

The records were all made four years ago on a fast track at Hamilton, Ont., under ideal conditions. Apparently the experts think the Empire has a better crop of performers this time. Canadians figure in the list of potential record-breakers.

The list includes, of course, Jack Lovelock, New Zealand's great miler. The Empire mark of 4:14, set in 1930 by Reg. Thomas of England, is sure to tumble if Lovelock is pushed. And with such foes as Phil Edwards of British Guiana and Jerry Cornes of England in the field Lovelock is likely to get plenty of pace.

If Harry Hart's 136 feet, 11 inches for the discus throw is bettered it will likely be accomplished by the vast South African himself. Hart is back to retain both his discus and shot-put titles. Pat Bermingham, a giant from the Irish Free State, will give Hart plenty of competition with the discus. He recently recorded a toss of 135 feet, 4¾ inches.

CURVE BALL CURVES SPINE

PITTSBURG, Aug. 2 (AP) — A baseball played may have a curve on the ball, says Dr. D. W. Poulpard of a Pittsburgh chiropractic college—but he's also likely to have a curve of the spine.

Dr. Poupard told the annual convention of the National Chiropractors' Association last night:

"Ball players, especially right-hand pitchers, may develop baffling curves of the ball, but they also develop curves in their spines."

O'FARRELL GETS RELEASE.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 2.— (A.P.)— The Enquirer to-day says that "at his own request, Bob O'Farrell has been given his unconditional release" by Cincinnati Reds.

O'Farrell was displaced last week by Charley "Chuck" Dressen, former pilot of Nashville Vols. The former Red leader was under contract for this year and next.

Turkey now has 61 theatres equipped for sound pictures.

BLUENOSE AT COBOURG

COBOURG, Aug. 2 (Examiner Correspondence) — The famous fishing schooner, Bluenose, queen of the North Atlantic seaboard is expected to arrive at Cobourg dock on Saturday with Capt. Angus Watters, racing skipper in command. The schooner will remain here over Monday.

REST PRESCRIBED MILDRED FIZZELL

Will Not Be Able to Produce Her Best if She Runs on Saturday.

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Staff Writer)

LONDON, Aug. 2 (C.P. Cable)— A doctor told Mildred Fizzell, Toronto sprinter, to-day that she must rest two days and even then it was doubtful if she would be able to start in the 100-yard dash on the opening day of the British Empire Games here Saturday.

"If she does run on Saturday, she certainly will be unable to produce her best form," said the doctor who diagnosed Mildred's injury, received yesterday in training, as a torn muscle above the thigh bone. It was first believed to be a recurrence of a hip-bone break.

Miss Fizzell was the fourth member of Canada's 100-yards sprint brigade, the others being Audrey Dearnley and Betty White of Hamilton and Peggy Matheson. If Mildred does not go to the mark Saturday it was believed her place would be taken by either Hilda Strike of Montreal or Mary Frizzell of Vancouver.

SILVER SLIPPERS By Temple Bailey

READ THIS FIRST:

Joan Dudley, vacationing in Maine with her wealthy aunt, Adelaide Delafield, is engaged to marry Drew Hallam, man of the world who is twice the age of his fiancee. Mrs. Delafield becomes restless and decides to leave the log house, run by Penelope Sears, a widow, where she Joan, Hallam and his sister, Nancy, have been stopping. Drew disapproves when Joan dons an apron and helps Penelope in the kitchen. They go out to dance in the moonlight.

(Now go on with the story.)

Chapter 4

In Drew's arms she was as light as the wind, the soft draperies of her sheer gown fluttered and flew, her silver slippers shone.

Then suddenly, she was jerked roughly away from him by an unseen force.

"Oh," she gasped as he held her up, "My heel is caught in a root."

It was wedged so tightly that she had to pull her foot out of the shoe before Hallam could release her. He handed her the slipper and she surveyed it ruefully. "The heel is loose. It will have to be mended."

"Why not buy another pair?"

"They're expensive."

"But my dear child," he knelt to put on the slipper, while she steadied herself with a hand on his shoulder, "isn't your aunt generous with your allowance?"

"Yes. But I've had too many years of having to be thrifty."

"Why not forget them?"

"Why not remember?"

They let it go at that. But later the thing was to come back to them. Tragically. Silver slippers. Mended.

They were to motor down to Granitehead. Dixon, Mrs. Delafield's chauffeur, was glad to get away.

"Beastly hole," he said to Farley.

"Well, it is."

"Not a movie or nuthin'."

Farley's hands went up. "I'm thanking heaven Mrs. Delafield's tired of it."

On the morning of departure, Joan got up early and went out of doors. She walked to the edge of the cliff and saw the dawn sweep over the sea—the sharp, steel spread of it, across which were flung, presently, the golden banners of the rising sun.

Oh, the world was so beautiful! Life was so beautiful! Joan, high up on the cliff, stretched out her arms . . .!

From a window in the log cabin, Penelope Sears saw the girl's worshipping gesture. The older woman had often watched the deep emotion. Of all those in the house, she was the only one who could understand what was in the child's heart. Not one of the others, Drew or Adelaide would have known that the loveliness of the dawning was linked in Joan's mind with the loveliness of the future which was before her. Because of her own happiness she saw God in His heaven, glory in the universe, good in everything!

When Joan came back from the cliff, she found Penelope in the garden, "So you're going today, my dear?"

"Yes, Mrs. Sears, and I don't want to."

"I wish you could stay. But you'll be coming back? You must come back."

"We'll both come, Drew and I. We will make a pilgrimage on the anniversary of the day we found each other."

Penelope had not meant that. She waited until she was ready to go in to say: "You'll remember, dear child, that I am always your friend . . . that my latchstring is always out . . . and come if you need me."

"I will."

"Is that a promise?"

"Yes."

She gave Joan an armful of flowers to arrange for the table—delphiniums and mignonette and rose-colored phlox, and, as the two of them walked towards the house, Drew Hallam emerging from it saw Joan in a bower of beauty, like a lady in a poem.

When he came up to her, he kissed her. Penelope had gone on and they were alone. "You were up with the birds."

"I had to say 'good-by' to everything."

"You could have said it later."

"I wanted to be alone."

"Why not with me?"

"Oh, well, I thought you might think me—silly."

"We'll say it now, together," he drew her towards the cliff. The fragrances of the flowers she carried mingled with the fresh fragrances from the sea.

"How shall I say it?" he asked.

"Like this," she made a trumpet of her hands and spoke through it. "We're coming again. We're coming again."

"But are we?"

"Of course. Every year—a pilgrimage."

"My dear, what a romantic program."

"Don't you like it?"

"Yes. But place has nothing to do with my love for you."

"But this place, Drew? It was the beginning."

He made a trumpet of his hands. "We're coming again . . . We're coming again!"

The echo which returned to him had a hollow sound. "We're coming again . . . we're coming again . . ." It was as if some old sea monster took up the cry and flung it back in a spasm of satiric laughter.

While they were all at breakfast the sky darkened. Penelope, weather-wise, remarked: "I'm afraid there'll be rain."

"If there is," Adelaide complained, "I shall tell Joan what I think of her. It was her idea to motor."

"You'll love it, darling."

"How do you know? I am beginning to hate it already. I had to get up early this morning, and my nerves are on edge."

As the day wore on, Penelope's prophecy proved true. The rain streamed and the sea was lashed into fury by the storm. "If the gods keep me until I get under shelter," Adelaide said, vindictively, "I'll stay there until it stops."

They had had their lunch at a picturesque tea room and had left before the rain began. "We'd better make Portsmouth, if we can," Drew stated, and exerted himself after that to keep Mrs. Delafield amused. He talked well, and his worldly-mindedness met the worldly-mindedness of the old woman. Joan wondered a little as she listened, it was all so foreign to the things she knew. But she was too happy to be critical. She knew that never for a moment did Drew forget that she was near—there was the glance of his eye for her, the turn of his head and the flash of his smile, the clasp of his hand over her curled fingers.

Conversation flagged before the trip was ended. Adelaide napped. Nancy yawned, and Drew sank into a sort of bored apathy.

But Joan was not bored. Quite unabashed, she laid her head against her lover's shoulder and smiled up at him. "I'd like to ride like this—forever."

He touched her cheek with a caressing finger. "I'd give my kingdom for a cigaret," was his only response, but she was satisfied.

When they reached the big hotel near Portsmouth, Adelaide announced, "I meant what I said, I shall stay here until the storm is over."

"Our reservations are made at Granitehead," Drew reminded her.

"What of it?"

"We'll have to pay for them."

"Of course," Adelaide entered the elevator on Farley's arm and went serenely to her room. Double bills had no terrors for her. She spent as she pleased, and her income was always equal to her extravagances.

But Drew, having dressed for dinner, rapped on his sister's door. "Look here, Nance," he said, when he was admitted, "how's the bank account?"

"As bad as ever."

"And there'll be double bills because the old girl hates the rain. She really ought to pay our expenses."

"Rather difficult to suggest, isn't it?"

"Yes," he was moody and showed it, sticking his hands in his pockets and gazing at the floor.

Nancy, touching her lips with color, asked, presently, "Are you marrying Joan for her money?"

"No, I'm not."

"Because if you are, you'd better find someone without a heart to break."

"I'm not going to break her heart. And besides she may not have the money."

Nancy turned and looked at him. "What do you mean?"

"Just what I said. She may not have the money. There are no legal adoption papers and no assurance that she is mentioned in the will."

"Yet you are taking the chance?"

"Yes. I am taking the chance. I am fond of the child, although I suppose you won't believe it."

"You'll never be able to stand poverty."

He shrugged his shoulders. "Why borrow trouble? We'll be nice to the old girl, which should help, shouldn't it?"

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, August 3

While there may be very lively conditions on this day, according to the lunar aspects, yet it may be difficult to surmount some very stubborn obstacles or frustrating circumstances. There may be postponements, disappointments or other trying conditions, possibly in connection with property or work. All pertaining to writings should be successful and the home or affectional relations may have a tinge of the sensational, unconventional or surprising. Elopements come under such sign.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very lively year although one in which there may be delays, disappointment and difficult and stubborn situations to be endured or overcome. The latter might be possible by means of writings or correspondence or through the intervention of young people or friends. In social, domestic or romantic affairs there is a sign of the surprising, sudden, unconventional or spectacular.

A child born on this day may be fairly clever and studious but given to the unconventional or sensational in its private life.

Average daily population of English prisons in the last year was 11,900 men and 811 women, a slight decrease from the preceding 12 months.

It takes a lot of milk to make a little cream

MILK is only partly cream, just as ordinary soaps are only partly soap. Sunlight is the cream of laundry soaps — all pure soap.

That's the reason why less of it is required to make rich cleansing suds . . . and, because it is all pure soap, it dissolves quickly. That is why hosts of women get so many more clothes clean and sweet in such a short time with Sunlight.

Let a bar of Sunlight prove how much more work it does than ordinary soap.

Look for this Guarantee of Purity on every carton. It means real economy—longer life to your clothes—protection to your hands.

CLAIMS CHRISTIANITY IS WORSE THAN "THE SOCIETY OF GODLESS"

Noted Theologian is Not Alarmed as Doctrine Spreads Rapidly.

"RELIGION MOCKERY"

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer.

ZURICH, August 2.—The phenomenal growth of the militantly atheistic Society of the Godless, not only in the Soviet Union, but in France, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, Spain and England, in which countries more than two million adherents have joined the movement last year, may cause deep consternation in certain quarters, but it does not alarm, I found to my surprise, one of the foremost spiritual leaders of our time.

"As for me," said Dr. Leonhardt Ragaz, for 30 years professor of theology at the University of Zurich, and writer of many books which have profoundly influenced religious thought in German-speaking countries and in the world Protestant communion in general, "as for me I refuse to get excited about the so-called organized godless movement."

Not Against Christ.

"If it spreads much further, does it not mean the eclipse of the Christian church" I asked. "No," said the professor, "for I believe that it may be the beginning of a new manifestation of God. The action of the godless society, sponsored by the Communists, is not a fight against Christ, not against religion, but it is a protest and a judgment of the manner in which the cause of Christ has been represented in our time. It is a fight gainst a form of religion which in reality is truly 'opium for the people'. Christ is the sacred unrest of the world—can we say that of religion, of Christianity? Decidedly Christianity, as we see it today, is something entirely different than Christ. That so-called battle against God is fundamentally a battle about God and for God."

I give you the professor's own words, having written them down as we spoke together—something I haven't done since I interviewed Mussolini, because I know that many earnest people will be glad to learn the views of so eminent a Christian leader on so grave a subject.

"I dare say that few would be bold enough to share your opinion," I said. "In Anglo-Saxon countries, in fact, they look upon this phenomenon with different eyes, for in those places there is a growing alarm over the spread of the godless movement. Here and there, too, organizations are being formed to combat it," I added.

Practical Godlessness Real.

"Very fine," mocked Professor Ragaz, "coming to the aid of Almighty God, eh" And he added: "The godless movement in Russia and elsewhere among the working-class is a purely theoretical movement, whereas the godlessness of the modern states, with their constant use of violence, their trampling of man's most sacred rights, the denial of freedom, their huge armament programs with a view to killing human beings, God's children, that is practical godlessness. That's real godlessness. Practical godlessness is worse than theoretical godlessness."

"To destroy crops, to burn coffee, to throw away milk, to plow under the cotton-crops in America, to despise in that way the gifts of God to man, is not only godlessness, it is rank blasphemy. Don't think such things will go unpunished," he added. "Judgment comes inexorably. God is not mocked!

"So long as these things happen, with the tacit approval of our churches, at least without a ringing protest on their part, so long have we no right to speak of others as godless. We are godless ourselves, we do things deliberately and consciously against God's will."

"We are pushed by economic necessity," I objected.

Led by Profiteers.

"No," said the professor, "we are pushed by a concern of profits for a handful of privileged persons who have the power of the state under their control to enforce their demands and who muddle our minds in addition. In the churches, that's where we have to look for godlessness in the first place. I find there such a lack of real trust and confidence in God and in God's power, such a readiness to rely upon worldly powers and to be a strong support of the worldly powers as we seldom see among the so-called children of this world."

"You see more evil then outside the godless movement than inside it?" I asked.

"Yes, for it is far worse that evil is done in the name of God' God is something entirely different than religion. God is in reality only where there is freedom, love humanity. These things derive from God whether in the Soviet Union, in Canada or in Switzerland. Christ is everywhere where right is done, where people are animated with the sanctity of human dignity. There is Christ and there only. Religion may at times be God's greatest enemy and the greatest enemy of Christ. And on the other hand so-called godlessness may prepare the way for a new manifestation of God. The churches themselves with the finest theology may be a hindrance to God's operation in society, and in that way they become godless and anti-god. This godless movement of which you speak may be the judgment of God over the churches. If we understand these things correctly—and we understand them in so far as we understand the Bible—we lose the desire to fight against the so-called godlessness of the Russians."

"Must nothing be done against the godless movement then in your estimation," I asked.

Must Start at Home.

"Certainly something must be done," replied Professor Bagaz. "In the first place we must set our faces against practical godlessness in our own countries, secondly against practical godlessness in our own countries, and, thirdly, against practical godlessness in our own countries' We must acknowledge that our governments are godless that they act against God's will. We must fight against everything that is unjust, everything that makes man a beast of burden, everything that dishonors man, including military service. Today the poor are trodden underfoot. The poor are treated as enemies of the state. They have no right to speak. Today the wealth of nature is being subordinated to the dictates of the stock exchange. Wheat is grown for speculation. Cotton and wool are spun for the sake of profits. That's where the real godlessness of our time resides.

"And as to the Russian anti-God movement," he added, "we might perhaps leave that to God. If we set our house in order and do God's will, carry out the precepts of Jesus in our national and social life, there will be more joy in heaven and more happiness on earth, than by all that pharisaism of criticizing Russia, while our own peoples stagnate under the diabolical distatorship of profits which poisons the existence of hundreds of millions of God's children!"

At the Theatres

AT THE REGENT

"THE NINTH GUEST" and "EVER SINCE EVE".

"The Ninth Guest" illustrates a thrilling idea in revenge. The arch-killer invites eight people to dinner in a magnificent New York penthouse apartment, then contrives to make them kill themselves in various ingenious ways. Only two of the original party survive, at the dramatic finale, in which the mysterious host is unmasked and also dies. From the moment when the story begins until the denouement, this is a picture replete with fascinating and mysterious strength. It provides something new in the way of thrills for jaded movie-goers.

The second feature, "Ever Since Eve" is entirely different and deals with romance with a capital R. eorge O'Brien, the athletic hero, meets and falls in love with Mary Brian, a New York society girl, and marries her. Then they journey to Nevada, to the hero's gold mine, and his three partners, men who have forsworn the fair sex forever, on various excuses.

Neil (O'Brien) finds out that his money is the main attraction for his wife, and then the fireworks commence. The play progresses through various emotional and picturesque episodes, with Herbert Mundin taking a large part in the comedy element of the story. It is an effectively romantic drama, with plenty of amusement thrown in.

The manner in which movie fans react to wrong pronunciations of words was illustrated admirably in their amusement at the painstaking newsreel announcer who spoke of the Canadian city of Regina in the Latin manner.

—Jeanette.

CHEMONG ACQUATIC CONTINGENT AGAIN DEMONSTRATES PROWESS AT ANNUAL BEWDLEY REGATTA

Many Close Finishes Seen in Twenty Events of Good Sports Card.

WALLACE POINT SECOND.

Yearly Event Sponsored by St. Anne's Anglican Church, is Well Handled.

(By a Staff Reporter)

BEWDLEY, Aug. 2.—A thousand spectators attracted from far and near by the promise of high-grade aquatic competition on the sun-flecked waters of Rice Lake watched the Jopling boys and girls with their retinue from Chemong Park demonstrate their prowess once again at the annual Bewdley regatta yesterday. It was definitely another Chemong day with Mr. and Mrs. Herb Cardwell, Ruth Sutton and Bill Taylor battling hard to secure second honors for the Wallace Point delegation.

Bearing a striking similarity to the prize list of the Gore's Landing regatta a couple of weeks ago, the records of the afternoon point to Drake Jopling, Art Wood, Madge, Ralph and Perry Jopling and Ross Pulkinghorn as star performers. The numerous money finishes of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Cardwell were significant, however, as far as individual honors were concerned. Pat and Lillian McClellan of Hiawatha, Frank Grey and Fred Smoke of Alderville and Ralph Louchs of Hiawatha were among other feature performers.

Twenty events made up the card. The majority were canoe races of various classes but skiff races, which, by the way, seem to be losing in popularity as the years go on, and swimming races filled important spots in the program. Competition was not particularly heavy—five or six contestants was the average entry—but quality made up where quantity lacked. Many close finishes were to be seen and the grandstanders went home with the conviction that the Bewdley regatta will, as in other years, compare well with the other aquatic meets of the region.

Well Handled

The regatta was sponsored by St. Anne's Anglican Church of Bewdley. Judges were Mrs. E. H. Wood, Ottawa; A. Stock, Toronto, and Robert Hancock, Bewdley. Elmer Sidey, Bewdley, served as starter and Henry Perrin, Toronto, officiated with the megaphone. Clerk of the course was W. E. Austin, Toronto. As chairman of the regatta committee, Rev. W. F. Payton, rector of St. Anne's, supervised arrangements for the meet.

A men's single canoe race in hands only were allowed as the propelling instruments proved a hit. Art Wood demonstrated that he had either the largest hands or the greatest endurance by crossing the finish line four lengths ahead of the nearest competitor in a field of seven. Bill Taylor finished second with Herb. Cardwell on his heels for third. The speed with which canoes can be moved by hand paddling seemed a revelation to the audience.

"They sure can take it!" spectators exclaimed as four Indians in the profession Indian canoe event battled a guelling race down a three-quarter mile course to decide possession of the three cash prizes of the day. A desperate final sprint by Fred Smoke failed to cut down the lead of a length by which Frank Gray triumphed. Ralph Louchs finished only third, but looked as though he had plenty of power left in doing it. The purses were $2.50, $1.50, and $1.00.

Tilting Good

Those who went home early missed a good event in the tilting. Eight crews jousted in an elimination series to provide a grade A sporting spectacle with an appropriate numberof laughs mixed in. Everyone likes to see some unfortunate get a ducking and there was no scarcity of duckings. Frank Grey and Ralph Louchs fought their way to the championship through some rough going. Herb. Cardwell and Nels. Stanger enjoyed comparatively easy sailing through the preliminaries and some wise money went astray when they ended up in second place.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 87c to 92c; oats, 35c to 36c; barley, 46c to 50c; corn, 90c to 92c; rye, 50c to 52c; buckwheat, 60c to 62c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter was fractionally easier in price on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday. The trend of the market as a whole was steady.

Butter was quoted at 19¼c to 19½c a pound for fresh No. 1 in cariots or less, off ¼c. Small lots to retailers were 20½c to 21c a pound for solids and 21½c to 22c for prints. Receipts were only one box.

The cheese market was unchanged. Ontario colored being 16½c a pound and Quebec cheese brought 16c a pound. Arrivals totalled 815 boxes.

On the egg market graded shipments in cariots or less were 21c to 22c a dozen for A-large, up ½c, 20c to 20½c for A-medium, 19c for B and 18½c for C. Receipts totalled 1,631 cases.

New Quebec potatoes continued to be quoted at 45c to 50c per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Aggressive speculative buying, for which worldwide reports of drought damage appeared largely responsible, swept the Chicago wheat market up 3¼ cents a bushel late yesterday.

Threat of a new heat wave in the United States corn belt added to buoyancy of all grain values. Wheat in Chicago rose to the topmost point since the begining of June, and corn and rye here each outdid the season's high price record. Wheat at Liverpool, and wheat and corn at Buenos Aires, also excelled season's previous top quotations, with particular notice being taken of severe reduction of grain yields both in Canada and Australia.

Wheat closed strong, 3½c to 2¾c above Tuesday's finish corn 1⅝c to 1⅞c up, oats ⅝c to ¾c advanced, and provisions showing 7c to 10c gain.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Borne by a wave of buying that set in at the start, wheat futures prices mounted swiftly on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, faltering only in the closing minutes, as heavy offerings poured into the pit, to close 1⅛c to 1⅝c above the previous finish.

The late selling, credited to the Government agency and swelled by considerable profit-taking, chipped large fractions off the day's extreme advance, 4⅛c, and at the finish the October future was at 88⅛c December 90⅛c to 90¼c, and May at 94⅝c.

Bullishness was the keynote. Heavy sales of wheat for export gave the bulls a start, and an unexpected advance at Liverpool, combined with unfavorable crop reports from all parts of the world that filled the day's news, abetted their enthusiasm. The bull market, however, was held within careful limits by the selling from the Government agency.

Wheat futures were at the highest prices of the year an auspicious opening of the new crop year which began yesterday.

Featured by good demand for No. 1 Northern wheat and large export sales of oats and barley, cash grains were active. Spreads closed higher in nearly all varieties. Coarse grains futures followed the trend of whtat and led by flax, moved sharply higher in active trading.

MILK PRODUCER MUST GET MORE FOR HIS PRODUCT

Ontario New Milk Control Board Holds Short Session in Peterborough.

PRICE WAR MUST STOP

Licensing Power Will be Used If Something is Not Done.

The "big stick" of the Ontario Milk Control Board—its licensing power—was brandished over the heads of Peterborough milk distributors and vendors as the two-man body paid a flying visit to the city late yesterday afternoon. Gentle but firm orders that the local milk price war be brought to an immediate end, and that a means of passing on more substantial payments to the milk producer be sought were handed out.

A gathering of a dozen men representing distributors of both raw and pasteurized milk and milk producers met with the board for a brief one-hour interview in the City Council chamber. The body consists of J. A. McFeeters, chairman, and J. E. Houck, J. B. Nelson, former agricultural representative for Peterborough, was present as secretary.

Although no secret was made of the power of the board to enforce its will, the commissioners expressed every confidence in the ability of the local body of producers and distributors to iron out their troubles on their own accords. The board will not attempt to dictate in regard to the local price of milk to the consumer or the payment rates to the producer if satisfactory understandings can be reached without its aid, it was stated.

Mr. Houck.

In an informal address to the gathering, Mr. Houck explained that

NIAGARA PARKS REPORT STUDIED

Gov't Plans Complete Re-organization Save $25,000, Increase Revenues.

TOO MUCH EXTRAVAGANCE.

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP)—Complete reorganization of the Niagara Falls Parks Commission which will cut expenses by $25,000 a year and increase revenues by an even larger amount will be effected by the Ontario Government shortly. The report of the commissioners who investigated the Commission is now being studied by the administration but a preliminary survey of the findings led Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn to predict the results which would follow.

The report found many instances of extravagance and inefficiency. Large sums spent on entertainment and motor cars could be curtailed drastically, it recommended, and the administration greatly simplified.

The Commissioner, Armand Racine, Windsor barrister, and H. J. Welch, Toronto accountant, submitted their report yesterday.

The Government continued its economy campaign on other fronts yesterday, and in several departments staff reductions were made. Steps are being taken to check up on the payment of timber dues by operators in Northern Ontario and additional sums above those charged by the previous administration are being collected from one operator.

WOMAN KILLED BY FALL

MONTREAL, Aug. 3 (C.P.)—Her skull fracured by a 25-foot fall, the body of Mrs. May Spurrell, 24, was found beneath a balcony of the Royal Victoria Hospital here early to-day by a doctor and nurse. The body was removed to the morgue where an inquest will be held today.

According to hospital authorities Mrs. Spurrell was admitted early yesterday suffered from the effects of poison. Physicians were analysing the poison when they were informed the was dead.

A Difference

ASHVILLE, N. C., Aug. 2.—(CP)—Judge T. B. Finley draws a fine distinction between drunkenness and intoxication.

"If a man drinks mean liquor, he becomes drunk," says the judge. "If he drinks good whiskey, he becomes intoxicated."

The judge's remarks were made in Superior Court after Rich Plemmons, 19, was given 15 days for drunkenness.

HEAD OF O.P.S.C. GIVEN $50,000 YEARLY SALARY

Firm Had No Assets When 100,000 H.P. Deal Made With Ontario.

PROBE CONTINUES.

TORONTO, August 3 (C.P.) — A former treasurer of the company to-day told the "Abitibi deal" Royal Commission the Ontario Power Service Corporation had no assets of its own when it signed a contract to sell 100,000 horsepower of electrical energy to the Ontario Government, through the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission.

The O.P.S.C., a subsidiary of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, he said, was not a liability to the parent company except in that Abitibi "guaranteed its performances."

The witness, William R. Smith, was called by Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., Royal Commission counsel, to answer questions about the organisation of the Abitibi and allied companies and the salary and expense allowances of its president, Alexander Smith of New York.

The witness revealed the highest point President Smith's salary reached was $50,000, and that he took a five per cent. cut during the depression, although an expense allowance of $50,000 for which he was not required to account was not reduced.

Mitchell Got $76,000

The witness said he did not know a great deal about negotiations that led to the O.P.S.C. acquiring the 100,000 horsepower contract with the Ontario Government, but he believed the late Victor Mitchell of Montreal, a one-time director, had been paid $76,000 for his part in negotiations leading up to the contract.

He also revealed, in response to questions, that J. H. Black, another director of the company and of the Abitibi concern, had resigned to take a post with the Dominion Construction Company, the firm which obtained a contract to build the O.P.S.C. plant. He said he believed the contract with the construction company had been arranged by President Smith and Mr. Black.

TRADING OPENS CHICAGO YARDS

Commission Men Feed Stock Themselves as More Handlers Quit.

FEW BUYERS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—(A.P.)—Cattle and hogs were driven into the Chicago stock yards to-day under police escort as commission men sought to resume trading, stopped for nine days by a strike of handlers.

Four hundred more stockyards employees, the commission men's handlers, joined the strike this morning, after declaring a lockout last night. The commission men themselves handled the first shipments to arrive, forking hay to the cattle and filling the water troughs.

Meanwhile the strikers lounged on the sidelines. First violence of the day came when a farmer driving cattle to market was showered with brikks as he waited to enter. He drove away unharmed.

Very few buyers were in the yards, an dalthough the commission men had declared the market open again, trading was slow to start.

CHIEF CORONER ORDERS TORONTO BABY EXHUMED

Child Alleged to Have Died Following Inoculation Given in Error by Doctor.

ENTERED WRONG HOUSE.

Homes About 50 Feet Apart, Both Had Whooping Cough Signs Up.

TORONTO, Aug. 3.—(C.P.)—Exhumation of the body of 13-month-old Evelyn Rice, who died at home July 14, was ordered to-day by Chief Coroner Dr. H. M. Crawford. The child died following an inoculation said to have been given her in error by a doctor who mistook her house at 18 Bright street, for another at 28 Bright street.

The parents instituted inquiries when they became suspicious of the circumstances resulting in the death following the alleged inoculation. Details of the case were given to the Attorney-General's Department and Crown Attorney J. W. McFadden yesterday.

The body wil lbe exhumed and a post mortem will be held. An inquest will be held if the findings of the post mortem warrant it.

No Examination.

Joseph Rice, father of the child, telling of the visit of the doctor who made the alleged mistake, said: "I was upstairs shaving. He came right by and injected without even examining the child. I didn't question him." Mr. Rice explained he thought the doctor was substituting for the regular doctor.

The child's legs went "all dead and cold," prior to death 12 hours after the alleged mistaken injection, Mr. Rice said and pointed out the doctor attending the child had given an injection some time previously and on finding how ill it made the child had ceased the treatment as complications of another disease became apparent.

Cards bearing the warning "whooping cough" were on the door of both No. 18 and No. 28 and children in both houses had the illness. The houses are similar in appearance about 50 feet apart.

EYES OF EUROPE WATCH HITLER

Believe Germany's First Foreignborn Ruler Holds Peace of Continent in Hand.

TEST THIS WINTER.

LONDON, Aug. 3. (AP)—Europe's mighty nations gased on a little man to-day and asked:

"What now?"

Governments, figuratively a bit pale, wondered where Germany was headed under the rule of Adolf Hitler, erstwhile alien, house painter and army corporal.

Uncertainty is noted in all of Europe's capitals.

First foreign-born ruler in German's history—he is a native of Austria—Hitler has shown so far that he can make the grade. He has climbed to thep oint where he holds the peace of the continent in his hands, Europe believes, now that he has become what one Berlin newspaper called "executive of the Divine will."

Dread for the future underlies French comments on the question whether he will seek a goal of friendship or assume a belligerent attitude.

Pope Pius XI is disturbed by fears that a sudden change in German rule may add to Europe's myriad difficulties.

Mussolini, Italian dictator, is watching the moves of Germany's "Fuehrer" closely.

Russia wonders what's ahead in its uncertain relations with the Reich.

Britain is anxious. So, too, are lesser nations.

The general impression is that the coming winter will bring the supreme test for Hitler. The economic difficulties ahead may make or break him, many believe.

If he can surmount the host of domemstic troubles during the next eight or nine months, he probably will be sure of an indefinite reign, it is felt in most capitals.

Nudism Fails

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (AP). Nudism was introduced into strike strategy by 160 caddies at the Exmoor Golf Club, but it accomplished nothing but a few blushes and poor scores for the second hole.

The caddies, demanding more money or no caddying, walked out yesterday as 200 members of the club and their guests were about to start out on the first mixed foursome play of the season. After offers to negotiate to-morrow were refused, each player selected two clubs and started without caddies.

They did all right until they reached the second, one of the scenic beauties of which is a pond. As the golfers appeared, picketing caddies shucked off their clothes and went in swimming.

The back to nature swimming embarrassed feminine members of the foursomes until police arrived and shooed the strikers from the pool.

LONDON GOLFER HAS 153 TOTAL

Sommerville Went Out in 34 and Returned in 44.

SECOND ROUND PLAY.

LAKEVIEW GOLF CLUB, Toronto, Aug. 3 (CP)—Ross "Sandy" Somerville, London, former United States amateur champion, had a total of 153 for the first 36 holes of the Canadian Open Golf championship to-day. Somerville went out in 34 and returned in 44, for a total of 78 to-day. Yesterday he carded a 75. His score for the first nine holes to-day was one under par.

Al Watrous, veteran campaigner, shot a 73 in the second round. The stocky Birmingham pro. was well up among the leaders with his 77-73—150. Out in 38, three over, Watrous got hom in par 35. His drives were perfect, particularly on the first nine, but he ran into trouble on the greens coming home.

Jack Littler, 26-year-old Ottawa professional blazed down Lakeview fairways to-day with a score of 69. Littler went out in 34 one under par wth a birdie two on the 142 yard third. He came home in 35, balancing a birdie in the tenth with a five on the seventh. On every other hole he made par.

Littler's 69 equalled Tommy Armour's round yesterday, bettered only by Leo Diegel's 68. Littler had a 77 in the first round which gave him 146 for the 36 holes. He was putting wonderfully to-day. In direct contrast to his round yesterday when he couldn't find the cup at all. He missed a couple of close ones but balanced it up by sinking a 15 footer on the 15th.

NEWSMEN FINED, FREED BUT KEEP CONFIDENCES

DANVILLE, Ky., Aug. 3 (AP) — Jack Durham and Wesley Carty won their long contest with Police Judge Jay W. Harlan to-day over the question of whether a newspaper man can be forced to break a confidence.

The end of the long and at times bitter fight that had cost each of them 45 hours in jail and $22 in fines and court costs came when Judge Harlan fined two other men $10.25 each on pleas of guilty to breach of the peace and announced that the court of inquiry into the hanging in effigy of Representative J. Sterling Towles was ended.

"You have kept your confidences," Judge Harlan remarked to the two 23-year-old newspapermen who had reiterated through 11 trials on contempt charges in 10 days that they would go to jail daily all summer before they would say who gave them in confidence advance information as to the plan to hang a dummy figure, dressed like Towles in the courthouse yard here, July 19.

RUSH FOR BEER IS DIMINISHING TO STEADY FLOW

Majority of Citizens Watching to See if New Machinery Adequate.

FEW ARRESTS.

Men Customers Blame Distrubances to Presence of Women in Beverage Rooms.

(By The Canadian Press)

The foam-capped flood that gushed through Ontario as the Government legalized open sale of beer 10 days ago, is receding. In its place is developing a steady, orderly flow.

But a survey by the Canadian Press in larger Ontario centres reveals the majority of people are still watching to see if the government legal dikes are capable of retaining the flow within its chartered confines.

Generally, sale of beer by the glass was met with a spontaneous response in the larger centres, the survey shows, and in the smaller places there was a race that lacked serious competition to obtain an early drink. That is gradually disappearing. The early rush has diminished to a steady trade in most places.

Those who sought strenuously to stem the flow are still strong in their condemnation but majority of people decline to comment on the new laws until they have passed through the "experimental" stage.

Public officials point to the few minor protests against operation of the new beverage rooms, while police authorities draw attention to the fact arrests for drunkenness are so few newspapers are reporting the cases.

First Arrests.

Many municipalities are reporting their first arrest for such charges, and magistrates have been lenient with punishment but stern in warnings. Only one official complaint has been received and an inspector is investigating the reports.

Bulk of criticism by the survey comes generally from drinkers themselves, who object to the prices charged for beer. Ten cents per glass, with bottled beer, which so far has proved the popular order, at 20 cents per pint, are the general fares.

BEE INSPECTION TO BE CARRIED ON

Dismissals Routine Affair Says Marshall—Many to be Re-appointed.

TOTAL MAY BE HALVED.

TORONTO, August 3 (C.P.) — Ontario bees will not lack inspection under the new Ontario Government. Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, to-day explained the dismissal of 183 bee inspectors announced yesterday by Premier Mitchell Hepburn was more or less of a routine transaction. They were appointed by order-in-council after November, 1933, the date at which Mr. Hepburn claims the term of office of the Henry Government expires.

Consequently they were dismissed by the general order-in-council cancelling all appointments after that date. Many of them will be re-appointed in the near future but the number may be cut in half.

"They inspect bees for foul breed and that is a most important work," said Mr. Marshall. "They only work a few days in the year and the reason there are so many of them is to save travelling expenses."

Mr. Marshall said 60 or more of the inspectors would not be re-appointed and the total number might be cut in half.

The inspectors have generally been named on the recommendation of the Bee Keepers' Association and through their registration fee, the beekeepers consider they contribute to the cost. The inspectors receive $3 or $4 a day while they work.

State benefits now offered in Chile include insurance against accident and death, official hospitals and free coffins and graves.

NAVAL PAPERS OF IMPORTANCE REPORTED LOST

Documents Relating to Trial of New British Ships Missing From Train.

UNDER GUARD'S CARE.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—(A.P.)— Afternoon newspapers said to-day in dispatches from Portsmouth that "highly important Admiralty documents relating the trial of new ships and guns" are missing.

According to these accounts, the loss occurred from a train in transit from the Waterloo station in London to Portsmouth. The Admiralty, however, denied any knowledge of any loss.

According to the press story, the alleged documents are supposed to have been in a red dispatch box placed in the guard's coach of a train which left London at noon. The box was in the custody of an Admiralty messenger who was accompanied by a superintendent overseer.

It was related that when the messenger and overseer went to collect the box from the guard's compartment, after the train had stopped 16 times en route, the box was missing.

Marie's Sister To Buy Bungalow By The Sea

RICHMOND, Surrey, Eng., Aug. 3 (A.P.)—Bonita Ganthony, sister to whom Marie Dressler left the residue of her fortune after bequests are made, said to-day "I may buy a little bungalow somewhere near the sea."

She has lived for 30 years alone in a little flat here, where the actress always visited when in England.

"I am over 70 and want little except quietness," the sister said. "But I am rejoiced at the prospect of now being able to help my adopted son Peter, 16, who wants to be an an electrical engineer."

Mrs. Ganthony, widow of the playwright Richard Ganthony, learned only last night of the bequest. She said she was surprised not that Marie remembered her for the sister were very close to each other—but that Miss Dressler had been able to leave so much in view of her great generosity during her life.

The Weather

TORONTO, August 3 (C.P.) — Synopsis: A trough of low pressure passing eastward from the Great Lakes has caused showers and thunderstorms in Ontario and Quebec, though elsewhere east of the Rockies the weather has been fair. It has been comparatively cool in Northern Ontario, but warm in most other districts of the Dominion. Pressure is high to the immediate northwest of the Great Lakes, but low in Alberta and northern British Columbia.

Lower Lake region and Georgian Bay.—Fresh northwest winds; fair and cooler to-night. Saturday: Fair and moderately warm.

Northern Ontario. — Northwest winds; fair and cool tonight. Saturday: Fair and moderately warm.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley. — Fresh northwest winds; fair and cooler to-night. Saturday: Fair and moderately warm.

FILE PETITION SUPREME COURT TO UPSET VOTE

Corrupt Practises Are Charged in Liberal Attempt to Upset Election.

DENIES CHARGES.

Deposit of $1,000 is Made With the Registrar of Supreme Court.

A petition seeking to annul the election of T. P. Lancaster, Conservative of Havelock as member of the Provincial Legislature, on the grounds of "corrupt and illegal acts" has been filed in Supreme Court by James Hawthorne of Dummer Township, defeated Liberal candidate.

The petition was filed this morning by Gordon and Elliott, solicitors for the petitioner, who were required to deposit $1,000 with the Supreme Court Registrar here.

Since the provincial election on June 19, Mr. Hawthorne sought and obtained a recount which failed to change the plurality of 34 votes for Mr. Lancaster.

Mr. Lancaster was not aquainted with the charges contained in the petition until The Examiner informed him during the course of a telephone conversation.

Denies Charges

"That is not very much is it", Mr. Lancaster commented calmly. Then asked if he wished to make any statement, he replied with some vigour, "You may state that I deny holus bolus any of that trash. Nothing I did in connection with the election could possibly be open to question".

He stated that it was probable that he would file a reply to the charges in the course of the next few days.

It is stated in the petition that

STORAGE PLANTS BADLY NEEDED

More Warehouse Space Be Boon to Farmers Hepburn Believes.

CONSIDERING PLAN.

TORONTO, Aug. 3. —(C. P.). — Plans for additional cold storage warehouse space in Ontario are being studied by Premier Mitchell Hepburn and the Ontario cabinet. Ontario has a surplus of hydro power and a shortage of cold storage facilities, said the Premier today. If more storage space could be provided it would be a great aid to the orderly marketing of perishable farm products.

Robert O. Sweezy of Montreal, prominent engineer and authority on power problems, and other engineers are meeting the Government in connection with plans to utilize the power now available.

The Government's plans have not as yet taken shape and no decision has been reached as to whether the proposed warehouses should be constructed by the Government or by private enterprise or whether they should be large warehouses in cities or a chain of small ones in country towns.

"I have in mind some scheme whereby a farmer could take his produce to a warehouse for storage and get a receipt for it which he could sell or pledge as security for loans," said Mr. Hepburn. "In that way he would not be forced to dump his products on the market. But would be able to dispose of them when he thought the best price was available."

The possibility of installing small storage plants on farms is also being considered the Premier intimated. If they could be obtained at a price sufficiently low the Government would lend encouragement to a move to popularize them. He had been informed, the Premier said, that these small plants could be obtained for as little as $100 each.

Heavy Damage Caused By Storm In Western Ontario

TREES UPROOTED BUILDINGS FALL POWER CUT OFF

Mother and 2 Children Drown as Boat is Swept Into Lake Erie.

CROPS FLATTENED.

Ridgetown and Chatham Areas Bear Brunt—Brantford Hospital Hit.

TORONTO, Aug. 3.— (C. P.). — Some Ontario farmers to-day welcomed long awaited moisture but others scanned flattened field crops and washed out gardens, the result of the season's worst storm which also claimed three lives, a mother and her children. Damage will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars as trees were uprooted, buildings wrecked and hydro and telephone poles broken.

Workmen to-day marched over roads and highways, cleaning up the debris and permitting resumption of traffic, blocked by fallen trees and poles. The storm's wrath centred in the Ridgetown and Chatham districts where heavy toll was taken of farm crops as the wind and torrential rains, accompanied by thunder and lightning struck the countryside

Mrs. O W Pickard, her 11-year-old daughter Lucille and six-year-old son Jerry were drowned when their small boat was caught in storm-tossed Lake Erie The craft was overturned and the mother and her children sent to their deaths. They were residents of Detroit

Rainmaker To Fore.

Although Brantford district farmers are not admitting Frank "Rainmaker" Clark brought the storm and he took occasion to complain that some one was stealing the rain clouds from this vicinity —and he admitted these clouds were absolutely necessary if he was to produce rain to order

Brant County wells and creeks, dry since June 16 were filled by the cloudbursts and parched farm lands well moistened. Other drought areas welcomed the downpours. Brantford firefighters were called to the General Hospital when lightning struck two domes and started a fire beneath the shingles. The flames were quickly subdued without interfering with the patients.

Corn and root crops were revived in Stratford, but a far different picture was painted around Ridgetown and Chatham.

Chatham Hard Hit

The worst storm in years, was the description given in Chatham reports, loss being estimated at thousand of dollars. Trees on city streets were uprooted, Hydro and telephone poles knocked down, and several houses and gasoline stations damaged by falling trees. Barns were flattened in Chatham and Dover Townships and communication lines disrupted.

It was estimated 60 per cent of the Ridgetown District corn crop was flattened, beans and onions were washed out and hail caused further damage as stones as large as golf balls tumbled to earth, ruining tobacco fields. Poles, trees and buildings were wrecked in this area also.

RACE TRACK TAX WILL BE EASED SAYS HEPBURN

Fears Some May Close and Government Lose Revenue From This Source.

LOWER DAILY LEVY.

Legislative Action Needed to Lighten Tax Placed on Betting.

TORONTO, Aug. 3. (CP).—Depression-ridden Ontario race track associations to-day had happy vision of improved revenue following a declaration of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn promising immediate relief from a portion of provincial taxation.

Interviewed yesterday by a deputation headed by A. M. Orpen, veteran race-track owner, the Premier announced afterwards "there will be some reduction of the levy on race-tracks."

The reduction will go into effect immediately, Premier Hepburn said promising he would "confer with the cabinet and whatever action we take will be put into operation in time for the Fall racing season."

The Premier pointed out the five-percent levy on the parimutuels was an important source of revenue to the government. He thought, however, unless some relief was afforded the race tracks would be unable to operate and the government would lose all the revenue from this source.

Three Types

Three different types of taxation are imposed by the government upon race tracks. They are the five percent levy on betting, the daily tax which at one time was $7,500 for every racing day and the amusement tax of 25 cents on all tickets.

Reduction in the daily tax may be carried out by order-in-council, and it is understood the Henry Government made some reduction in the $7,500 figure. The levy on betting would, however, have to be reduced by legislative action.

A. R. Loudon, president of the Hamilton Racing Association, declared last night no officials of the O.R.A. were represented at the conference.

GERMANY FACES UNEASY FUTURE UNDER HITLER

Nation Recognizes Free Presidential Plebiscite as But a Ceremony.

ARMY OATH A SURPRISE.

Choice of New Vice Chancellor to Play Vital Part in Coming Events.

By A. D. Steffcrud, Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press

BERLIN, Aug. 3—Germany gazed across the bier of her dead president to-day into an uncertain future of super-Hitlerism.

Complexities within the Fatherland and without confronted Adolf Hitler, the corporal who, by the death of the aged Paul Von Hindenburg yesterday, has become master of the destinies of 65,000,000 Germans. His weapon for successfully overcoming these problems is a dictatorial power without parallel in all Europe.

The "free plebescite" he has ordered to be held Aug. 19 to determine a successor to Von Hindenburg, is, as all Germans recognize, but a ceremony. It will rubber stamp Hitler's assumption of presidential powers in addition to those he exercises as chancellor.

Many Germans seem bewildered over the suddenness of events, even though nothing unexpected has occurred. It was considered that the chancellor would take the presidency when Von Hindenburg died, and that he would seek quickly to gain the allegiance of the army, which was Hindenburg's chief reliance.

Refuses President's Title

The Nazis, however, have moved with a nice regard for public reaction. Hitler's declination of the title of President because it "is indissolubly bound up with the name of the great deceased," is regarded as a decision calculated to retain public support.

Nazis are jubilant, too, over the army and navy's pledge of allegiance to Hitler, which was made before nightfall yesterday. These units of armed force were the most likely threat to Hitler and Nazism, and now they are bound to him by their solemn word.

There are reports that Czechoslovakian troops are concentrating on their frontier, fearing a movement involving Germans.

Much of the financial load the realigned Hitler administration must carry will be laid on the shoulders of Hjalmar Schacht, President of the Reichsbank, named acting minister of economics succeeding Dr. Kent Schmitt

Duck Race Popular Event With Children

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 3 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — Another feature for the younger set of Campbellford is a duck swim, which is being sponsored by Abram Rappaport, manager of the Hollywood Theatre. This takes place at the Black Bridge, south of town, and consists of throwing three ducks into the water and letting the youngsters swim for them, the winners taking possession of the fowl. The winners for the event yesterday were Charles Smith, Clifford Blake and Edward Grills. A very large crowd of boys and girls took the water after the birds and created a great deal of fun for the crowd of people that thronged the river bank to see the feature. Following the race, which it is understood will be a weekly event, a diving contest was held from the bridge, for which Mr. Rappaport gave prizes of free admission to the show.

ADVANCE ON SEX DETERMINATION

Embronic Germ Cells Can Develop Either Male or Female Scientist Finds.

FEWER COMPLICATIONS.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

WOODS HOLE, Mass., Aug. 3.—(AP)—New facts on sex determination, showing more of a double capacity of early embryonic germ cells to develop into either male or female structures, are described by Mr. B. H. Willier, professor of zoology at the University of Rochester, in 'The Collecting Net." They show the real progress of science, which knows no sure means of sex determination yet, despite numerous reports of scientific methods.

This progress is a rapidly growing understanding of the sex-forming mechanism—more details about what takes place during the "indeterminate period" well known to medicine. This is the period in early embryonic growth before any sign appears as to which sex the creature will be.

Studies lead him to the conclusion that embryonic germ cells, although they possess the special ability to develop into sexual structures are "really sexually indifferent, exhibit no capacity for independent differentiation. They merely have the capacity of repeated multiplication."

Their potentialities are bisexual, that is they can develop either male or female, and which way they go depends on the tissue environment about them.

This knowledge may remove some of the complications attending the search for the beginning of sex differentiation.

A Suggestion

MARMORA, Aug. 3. (Examiner Correspondence).—Two lads, just in their teens, arrived at Rooster Park recently from a nearby Ontario town to do some fishing. They had caught five mudcats when a lakeside came along "Are these good to eat?" asked the spokesman of the two. "Sure," said the cottager, "shall I show you how to take off the skin and horns in one operation?". "Yes" said the boy. "we would certainly like to know how that's done." When the task had been performed he remarked: "Gee, they should have been born with zippers on."

MICHIGAN GALE TAKES 8 LIVES

Storm Beaches Excursion Steamer With 250 Aboard in St. Clair River.

ROADS BLOCKED.

DETROIT, August 3 (AP)—Eastern Michigan, fixing its casualty list at eight dead and scores injured, plunged to-day into the task of clearing debris-strewn roads and repairing storm damage unofficially estimated at $1,000,000.

Homes and stores in a dozen communities between Detroit and Flint must be reconstructed.

The storm struck late yesterday with a fury which blackened the sky for an hour, pelted the countryside with hail, disrupted wire and highway communication, and beached the excursion steamer Tashmoo with its 250 passengers in the St. Clair River.

The dead:

Walter R. Dunlap, 55, Flint, heart attack, while moving fallen tree.

Robert Willet, 10, Detroit, drowned near Pontiac when boat upset.

M. N. Wilett, 38, his father, drowned trying to aid Robert.

Michael Roddy, 84, Big Rapids, heart attack.

Charles Van Blaircoum, Wayne, injured when gale upset car.

Mrs. O. W. Picard, Detroit, drowned with children when boat upset.

Lucille Picard, 11, her daughter.

Jerry Picard, 6, her son.

Roads were blocked four hours on both sides of Lake Erie as the gale toppled poles and trees. Even trains were stopped.

SHOE STRIKERS SHOWER MANUFACTURER'S HOME

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP)—Police to-day surveyed broken windows at the homes of George Williams, president of the Tilley Williams Shoe Company, and Colin Hall, 24-year-old employee of the same firm, and were shown 5 and 10-pound pieces of concrete which had been thrown at the houses during the night.

One of the pieces thrown into Hall's home narrowly missed striking the head of a six-months'-old baby in her crib and when her father picked her up, glass fell from the bedclothing. The infant was unhurt.

Employees of the Tilley Williams Shoe Company are on strike.

GERMANY FACES UNEASY FUTURE

who is retiring because of ill health.

Germany mourns the late President Von Hindenburg not alone for the quality of his services to the Fatherland, but as a churchman conservative and patriot who formed a tangible tie with the past

That tie is now gone, instead there is a dictator who despite Von Hindenburg's restraining influence, effected measures having a profound bearing on Germany's international racial religous, financial and class problems.

The Vice Chancellor?

Intense speculation centres about Hitler's choice for vice chancellor, now that Franz Von Papen is removed from that post by being named special envoy to Austria.

At least, three possibilities are advaned by reliable observes: General Werner Von Blomberg, minister of defence the experienced diplomat. Konstaitin Von neurath. now foreign minister; and Herman Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia who is called "the most Nazi of them all."

"The one selected," one experienced neautral observer said, "can determine to a great extent whether Germany henceforth will lean towards an increased military consciousness, as represented by Von Blomberg; toward greater international amity if it's Von Neurath; or toward an intensified Nazi program if Goering is chosen."

Yes-No Proposition

Details of the plebiscite have not been made known. It is assumed the vote will be a "yes" and "no" proposition.

The short decree by which Hitler merged the offices of Chancellor and President did not mention the constitution, a lifeless thing since the Nazis came into power.

Hitler last night, his voice choked with emotion, eulogized Von Hindenburg, once his political enemy, as "the man without whom the present government of Germany would have been impossible.

"I have lost a fatherly friend, whose death caused the entire German world to suffer a serious blow," the Chancellor said.

Toronto Live stock Review

TORONTO, Aug. 2. (CP)—Prices on all classes of livestock with the exception of veal calves dropped on the Toronto Livestock Market during the week. Losses ranged from 10 cents on most grades of cattle to 75 cents on hogs. Lambs declined 50 cents on the opening market and held unchanged for the balance of the week. Receipts on cattle and calves were heavier in volume while hogs and lambs were lighter compared with the previous week.

Cattle trade continued a slow pace with prices down 10 to 15 cents on butcher cattle and cows while canners and bologna bulls decined 25 cents. The best of the cattle were offered on Monday, and, for the balance of the week common to medium cattle were peddled slowy at low prices.

Cattle hold-overs at the close totalled 500 head. Exporters picked out the best of the weighty steers on Monday at $5 to $5.50 with a top load at $5.75. Plain steers ranged from $3 to $4.50. Butcher cattle sold mostly between $3 and $4 with tops on steers at $4.50 and on heifers, $4.40. A few lots of boners sold as low as $1.75.

Butcher cows were easier after Monday at $2.50 to $2.75 for choice. Canners dropped to 75c; and $1. Good butcher bulls brought $2.50 to $2.75 with a few export bulls up to $3. Bolognas were lower at $1.50 to $2. Fed calves were also easier at $4.50 to $5.50 for the majority with tops at $6.25.

Small lots of stockers sold at $2 to $3 but store cattle was otherwise at a standstill with many included in the holdover. Milkers and springers were a little stronger at $35 to $40 for the best.

Calf receipts of 2,500 head were 500 more than for last week. Prices on vealers stiffened a little despite the heavier run. Choice calves were mostly $5.00 with a few koshers selling each day at $5.50. The bulk of the vealers sold between $3.00 and $4.50. Grass calves were easier at $2.00 to $2.25.

Hog receipts of 3,400 head were little changed compared with last week. The market was sharply downward with a drop of 75 cents recorded for the week. Bacons closed at $7.75 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.10 off truck and at $8.50 off cars. Packers were still quoting lower prices at the close. A slack local trade was given as the reason for the drop. Advance cables from Great Britain estimate higher prices for bacon.

Sheep and lamb receipts were 1,100 head fewer than last week. Lambs dropped 50c at the opening and held unchanged for the balance of the week. Good ewes and wethers sold generally at $5.25 with some off trucks at $6.00. Culls and bucks sold mostly at $5.00 to $5.25 with a few bucks going to packers at the $2.00 discount. Sheep were again steady at $1.00 to $2.50 cwt. according to quality.

Harris Family Liberally Dealt With Finance Committee of Council Told

The family of Charles Harris of this city who recently received prominence in The Examiner and other newspapers in the province as part of the local delegation to the "hunger marchers" gathering in Toronto, were under the hammer at a meeting of the Finance Committee of City Council last evening.

Commenting on some facts brought to the attention of the committee by Mayor Roland Denne as to the generous assistance received by the family from the relief authorities, Alderman Fred. Tuggey remarked: "It should be given the same prominence in the press under the picture that appeared in the newspapers on Tuesday night."

The mayor—Yes, and it should also be corrected in the Toronto newspapers.

The newspaper picture referred to was one of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris with their two children, Thelma, 10 years, and Violet, 10 months, who had hitch-hiked to the Queen City to take part in the hunger parade demonstration. They carried a banner inscribed with the caption: "Peterborough feeds its children on 25 cents per week per child."

Providing some interesting facts relative to the family, Mayor Denne informed the committee that since January, 1933, to the end of June, 1934, Harris had received the sum of $619.91 in direct relief, and a total of $48.80 cash over and above relief for work with the Board of Works and on the Lindsay highway. In addition, it was stated the family had received liberal assistance from the Home and School Association and the local branch of the Canadian Legion.

For the $619.91 received by Harris in direct relief he did 18 days work in the wood-yard and 16 days with the Board of Works, while for the $48.80 cash over and above relief he put in 14 6-8ths days with the Board of Works.

"We know that Mr. Harris has worked on many odd jobs which did not warrant an adjustment on relief. We are also aware that this man has received assistance elsewhere," the report presented by the mayor stated.

His worship stated: "It is not fair to the Relief Board or the Council that this matter go uncorrected."

Political Writer Tom Blacklock Dies

OTTAWA, Aug. 3—(CP)—A sense of deep personal loss permeated Canadian newspaper offices today with the announcement of the death at the age of 61 of Thomas H. Blacklock, a political writer known from one end of Canada to the other. Mr. Blacklock, who had been in failing health for some time, was taken last night to the Ottawa civic hospital. He died at 12.20 p.m. yesterday.

A keen observer of statesmen and politics, a pungent commentator and a coiner of sparkling epigrams, Tom Blacklock was a correspondent of the old school. Firmly and aggressively Conservative, he was nevertheless blessed with a sense of proportion which enabled him to uncover virtues in his opponents. His popularity was confined not only to his colleagues of the parliamentary press gallery, of which he had been a member continuously for more than 20 years, but was widespread among parliamentarians of all parties.

RUSH FOR BEER IS DIMINISHING

objection to the rates in beverage rooms, with which some of them agree on the grounds their sales would be increased by reduced prices.

But hotel keepers and brewery officials shake their heads in unison. There will be no reduction until government taxes are decreased. They express interest in the announcement by E. C. Odette, head of the Ontario Liquor Board, that investigation was being made into prices of beer and a report could be expected next week.

Object to Women in Room

Reluctant to express a definite view, authorities say they have heard of little trouble. Many men customers and some hotel keepers blame minor disturbances to the presence of women in beverage rooms. Operators say there has been a lot of objection voiced in this regard.

Mostly, it is in the larger cities where women are frequenting the parlors, and hotel keepers and bartenders described them generally as the "younger class."

Provision for earlier closing seems the hope of most operators. Readiness to avoid the "last minute rush" and subsequent disturbance to guests, was expressed by many operators.

Freer sale is not without its paradoxes. Employment has increased noticeably in hotels and breweries, and to some extent in bottle works and transport deliveries. But restaurants complain of decreasing trade. Customers, they say, prefer a hotel where beer might be obtained with meals. Soft drink dispensers say the trade has taken a drop.

Owing to a special attraction which took place Wednesday afternoon at the United church, which was beautifully decorated for the marriage of one of our popular young ladies, Miss Eva Margaret Inkster, to Mr. Stanley John Sanderson, there was a large attendance at the regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid, which was held directly after the wedding party left the church. Mrs. Shearer had charge of the meeting, while Mrs. T. J. Brown acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Harold B. Wood.

Mrs. John Scott read the treasurer's report. Acknowledgements were received by the society from the sick, who had been remembered by the Ladies 'Aid. The members discussed the travelling donation boxes which are being circulated throughout the congregation and when completed will be called in and a social evening will be held Friday, August 31st, when the boxes would be opened and the money counted. The members donated $25 to the church board of managers. The Mizpah benediction closed the meeting.

Miss Ruby Dunham of West Seymour, won a cash prize of $5 for obtaining highest marks at the judging competition recently held at Wooler under the auspices of the Women's Institute, and along with Miss Vera Clark of West Seymour, these two young ladies are given a free trip to the Winter Fair held at Toronto.

A family re-union of the Way-Doxsee descendants will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 8th, at Presqu'ile. Mrs. Charles Maconn of West Seymour, whos maiden name was Doxsee, has receieved an invitation to attend.

Mrs. John Free is visiting in Campbellford with her son George and family.

Recent visitors with Mrs. John Free and brother John Lawson, were Mr. and Mrs. George Free and family of Campbelford; Miss Minnie Wright and brother Joseph of Brighton; Mr. Isaac Lawson and daughter, Mrs. Mary McGovern and children, of Oshawa; Mrs. Isaac Lawson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reid of Norwood.

Mrs. John Russell (formerly Grace Doxsee of Campbellford), and daughter Eilene of Toronto, is a visitor with her sister, Mrs. Charlie MaCoun of West Seymour.

Mrs. Hiram Revoir has returned from Pittsburgh, Pa., where she spent two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Carson.

The Misses Isabell and Lillian Morrow of Peterborough, were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wildman.

Mrs. George Van Volkenburg and sister-in-law, Miss Jennie Van Volkenburg, of Calgary, were Friday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Van Volkenburg.

Mrs. Shannon and daughter Thelma, and son Elgin of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster of Toronto, were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Redden.

Mrs. C. L. Wilde of Toronto, who has been a visitor with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Brown and family, left Wednesday night to spend a few days with her son George and family at Havelock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davidson and grandchildren, Josephine and Earl Hoffman, of Havelock, were recent visitors with Mrs. J. Scott at Norwood.

Miss Betty Redner of Rednersville, is spending the week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Davidson, West Seymour.

Quantities of crushed stone are being placed on the highway through the village.

Miss Jona Buck of Detroit, Mich., is a visitor with Miss Fleda Wildman.

Miss Mabelle Inkster, R.N., returned Thursday night to Montreal after spending a few days at the home of her parents and in attendance at the Sanderson-Inkster wedding.

Mr. J. French Diamond of Norham, was a visitor Thursday with his coushin, Miss B. G. French.

A WRONG STEP.

"They wanted to sweeten the boys with a little honey," declared Premier Hepburn in announcing that the Liberal axe had fallen on 183 bee inspectors who, he alleged, were political appointments. This is a very nice way of putting things, but what will the Beekeepers' Association, who recommended those 183 appointments and who through registration fees are paying for their services, say? Tut, tut, Mr. Hepburn, surely you would not accuse the Ontario Beekeepers' Association of playing politics. There were, no doubt, many Conservatives appointed, but in looking the ground over in this section, we know some inspectors whom we never heard listed as being Tories.

This action of the Government is a serious matter for the beekeepers of Central Ontario, for at present six counties are under quarantine for "foul brood," and the removing of the inspectors simply means that the industry will be wiped out in this territory. The inspectors have been doing a splendid work cleaning up these broods, and they had hoped that in the near future to have the quarantine lifted.

Their appointment met a long wanted need in Ontario, for our honey was failing to maintain that high standard that it had been noted for on the British market. It was the association that sought the inspectors and recommended their names to the Government. In payment for their services each beekeeper, in accordance with the number of colonies he had, was charged a registration fee by the Government. Hence, while the Government made the appointments and paid the inspectors, the beekeepers in reality were the ones who were paying the piper.

No doubt Mr. Hepburn will be hearing from the Ontario Beekeepers' Association in the not distant future, and it is hoped he will consider his action and permit Ontario honey to gain again a high place in the overseas markets.

SHOW FAITH IN PETERBOROUGH.

The decision of the Border Transit Limited to replace their local rolling stock with five reconditioned buses signifies a confidence in Peterborough and comparative satisfaction with the company's transportation business here that should afford considerable encouragement to the public.

It is true that the old buses have been developing disabilities due to their long service and mileage, but no complaints have been heard from passengers about their condition. The improvement of the company's equipment is all the more appreciated because of the fact that it has been voluntary.

The public accomodation rendered by the Peterborough Bus Lines has been commendibly punctual and comfortable, enhanced by the courtesy of a group of drivers who, generally speaking, have won friends for the company and are a real asset to it.

Frank J. Mitchell, of Windsor, president of Peterborough's transportation system, has expressed appreciation of the assistance given by the City Council in enabling the company to continue its operations here for seven years.

As a matter of fact, the Council has been able to contribute little more than good-will. Its paving extensions have been a material help, but its appeal to the Ontario Government for refund of the gasoline tax paid by the company, the rather large annual sum of approximately $6,500, failed to secure any financial assistance from that quarter.

Suggestions for an appeal to the ratepayers for approval of a grant from the city treasury for a period of three years to supplement the company's revenue and help them make both ends meet during a recent stage of the depression did not proceed beyond the preliminary discussion.

Public co-operation with the management can take the available means of increased use of the buses. Probably the new buses will have the effect of stimulating business by the reflection of the Border Transit Company's efforts and investment to maintain their service up to a standard that will continue to be not only efficient but creditable to Peterborough.

CANADIAN CORPS REUNION.

While the 60,000 men of the Canadian Corps are renewing during their present reunion in Toronto those imperishable friendships that were born in strange places and amid the perils of those crowded years of 1914 to 1918, in France and Flanders, the generation of children in that period is now of adult age, to whom the war is a long chapter of history to be read like any other chronicle of the past.

It seems incredible and some how fantastic that the young volunteers of 1914 and '15 are now past forty. The war has receded a long way since the Armistice, and yet it seems to have been only yesterday so vividly was it branded upon the world's soul and memories.

Contemporaries of the men who went overseas can imagine, feebly perhaps, the sentiment of the corps reunion, but to the post-war generation it must be an emotion that lies far beyond their conception. Even to those who were left at home while the battalions were marching off toward the seaports the ordeal Canada's soldiers passed through was a loyalty and sacrifice that still baffles and escapes their imagination. To this day their wonder persists that any man lived through those years of destruction.

How much less, then, can the children of that time appreciate the glorious and terrible significance of the reunion inspired by Toronto's centennial celebration?

The new generation was too young to have understood, if not to have read, the memorable despatches of Sir Phillip Gibbs, and because he saw so much of the horror of the war a few paragraphs from a recent reminiscence, entitled "Twenty Years Ago: A Flaming Hell," are quoted as a dim and fleeting glimpse of some of the memories that lie in the minds of Canada's war veterans.

"From personal experience I can tell only of what happened in France and Flanders," the famous English war correspondent writes. "And there from fire, to last the terror of modern warfare, its frightful efficiency in the mechanism of death, its unending slaughter, was most complete and most intensified. There was nothing spared the fighting men on the Western front. They endured every new invention, every heaped-up misery, every form of assault upon their bodies and souls.

"In the trenches young gentlemen of England—and Germany—who had been nicely brought up in good homes crawled with vermin. They sat in the stench of corruption, with bits of flesh which had been the bodies of their comrades visible about them. They lived in holes in the earth like prehistoric cavemen, and sometimes those dugouts were knee-deep in water, stained with blood and filthy gases.

"On winter days when they attacked up to Paschendael, or forward from Arras, they had to stagger through mud which clogged their feet. If they fell into shell holes with their packs, they lay there and drowned. The lightly wounded had to crawl back through this mud, a mile in four hours or so, under shell fire. They were caked with whitish clay from steel helmet to studded boots, unrecognizable, inhuman, as I saw them often. In the battles of the Somme—the Blood Bath, as the Germans called it—they were slashed to death in places like Delville Wood and High Wood, where from an arc of forty miles they were shelled by German batteries.

"Napoleon once said that no battalion could retain its morale after a loss of 20 per cent. British battalions—and German batalions—lost 50 per cent., 70 per cent. in these attacks, and the remnant was sent in again after a few days' rest. There was one death to every four casualties on a day of battle. The chances of life were thin on a second day or a third.

"Officers and men who had survived one attack in which all their nerve and spirit had been strained to the uttermost knew that they would have to do it again, and again, and again, until they should 'get their packet.' The best luck they could hope for was a bad wound—bad enough to take them out of the lines forever. What luck to lose an arm or a leg!

"There was a disease called shell-shock. It caught hold of some of the bravest men, some of the sturdiest. It made them gibber. They shook in every limb. They were just figures of quaking terror because something had snapped.

"The miracle of it all was the enduring courage of the common man, the soldier in the ranks and the battalion officers in all armies. They suffered things which go far beyond the ordeal of Greek heroes in the old mythology. The thunderbolts of Zeus were not more terrifying than high explosives. Dragons and other monsters were but harmless creatures compared with trench mortars and long-range guns. The siege of Troy was child's play when one compares it with the siege warfare from the Belgian coast to the south of France. Verdun was worse than any other human conflict in the history of war."

THE GREAT TONSIL MYSTERY.

Thousands of doctors, members of the American Medical Association, sat down in Cleveland recently to consider the humble tonsil.

They discussed methods of treating them and the various techniques of removing them.

They studied them and talked about them from every angle.

But with all their knowledge they could not explain what they were for.

They decided unanimously that the function of the tonsil was a mystery.

If the doctors don't know what the tonsils are for they are about the only class in the community that can claim such ignorance.

For everybody—but the doctors, apparently—knows that the tonsils are the finest meal ticket the medical profession ever had.

Many a struggling young surgeon has carved out a future for himself by whittling at a pair of tonsils, irrespective of the mutilated children left behind.

Indeed, the fee that could be squeezed out of a tonsil has proved the turning point in many a young doctor's life.

From the common sense health view, tonsils are to the stomach and abdominal tubes what a thermometer is to the weather.

The medical theory is to cut out the thermometer and make the weather behave.

Why, then, do these physicians in Cleveland pretend that tonsils are mysterious when it is as plain as the nose on your face that they are purely and simply the doctor's friend?—Vancouver Sun.

PRODUCING PREMIERS.

Every young man starting out in life has a desire to reach a position of fame and fortune. If his tendencies are towards public life, he would seem to have the greatest chances of success if he happens to be born in Ontario, according to statistics relating to premiers as represented in a recent dispatch.

This item relates that recent political upheavals have not altered the predominance of the Ontario-born in the political leadership of the provinces. Of nine provincial premiers in Canada five are natives of Ontario. They are, starting at the West: T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia; J. G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan; John Bracken of Manitoba; Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario and L. P. D. Tilley of New Brunswick.

Some Quebecker with a critical mind might remark that Ontario has the largest population of all the provinces, nearly one-third of the whole of Canada, and that bright lads see the advantages of getting out of Ontario as quickly as possible. Maritimers will also claim that Premier Tilley's birth in Ontario was a mere incident and that he is a true native of New Brunswick. His father, Sir Leonard Tilley, one of the fathers of Confederation, was a member of the Dominion Government and the Tilleys lived in Ottawa though they called New Brunswick their home.

The present situation, however, is nothing new. Ontario is well represented in the list of ex-premiers. These include John Brownlee and Charles Stewart of Alberta, J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatchewan, T. C. Norris and Sir Rodmond Roblin of Manitoba, with, of course, a long list of Ontario premiers.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of the Dominion claims New Brunswick as his native province, but the two immediate past federal premiers, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen are natives of Ontario. Mr. King was born at Kitchener, which was then called Berlin, and Mr. Meighen was born at Anderson, near St. Mary's.—Chatham News.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If you have money to spend it is leisure; if you have no money, it is unemployment.

A sign of the political times is the contest under way to secure the Liberal nomination in the federal riding of Leeds. A few years ago the riding was considered so hopeless from that party's standpoint that candidates had to be almost Shanghaied. But the result of the provincial election in Leeds has changed all that.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

ATTEMPTS NEW PEACE PACTS.

TO ATTEMPT new peace pacts in Europe seems a waste of time and effort. A policy of home training in the peace spirit would make a nation peace minded. Peace minded nations are the best guarantees of peace. Pacts have been overworked. Pacts have lost prestige. Take a squint at some suggested pacts.

The pacts in mind are at the present only planned pledges. The proposal is not to go to war. It reaches out in the direction of the French demand for security. But it does not go that far. The pledges are, in the second place, to bind the signatory nations to resist military action by any of the number who does so. The question, "Why new pacts," is pertinent.

Two nations are filling Europe with fear. The fear permeates all ranks of the rest of Europe. Chiefly, Russia and France seethe with unrest. Fear like a contagious disease, afflicts all of Europe. Germany is rearming. For years Germany has awaited the fulfillment of the Versailles Treaty Disarmament pact. France has not taken one step to disarm. Britain has. America has. France refuses to consider. If France continues to disregard the Versailles Treaty disarmament article, Germany has determined that for her to arm is justifiable. To both nations the Treaty is only a piece of paper. The situation is, "If you don't, I won't."

Japan is in actual preparation for war. Her mind is made up. Japan has not published to the world her intentions. Her drilling of a very large number of men in the latest military tactics and her augmented military equipment indicate a major aggressive advance. Siberia is her objective. Possession of Siberia would give Japan control of the north-eastern Asiatic mainland.

A pretext, for Japan to advance her forces into Siberia, seems to be the only prerequisite. Russian troops are on the ground and ready for action. Russian ambition is not only to hold Siberia secure, but should war break out to retrieve the glory lost in a war of the past with Japan. Russia is forgoing to the international front. She will arrive. Russia has the millions of men and the resources. She is on the way.

Germany has begun to loom as a possible enemy of Russia. Friction has been of long standing. Russia has reason to fear her just as much as she has Japan. Germany and Japan are rather friendly. In the vent of war between Russia and Japan, Germany could strike Russia a deadly blow. What more logical than for Russia and France to build a pact? Moscow and Paris are negotiating. The Pact will be a mutually defensive military agreement. Litvinov is one of the prominent international strategists of the day. The proposed pact bears the ear marks of his hand. As soon as the proposed agreement reaches a conclusion Russia will ask for membership in the League of Nations. That request granted obstacles will arise. Britain will protest. Her protest will be well founded. The success of the Russia-Japan agreement will divide Europe into armed camps.

Britain is a peacemaker. Her peace influence is felt not only in Europe but also in Asia. Had Ramsay McDonald confined himself to domestic British affairs war would doubtless be raging in both Europe and Asia. Will France lose the friendship and support of Britain by her pact with Russia? France is not prepared to jeopardize her present friendly standing with Britain. Which horn of the dilemma will she grasp? Nobody knows. The affairs of Europe are in a tangle. Both leaders and people are in a maze.

The tangle is becoming more tangled. Barthou is France. He has been visiting the nations in the Danube valley. Barthou has brains. He has a winning personality. Without seeming to, he can reach his objective before the interviewed makes the discovery. His tour through southeastern Europe was a political success as truly as it was a social accomplishment for both himself and the Danubian peoples. Barthou councelled two regional compacts. The Locarno Pact was to be the model for both. The one group of nations in the northeastern Europe were to form a compact, and those in southeastern Europe the other regional compact. Barthou has the military instinct. His plan if adopted would throw a ring of steel around Hitler and Germany. Germany would be bottled up.

You have read about Barthou visiting in Britain after he had returned from the valley nations of the Danube? He was enthusiastic about his scheme. Now, if only the British could be persuaded to acquiesce. Barthou's fervor got a chill. The British were frankly cold to the scheme. The Briton can be so frigid on occasion, and so friendly and frank. But, why so cold on the occasion? Peace is safer with Europe in one camp than in two. Before the Great War Europe was a divided treaty camp. Friction was rife. Britain is dedicated to the task of mediation between France and Germany. Britain countered Barthou with the proposal in the form of a query, "Why not bring Germany in as well as the other nations mentioned to form the Pact?" Britain was far-seeing in suggesting that all the nations bind themselves to keep the peace. And France agreed to invite Germany to come in also. Germany has not given her answer. There the matter rests. Her decision means much.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 87c to 92c; oats, 35c to 36c; barley, 48c to 50c; corn, 80c to 82c; rye, 50c to 52c; buckwheat, 60c to 62c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL. — Cheese prices were fractionally lower on the Montreal produce and dairy market yesterday. Other prces were unchanged.

On the cheese market prices were shaded ¼c, Ontario colored being 10¼c to 10¾c a pound, while Quebec cheese was quoted at 9¾c to 9¾c a pound. Receipts totalled 4,827 boxes.

Butter prices were unchanged, fresh No. 1 being 19c to 19¼c a pound in cariots or less. Small lots to the retail trade were priced at 20c to 21c a pound for solids, and 21c to 22c a pound for prints. Arrivals were 414 boxes.

Egg prices remained steady, graded shipments in cariots or less being quoted at 21c to 22c a dozen for A-large, 20c to 20½c for A-medium, 18½c to 19c for "B," and 18c to 18½c for "C." Arrivals totalled 412 cases.

New Quebec potatoes brought 50c to 60c per 80-poud bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

An upward trend showed itself strongly in grain markets yesterday, but big profit-taking sales on price advances rendered the net result about a draw.

The advances which at least temporarily failed to hold were based on August unofficial crop estimates issued yesterday, indicating the United States 1934 production of wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley totalled the smallest in forty years, and was below the average annual aggregate of ordinary domestic needs. Production of these grains this season was figured at 2,800,000,000 bushels, compared with 3,810,000,000 bushels in 1933 and 5,230,000,000 in 1932.

Wheat closed irregular, ¾c lower to ¼c higher than Wednesday's finish; corn, ¼c to ½c down; oats unchanged to ¼c up; and provisions 7c to 15c gain.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Wheat futures prices started to go places in yesterday's session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, but were pulled up short by an avalanche of profit-taking sales that erased the advances and left values at the close, ¼c to ½c lower; October, 88¾c; December 90c, and May, 93⅞c to 94c.

For a time, the session was one of the most active of the week. Responding to higher prices at Liverpool, futures scored gains of more than a cent, fell back to the previous close, started upward again, but finally, as a further wave of offerings swept over pit near the finish wound up with a net loss.

Another good day's business in the export field failed to stem the recession. Bringing the total sales of Canadian wheat in the past two days to over the 2,000,000 bushel mark, and 750,000 bushels were sold for export yesterday. Aother advance in world export prices also was recorded yesterday. Argentine offerings again following the upturn.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PINCHER CREEK, ALBERTA.

G. S. Plunkett, secretary-treasurer of the town and a resident of the place for 38 years, says there is no authorized version of the manner in which the town was named, but the general accepted theory is that prior to establishment of the first mounted police post, in 1878, a party of traders crossed the creek near the present townsite.

A member of the party dropped a pair of shoeing pincers in the creek. Later, they came back and found them in the water at the edge, and in their subsequent conversations they always referred to the place as Pincher Creek.

The name fell into common usage and no attempt was made to change it when incorporation papers were granted.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Red Williams

RIDEAU CANAL BEGUN.

On this date, in 1827, ground was broken for the construction of the Rideau canal between Ottawa and Kingston. People of the present generation can hardly grasp that this now insignificant and much neglected waterway was at its inception considered so important an undertaking that when the legislature of Upper Canada declined to assume the burden, the British government stepped in and carried the project to completion as an imperial work.

The idea was really a result of the war of 1812-14. During that conflict, the military authorities had great difficulty in transporting troops and supplies to Upper Canada, and it was suggested that a waterway from the Ottawa to the St. Lawrence at Kingston (the latter because it was fortified) would be of great advantage. In 1815 Lieut. Jebb, of the Royal Engineers, made a survey of the route, but his report was pigeon-holed until 1824, when Samuel Clowes, C.E., was appointed to make a fresh survey. He reported that the enterprise could be carried through, but that it would cost 145,802 pounds, which, of course, was out of the question, for the then very small Upper Canada. The British government offered a loan of 70,000 pounds, but Upper Canada declined with thanks and then the Duke of Wellington took a hand. He sent out a military commission which reported for a cost of 169,000 pounds. On the receipt of this report the military authorities decided to undertake the work.

Colonel John By, R.E., was appointed to supervise it and the canal was dug, by hand labor, at a cost of 715,000 pounds, a staggering sum, and on May 29, 1832, the first vessel, the Bumper or Plumper (Mr. H. P. Hill, of Ottawa, uses the former; other authorities the latter, so take your choice) passed through. By was made the scapegoat; was pilloried by parliament and died of a broken heart near Frant, Sussex where his epitaph relates that he died "after a long and painful illness brought on by his indefatigable zeal and devotion to the service of his King and Country in Upper Canada".

His monument is today Ottawa, the beautiful capital of the Dominion of Canada, raised on the foundation of shacks and heaps of stones erected by John By when he was building this waterway at such a heavy cost of public money. He did his duty; the canal served a good purpose for several years, but with the coming of the railway dwindled into a mere pleasure route for tourists and summer residents; and today there are people who would fill it in and make it a highway between Ottawa and Kingston.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Macha.)

A LITTLE GIRL ASKS A QUESTION.

She sat a long time on the brick stairs in the garden, hugging her knees, and saying nothing. She was five years old, going on six, and she loved to hang by her knees from swinging rings, and she liked to drive nails in wood, and play in the sand box, and to hug her kitten to her breast. . . . But at the moment she was doing none of these things. . . . She was just sitting, looking off into blue space, and a million miles away from the bluejay in the tree and the butterfly on the flower and the goldfish in the pool. . . . On this sunny say, it was quite plain, she had other business than playing.

And finally her father, like any other adult who can't let a child alone, said, "What are you thinking about?" . . . She came back to life and said: "I was just wondering, Daddy, what will there be when there are no more days?" . . . Being stupid, he said it would be night than and the stars would come out.

"No," she said, patiently, "I don't mean what will it be like when today ends. I mean what will there be when there aren't any days at all, when the earth comes to an end, when there isn't any sun, either, when there isn't anything at all. What will there be then, Daddy?"

But Daddy couldn't tell her. He could tell her about Washington and Edison and Napoleon. He could explain a rainbow, and that sound travels about a thousand feet a second, and light goes 186,000 miles a second. He could talk about germs and steam engines and why baloons go up. . . . He could make a stab at explaining the radio and what happens when you drown and why little girls should have more sleep than grown-ups and why cod liver oil is necessary and why she should eat her eggs. . . . But he couldn't answer that question about what comes after everything. He didn't know what there would be when the days ended.

So he told her he didn't know. . . . And though she looked a bit disappointed, he had an impression that she hadn't really expected him to know. She didn't know, he didn't know, nobody knew the answer to that question. . . . But HE did learn something from that question that he hadn't known about her before. He learned that little girls and little boys, too, think things that no one would expect them to wonder about. And he hoped with all his heart that she would be able to keep that wonder alive all the rest of her life. . . . It would be a precious possession.

ZION SOCIAL IS BIG SUCCESS

Amos Burnham Awarded Prize for Having Most Grandchildren Present.

SPORTS PROGRAM.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

PETTERICK'S CORNERS, Aug. 3. — Favored by a kindly weatherman, Zion United Church staged a most successful social event in Mrs. John Simpson's grove on Tuesday evening. Attendance was all that could be desired. The entertainment kept the crowd interested and amused while all booths reported rush business and almost complete sell-outs. Members of the Campbellford band provided musical numbers. Rev. F. G. MacTavish acted as chairman during the distribution of prizes, which were won as follows:

For the grandparent with the most grand and great grandchildren present — Amos Barnum.

For the person travelling the greatest distance to the social — Miss Jean Murray, from Presqu'isle.

For the heaviest boy under 14— Ross Mumby.

For the tallest girl under 14 — Ruth Nelson.

For the youngest child on the ground — Harriet Fry.

For the longest wed couple—Mr. and Mrs. William Irwin.

Prizes were donated by Locke Bros., T. G. Craighead, A. A. Rappapart, W. F. Scott, Casean Bros., and Rowe Bros.

Sports Program

During the early part of the evening a huge crowd lined the foul area as two ladies' softball teams battled through five innings of the exciting pastime.

Mount Pleasant girls have enjoyed a season of winning ways in Rawdon and district, while Crow Bay were the only unbeaten team among the Seymour ladies. After spotting Mount Pleasant a nice lead the Bay girls got their bats at work and poled out a win by a score of 27 to 25.

Ground conditions accounted in a large measure for the big score. Mount Pleasant enjoyed a slight edge in the fielding department, having no particular players outstanding. J. Locke and S. Atkinson were best defensively for the winners, the latter winning the game, when she speared M. White's fly, out in front, with the tying counters in the paths.

H. Fyear, F. McKeown and D. Locke, hit for three bases while S. Atkinson poled out the only homer of the game. H. Fyear and I. Turner led the losers with four runs each.

For the winners J. Ingram helped her own cause with five runs, while B. Fry and E. Stotts counted four each.

J. Ingram struck out two in the fifth when any kind of a hit would have lost the game for her team. Mount Pleasant pulled a neat double play in the third, F. McKeown to M. Hagerman.

PREY FISH BEING KILLED LAKE WILL BE RESTOCKED

YARMOUTH, N. S., Aug. 3 — (C. P.). — Eels and other prey fish in Lake Jessie were meeting their Waterloo to-day as a two-day operation of "poisoning" the lake began preliminary to restocking the waters. Unusual in Canada on such a large scale, the purging started to-day when cooper sulphate was dragged through the water to deprive the fish of oxygen. After the prey fish are dead the lake will be screened to permit the planting of fish fry.

James Catt, supervisor of fish culture in the Maritime provinces, and Dr. M. W. Smith, of the Atlantic Biological Station, and Dr. M. W. Smith, of the station at St. Andrews, N. B., are supervising the scheme sponsored by the Yarmouth County and Fish and Game Protective Association.

BACK TO WORK

STELLARTON, N.S., Aug. 3 (CP) —Striking miners of the Acadia Coal Company unanimously voted to-day to return to work Monday for at least 48 hours.

According to the polic of dispute negotiation, this will permit an opportunity for settlement of the case against William McPherson, whose suspension last week led to idleness of 1,000 men.

KIWANIS HEAR REV. ASHMORE

Conditions in North Are Described by Anglican Missionary.

PIONEERING IS HARD.

A new slogan, "Go North, young man!" was recommended by Rev. Horace Ashmore, a young Peterborough man who is home on leave from service in Anglican mission field at Hudson Bay Junction, as he addressed the Kiwanis Club luncheon to-day. The northern area of the Prairie Provinces is Canada's newest field of development, he declared.

With the first real movement of farmer settlers into the field now under way, the possibilities of the region are receiving belated recognition, Rev. Ashmore said. It required a severe drought in the south to initiate the movement yet the country is some day to be an important center of civilization.

"There are hardships. You men, even with your depression troubles, know nothing of the hardships. But the men and women who are pioneering in the country do not complain. They have a faith in the future of the north."

Rev. Ashmore told a graphic story of conditions under which humans are living up on Canada's frontiers.

"Those of you who look askance at home missions—I don't care what church you belong to—think deeply about it," he urged. "If you could know the work there is for us in our own north country, you would make it easier for us."

He told of the scarcity of the benefits of civilization which are enjoyed in the more highly populated areas. As a minister of the Anglican church in Hudson Bay Junction, he said he has found it necessary to carry out the duties of the medical man, the policeman and even the undertaker, as well as the regular duties of the clergy. The monetary rewards of the mission worker are, of course, meagre but those who love the work do not ask for monetary rewards.

Illustrating, he told an amusing story of a wedding he was called upon to perform at the Junction mission. Not only did he waive the usual fee but also bought the happy couple their five-dollar license and supplied the ring. In return they gave him two frozen fish and a sack of potatoes.

Rev. Ashmore was introduced by J. I. Allen who spoke of his work in the scout movement here before taking his departure from the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Rice, recent arrivals to Peterborough provided a musical interlude in the meeting. Mr. Rice, newly appointed organist at St. Andrew's United Church sang two solos while Mrs. Rice played the piano accompaniment.

LEEMING AND LEEMING

Phones 2786—2787

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Between current market levels and the lows of last October, demand for a very large amount of stock should develop. There are many traders who will become buyers of stocks slightly above the October lows, on the sound theory that failure to break those resistance points would be followed by a sharp rise, and even should the lows be broken they could get out without much loss. Also long range investment buying should increase on any dip close to the October lows. After so extended a decline one who has wiped out over 90 per cent of the preceding major advance, the first rally is almost certain to be followed by a secondary setback, during which action of the market will bear careful watching.

Meanwhile, reserve buying power should be maintained.

Brokers' Opinions.

Harris Upham: "The market creates the impression of having slipped into a trading rut featured by small intermediate movements of no decisive importance and with activity sinking again to low levels."

Sutro Bros.: "The better grade industrials, particularly those which would be benefited by inflation seem to offer the best medium both for investment and for speculation."

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—Reports of leading private crop authorities issued yesterday confirmed the worst expectations of the grain trade by predicting that the corn harvest would be the smallest in 31 years and adding the warning that the condition of the crop is growing steadily worse, characterized the situation as a "national disaster" without parallel in American agricultural history.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MINING SECTION.

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP).—Traders helped themselves to large portions of the oil shares today, giving that group the first stir up it has had in months. Gains were registered generally through profit-taking in the late afternoon cut the gains considerably. Volume in the gold and base metal groups was under that of earlier sessions of the week and prices showed a preponderance of narrow declines at the close.

The big golds failed to show action of any importance and losses up to 50 cents were recorded. Profit-taking was a factor in the movement of God's Lake and Gunnar Gold.

God's Lake finished about 20 cents lower and Gunnar off about 13 cents.

Another advance in the price of silver metal gave support to the white metal group, particularly Eldorado, which moved up strongly.

The majority of the base metals weakened a little, including Noranda, Falconbridge and Hudson Bay. Sherrit slipped 4 cents. In the oils, Home Oil closed 17 cents higher, Calgary and Edmonton 5, Acme 3, Dalhousie 15, Associated 5, Ajax 2 and Oil Selections 3-4.

INDUSTRIALS SECTION.

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP).—A hesitant market in the industrial section of the Toronto exchange resulted in a mild sealing down of prices today with a slightly firmer note developing shortly before the close. Volume again centered mainly in the Distillery shares with Nickel, Ford A, Brazilian and C. P. R. trailing along. The show of weakness on the New York board inspired the note of caution here.

Distillers Seagrams was the board leader for turnover with profit-taking on the week's rise in evidence. The close at 12 1-4 showed a loss of 1-2. Walkers Common was much slower and down 3-4 while Industrial Alcohol weakened 1-8 to 8 1-8. Most brewery issues were unchanged.

All the oils closed unchanged with exception of International Pete and Supertest Ordinary both down 1-4 to 1-2. In the banks, Dominion and Imperial closed a point higher.

Ford A moved up 5-8 to 19 5-8 on good volume.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP).—A quiet lower drift prevailed in most sections of the stock list today. Aircrafts and tobaccos were resistant, but declines, rails and others. Chrysler lost 2 points while Consolidated Gas and General Motors were down a point each. United States Smelting, Santa Fe, U. S. Steel and American Telephone eased. Transfers approximated 440,000 shares.

ENSIGN GOLD MINES TO PRODUCE AGAIN

Arrangements Made With New York House to Finance Project.

In an interview with C. W. Dunthorne, an official of the Ensign Gold Mines, Limited, he states that arrangements have been made with a responsible brokerage house in New York whereby finances are being raised, sufficient, it is thought, to put this company's property into production again. It may be recalled that this company is a newly incorporated one, the charter being granted in May of this year; their properties comprise some 450 acres in the well-known Sudbury Mining Division; and was one of the countries earliest producers, but was closed down for a considerable time. It is mentioned on good authority that a large body of medium grade ore has been found here, and some very high-grade shoots, which gives to the property a very encouraging picture for the future.

As soon as present finances are completed, it is proposed to place a 50-ton mill on the property and work on the present ore dumps which comprise, it is estimated, sixty thousand tons, and at the present price of gold should be very profitable for the company. There is a shaft down 350 feet and stations at six levels, where quite a lot of lateral work has been done.

New buildings will be installed and it is hoped that an early start may be made before the winter sets in. The shaft is to be sunk to a much greater depth to follow the ore body.

DETROIT—With 10 persons dead, Michigan to-day dug itself out of the debris left by a terrific wind, rain and hail storm that swept across the state from Muskegon to Lake St. Clair last night, wreaking damage estimated semi-officially in excess of $2,000,000.

Eastern Michigan was hardest hit, but western Michigan also suffered heavy damage to crops and buildings.

Ferguson In Toronto Two Months' Holiday

TORONTO, Aug. 3. —(C. P.). — Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to the United Kingdom, and Mrs. Ferguson arrived here to-day by train on a holiday which will extend to the end of September, when the former Premier of Ontario said he "has to be back in London."

Mr. Ferguson declined to discuss public matters and only replied that he was going back to London in September, when asked if there was any truth in rumours Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Canadian Minister of Finance, was to be appointed to the Commissionership in London.

CRAMP FATAL TO LAD

HAMILTON, Aug. 3. (CP).—Earl Reidy, 14-years-old, taken from the waters of Lake Erie yesterday afternoon, succumbed to the effects of the immersion in spite of efforts to revive him. Reidy was bathing from a raft when he evidently suffered cramps and sank to the bottom. He was rescued by his comrades who brought him to shore and carried on artificial respiration for hours in hope of reviving him.

BRICK FIRM'S BARNS BURN.

NEW TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 3.—(C.P.)—Three farm buildings at the Ontario Brick and Tile Company here were destroyed to-day by fire believed started by by spontaneous combustion in a hay mow.

Prompt action by the plant staff resulted in saving 50 head of cattle, 10 horses and 100 pigs. No estimate of the damage was given, although it was expected to run into several thousand dollars.

BELLEVILLE—Arthur Dadswell, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dadswell, Trenton, died from a fractured skull, suffered when he fell from an oak tree at the back of his home, into jagged rocks, 25 feet below. The boy climbed the tree to watch some mud hens at play in the marsh.

Balloonists Fall 11 Miles and Live

Major William E. Kepner (LEFT) and Capt. Albert W. Stevens, as they drank soup from a container after their world's largest balloon had returned from the long awaited stratosphere flight and landed, somewhat damaged, near Holdredge, Nebraska, in a prairie. The balloon fell nearly 12 miles to the earth, the pilots parachutting to safety.

PROBE NEWSPRINT PRICES

WASHINGTON.—A demand that Attorney General Homer Cummings investigate prices and practices in the newsprint industry was drafted to-day by newspaper publishers. They opposed a proposal to set up a newsprint planning and adjusting board, calling the idea "monopolistic." On the other hand, suppor for the plan came from the newsprint code authority and the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers.

EUROPEAN GOVERNMENTS FEAR MOVE FOR UNITY IN NEAR EAST

New Political Spirit Has Arisen Out of Turkey, Persia and Arabia.

MODERN ARMAMENTS.

(By Paul Villnoff, Central Press Canadian Correspondent)

ISTANBUL, Aug. 3.—The Near East is raising its head again and throbbing with an energy highly disturbing to the great European governments. In London, Paris and Rome Foreign Office pilots are beginning to regard with concern the intensity of a movement of a new union in the Moslem world.

Out of Turkey, Persia and Arabia, a new spirit of unity has arisen, recalling the ancient days when Moslem rule extended over half the Mediterranean world, and the Ottoman empire reached far up into the Balkans.

Saud Enlarges Domain

In Southern Arabia, a fierce desert "Napoleon," Ibn Saud of Saudi, Arabia, has enlarged his domains by defeating a British-backed king, and with his hardy followers equipped with latest modern fighting weapons, tanks and aeroplanes, Saud is casting a stern eye on unbelievers.

Recently, Mustapha Kemal, president of Turkey, who forged a strong nationalist state from the decadent and tottering debris of the defeated Ottoman empire, met with Riza Khan Pehlevi, Persia's "King of Kings," former Cossack soldier who ascended the famed peacock throne of ancient Persia more than eight years ago.

It is a new experience for the Moslem world, this sudden emergence of strong men after centuries of pleasure loving and corrupt officialdom and leadership.

For France and England, with their vast wealth producing colonies in the Moslem zones, this new spirit is one of importance, since a nationalistic spark might suddenly ignite a powerful Near East rebellion that would include India, Arabia, Asia Minor, and most of Africa.

Turkey had gone through much distress before Kemal took control. Dismembered by the World War, it even found itself invaded by Greek Nationalists in 1922 after an armistice. Magically, Kemal rallied the Turks, and in quick battle hurled the Greeks out of Anatolia, and was only prevented from regaining much of the lost territory by British troops.

The Ghazi, as Kemal is known, then proceeded to modernize the nation with a thoroughness that was astounding. Fezzes were banned, the Arabic alphabet discarded for the Latin, and "Turkey for the Turks" as again foreign concessionaires, became the law. In order to free Turkey's capital from the influence of foreign warships, he moved the government to Angora, miles inland.

The Lausanne Treaty, which Turkey signed in 1923, demanded the demilitarization of the Straits from the Dardanelles through the Bosphorous to the Black Sea. The allies had no desire to repeat the colossal disaster at Gallipoli, when sturdy Turks and Germans inflicted a terrific defeat on a large expeditionary force. But now Kemal's government would like Straits again.

For decades the question of the neutralisation of the Straits had been a sore point since Russia depended on it for an outlet from the Black Sea. Under the new treaty, complete freedom over for warships was accorded all nations, and Turkey was forced to refrain from installing heavy guns, naval bases for defence, except a small garrison at Constantinople.

The Bulgarians and Greeks likewise were restricted in militarizing their southern borders paralleling to begin to rearm and fortify the Turkish territory.

LANCE CORPORAL TAKES FIELD MARSHAL'S PLACE

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—(CP).—The Field Marshal is dead; a Corporal takes his place.

The dead president, Paul von Hindenburg commanded Germany's armies of 7,000,000 men in the Great War; the new president, Adolf Hitler, as a lance corporal, led a squad of four, including himself.

The Hindenburg line is rooted deep in the soil of Germany; four generations of Hindenburgs lie buried at Neudeck where the Field Marshall himself will be laid to rest. Hitler is a German citizen by naturalization; he was born in Austria.

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING IS LARGELY LIVER

Wake Up Your Liver Bile . . . Without Calomel, And Feel Like a Million Dollars.

Nothing can put your system out of kilter more quickly than your liver. All it has to do is stop pouring its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels—and life certainly gets grey.

That sluggish flow of bile slows up digestion and elimination and makes you "feel punk." Your stomach acts up—gas, bloating, sourness, pain. Your breath is bad and the taste in your mouth is nasty. Your head aches. Skin is blotchy. All, of course, because your system is full of poisons.

Mere bowel movers like salts, oil, mineral water, roughage, laxative candy or chewing gum are not good enough to correct this condition entirely. You're liverish and you must wake up your liver bile to be happy again.

Ask any druggist (mercury). The thing for you is a box of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They never upset you because they're purely vegetable, gentle and safe; but how they do change your view on life!

Don't waste your money on substitutes. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name—and get em! Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label. 25c. at all druggists.

Obituary

MARY ELLEN AULT.

MADOC, Aug. 3.—Examiner Correspondent). —The many friends and neighbours of Mrs. William Ault were shocked to hear that on Sunday morning she had suffered another stroke and passed away late in the afternoon.

The funeral was held from the home where a grief comforting service was held in the Anglican Church of St. John the Baptist, where the service was conducted by Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne of Bonarlaw, in the absence of the rector who took as his text, "I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren concerning them that are asleep, that ye sorrow not even as others which have no hope—1 Thes. 4:13.

Pallbearers were Messrs George West, R. McCoy, W. Scrutton, Campbell Wallbridge, Lewis Fox, William Brown.

Masses of beautiful flowers were a touching tribute of love and reverence from sons and daughters, relatives and neighbours.

Interment was made in Lakeview Cemetery beside the husband who predeceased her fourteen years ago.

The late Mrs. Ault, died at the age of 65 years. She was born in Ireland and became the wife of William J. Ault over thirty nine years ago. The first stroke came over three years ago and left her an invalid.

Two daughters, Eliza (Mrs. Jack Beal) of Lonsdale, and Minnie (Mrs Morey Nickle) of Madoc, survive her; one son Jack, paid the supreme sacrifice in the Great War; five other sons survive her, Carl and William of Actinolite, Robert, Daniel and Isaac, at home; also two sisters: Mrs. Coughan and Julia, Julia, both of Cambridge Mass, U. S. A., and four brothers, Daniel of New Hampshire, Jim, Jack and Tom all of Cambridge, Mass.

Among those attending the funeral from out of town were Mr. Andy Crozier, Mr. Malcolm Crozier, Mr. Norman Leslie and Miss Margaret Tourney, all of Toronto.

CORN PRECIOUS IN THE SOVIET

Wife of American Engineer Tells of Trouble With the Last Can.

TREAT FOREIGNERS WELL

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug. 3.—(CP)—The Star interviewing a former Sudbury girl, Mrs. Julius Gillis, wife of an American engineer working in Russia, gives her viewpoint as to conditions as she sees them.

Mrs. Gillis and her husband have been in Russia for four years. They have maintained an apartment in Moscow the whole time, but during the last two years have spent much time in Ordjonikids, southern Russia. By special permission they were allowed the two apartments, although Mrs. Gillis remarked that they were probably the only people in Russia with two dwelling places, inasmuch as all Russian houses are overcrowded.

As foreigners in Russia, Mrs. Gillis said they were bothered very little, although periodically officials appeared to tabulate the furniture in their home and measure the apartment, Russian rents being charged on the area basis.

In the Caucasus, they send out every month for food, because the stores in the village had very little variety. Mrs. Gillis told an amusing story of a minor household tragedy involving the last can of corn in the larder of her home in the Caucasus.

"The Russians have corn but you can't eat it because it isn't prepared properly. I had this one can of corn and I took it out and looked at it. Finally, I decided we should use it and that I would make corn fritters. It was so precious that I wouldn't let the maid touch it, but prepared the fritters myself. I had never made them before and had no proper utensils, a strainer and so forth. Still, they looked wonderful when they came out. When we tried to eat them, though, we just couldn't they were so greasy. I wanted to cry."

Mrs. Gillis said an American specialist had gone to Russia to make canned corn, corn syrup, corn starch, corn flakes and other corn products but that so far there was more to be bought.

"They have stores of corn but they don't know what it is. They have windows displaying the process by which corn flakes are made but when you go into the stores you can't buy any," she said.

The Russians were very pleasant to foreigners and she and her husband had special privileges. They could, for instance, secure railway tickets when others could not obtain them, and they had no difficulty obtaining food at the special stores provided for them. Although immense difficulties would arise in obtaining some article which was not a standard in Russia, chewing gum, for instance, or marmalade, ordinary food and clothing could be obtained.

A policy of ignoring rather than suppressing religion is observed, Mrs. Gillis said. "The churches are not suppressed, but they are not supported. They can't support themselves so those that do exist, exist with the greatest difficulty," she said. "It means social ostracism, more or less, for anyone to go to church."

Small Boy Is Bitten By Dog In Bethany

BETHANY, Aug. 3. — (Examiner Correspondence).—The small son of Leonard Driver was badly bitten by a dog while at play on Wednesday afternoon. The boy was injured in the face and one arm was badly chewed.

Dr. McNeal, of Pontypool, was summoned and Miss Patton gave first aid.

CITY WILL SEND 500 TO TORONTO

Local Red Patch Club is Operating Special Train on Saturday.

EXCURSION RATES

Over 500 ex-servicemen in this city have expressed their intention of being present over the week-end at the Canadian Corps Reunion being held at Toronto, it was officially stated.

Robert S. Haddow, president of the Canadian Legion, stated that while that number of ex-servicemen had not registered at Legion headquarters here a number of them had registered directly with the Corps Reunion headquarters at Toronto, and he felt confident in stating that this city would be well represented at the big celebration by at least 500 ex-soldiers.

Sponsored by the local Red Patch Club a special train is being run to Toronto leaving the Canadian National Railway station at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning and returning at 11 o'clock Monday night. The train will be routed via Lindsay and will pick up passengers at intermediate points.

Edward J. Ryan, C.N.R. ticket clerk, was unable to state how many tickets had been sold for the excursion, but he stated at least 500 ex-servicemen would entrain from Peterborough City alone. Other parties of ex-servicemen, he said, were planning to connect here with the train from Norwood, Havelock and Lakefield. He had been informed on good authority, Mr. Ryan said, that 600 Peterborough ex-servicemen are already registered with the Reunion Headquarters at Toronto.

It was pointed out that excursion rate tickets are available on the "special" to members of the general public.

LAD IS BITTEN BADLY BY SOW

Mother of Litter Attacks Lynn Trudeau Near Tweed as He Picks Up Little Pig.

SHORT LAKE MAN JAILED.

TWEED, Aug. 3.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Lynn Trudeau five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Trudeau narrowly escaped death on Tuesday afternoon when he was badly bitten by a pig.

It appears that the youngster who had been visiting at the home of his grand-father, Mr. James Trudeau, three miles north of the village, had picked up one of the little pigs when he was attacked by the mother of the litter. He was hurled violently into a stone-pile and his body was quite badly lacerated. The youngster was brought to Tweed by Dr. Hunt who was visiting at the Trudeau home and later was taken to Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston. He is improving nicely.

Herbert Patterson, visiting near Short Lake was taken into custody in the township of Oso. The accused was alleged to have sold the tires from a trailer owned by Le Sage Motor Sales of Tweed. It appears that the trailer became uncoupled from a truck and Patterson took possession of it and removed the tires.

Constable Thomlinson of Sharbot Lake acted with Constable J. Clare Hayes, of Tweed, in effecting the arrest.

The accused appeared before Magistrate Lloyd at Northbrook and was sentenced to three months in the County Jail at Kingston. Other arrests in the same case may follow shortly.

LOANED TO NEW BRUNSWICK

TORONTO.—Services of Dr. E. A. Clark, assistant superintendent of the Ontario Hospital, Toronto, and acting inspector of Ontario Hospitals, have been loaned to the Government of New Brunswick, Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Ontario Minister of Health, announced today. Dr. Clark will leave for New Brunswick at once and will investigate and report on the psychiatric services of that province for the government there. When he completes this work he will return to Ontario.

MORE RADIOS SOLD IN YEAR

Extension of Modern Radio "Bands" to Receive Foreign Stations Great Selling Power.

FAMILY ENTERTAINMENT

Canadians spent more than four times as much money to purchase radio sets in the first quarter of 1934 as in the previous year, according to the Canadian Department Stores, whose representative has just returned from Toronto, where he attended a national convention of radio dealers. This is considered one of the healthiest signs that the public purse is opening up to buy other than the mere necessities of life.

An extension of the radio "bands" to receive foreign stations is changing the entire character of the modern radio set, it is said. "I saw De Forest Crosley radio sets at the Toronto convention and exhibit,' said one merchant, "that had a receiving range so great that nineteen foreign nations could be heard, and more than fifty stations in various parts of Europe, Australia, etc. There is little question in my mind that seventy-five per cent. of the radio sets people buy this Fall will have Foreign reception 'bands.

"After the ten or twelve years that radio has been an intimate part of family entertainment, it would seem that the limits of inventive ingenuity in radio laboratories would have been reached. However, I must say that never before have I seen so many interesting new developments as were presented at the Toronto meeting. One of the new radio models has the tuning panel at the top of the cabinet, so that it may be seen easily when one is standing, instead of being obliged to stoop down to see what station is being tuned in.

"Eight other De Forest Crosley radio models have a new type of electro-dynamic speaker, called the 'Junior Auditorium Speaker,' which brings out the natural beauty of tone and voice with greater fidelity. To mention another improvement, several De Forest Crosley radios of the new World-Wide series have Triple Visual Tuning Indicators which show ingeniously the tone range, the volume and accuracy of tuning. This will enable the owner to 'see' as well as 'hear' if the radio set has been tuned in to give the maximum results and clarity of tone.

"It was announced by A. L. Ainsworth, president of De Forest Crosley Limited, that all the De Forest Crosley radios—the World-Wide series, the standard broadcast models, battery-operated models and the auto-radio will all be equipped with the distinctive, guaranteed Spray-Shield Tubes. Under this system of shielding, the clumsy metal 'cans' which are ordinarily used, are entirely eliminated, and shielding is accomplished through a meal-coating sprayed on to the outside of the tube. This was gratifying news to me and the other dealers, because it has become recognized that Spray Shielding is a more modern, and more efficient method of accomplishing this important function in a radio set.

"Those who are extra-discriminating in their choice of furniture for their homes will learn with delight that a number of De Forest Cosley radios of the new series will be available in two types of cabinets —the Moderne, and the Conventional. In other words, if the performance and price of a particular radio are acceptable, it may be had in a choice of two current styles of furniture—'Moderne' if one is very progressive in one's idea of design, and 'Conventional' if one prefers the type of furniture that clings more closely to established ideas of design."

Weddings

POUNDER—MOORE

TWEED, Aug. 2. (Examiner Correspondence).—The marriage took place at the United Church parsonage, Tweed, on July 28, of Margaret Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Moore of Sulphide, to Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pounder of Thomasburg.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The attendants were Miss Dorothy Luffman and Mr. Charles Moore.

McDONALD—WOODS.

APSLEY, Aug. 3.—(Examiner Correspondence). — A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Georges Church on Tuesday morning, July 31, when Annie Ruby Dorothy, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Woods, Loon Lake, was married to David James McDonald, of Chandos, the Rev. C. A. G. Spence officiating.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of gladioli and ferns. The bridesmaid, Miss Edythe Tanner, cousin of the bride, was dressed in royal blue, and the maid of honor, Miss Kathryn Alden-Schenck, of Buffao, wore a gown of shaded lavender chiffon with tulle hat to match and silver slippers. Mr. Archie Wilson, of Apsley, was groomsman. The wedding music was played by Mrs. George Kilborn.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents to the immediate relatives and friends, and in the evening a reception was held which was largely attended. The bridal couple were the recipients of a large number of gifts.

MILLEN-SANDERSON

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, August 3. — A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon, August 1st, in the Church of St. John, the Baptist, Lakefield, when Flora Ione, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Sanderson, was united in marriage to Gordon Eldridge Millen, second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Millen of Peterborough. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dainty frock of white triple crepe trimmed with point d'esprit ruching, with veil arranged cap fashion with orange blossoms in coronet effect. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, sweet peas and gypsophila. She was attended by Miss Greta McColl of Peterborough, who wore a frock of rose leaf pink triple crepe with faggoting trimming and crepe hat of matching shade, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses, sweet peas and gypsophila. The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Harold Millen, while Fred Hampton acted as usher. The vested choir sang "Oh, Perfect Love," and during the signing of the register Miss Minnie Payne sang "Oh, Promise Me." Mrs. J. W. Todd presided at the organ.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers used in profusion and the effect was exceptionally pretty.

The gift of the groom to the bride was a carved white bone necklace, and to the bridesmaid a carved white bone bracelet, and earrings to match; to the best man a Buxton leather bill fold, and to the organist a piece of china and to the soloist a dress ornament.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party left the church amid the merry pealing of the bell and a shower of confetti, and repaired to the home of the bride on Strickland Street, where the wedding dejeuner was served to the immediate families of the young couple. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. W. J. Creighton, M.A., and replied to by the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Millen left by motor for a trip to Rochester and points west, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride travelling in a grey swagger suit with a suggestion of blue tone, with grey fox furs and small hat to match, and grey accessories.

Mrs. Sanderson, the bride's mother, wore beige crepe with lace insets and crepe hat to match, and wore a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and gypsophila. Mrs. Millen, the groom's mother, wore a smart navy polka dot ensemble, with black hat, with a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and gypsophila.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Millen will reside in Peterborough.

The bride, who was one of the most popular young ladies of the village, received a large number of beautiful gifts which testify to the regard in which she is held. Prenuptial events include a shower by the A.Y.P.A. and a shower by Peterborough friends, and a delightful trousseau tea.

SANDERSON—INKSTER

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 3 (Examiner Correspondence)—A pretty ceremony took place Wednesday afternoon in Trent River United Church when Eva Margaret Inkster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Inkster of Trent River was married to Stanley John Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sanderson of Oxford Station, Ont. Rev. S. A. Kemp of Havelock officiated.

The altar rail was artistically decorated with evergreens and summer flowers and an evergreen arch banked with ox-eyed daisies and ferns formed a lovely setting for the bridal party.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was lovely in a dainty dress of white mousseline de soie. Her gown was on long fitted lines with tiny frills below the knes, a cape of the same material, large picture hat and lace mittens. She carried a bouquet of Killarney roses, lily of the valley and baby's breath. Miss Marion Inkster, sister of the bride, as maid of honor was dressed in maize mousseline de soi with large white hat, white gloves and sandals. Miss Mabel Inkster, also sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore a gown of pale blue net with white picture hat, gloves and sandals.

Both carried bouquets of butterfly roses, delphinium and baby's breath. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Whitney Black of Oxford Station. The ushers were Messrs. Bud and Jim Inkster, brothers of the bride. The wedding music was played by Miss Bessie Inkster, sister of the bride, and during the signing of the register, Miss Edith Roberts of Havelock sang "My Happy Day." After the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, Havelock road. The bride's mother was gowned in navy triple sheer and matching accessories. The groom's mother wore brown and white silk crepe.

Later the happy couple left for a motor trip to Muskoka and points west, the bride travelling in navy triple sheer with matching accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson will reside at Oxford Station.

Among out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sanderson, of Oxford Station; Mr. and Mrs. R. Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Roberts and daughters Edith and Bessie, Mrs. H. T. Archer, Rev. S. A. and Mrs. Kemp of Havelock; Mr. and Mrs. S. Bertrand and daughter Madeliene of Marmora; Mr. and Mrs. E. Morrow of Stirling; Mr. Whitney Black, Oxford Station; Miss Muriel Stertan of Spencerville; Mrs. M. Inkster, Bobcaygeon; Miss Mabel Inkster of Montreal.

CROPS LOOK BAD

BEAMSVILLE, Ont., Aug. 3 (CP) —Because of the long-continued drought, black rot is making its appearance in field tomatoes here. Growers are becoming pessimistic as to the outcome, for there has not been much rain between Winona and the Niagara River in the last two months, and the crop situation is beginning to look serious.

SURPRISED MAGISTRATES

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 3 (CP)—Learning from evidence presented in an assault case that the participants had spent previous time at a bootlegger joint, Magistrate H. A. Burbridge expressed surprise at people obtaining liquor any other than by legal means, now that sale is so open. He lectured both parties.

Buy the Best

Low prices attract attention but fine quality is the best 'bargain' when it comes to tea. Fine tea is richly flavoured, clear as crystal and healthful. Common tea is merely an indifferent beverage.

'SALADA' TEA

NEGLECT OF COMMON CONSTIPATION IS A SERIOUS MATTER

Prevent This Condition with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

The first question your doctor asks is whether you are constipated or not. He knows that this condition may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. It is often the starting point of serious illness.

You can prevent and relieve common constipation so easily. Just eat a delicious cereal once a day. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that found in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this "cereal way" safer and far more pleasant than taking patent medicines — so often harmful? Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If seriously ill, see your doctor — ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

SMITH FEARED TO LOST HIS LIFE

Newfoundlanders Believe Canoeist Was Drowned in Gulf of St. Lawrence.

MANY DAYS OVERDUE.

ST JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 3 (C.P. Cable) — Newfoundlanders waiting fruitlessly day after day for some sign of John Smith have been forced to conclude the young Ontario canoeist fell prey to Gulf of St. Lawrence waters. He was due at Cape Ray more than a week ago, but no report of the Peterborough adventurer, who planned an Atlantic crossing in his 16-foot canoe, has been received since he left Gaspe.

Smith, 24 years old, left Peterborough June 18 last with the intention of paddling to Peterborough, Eng., after successfully navigating several treacherous stretches of water along the St. Lawrence river, he reached Gaspe.

He left that point some days ago and has not been seen since. Tuesday last a wireless message from New Carlisle on the gulf said an unidentified vessel had picked up his body but this report was never confirmed.

Horatio Nelson was the most famous of English admirals.

Find Car, Clothes, Fear Man Drowned

HAMILTON, Aug. 3 (CP)—R. L. Vance, 357 King street, East Kitchener, is believed to have been drowned in the lake at Burlington Beach.

Vance, accompanied by his daughter left Kitchener yesterday morning en route to Toronto on a business trip. His daughter stopped over with friends at Freeman and the father, after proceeding to Toronto, announced he would, on his return, go for a swim in the lake and then pick up his daughter for the journey home.

At an early hour to-day the Beach police found a parked car on the north side of the canal containing the clothing of Vance including about $12 in cash in the trouser pockets. They immediately got in touch with the Kitchener police and grappling operations were started. It is possible he may have been drowned in the bay or canal and police have little hopes of recovering the body until it comes to the surface.

During a recent night census in London 68 homeless men and 20 women were found in the streets while 266 free beds in public welfare institutions were empty.

Agriculture, industry, education, pageantry, science, recreation, music, travel, sport, art, engineering and all the various activities of the people are portrayed in fitting settings at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Speedboat Rams Skiff Throwing Girl Into Water, Driver Jumps To Rescue

(By Staff Reporter.)

McCRACKENS LANDING, Aug. 3.—But for the prompt and plucky action of a speed boat driver in diving to the rescue of a girl after he had accidentally rammed a skiff on the dark waters of Stoney Lake last evening, a drowning fatality would probably have resulted.

According to The Examiner's information Alex Paterson of Pittsburgh, was at the helm of a 24-foot motor launch when he accidentally steered his speedy craft into the frail sides of a skiff.

Miss "Van" Jones, 26, of Toronto, who was alone in the skiff, was thrown into the water when the boat was virtually cut in two by the sharp-pointed prow of the speedboat. Wasting no time, Paterson left the engine of his boat running and plunged into the water to effect a very gallant rescue.

The accident occurred just off the landing stage here and was witnessed by a few bystanders. The incident occurred shortly after dusk had fallen, and it is believed that the skiff was not discernible to the driver of the speed boat. The Paterson craft was carrying regulation lights, it was stated.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

FILE PETITION SUPREME COURT

the respondent, T. Percy Lancaster, "was guilty of corrupt acts and practices of bribery, treating, undue influence and intimidation, and of giving meals to voters, hiring and paying for voters' conveyances for the election, as defined by the Ontario Election Act."

It is also alleged in the petition that during and after the election the respondent was guilty "of the corrupt practice of giving, lending or agreeing to lend, and of offers or promises or money or valuable consideration, and promising to procure and endeavoring to procure offices or positions and employment and money or valuable consideration to or for voters."

Further allegations set forth in the petition state, "that during the election respondent was guilty of the offence of personation and of aiding and abetting and inducing, counselling and procuring persons to commit personations and of voting more than once as defined by the Act."

The petition further charges that Mr. Lancaster paid travelling expenses of voters going to and from the election, and that he procured aliens and persons under the age of twenty-one years to vote; that he was guilty of bribery; that he gave large subscriptions to charity for the purpose of influencing voters.

Mr. Lancaster is further charged with having "solicted and received payments or contributions from corporations, liquor associations and public contractors, in violation of the Ontario Political Contributions Act, and by so doing was guilty of corrupt acts by which he disqualified himself from being a candidate at such election."

Complaints Made Of Bad Odors in City

Complaints of bad odors and unsanitary conditions were aired in committee of the city council last evening on behalf of the residents of two sections of the city.

Alderman Max Sloan complained to the Board of Works of an offensive condition on Lake street, west of George street, caused, it was alleged, by the emptying of waste glue into the storm drain leading from the Canadian Nashua Paper Company's plant. The City Engineer was authorized to interview plant officials with a view of having the practice of emptying glue into the drain discontinued.

At the foot of Peck avenue near the Ontario Marble Company's plant, Alderman James Ellis complained sewage which emptied into the river was being retained in the backwash and was a menace to the health of children who used the river for bathing.

Alderman Fred Tuggey suggested there should be notices posted forbidding swimming at that point.

After further discussion of the matter Alderman Ellis addressing the City Engineer remarked, "the people of that section are justified in wanting the condition remedied are they not, Mr. Parsons?"

The Engineer readily agreed, and Alderman Walter Stocker said he would get the Medical Officer of Health to look into the matter.

1,000 Mile Canoe Race Is Proposed

FORB ERIE, Aug. 3 (CP). — Leo Lalonde, intrepid little French-Canadian who paddled up the Niagara river in his birch bark canoe one evening last summer, after portaging to avoid Niagara Falls and lower rapids, enroute to North Bay, wants to use Fort Erie as starting point for an international canoe race, he says in a letter to a local newspaper from Quebec.

Lalonde suggests a 1,000 mile stretch and proposes following a course from Fort Erie up Lake Erie to Port Bruce, portage to London and down Thames river to Lake St. Clair from there, through Lake Huron to Southampton, portage to Wiarton or Owen Sound, thence to Georgian Bay and Trent Waterway, striking Lake Ontario at Brighton Bay, this side of Trenton, across the lake to Niagara river and back here.

Morphology of plants is the study which treats of the structure of plants.

HEAD OF O.P.S.E.

W. N. Tilley, K.C., counsel for members of the former government recalled Roy E. Taylor, Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission librarian, who produced numerous documents he was ordered yesterday to obtain.

He read a report by F. A. Gaby, former chief engineer of Hydro, which suggested at one time power for the Sudbury area should be developed on the Mississauga River instead of at the Abitibi canyon.

Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., Royal Commission Counsel, held Mr. Gaby had recommended the Mississauga development in preference to that at Abitibi canyon.

Mr. Tilley asked Mr. Taylor to produce a report in which Mr. Gaby compared the merits of the two prospective developments.

Proceedings were extremely slow as counsel continued to place documents in the exhibits.

William H. Smith, former treasurer of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, was called by Mr. Slaght. Mr. Smith said he had been treasurer of the bankrupt company until May 28, 1930. At one time, he said, he had been assistant managing director.

The Abitibi was the parent company of the Ontario Power Service Corporation, whose assets were acquired for the Ontario Government by the Ontario Hydro Commission.

$50,000 Yearly.

Smith revealed Alexander Smith, president of the two companies, received a salary of $12,000 in 1926, in addition to an expense account of $15,000. The salary jumped to $50,000 by 1928 and the expense allowance to the same amount. Witness said there was no record of what the expense allowance covered.

The salary and expense allowance remained stationary in 1929 and 1930, but in 1931 the president received a five per cent. salary cut during the last five months of the year, which made his salary for the year $40,000. In 1932 he got $20,400 for the eight months before the company went into receivership, August 31. His expense allowance, however, had not been cut.

The president attended eight meetings of his company's board in 1929 seven in 1930, 10 in 1931, nine in 1932.

He said the company controlled four power companies and nine paper mills in Canada. To some of these plants, he said, the president paid three or four visits a year and stayed a day or two at each. He also entertained in New York publishers using the companies' paper.

Witness produced a resolution of the Abitibi company directors authorizing President Smith to sign a contract with the Hydro Commission for sale to the commission of 100,000 horsepower of electrical energy.

The power was to be sold by the O. P. S. C.

Witness said he was director and treasurer of the O.P.S.C. He revealed J. H. Black, one-time director of the O.P.S.C., left the company in 1932 to become an officer of the Dominion Construction Company. He said Black did not hold office in both companies at once.

Cost of Surveys.

The Abitibi Company, witness said, had invested money in the O.P.S.C. in the form of cost of surveys and such work, but placed no further cash in the company.

It put up no capital for the company, which was financed through a bond issue.

Mr. Justice Latchford asked what the O.P.S.C. had to lose at the time of its contract with Hydro'

Mr. Smith admitted the parent company had spent $5 for incorporation of the company but had no assets of its own'

He said the Abitibi Company stood to lose because it "guaranteed performance" by the O.P.S.C.

Mr. Slaght asked if the Hudson Bay Power Company, predecessor of O.P.S.C., had any assets when it obtained its power lease from the Ontario Government in 1926.

The witness said the Hudson Bay Power Company was merely a development company. It had no assets of its own. He said the parent company was not liable for failure of its subsidiaries to fulfill its engagements.

Mr. Slaght asked why the minutes describing a report of President Smith for sale of power "as though they were with Hydro Commission alone," when the witness said negotiations had been carried on with members of the government.

Witness declined to attach any importance to the apparent discrepancy. He said there was "nothing studied about it," and no effort to conceal with whom the negotiation had been held.

Mr. Slaght asked why the Abitibi Company had sought to sell through the O.P.S.C. Power to the Hydro Commission and have its subsidiaries rebuy some of the power.

Witness said he thought it possible it was desirable to sell the power in a block of 100,000 and that he could think of no other reason.

Counsel asked if it would not be fair to say the contract was made solely with the purpose of giving value to the O.P.S.C. bonds.

Smith said that was not a fair statement.

Mr. Slaght asked if Victor Mitchell of Montreal, had not been paid $78,000 for his part in obtaining power contracts in 1930 for the O.P.S.C.

Witness said he believed he was paid about that amount. Mr. Mitchell died in 1931.

J. C. M. McRuer, K.C., Hydro Commission counsel, asked if the witness recalled an attempt by the provincial Securities Corporation to float a $20,000,000 bond issue for Hudson Bay Power Company which failed when the security company said it could not float more than $38,000,000'

Mr. McRuer asked why the company had changed its name to the O.P.S.C., but the witness did not recall the reason. He promised to search his fyles in an effort to clear up the point.

He did not think Alexander Smith had a controlling interest in Abitibi stock although he had the largest individual holding. He said the company and its subsidiaries had about 30,000 square miles of timber leased for cutting.

Mr. Slaght said he had no further witnesses to call at the moment. He applied, however, for authority to call witnesses and insert documentary evidence should he find any subsequently.

Three policemen were the only mourners at the funeral in Dufftown, Scotland, of M. Searle who was killed while trying to scale Ben Rines mountain, and he was buried in a pauper's grave.

6 MONTHS' GUARANTEE FOR ISHBEL'S GIFT PUP

POINT UPPER, N.S., Aug. 3.—(CP)—Miss Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of Great Britain's Prime Minister had only one worry as she and her father started on the last leg of their journey through Canada's maritime provinces. Before leaving England she had lost her dog but at Saint John she was presented with a Scotch terrier. The worry comes in getting her new pet into England, for her father has told her that according to the laws of the country, it will have to remain six months in quarantine. And he should know.

Today the two famous visitors planned a trip through the Highland country of New Scotland, for they had set foot on Cape Breton Island where the older inhabitants still "Ha' the Gaelic." Last night they rested in their private car Loch Lomond on a siding a few miles from here.

HINDENBURG'S DEATH RECALLS FAMOUS WARTIME TRENCH LINE

Triple Fortification System Saw Thousands Slain Before Falling to Allies Oct. 5, 1918.

GERMANS' LAST STAND.

(By The Associated Press)

Even as President Von Hindenburg was regarded by many conservative Germans as their last bulwark, so was the Hindenburg Line the last defence of the German armies in France during the war.

The death of the venerable statesman and general yesterday was just six days before the 16th anniversary of the turning point in the great struggle, the turn which led to the collapse of the Hindenburg Line and assured Germany's defeat.

One of the most famous of great war fortifications, the Hindenburg defence was not literally a line.

Triple System

It was a series of lines, three major systems of trenches with many ramifications. These trenches stretched northward and northwestward from St. Quentin, occupied by the Germans. They blocked the Allies' path to Cambrai and ended near Arras, which was held by British forces.

They formed a deadly arc for the Allied forces to invade. Well inside the Germans' farthest line of advance, they had been heavily wired and studded with machine gun nests. The master mind in their preparation had been the Prussian Chief of Staff, Marshal Paul Von Hindenburg.

But the Allies went through.

Canadians launched the attack on August 26, 1918. The Dominion and Imperial forces bore the brunt of the battle.

The attack began outside Arras and swept forward irresistably. By September 1, the Canadian and Imperial troops were ready for the assault on the second line, the Drocourt-Queant line.

Again with Canadian for a spearhead, the Allied troops stormed the German trenches, drove back the invaders. So thoroughly successful were they that on the night of September 2-3 the Germans fell back to their third formidable line along the Canal du Nord.

Special Preparations.

The Canal du Nord, however, was far too strong a natural position to warrant attack without very careful preparation.

Fighting turned southward and the Germans, after days of hard fighting, were driven back to the Hindenburg Line all the way to St. Quentin.

On Sept. 27 all was ready for the grand attack. Under Marshal Foch four great offensives were to be launched, including that on the Hindenburg Line. If this highly organized defence could be cut, transportation lines would be severed and the German cause on the other fronts hampered.

Rafts, mats and even lifebelts were to be used to cross the canal in the face of terrific fire. Engineers swung bridges into place behind the shock troops and by the night of Sept. 29 the reserve line had fallen.

On October 1 the French took St. Quentin and by October 5 the British had consolidated their position.

MILK PRODUCER MUST GET MORE

the purpose of the board is to see that the producer, the distributor and the consumer each gets a square deal. In the present situation it is the producer who needs protection, he said. Farmers depending on milk for their living are in a bad way. If the industrial world is to return to prosperity the farmer must be paid more for his produce so that he will be returned to the nation's markets as a buying power, he argued.

Turning to the matter of milk distribution, he declared that the idea that each man should be allowed to sell his wares at whatever price he pleases is fine in theory, but impractical in times of stress such as the present time. One man should not be allowed to undersell others if their prices are fair. Price-cutting results in general price wars, the rate to the producer necessarily drops and the consumer is the ultimate loser as the producer is forced to market an inferior grade of milk, he said.

Mindful of the fact that retail prices in Peterborough vary all the way from five cents to nine cents per quart, he asserted, "Something must be done to aid the producer by the Government. The institution of an even retail price schedule is the best way to help him. We can't order what the prices are to be, but we can remind distributors that we have wide licensing powers. Our policy is to allow the producers and distributors to get together themselves on a fair code."

Commenting that the possible interference of the board in cases where individual distributors fail to fall in line might seem a drastic infringement on private rights, Mr. Houck reminded that Government bodies in both England and the United States have found it wise to exercise similar powers during several years past. However, in Toronto and other centres where the board's policies have already been worked out, the distributors have been almost unanimous in admitting that supervision has brought greatly improved conditions, he reported.

Mutual Action.

Dealing with the suggestion that local distributors find the means to pay better prices to the producers, he said that mutual action along price-levelling and economy lines will result in increased revenues and make possible a better rate for the producers. With a levelling of retail prices, volumes will be increased, he said. "I understand that most of your stores enjoy a price spread of two and three cents a quart. We feel that that is too much. If you men could agree on an even price of eight cents for the stores you could pick up some slack there and pass it on to the farmer."

During an open discussion of the local situation, E. R. Milburn, of Smith, speaking as a producer, informed Chairman McFeeters that the general rate paid the producer here averages around $1.20 per hundred pounds on the 3.4 per cent. butterfat basis. He said that he and other producers felt they were entitled to "a little more."

The chairman asked what proportion of the milk distributed in the city was sold at the nine-cent price which the dairy plants are maintaining. G. A. Gillespie, of Silverwood's, estimated that the proportion was little over 35 per cent. Raw milk dealers have cut in heavily on the pasteurized milk trade during the past several years, he said.

Mr. McFeeters said it has been the policy of the board in several cases to allow the producers to set the retail prices. "Is it the feeling of the producers that a standard nine-cent price to the consumer would be satisfactory?" he asked

"With conditions the way they are I don't think you can get any more," Mr. Milburn replied. "What does the board think is fair payment to the producer with the retail rate at nine cents?"

Difficult Question.

"That is difficult to say. It depends on a number of local conditions."

Mr. Nelson stated that at Belleville where a nine-cent retail price prevails the regular rate to the producer is $1.50 a hundred.

Mr. Gillespie: "Under present conditions I find it impossible to pay more than $1.25."

Mr. Houck: "With things smoothed out in the local milk trade, could you give more than $1.35?"

Mr. Gillespie: "Possibly I could. Conditions could be much improved in the city."

"The board has three parties to consider—the producer, the distributor and the consumer," Mr. Houck said. "I don't think the distributors will find any hardship in paying better prices to the farmer if all are in line on a standard retail price level."

Mr. Gillespie: "Do I understand that you will stand behind us if we reach an agreement by ourselves?"

Mr. Houck: "That is our policy."

Although Mr. McFeeter, Mr. Houck and Mr. Nelson were scheduled to arrive in Peterborough at 3 o'clock, they failed to appear until some time after 6 p.m., unavoidably delayed. A gathering of more than twenty men waited during the afternoon, but many found it necessary to return to their homes before the meeting opened. Among those present were: Frank Kelly, W. Merritt, Norman McConkey, Harold Cathcart, of Springville; W. L. White, North Monaghan; E. R. Milburn, Smith; Edward Butler, Otonabee, president of the Peterborough Milk Producers' Association; William Anderson, Otonabee; Carl Campbell, Percy Castle, president of the Peterborough Raw Milk Distributors' Association; F. J. Brockwell, secretary of the Peterborough Raw Milk Distributors' Association; G. A. Gillespie, Leonard Clancey and V. S. Milburn, Smith, vice-president of the Ontario Whole Milk Producers' Association.

CAVAN SCHOLARS PICNIC AT COBOURG

Very Pleasant Outing is Held by United Church Sunday School.

CAVAN, Aug. 3.—(Examiner Correspondence).—On Tuesday afternoon Cavan United Church Sunday School held a very enjoyable picnic at Cobourg. A truck conveyed thirty members of the Sunday School and ten cars filled with pupils and their friends motored to Cobourg to enjoy the pleasant outing.

Presentation Made.

During the afternoon the pupils and ex-pupils of S. S. No. 5 presented their teacher, R. A. Sutton, with a beautiful walnut end table, Miss Dorothy Cobbley, an ex-pupil, read the address, and two of the younger members of the school made the presentation. Mr. Sutton was completely taken by surprise, but in a few well-chosen words expressed his thanks and appreciation of the gift.

A picnic supper was one of the enjoyable features of the program.

Mr. Lorne Sisson and son, Tom, motored from Rochester this week and are visiting Mrs. Ida Keegan and other friends in Cavan and Bethany.

Mrs. McGuire, Bowmanville, is visiting her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Eber Syer.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Staples were visitors in South Monaghan on Wednesday evening.

BETHANY.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Monk and son, Karl, with their niece, Miss Olive Howden, of Redbera, Sask., were visitors to Toronto on Wednesday.

Mr. William Davis and Miss Lila Davis were business visitors to Lindsay on Wednesday. Mr. and Miss Davis are spending the remainder of the week with friends at Manvers Station.

Mrs. Cecil Argue and babe were guests of friends at Manvers Station for a couple of days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnston spent Tuesday with their daughter and family, Mrs. Milton Fallis, Millbrook line.

Miss Robinson, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. Herb Fallis, Jr., for a few days.

Mr. Harry Lee, of Toronto, spent a short time with his parents the first part of the week.

Mr. Victor McCartney, of Cornwall, has been in close attendance at the sick-bed of his father, who was confined at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

MARIE DRESSLER BARS HER KIN

Sister Gets Bulk of $300,000 Estate of Noted Actress.

REMEMBERS SERVANTS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—The will of Marie Dressler, Cobourg, Ont., veteran screen actress, was filed for probate to-day. Actual value of the estate was not given, but was estimated to be $300,000 or more.

Mamie Cox, negress maid, who was in Miss Dressler's service for a quarter of a century, was bequeathed $25,000 and all the actress' wearing apparel.

Jerry Cox, the maid's husband, and chauffeur and houseman for the screen star, was left $15,000 and her automobiles.

Other bequests are made, the actress' sister, Bonita Ganthony, residing in England, is to have the remainder of the estate.

Bars Impostors.

As a precaution against impostors who might attempt to claim a share of her estate, and against relatives she did not wish to remember, Miss Dressler stated in her will, dated in May, 1934, that she disinherited all persons who might lawfully be determined as heirs-at-law, those she named in the will excepted.

Mrs. Robert Morris Phillips, New York society friend of the actress, was given a diamond bracelet; Ida Sutcliff, a cousin, was bequeathed $5,000, and May Duryea, an old friend, $5,000.

A valuable diamond and pearl brooch was left to Miss Dressler's close companion, Frances Maron, who wrote the script for several of Marie's screen successes. Miss Maron is a former San Francisco newspaper woman.

Alan B. Walker, a friend of long standing, who, with Mrs. Walker, was at the bedside when Miss Dressler died, was named executor of the estate without bond. The actress requested them to reside in her Beverly Hills home until it is sold, and Mr. and Mrs. Cox are to continue as servants there until the sale, receiving their regular salaries until the estate is settled.

BENSFORT.

Dr. Walter Dawson and Miss Annie Dawson, of Toronto, spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dawson.

Miss Helen Thornton, Miss Phoebe Ross and Miss Kay Barnard, of Toronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Barnard on Sunday.

Born — To Mr. and Mrs. John Nurse, a daughter, Audrey Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Reid and son, Allen, of Peterborough, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Nurse on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Nurse, of Fowlers' Corners, visited in the district on Sunday.

Miss Elva Jewison, of Bailieboro, visited Miss Lulu Nurse on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Perrin, of Peterborough, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Perrin.

Misses Jean and Margaret Gordon, of Northern Ontario, are visiting friends in South Monaghan.

FLOWER SHOW HAS 86 CLASSES

Several Cups Are Being Offered at Annual Show.

IN LEGION HALL

All exhibits for the Peterborough Horticultural Society's annual flower show must be staged not later than 12 o'clock noon or Thursday, August 16th, in the Legion Hall, Murray street.

Every class of flower is catered for in the prize list and the show is designed to call forth exhibitors' skill in showing splendid individual blooms in such flowers as dahlias, gladiolus, roses, lilies, sunflowers, groups of annuals, perennials, classes calling for art in arrangement, such as dining table decorations, vases, baskets, further a decorative display to occupy 12 square feet of space giving opportunity for displaying a great variety of flowers to be artistically arranged demonstrating exhibitors' ideas of display work.

There are thirty-six classes for gladiolus. Then there are asters, pinks, pansies, marigolds, stocks, gaillardia, zinnias, scabions, petunias, phlox, sweet peas, carnations, nasturtions, shrub blooms, pot plants, foliage, or in flower and ferns.

Several cups are up for competition, bronze and silver medals of the Canadian Gladiolus Society and money prizes ranging from 25 cents to three dollars.

Gladiolus fans bring along your seedlings and qualify for an award of merit should they rate 85.

This is going to be a big show, so why not come along to make it bigger.

Make application for membership and prize list to W. G. P. Benton, phone 561, or J. A. Smith, phone 2442J, right now.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY IS CHARGED AS BEING COMMUNISTIC CENTRE

Reds Losing Ground Among Workers Find New Support Among Students.

MANY PROFESSORS JOIN.

(By Central Press Canadian)

LONDON, Aug. 3—While Socialism is becoming unpopular with the British working classes, it is gaining steadily among the younger intellectual groups.

The decline among the industrial workers is indicated by the figures recently published which shows the decline in membership of the Trades Union Congress and the Labor party.

But the increase among the students is shown by the activities at the Oxford University and the London University. Throughout the country the schools and universities show that many of the teachers and many of the elder students are now actively engaged in propagating the ethics of Karl Marx and the Russian idealizations.

Reds at Oxford

However, the strongest representation of Socialism and Communism is at Oxford and London. The London School of Economics, which is part of the London University, is the chief centre in London. This school was founded by a legacy left to a trust over which Lord Passfield is the head, to propagate the principles of Socialism to the intellectual classes.

It is the boast of the professors of the London School of Economics that they are training among their students the future administrators of the Socialistic state.

First among the activities of the students is the London School of Economics Labor Party, actively and avowedly engaged in the furtherance of Socialist principles. Then there is the London School of Economics Marxist Society ,and there is a belief that there is a strong working agreement between this party and the Communist party.

In the list of lectures down for the current session all the lecturers are avowed Communists, such as Ivor Montagu, who is lecturing on "Proletarian Art"; A. Rothstein, "Liberty and the Soviet"; Bert Williams, "Reformism and the Capitalistic Crisis"; and so forth.

Communist Clubs

At Oxford, the Oxford University Labor Club, with about 600 members, has for its purpose the active propagation of Socialist doctrines among the undergraduates. Its chief supporters are Professor G. D. H. Cole, and the master of Baloil, A. D. Lindsay.

There is also the October Club, a purely Communistic organization, with between 200 and 300 members. After these come the Oxford University Anti-War Committee and the Oxford Council of Action.

About a year ago the Socialist dons at Oxford formed a club, but have since converted it into an organized Labor party for the University constituency. It is designed to include both present undergraduates and past graduates of the university, who still have a university vote and who still believe in the Socialistic state.

Similar activities at Cambridge, but not on such a large scale as at London and Oxford.

Caught With Bomb Nazi Jailed For Life

VIENNA, Aug. 3 (CP-Havas)—President Wilhelm Miklas to-day commuted to life imprisonment at hard labor the death sentence meted out to Edward Honisch, a Nazi, by the Vienna court martial.

Honisch was the first Nazi to receive the death penalty under the Explosive Act, although three Nazis have been hung by order of the Vienna and Innsbruck courtmartial for participation in the attempted coup July 25 which resulted in the killing of Chancellor Dollfuss.

The charge against Honisch was mere possession of explosives.

CAVALRYMEN TO MEET HERE

The nineteenth annual meeting of the Canadian Cavalry Association is to be held in Peterborough this Fall probably in October, Alderman Max Sloan, who holds the rank of Major in the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons told the Reception Committee of the Council last night.

As chairman of the committee Alderman Sloan requested a grant of $100 towards the entertainment of many distinguished visitors who are expected. He estimated that about forty delegates would be present representative of the entire Dominion.

On motion of Alderman R. S. Cotton, seconded by Alderman George Macdonald, the committee recommended that Alderman Sloan be authorized to act in the matter with the understanding that the cost of entertaining the delegates would not exceed the amount requested.

FREAKS OF NATURE.

The Examiner's attention has been drawn recently to two freaks of nature in the vegetable kingdom. T. O'Connor of 168 Hazlet; street, has unearthed a small elm branch growing out of a knot. Apparently when the knot was forming a seed dropped into it and after germinated and the small branch grew. F. E. Trennum of Marmora, while walking in a nearby woods the other day, discovered a portion of a scythe hanging from a tree and on investigating found the tree had completely grown around the other section of the scythe. He estimates that the scythe must have been left hanging on a branch at least 40 years ago.

EX-KAISER'S SON BRINGS TRIBUTE TO HINDENBURG

Once Heir to Throne Only One of Thousands Mourning Old Warrior.

SPECIAL SERVICES.

(By Guenther Beukert. Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press)

NEUDECK, Germany, Aug. 3.—Germany's former Crown Prince arrived to-day at Neudeck, now a nation's shrine, bearing condolences of the Hohenzollerns for the death of their one-time war servant, Paul Von Hindenburg.

Frederich Wilhelm, once heir to the throne, was, however, but one among thousands of mourners for the old warrior-statesman.

The body of the President lies in state in a huge room of the ancestral estate he loved so well. Fifty candles flicker nearby.

A special guard of honor, at stiff attention, watches.

Messages poured in from throughout the world—from kings and commoners. East Prussian farmers, neighbors of the President, sent expressions of their grief along with rulers.

Germany will bid Von Hindenburg farewell Tuesday at Tannenberg. The orator will be Adolf Hitler, who gathered to himself the venerable leader's authority upon his death yesterday.

No Women at Service

Special ceremonies will be held Sunday night at the National war memorial at Tannenberg — ceremonies from which women will be barred.

August Wilhelm arrived by aeroplane this morning. He is staying at the estate of Von Hindenburg's old crony, Elard Von Olenburg-Anuschau.

Humble woodchoppers and other workers on the estate paid their final respect to their master. They filed sadly through the room where Von Hindenburg's body lay.

Churches—both Protestant and Catholic—were ordered to toll mourning chimes for one hour every night from 8 until 9 until the day of the funeral. A 14-day period of mourning is being observed by the nation.

Services at Tannenberg will begin at 11 a.m. Tuesday (5 a.m. E.S.T.) The body will be placed in one of the high towers on a corner of the monument.

The spot where Von Hindenburg is to be buried is the one where he denounced "the German war guilt lie" in 1927 when dedicating the monument.

U.S. TO BOLSTER AIR DEFENSES

Will Spend $33,000,000 Encircling Nation With Latest Guns, Lights.

MORE REGIMENTS.

By Lloyd A. Lehrbas,

Copyright 1394 by Associated Press.

WASHINGTOI, Aug. 3. — (A.P.). —The war department has perfected a $33,000,000 plan to encircle the United States with anti-aircraft defences.

The plans will be laid before the next session of Congress.

They call for the newest thing lights and fire control equipment for:

1. Eight regular army regiments
2. Seven National Army Regiments.
3. Nineteen inactive regular army regiments.

The disclosure follows studies by war department experts, who called United States anti-craft defences inadequate.

Secretary of war George Dern, as a result of a recent inspection, is described as feeling that the Panama Canal is seriously lacking in defence against enemy aircraft.

Army men are moving to strengthan their air forces, also, the air corps has submitted a programme to buy about 1,000 planes to bring its fleet up to the 2,340 urged by the Newtotn D. Baker investigating board. The general staff's approval is expected soon.

Congress has the say about providing the money. Although the programme is designed for 1936, it is not expected that more than 500 planes will be purchased that fiscal year. That, with other purchases already planned for the interim, would give the army 1,800 serviceable planes.

All conductors of the great British military bands must graduate from the Royal Military School of Music, Kneller Hall. It is the band of that famous institution that headlines the music program at the Canadian National Exhibition this year.

Five Feared Dead After Ohio Storm

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 3 (AP)—A furious wind and rain storm which streaked out of Lake Erie last night at a 75-mile-an-hour clip, claimed probably five lives, and wrought property damage in six figures.

Three Youngstown residents who left Ashtabula in a row boat to fish in the lake were missing to-day, and Coast Guardsmen who hunted them feared they were drowned.

They were Earl McCauley, 33; John Dixon, 28, and John Flannery, 34.

The bodies of Paul Peth, 34, and his stepson Daniel, 11, of Toledo, were washed ashore at Reno Beach near Bono, O., this morning. They had been fishing at West Sister Island.

SLOT MACHINES ARE DISCUSSED BY COMMITTEE

Question is Left in Hands of Mayor, Who is Member of Police Commission.

BAD INTERSECTION.

City Engineer is Authorized to Make Repairs at Queen Mary Hospital.

The question as to the legality of slot machines was broached by Alderman Fred. Tuggey at committee meetings of City Council last evening. Following some discussion of the question, Alderman George Macdonald suggested the matter could be safely left with the mayor to deal with.

"Judge Wearing has been having enough trouble over this matter in London," Alderman Walter Stocker reminded his fellow committeemen, apparently trying to head off a discussion which he could see materializing.

"Yes, but the fact remains that the average kid is losing all his wages each week on these machines," Alderman Max Sloan alleged.

Questioned regarding the legality of slot machines, City Clerk S. R. Armstrong remarked: "It all depends on the type of machine as to whether they are legal or otherwise. They are stated to be legal if they vend gum or candy."

Commission Should Act.

Alderman Tuggey insisted that it was a matter which the Police Commission should consider. He felt that it was a matter that the commission should be asked to look into.

Among other matters taken up by the Finance Committee, with Alderman Macdonald presiding, was the passing of special accounts. During consideration of one of the accounts respecting an indigent patient at St. Joseph's Hospital, it transpired that the young woman in question was the member of a family in receipt of a total income of $309 per month.

While it appeared to be the general opinion of the committee that the city would be responsible for the hospital bill, it was recommended to Council, on motion of Aldermen Tuggey and Stocker, that the city solicitor be asked to look into the question of tax remission which had been granted to the family for the past eight years.

At the recent sale of lands for taxes, it was reported to the committee the city had purchased lots which were redeemable by the former owners at a total cost of $3,067.67.

Dangerous Intersection.

The attention of the Board of Works was called by the mayor to a dangerous situation that exists at the Downie and Simcoe streets intersection. While City Engineer Roy Parsons estimated that cost of improvements at this point would approximate $1,000, no action was taken on the matter.

The city engineer was authorized to rebuild the septic tank at Queen Mary Isolation Hospital, and also the drainage system in connection, at an estimated cost of $300-$400. The expenditure is to be charged to the Queen Mary Hospital account.

Alderman Stocker, who brought the condition to the attention of the Board of Works, stated it had been brought to light as a result of the inspection undertaken by the newly appointed M.O.H. and himself on the day previous.

Chief's Car Repainted.

As chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, Alderman Malcolm McIntyre reported that the fire chief's car had been recently returned after having been repainted. The job had been done through Hood and Cummings at no cost to the city, the committee chairman stated, in acknowledging the good service given by Hood and Cummings. The original paint on the chief's car had cracked badly, it was stated, owing to the fact that it had been a rush job in the first place.

Household Hints

MENU HINTS

Hot Dogs Potato Chips
Olives or Home-made Pickles
Celery Cherry Pie
Coffee

This menu is suggested for a picnic meal. It is nice to make individual cherry pies. They are easier to eat at a picnic and to serve.

Today's Recipes

Cherry Pie.—Three cups cherries, one and one-half cups sugar, two tablespoons flour. Stone cherries, mix with the sugar and flour and bake between crusts or bake in one crust, in a hot oven, 405 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes. Lower temperature and bake about 25 minutes.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Peanut Butter Frosting

Cream together three tablespoons butter, three tablespoons peanut butter, and one and one-third cups confectioner's sugar and a tablespoon or two of warm water if the peanut butter is very stiff. Beat one egg white stiffly, add seven-eighths cup confectioner's sugar. Combine the two mixtures, adding more sugar if necessary and adnilla if desired.

Fashion Service

Perhaps you feel there's nothing quite so cool and practical as a sheer tub silk print for summer.

Here's a darling example in white ground printed in light and navy blue with blue buttons and buckle trim.

The detachable cape makes it very desirable for the business woman or for spectator sports. Chiffon cotton print in gay dots or striped handkercheif linen is also lovely, if made with the cape.

Make it for active sports without the cape of seersucker, pique, peasant cotton weave, pastel linen, etc.

Style No. 2833 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39-inch material.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL.

HOLLYWOOD, August 3. — Just heard a swell story that comes under the head of "So This Is Fame." When Fox was filming Irvin Cobb's "Judge Priest" stories with Will Rogers, they sent over to Pasadena to borrow an ancient fire engine from the Pony Express museum. The engine was returned in due time, and the owner of the museum was so proud he had a placard made to celebrate his property's adventure in motion pictures' It reads:

Will Rogers

"Will Rogers used this engine in 'Judge Priest', his latest picture at Fox by Ty Cobb."

OUT OF THE

pages of history has come another great motion picture theme to thrill theatre audiences with one of the finest romances seen upon the screen in recent years.

This time it is "Operator 13," the exciting Robert W. Chambers story which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Cosmopolitan presents as Marion Davies' newest starring vehicle and which opens Saturday at the Capitol Theatre.

Gripping Love Story.

Yet it is not, in a sense, a war story. It is a gripping love story for which the Civil War serves only as a background. It is the story of an all-powerful love affair involving a beautiful woman spy of the Union Army and a gallant spy of the Confederate forces.

Too, the musical spirit of the Old South has been ably captured and made a vital part of the story with songs and music by the Four Mills Brothers of radio fame, by Miss Davies and by the old-fashioned dances that have been revived for the production.

Your Health

by DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Doctors make a distinction between functional and organic disease. One of the first questions that comes up in diagnosis is to decide that question. Is the trouble organic of functional?

What is meant by this? An organic disease is one in which there is some change in the structure of the tissues of the body, and the symptoms are produced fundamentally by this change in structure—at least, by functions which result'

For instance, Bright's disease of the kidney is an organic disease. The cells of the kidney can be seen to be different under the microscope from the normal, and on account of this organic change, they do not perform their function properly and the symptoms which result have, therefore, an organic basis.

Functional disease, on the contrary, produces symptoms without any change in the anatomy or structure of any organ of the body. For instance, migraine or sick headache produces racking pain, but bodies of many people, who have had this condition, have been examined after death with great care, from head to foot, and no change, either gross or microscopic, has been found in any structure'

It does not mean at all, as is sometimes thought, that functional diseases are imaginary just because they are functional. Again, I can illustrate by migraine. Migraine is certainly a real trouble, in spite of the fact that it is basically functional in character.

Perhaps the distinction is more apparent than real. It may be that chemical changes occur and are the basis of the functional disturbance. We know this is true in certain instances. For instance, a nervous heart, which jumps and misses beats, may be due to the presence in the body of too much nicotine. That does not necessarily mean that nicotine harms the heart; simply that it disturbs its function for a while.

Functional diseases occur in nearly every system of the body. There are functional disorders of the stomach and of the intestines. These, in fact, are among the most frequent functional disorders. Functional disorders of the heart are very frequent. The muscles, the eyes, the ears, the nervous system all are subject to functional disturbance.

We will take up various aspects of the subject in the articles this week.

BE BEAUTIFUL

The goddess-like Ann Harding, whose transparent skin and delicate coloring harmonize perfectly with her fair hair and classical features, claims that she considers lemon juice an excellent complexion beautifier. Ann packs her face in warm lemon juice for five minutes every night before retiring. And she believes that this practice not only helps to keep her skin clear and smooth, but also aids in preserving the delicate fairness of her complexion.

The idea of using lemon juice as a complexion beautifier is not, of course, a new one. Women have used this fruit as a cosmetic for countless centuries. And modern gals have just as high a regard for the bleaching properties of lemon juice as their grannies did. The only difference is that, today, the really smart damsel knows that the bleaching properties of the lemon juice can be greatly enhances by its combination with other substances.

A really excellent face mask for bleaching the skin can be made with lemon juice as one of its chief ingredients. As you know, there are many factors that tend to darken and discolor the skin during the sunny days. And the lass who wishes to retain her peaches-and-cream complexion during these months must periodically administer effective bleaching treatments.

The bleaching mask to which I refer is composed of oatmeal, almond meal rosewater, glycerine and the strained juice of one lemon. Two tablespoons of fine oatmeal, two tablespoons of almond meal, two tablespoons of rosewater, four tablespoons of glycerine and the strained juice of one lemon should be added together, and blended so that they form a thick, smooth paste. Before the pack is applied, the skin should be cleansed, and a bit of nutrient cream smoothed about the eyes and mouth. Then the paste should be spread generously over the face and neck, and allowed to dry. When it is thoroughly dry, the pack should be removed gently with tepid water and a soft cloth. If the skin tends to become too dry as a result of the pack, a bit of cold cream should be applied after its removal. This pack will not only help to keep the skin fair and lovely during the sunny summer days, but will also help greatly to make it clear and fine-textured.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES
Measurements

Maria: A girl 21 years old and 5 feet 1 3-4 inches tall should weigh about 118 pounds. Her measurements should be: Bust 32, waist 26, hips 34, thigh 18, calf 12 and ankle 8 1-2.

Gooseflesh

Georgia: Scrub your legs nightly with a bland soap, using a small flesh brush. After the scrubbing, massage the skin well with cold cream or pure olive oil. This will help to eradicate the gooseflesh.

Legs

Anxious: The exercises in my article on "Care of the Feet and Legs" are far more effective for developing the salves and shaping the legs attractively than the one you describe. These exercises, however, are too long to print here.

Wrinkles

Mrs. P. E.: Frowning usually causes such wrinkles. You must first dispense with this habit. The nightly use of lanolin or a rich cream will then nourish the sensitive tissues and help to dim the lines.

The follow report from the Toronto press has to do with the appearance there last evening of the Madrigal Singers, who assisted with Reginald Stewart's concert in the Varsity Stadium:

"Cesar Franck's great symphony was the cornerstone of the Promenade Symphony Orchestra concert in the Varsity Arena last night, under the direction of Reginal Stewart. lAmost 4,000 attended. The Madrigal Singers of Peterborough, conducted by Dorothy Allen Park, were the assisting artists and, in their two groups of songs, they made it possible to say again with utmost sincerity that they are better on each appearance.

These 20 singers are meticulously careful but unaffected in the pleasant tone and interpretation which they contribute. Such music is not particularly well adapted to a large place like the arena. Nevertheless its charm was appreciated by the audience. Their extra number, Brahms' Lullaby, was very well done.

For some in the audience at least one of the best parts of the evening was the orchestra's playing of Delius nature music, "On Hearing the First Cuckoo in Spring." Rimsky - Korsakow's "Dance of the Tumblers" concluded the program. The orchestra did not always seem in their best possible fettle last night, but the concert was well worth hearing.

The community aspect of these concerts, with its spirit of general cooperation, was given another interesting illustration last night, for it was none less than the canon precentor of the diocese, Canon Pilcher, who came to the rescue when the bass clarinet player was taken ill, and who joined the orchestra for the Franck symphony. The musicians, who think very highly of this ecclesiastic and his musical erudition, said it was just the kind act one might expect of him. Although promenade concerts as known in the Old Country have been remarkable for the new attitude they have brought, this was probably the first time a canon precentor of a diocese has "pinch hit" for a player at a popular concert."

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The person who has a quick eye gets more out of life than the person who lacks this desirable characteristic. To be able to see the beautiful things about you gives zest to living. Some persons have a wonderful eye for color. They can discover more exquisite shades in a stream, in the sands of the seashore or the ocean or in just a simple boulder, than others. There are persons who can glimpse flowers along a wayside, or in fields and gardens, and tell you what they are, while others apparently do not even see them. There are some persons who can catch sight of birds on the wing and tell by their color, or the way they fly just what birds they are. All these different groups have eyes to see and they have interest in finding out what the things really are that they see.

* * * * * * *

When you find life dull and lacking in powers of interest, test yourself and discover if it is not largely your own fault that you miss the joyous reactions to what is about you. Do you see things, and do you know what they really are? Is a bird just a bird for instance or is it a robin, a swallow, a bluebird, an oriole, a cat bird, a red wing blackbird, etc. What color is the bird? Are the clouds just white against a blue sky, or are they tinged with greys in lighter and darker tones and in modulations of pink, purple, blue, etc.? Clouds can be seen even from crowded city windows, and birds although not always of many kinds.

* * * * * * *

If children are helped to use their eye well when young, they will always be grateful. They can see what they want quickly enough, as every mother knows. So provide some incentive for them to see more and faster. There are games which are a great aid. For example put ten or more articles on a table and get the child to look at them for one minute only. Then after leaving the room ask her what she saw, and write down the things, if she is too young to do it herself. Give her three or five minutes according to whether the child's mind works rapidly or rather slowly. When time is up, take her into the room again, and see if she finds more articles than she mentioned. If she has all correctly named, give her a cracker, a cookie or some little thing which she relishes.

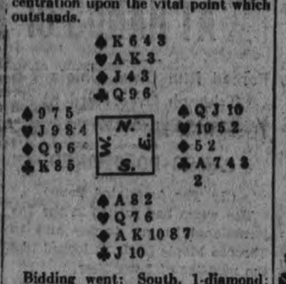
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

A FATAL ERROR.

Correct handling of a multitude of minor, every-day points, is what particularly distinguishes the winning player from the losing follower of contract. Today we have an illustration of how many a game is lost, by casual consideration of facts, instead of concentration upon the vital point which outstands.



Bidding went: South, 1-diamond; North, 2-no trumps, with a hand a K better than average, and good distribution; South, 3 no-trumps.

The opening lead was the 3 of clubs. The 10, K and 6 fell on the first trick. West returned his 8 of clubs. The 9 fell from the declaring hand and the J had to drop in dummy. Up went East's ace. He led back his lowest card of that suit, losing to the Q, and leaving his partner void of the suit.

Perhaps East expected to enter with a spade, and then run off his two long clubs, but that never came about. North led his J of diamonds, and lost on a finesse to West's K. Of course it made no difference what West led back. East never could be put in the lead. West led his lowest heart, expecting from the way his partner had played that he held either the ace or K of hearts. The declarer won with his ace of hearts, ran off four diamond tricks, discarding on the last two his two lowest spades. Two more heart tricks and two spade tricks ended matters, giving North 4-odd, on a contract which should have gone down a trick, except for East's unpardonable haste and stupidity.

When West led back a club at the second trick, East should have played low, allowing the declarer to hold that trick. It was evident that North was bound to win a single club trick. He should have been allowed to hold the trick, while West evidently held the 5 of clubs, to return the suit in case he came into the lead before East could win a spade trick.

Suppose East had restrained himself, when the club was led back by his partner, and awaited a third round of the suit before putting up his ace. The declarer had to take some chance to go game. He could count on two spade tricks, three heart tricks, one club trick and two diamond tricks, or only eight tricks without taking a chance of letting in one of his opponents. To go game the most normal thing to do was to take the diamond finesse, and lose to West. Four club tricks and the single diamond trick would have beaten the contract.

Old Fashioned Girl Dictates New Modes

PARIS, August 3 (AP)—"Little Women" clothes, reminiscent of the modes of the old-fashioned girl, made their debut on the Parisian Winter style scene in to-day's showings.

From short sealskin jackets similar to those mother wore to ball evening mode, clothes displayed by Chanel recalled the mode of Louisa Alcott's heroines. The mannequins ever wore their hair in a fringe across the forehead and massed in curls at the back of the head.

Coats were of dark green, grey, and brown, designed along slender lines fitted at the waist and finished with deep cape collars of Persian lamb and marten. They were accompanied by matching muffs and little flat, fur toques with white camellias tucked in the side.

Day frocks were designed of black, green, brown, amethyst and moire wools fashioned along slender lines with occasional jabot necklines and skirts 8 or 10 inches from the ground.

Evening frocks reflected many old-fashioned touches. They were designed in a new fabric called fayels, resembling taffeta.

A BUSY PORT

MONTREAL, Aug. 3 (CP)—The total number of vessels, including liners and tramps, that has arrived in the Port of Montreal to date this season is 828, well over the 675 of the same period last year, it was announced here to-day. Less liners have arrived, but the number of tramp ships is considerably higher than last year.

ROY PARMALEE MEETS HIS 4TH STRAIGHT LOSS

Giants No Match for Ed Brandt as Braves Register 8-0 Victory.

CUBS GAIN A GAME.

(By The Canadian Press)

The close resemblance between the National League pitching situation and that in the American was brought out when Roy Parmalee, who has shown only flashes of the form which made him one of the Giants' Big Four last year, suffered his fourth defeat since he returned to the active list following an appendicitis operation. Parmalee and the rest of the Giants were no match at all for Ed Brandt, veteran Boston southpaw, and the Braves won 8-0.

Brandt let only three Giants touch first, giving two hits and one walk, while his club mates pounded Parmalee in two big innings finally sending him to cover in the sixth when they scored five runs. Thus the Giants were added to the clubs with only three regular winners—Carl Hubbell, Fred Fitzsimmons and Hal Schumacher.

The second-place Cubs, who appeared to have about the best elbowing equipment in the senior circuit even though Charley Root isn't doing well, gained a full game on the Giants by catching the Cardinals when neither of the Deans nor Tex Carleton was ready to work, and whipping them, 6-2. Bill Lee, clever Cub rookie, got the better of Bill Hallahan, Dazzy Vance and Jess Haines, although he was in frequent trouble.

Lower down in the standing the Dodgers and Phillies stirred up a lot of excitement in their struggle for sixth place, when Brooklyn took an 8-7 decision on Al Lopez' ninth inning homer and a few minutes later Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Phils and Coach Otto Miller of the Dodgers let off steam in a brief fist fight under the stands. The victory gave Brooklyn the desired place by a game.

Easy Win for Pirates

Both the pitchers and the fielders of Cincinnati Reds were off form, and Pittsburgh had an easy time taking a 13-3 decision, bunching 14 blows with five errors. St. Louis Browns came from behind with eight runs in the last three innings to defeat the White Sox, 9-8, but they failed by two points to recapture fifth place from the Senators, who were rained out at Philadelphia.

DOURO ELMWOODS FALL TO INDIAN RIVER 18-16

Indian River beat Douro Elmwoods in the third E.P.I. softball playoff game on the former's grounds, 18-16, Tuesday to make it two wins out of three in this series. Next game will be Friday at Centre Douro.

It was a good tussle till the fourth when the homesters hammered in eight runs, aided by errors by almost all the players. Elmwoods came back strong in the fifth and seventh to score six in each but did not have enough power to draw up. Both pitchers went fair, J. Walsh receiving the better support. The feature of the game was a great catch by M. Doherty. The teams:

Elmwoods: H. Allen, 3b; Towns, 1b; R. Walsh, p; E. Allen, rf; Garvey, 3b; Moher, ss; O'Connor, c; Sheehan, lf; J. Walsh, cf.

Indian River: Spencer, lf; Robinson, c; Walsh, p; Clarke, 2b; Holmes, 1b; Lonergan, 3b; O'Brien, ss; M. Doherty, cf; F. Doherty, rf.

Elmwoods ..... 120 061 6—16
Indian River ..... 313 940 x—18

Umpires—E. Thompson at plate, H. Thompson on bases.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

EVERYTHING is very quiet this week in Canadian racing circles with King's Park at Montreal the only track operating at the present time. They have found twilight racing very successful down thar' and it looks as if it will be permanent. Tom Clarke, the starter loaned from the Orpent circuit for this meeting has been getting the fields away in fine style and his work has been praised on all sides. He only started last year but seems to know all the answers already. Chiclero and Star Crest, a pair at the Quebec province plant are all set to come to town in a big way.

The new Providence track got away recently before an inaugural crowd of thirty-five thousands hide followers. This plant represents an expenditure of one million and one half dollars and is up to the minute in every respect. They have most of the horses that have been performing at Rockingham plus a few more from other points. Benny Chapman has Calgary Kay at this point and we understand he intends to shoot him his very next start.

RETURNING to Montreal we find that Charlie Rolls is keeping up his great work in the saddle and now heads the jocks' list by a wide margin. There has been considerable rough riding at this point and with the suspension of three mounties the other day for the balance of the season, it is to be hoped that this action will curb the rough tactics. Eveline F has been transferred from Chicago to Detroit and her connections are counting on her to pay all shipping expenses at the first asking.

× × ×

Saratoga has been getting their usual fine weather and business there so far has been 100 percent. The cream of the American turf are quartered at this course. Crout Au Pot, a Canadian owned hide of note together with some of R. S. McLaughlin's horses are quartered there at the present time. They are all in the pink and as Americans absolutely refuse to place any of the cobalt on a Canuck horse the odds will be plenty long.

OVER AT Detroit our friend Frumper should earn a set of brackets even in with real good company. He was never better than he is right now and that means very few in the claiming ranks are superior to him over a distance of ground. It was not so long ago that this fellow was beating horses like Khorasan and breaking track records to do it. Polyp is also there and acting like as if a win is in the offing. Young Cochrane, the recent Long Branch riding sensation will likely be in the pilot house on this one.

Win Ballou, former Washington hurler now on the coast, has installed a heater near his spot on the bench for use during night games. He is the only pitcher known to science who warms up sitting down.

Tony Cuccinello was given a Cuccinello day recently by adoring Brooklyn fans. Then he fielded horribly and struck out three times. An Anti-Cuccinello day is now under contemplation.

Johnny Risko—Aged But Still Active

After a dozen years of battling, Johnny Risko still is going to the wars, and is regarded as one of the toughest trial horses, a young up-and-coming fighter could face. Risko is shown here in training. He fights so often he is never able to stop training.

LEAFS MEET DOUBLE REVERSE AT HANDS OF BALTIMORE BIRDS

Forced Run Gives Chiefs 7-6 Triumph Over Herd at Syracuse.

GAMES POSTPONED.

(By The Associated Press)

The worm had turned in the International League to-day and to Toronto Maple Leafs, it looked like the monster of Loch Ness.

Hammered from pillar to post since the start of the season Baltimore Orioles, down trodden tail enders, rose up yesterday and walloped twice in one day the Maple Leafs who had beaten them 11 times in 12 starts up to the time of this epochal series.

It wasn't enough that Baltimore beat Toronto 15-7 and 5-3 all on the same day, but the Orioles wound up taking four games out of five in the series. The defeats pulled Toronto back into a tie for second place with Rochester Red Wings who were rained out of their night duel with Albany, along with Newark and Montreal.

The Orioles did a mess of hitting to turn in their rare stunt of taking boh ends of a double header. Irvine Jeffries, late of the Phillies, hit like his famous namesake, Jim Jeffries, pounding out two homers, two doubles and a pair of singles, driving in seven runs in the two games. Woodley Abernathy and Pooch Puccinelli tossed homers into the hopper for Baltimore, while Murray Howell hit two for Toronto and John Heving one.

Takes Fall From Herd

Syracuse, resting uneasily in seventh place, took a fall out of Buffalo Bisons, a notch higher in the standin, 7-6, though without disturbing the standing any, however. Bill Cronin, a pinch hitter for Zach Taylor, provided the Syracuse margin when he walked in the ninth with the bases full and one out, forcing in the winning run. The final base on balls was the sixth Ken Ash issued. Clarence Pickrel, on the Syracuse side, gave seven walks and six hits, which coupled with five Syracuse errors kept Buffalo in the ball game.

JONES SCORES WINNING GOAL LOCAL OUTFIT

McDougall, Dundas, Creighton Are Other Scorers for Service Clubmen.

HEAVY CHECKING

Jones' goal with two minutes to go gave Kiwanis a 5-4 win over the Cobourg crew in a snappy lacrosse fixture last evening in Riverside Park. The game was more than half an hour late starting and only a small crowd saw the battle. The teams played three twenty-minute periods, fighting on even terms from start to finish.

Kiwanis got the only tally of the first frame, while Cobourg got three to their two in the middle stanza. Meyette starred in the local net with some brilliant saves at close range when the Cobourg players ganged up with Kiwanis a man short several times. He had a sturdy defence in front of him, while Magee, Dundas, Jones and Creighton played bangup lacrosse throughout. Hagerman, Ibey, Cooper and Cancilla all went good for the losers.

Close In First

Play was close and hard in the first period, with both sides checking hard and few dangerous shots being fired at the goalies. It was about half over when McDougall took Jones' pass to blaze one by Brown for the only marker of the canto. Peck was hurt accidentally when hit over the head with a stick at the whistle and remained out till the third.

Dundas scored on Creighton's pass in close to start the middle chapter, and Creighton and Magee combined shortly after for another, Red shooting hard from a little way out. Gerow was chased for boarding and Ibey took Cooper's toss and whistled it by Meyette, Creighton and Cancilla were thumbed off for mixing it, and the latter just got back in time to score unassisted with an angle shot. Hagerman served a penalty for slashing and later returned to tie up the score with a bullet drive that seeped through the goalie.

Cobourg went into the lead early in the third when Cancilla scored on Ibey's assist. Peck was rubbed out for slashing and Creighton notched the equalizer on Olaveson's pass. Gerow got a five-minute rap for cross-checking and all the Cobourg players went up on the offensive. Meyette stopped them all and with two minutes of play left, Jones took Magee's long pass in close to score the winning goal. McDougall was chased just before the end for tripping.

The teams:

Cobourg: Goal, Brown; defence, Peck and Hagerman; rover, Cooper; centre, Johnston; wings, Morford and Ibey; alternates, Spooner, Ele, Cancilla and Comrie.

Kiwanis: Goal: Meyette; defence, Hope and Gerow; rover, Creighton; centre, Dundas; wings, Magee and Jones; Olaveson and McDougall.

Depression, heat wave, revolution in Europe — but things could be worse. Why, it's several years now since we last had to read an item in the papers about the Prince of Wales falling off another horse.

Though he admits he's 43 years old, Strangler Lewis' headlocks are as numerous as ever while his head locks are in full retreat. Not a joke—just a bald statement.

IMPORTANT HOLIDAY GAME ON PETERBOROUGH'S CIVIC HOLIDAY

MONDAY AFTERNOON, AUGUST 6th
Game Called at 3 o'Clock

KINGSTON vs. PETERBOROUGH
Riverside Park, Peterborough

There never was such a grand fight in this or any other league for play-off positions. By defeating Belleville in their last game at Belleville, Kingston is right up in the fight again, and a little over one game separates first and last place. Peterborough is overdue to win at home and a snappy game should be witnessed on the holiday.

AUKER RECORDS HIS NINTH WIN FOR TIGER CLAN

Shuts Out Third-place Indians With Four Hits to Gain 3-0 Triumph.

12-4 WIN FOR YANKS.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer).

A glance at the Major league mound records for the current season reveals one good reason why Detroit Tigers are up on top of the American League standing despite the undoubted strength of their rivals, the Yankees. The reason is found in Elden Auker, a big, strong right hander who came up from Beaumont last year.

The development of Auker has given Mickey Cochrane's club a nearer approach to a hurling staff of four consistent winners than any rival can boast. The 23-year-old Kansan, who has been taking his place with Fred Marberry, Tommy Bridges and Schoolboy Rowe, recorded his ninth victory of the season against four defeats yesterday when he shut out the third-place Indians with four hits to gain a 3-0 triumph.

This gave the Tigers "Big Four" a total of 47 victories ances the Yankees have been able to show only three consistent winners, Lefty Gomes, Charley Ruffing and Johnny Murphy while Mel Harder, who lost yesterday's duel to Auker, and Monte Pearson have done most of the winning for Cleveland with Oral Hildebrand and Willis Hudlin trailing at bit behind.

Auker gave a superb performance giving only one walk to the tribe in addition to thefour hits, which included two doubles by Sam Raice. Behind him the Tigers rapped harder for 10 blows, concentrated in the sixth and seventh innings, to keep their place a game ahead of New York. It was Cleveland's first game under the guidance of Willie Kamm, who took charge when Manager Walter Johnson was taken ill.

WESTON UNITED HOLDS LEAD IN SOCCER FINALS

WINNIPEG, Aug. 3 (C.P.)—Weston United, football monarchs of all they survey between the Great Lakes and the fringe of western prairie, to-day served warning of their championship intentions. They turned back the challenge of Prince Albert City Reds, far western titlists, last night, 2-1 in the first of a two-out-of-three game series for the western Canada championship and the right to enter the Dominion finals.

Weston gained their margin of victory through the brilliant individual efforts of Eddie Hodgert, 21-year-old inside right. The first goal came within seven minutes of play in the second half. And the second 30 minutes later and shortly after Proudfoot, City centre-half, had tied up the score.

CURRIE HURLS CARPETMAKERS TO GAME LEAD

Southenders Put Game on Ice in Big 5th and 6th Innings.

FAIR FIELDING

Orphans bowed to Brintons in the first game of the semi-finals in the Men's Softball League last evening by a score of 11-5. Lefty Sturgeon's boys had 2 big innings, the fifth and sixth, in which they scored four and three runs respectively to put the game on the well-known ice, and from then on they just cantered home to an easy win.

Ross Currie went the entire distance for the winners and pitched steady ball. He fanned four and walked ten but settled down in the pinches and won himself a nice ball game. Shine started for Orphans but was not as effective as usual, being wild and unsteady and when the Carpetmen ganged up on him in the fifth he was removed in favor of Heffernan who hurled good ball for the remainder of the contest.

Leads Brinton Sluggers

Pat Calladine and Archie Weir led the Brinton sluggers, the former with three hits out of four trips up to the plate while the latter had two out of three. Between them they scored five runs and drove in two more to account for the scoring of seven of their teams eleven runs. For the losers Miller with two hits out of three, and Weese three out of five led their team with the bat. Cadd connected for the only home run of the contest in the seventh.

The fielding on both sides wasn't bad although the Orphan outfield through some slow fielding allowed singles to go for doubles and permitted hits to be scored on fly balls which should have been easy outs. Freddie Jones pulled the fielding gem of the game when he pulled down a line drive in the second frame that had home run written all over it. Playford in centre field for the Carpet outfit also snagged some hard hit balls that might easily have gone for extra bases. The only double play was made in the sixth frame, Williamson catching a fly ball and throwing in to the plate to catch the runner attempting to score from third.

The teams:

Brintons: H. Dormer, 3b; Smith, 1b; Playford, cf; Weir, lf; P. Calladine, c; Currie, p; W. Calladine, 2b; Williamson, rf; G. Dormer, ss.

Orphans: Wilshaw, 2b; Weese, 3b; Jones, lf; Cadd, c; Heffernan, rf, p; Miller, cf; Shine, p, rf; Board, 1b; Fleming, ss.

Score by innings:

Brintons .... 021 043 100—11 14 1
Orphans .... 200 000 111— 6 11 4

Umpires—Batley at the plate, Weir on first, Payne on third.

13th Win for Ruffing.

The Yankees gave Ruffing a chance to take it easy and still win his 13th victory when they hammered Henry Johnson and two successors all over the lot to defeat the Red Sox 12-4. Just to make it certain, "Rufus The Red" turned in a five-hit game.

A three run burst in the sixth settled the argument but a burst of three homers off Johnny Welch brought five more tallies in the seventh. Lou Gehrig started this rally with his 33rd circuit drive of the year.

Lawn Bowling by Herb Martin

After being three down on the fifteenth end, Ernie Wall's rink pulled themselves together to score a big four on the sixteenth end, and by so doing won first honors in the Skips-Vice Skips Competition for 1934.

A big six well earned on the fourth end by Coleman proved to be a big stumbling block for Wall's rink. From then on it was a nip-and-tuck affair, with Coleman at one time leading by 14-8.

As it was with the Skips and Vice-Skips, so it turned out with the Leads and Seconds. McMillan was one down going home, but managed to pull out a four and win the game. This was a far better exhibition of bowling than the other game, with the leading on both sides being the outstanding feature.

McMillan seemed to have the edge as far as experience was concerned, and was more steady in the pinches, especially playing toward the club house.

By C. J. P.

What may prove to be the final E.P.L. ball game of the year is listed for six bells tonight in the Exhibition Grounds. Cogs and C.G.E. meet for their fourth playoff tilt, and Cogs only need this win to grab the belt. Casey Masterson is expected to do his song and dance on the Clubmen's slab, while with C.G.E. it's a case of eeny, meeny, miny, moe with four twirlers all sitting back looking hopeful. Ever since this little world serial started, we've been loking for Electrics to hit the old dope bucket a kick in the slats and surprise Cogs. This being possibly C.G.E.'s last appearance of the season, we might as well take one more look at them to do it. It's now or nevermore for them.

Kiwanis lacrossers had a close squeak last p.m. over at Riverside when they just managed to nose through with a 5-4 win over Cobourg. The visitors were late getting here, but only a few fans minded that—there being only a few on hand. The teams played three instead of four frames and mixed it up hard and evenly all through. This Cobourg outfit is tougher than a boarding-house steak, and will be even tougher the rest of the way, we hear, as they intend to use several gutted-stick stars from Oshawa.

* * * * * *

Mickey Magee played a whale of a game for Kiwanis, while Ira Dundas, Red Creighton and Hank Jones weren't far behind. Meyette was simply swelegant between the gas pipes and broke the visitors' hearts with his smart saving. One thing about the home team, it wasn't at full strength, such players as Pete King, Becky Jack and Carlos Routley not appearing. The Kiwanis squad is pretty fair but not so good that it can take chances. Look what happened in Belleville when a couple of regulars didn't go down. With both Belleville and Cobourg strengthening up, the least the team can do is have all its players out for scheduled games.

* * * * * *

The men's softball squabble is over, it seems. Brintons weakened and decided to do what the other teams told them at the meeting, so they played Orphans last night. Some of them knew that the constitution had been broken, but other members of the team weren't sure of this. Anyway, time being short, they decided to follow orders. The result was an 11-5 win in the first of their two-out-of-three series with Harrison's Waifs. The Carpetmen may cop this semi-final playoff and then go on to knock Johnston's Tires off. We're not interested one way or another what team wins out now that they have settled their committee-room arguments. Brintons have no further room for a squawk.

* * * * * *

They trotted out a strong squad last night with Bill Calladine fitting in nicely at second. He'll hardly be available for the second game—on Saturday—as the Petes play in Napanee that day. Currie pitched steady ball and had fine support whereas Shine didn't look so hot on the other mound, nor did he get too much aid from his teammates. Heffernan did a nice job of relief flinging. Cadd laced out a round-trip wallop in the seventh canto. There was quite a gang of rooters on hand.

Terrier Juveniles will play a ball game with an all-star Northumberland League team at three o'clock in Riverside Saturday. The visiting aggregation is an intermediate one and should provide stiff opposition to the smart local eighteen-year-olds. This will be Terriers' final appearance here before they hit the O.B.A.A. playdown trail, which starts for them August 7th (Tuesday) in Oshawa at five o'clock, standard time. The bantam finalists, King Edward and St. Peter's, meet Saturday at 1.30 in the Exhibition Grounds in the first of a three-game playoff series. Both tussles should provide entertainment for fans.

"It's a ringer!" This yell, dear to the hearts of horse-shoe tossers will be heard plenty at the local Exhibition August 24th when the hoss-shoe pitching championships of Eastern Ontario are held. Fifty cents entry a player for each event, and send it to Art Moffatt at 169 Princess street, city. Here are the events, starting at 1.00 p.m. the 24th: Eastern Ontario singles, Eastern Ontario doubles, and Class "B" singles. Entries taken up to August 22nd.

Youth must be served in tennis, or must it? Now, in the men's city singles finals at two Saturday at Kawartha Club betwixt Max Cotton and Walter Jackson, a guy would have no trouble laying a couple or maybe three frogskins on either guy. The youths are backing Max, who is about twenty, while the elderly chaps are backing Walter, who will not likely see thirty-five again. Should be a swell three-out-of-five-set battle and fans are welcomed. If it means anything in the argument, Gladys Carvolth, seventeen years old, won the ladies' singles championship yesterday in straight sets from Mrs. J. A. Dewart, her steady game and stamina giving her the edge.

Kingston Ponies Here On Holiday

Kingston Ponies wil be here Monday to play the Petes at three o'clock in Riverside Park in a C.O.B.L. game. This is their first appearance in more than a month in Peterborough, and will be their second last contest here this year, unless the two teams should meet again in the playoffs. At present the Ponies are in a third-place tie with Oshawa only a game and a half back of the Petes. A win for the Ponies Civic Holiday would put them within a game of the Lee crew. The fact that it is a holiday contest, and also that it is between those bitter rivals, Kingston and Peterborough, with plenty at stake, should result in one of the biggest crowds of the season.

Teddy Gallagher, re-instated old-time star southpaw, has been working out with the Ponies recently and may be sent in against them here Monday. Yammy Jamieson and Speedy St. Louis are also available. Knotty Lee has Russ Kitchen, Archie Deyell and Bill Calladine all set for this important fracas, but it is uncertain yet who will get the call. The locals have not been winning at home, and they hope to break the jinx and knock off the Limestone outfit Monday.

CRICKET

The officials of the local cricket club regret to have to announce that the keenly anticipated match against the Toronto Cricket Club scheduled to take place at the Oval to-morrow will not be played. The Toronto club have notified them that they cannot have a team to make the trip. In its stead a match will be played between teams of married and single men made up of local players. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

With reference to the semi-final in the county championship to be played in Toronto on Monday Aug. 6, the following paragraph appeared in the Toronto Star of Aug. 1: "Now it can be told the Waterloo County eleven which play Peterborough County at Armour Heights on Civic Holiday in the semi-finals of the County Championship for the Matthew's Cup were very agreeable—one might even say anxious—to have this fixture scheduled for Toronto. Half of the players are war veterans and wanted to take in the grand reunion. For the matter of that so are a number of the Peterborough side." This statement apparently emanated from Waterloo county for the Peterborough officials were not consulted directly or indirectly, in the matter.

The team to represent Peterborough county in county championship against Waterloo county at Armour Heights, Toronto, on Civic Holiday (Monday) will be published to-morrow.

CARVOLTH WINS LADIES SINGLES TENNIS HONORS

Mrs. J. A. Dewart Beaten in Straight Sets 6-4 and 6-2 in Feature Event.

MEN'S RESULTS.

Gladys Carvolth, 17-year-old youngster, won the ladies' singles championship of Peterborough yesterday by defeating Mrs. J. A. Dewart in straight sets, 6-4 and 6-2. The feature of the match was Miss Carvolth's amazing steadiness in returning her opponent's hard drives from all parts of the court. Mrs. Dewart was continually on the offensive, playing a brilliant hard-driving game, but could not get her shots out of reach of her active young rival who covered the court to perfection.

The match started with Mrs. Dewart serving and both ladies playing rather carefully. The rallies were long and although Miss Carvolth did not have as much pace on her shots as her adversary, she was placing well and keeping Mrs. Dewart continually on the run. Games followed service until the seventh when Miss Carvolth broke through and then held her own service. Mrs. Dewart made a valiant effort to square the set at 5-5 but the younger lady proved too effective at the crucial points and took the set 6-4.

The second set saw the first two games follow service. Mrs. Dewart was tiring rapidly and Miss Carvolth broke through service to lead 2-1. After trailing 40-love in the next game, Mrs. Dewart rallied brilliantly to even the games at 2-all. The next two games went to deuce, Miss Carvolth winning both. Her opponent put forth every effort to hold service in the next game but her more youthful rival put on the pressure to win the next two games, the set and match.

Saturday's Play

In men's doubles play yesterday, J. T. Donaldson and J. H. Bell defeated R. Maybee and H. Marah, 6-3 and 6-1; and in the junior men's singles J. patterson won from G. Duncan, 6-3 and 6-2.

Matches Saturday:

At 2.00 p.m. at Kawartha Club—Men's singles finals: Max Cotton vs. W. Jackson, three out of five sets.

At four at Kawartha—J. T. Donaldson and J. H. Bell vs. G. and J. Kirkwood or J. Elmsley and J. E. T. Langley.

At four at Kawartha—Ladies' doubles: Misses G. Carvolth and A. Macdonald vs. Misses J. and M. Harvey or Mrs. Langley and Miss K. Benson. Mixed doubles at four: Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Langley vs. Miss B. Scott and G. C. Scott.

LEAF NINE THROWS SOFTBALL UPSET

Lowly Cellar Occupants Take 15-11 Triumph From Fast Electric Crew.

The second half of Ladies' City and District Softball loop has been producing one surprise after another, and last night when the Maple Leafs, the cellar team in the league, went to work at the Ashburnham Bowl and sent the C.G.E. Girls home on the sour end of a 15 to 11 score, the fans were convinced that even the lowly Leafs might eventually land a play-off position.

Ability to hit anything that the opposing hurlers could dish up, gave the Leafs their first win of this half, and with the Electrics playing a sloppy game in the field, the verdict was practically cinched after the fifth frame. Elsie Gates started on the rubber for the losers, but the Leafs sent her to the showers in the fourth after a barrage of hits, and Marg Snowden took over the pitching. The latter was wild and robbed herself of a win with a parade of free passes. Agnes Sturgeon was the starting pitcher for the Leafs and was hit hard in the first when the C.G.E. chased in six counters. She was relieved by Genevieve Mann in the fifth, who twirled smart ball for the remainder of the game. The teams:

Maple Leafs.—H. Mann, 1b; P. Rome, ss; L. Trollop, rf; L. Cockerill, 3b; E. White, c; I. Burnham, lf; D. Ferguson, cf; G. Mann, 3b, p; A. Sturgeon, p, 3b.

CANADIANS SET GALA OPENING

Canada Has an Entrant in Nearly Every Event on Inaugural Empire Games Program.

FIRST DAY'S SPORTS.

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 3 (C.P.)—Training stopped to-day for Canada's swimming and track and field stars who will get into competition to-morrow on the opening of the first renewal of the British Empire Games. Saturday's opening may be straight pageantry for the 50,000 spectators at White City stadium but it's more than that to the athletes.

The athletic struggle within the empire will get started the minute opening festivities are over. Canada had an entrant in nearly every event on the inaugural program.

So intensive was to-morrow's schedule of events that Canada will know pretty well by the end of the day what these games are going to bring in the way of glory.

List of Events

Track—440 yards hurdles, heats, Jim Worral, Montreal; hop, step and jump, Sam Richardson, Toronto; Ray Toper, Toronto; George Sutherland, Calgary; women's 80 metres hurdles, heats, Betty Taylor, Hamilton; Mrs. Roxy Atkins and Alda Wilson, Toronto; 100 yards dash, Bill Christie, Toronto; Bert Pearson, Hamilton; Allan Poole, Kelowna, B.C.; Frank Nicks, Halifax.

880 yards, heats, Jerry Sampson, Montreal; John Addison, Victoria; women's 100 yards dash, Audrey Dearnley and Betty White, Hamilton; Peggy Matheson, Toronto, and either Mildred Fissell, Toronto or Hilda Strike, Montreal; discus throw, Bob Waters, Vancouver; George Walls, Port Arthur; George Sutherland, Calgary; women's high jump, Eva Dawes, Toronto; Isabella Miller, Hamilton; Margaret Bell, Vancouver; three mile run, Roetrt Rankine, Preston, Ont.

Swimming — men's, 1,500 yards free style heats, Bob Pirie and George Burleigh, Toronto; women's 100 yards free style heats, Irene Pirie and Margaret Hutton, Toronto; Phyllis Dewar, Moose Jaw, Sask.; Florence Hubble, Montreal; men's 200 yards breast stroke heats, Bill Puddy, Toronto; women's 100 yards back stroke heats, Irene Pirie, Toronto; Phyllis Haslem, Saskatoon.

Women's high diving — Doris Ogilvie, and Margaret Stoneburg, Toronto; Lynda Adams, Vancouver; women's 200 yards breast stroke heats, Phyllis Haslem, Saskatoon; Men's 100 yards back stroke, Geo. Larson, Hamilton; Robert Hooper, Vancouver; three mile run, Robert Ben Gazell, Toronto.

There was tremendous confidence in the Canadian camp. Every athlete except unlucky Mildred Fissell was ready to go. A torn thigh muscle speared likely to keep the Toronto sprinter on the side lines to-morrow with Hilda Strike replacing her in the women's 100-yard dash.

SILVER SLIPPERS BY Temple Bailey

READ THIS FIRST:

Joan Dudley, vacationing in Maine with her wealthy aunt, Adelaide Delafield, is engaged to marry Drew Hallam man of the world, who is twice the age of his fiancee. Mrs. Delafield becomes restless and decides to leave the log house, run by Penelope Sears, a widow, where she, Joan, Hallam and his sister, Nancy, have been stopping. Drew disapproves when Joan dons an apron and helps Penelope in the kitchen. They go out to dance in the moonlight. The party leaves the summer resort and start by motor for Granitehead. Caught in a storm they stop at Portsmouth.

(Now go on with the story)

Chapter 5

After dinner, Adelaide and the Hallams met some people they knew—a Mrs. Carter and her daughter, Rose. Adelaide at once proposed a game of bridge: "We four women. Drew and Joan can dance."

Rose Carter was a slim, smooth creature, of perhaps 30. She was just back from Paris and wore black with pearls. Her hair was shingled to show her well-shaped head, and she had thin, flexible red lips and a white skin.

When she was dummy, she danced with Drew.

"Who is the little girl?" she demanded.

"Joan Dudley I am going to marry her."

"Marry her? Good heavens!"

"What makes you say that, Rose?"

"Marriage and you! You aren't made for it."

He wanted to say: "You thought once that I was." But of course he couldn't. Rose had been the heroine of his war romance. Ten years ago when she was 20. She had been in Red Cross work in France, and there had been the glamour of it. But neither of them had had money, and the thing had ended.

She was still attractive, however, and her cleverness amused him. When she went back to play her hand, he sat beside her, looking on. Joan on the other side of him, wished he would ask her to dance, and presently he did it. "You little featherweight," he flattered, as they moved to the rhythm of the music.

The Carters were, it was discovered, on their way to Granitehead. It was decided that, if it was raining in the morning, Rose should take Adelaide's place in the car, and Mrs. Delafield and Mrs. Carter would go on by train with Farley, of course, in attendance.

The storm continued through the night, and the next day when the limousine left the hotel, Rose was in it, a striking figure in her orange coat and with a helmet of orange-colored felt molded to fit her head. She sat beside Nancy, but she talked to Drew. And he talked with her and laughed a lot, more, perhaps, Joan noticed, than on the day before. But she was not jealous. She was, indeed, filled with a great content. Now and then Drew's eyes rested on her and the look in them made her heart beat faster. Once when the wind blew cool, he folded her wrap about her. "Lovely child," he whispered, and again, "I like you in that white cape. It's charming."

It was after they entered the North Shore drive below Gloucester that something happened to the car. Dixon got down and tinkered and tapped. After a while Drew climbed out, and came back to report: "We'll have to telephone to a garage."

The rain had stopped. On each side of them hemlock groves covered the low hills between the highway and the rocky shore. Rose suggested that they walk about a bit. "Come on, Drew. It's deadly sitting here."

He held out a hand to Joan. "You'll come, too?"

But Nancy objected. "I'm afraid to stay alone."

"Why should you stay?"

"I'm wearing thin shoes and it's wet."

"Dixon will be back in a moment."

It ended, however, by Joan's offer to remain with Nancy.

"Sure you don't mind?" Drew asked.

"Not a bit," she smiled at him. What did she care who walked beside him, when he left his heart with her?

When the others had gone, Nancy apologized, "You wanted to go. And I'm a selfish pig."

"No, you're not."

"I am, and I know it. And I want you to like me."

"I do like you."

"Well, I'm not a really likeable person. But I'm honest in my friendships. And I kept you here to say something to you. You mustn't think Drew perfect. He isn't. And you'll be happier if you just take him for what he is—with all his faults. And love him, as I do, in spite of them."

There was a waver of emotion in Nancy's voice. Joan said with earnestness, "I shall love him whatever happens."

"I hope so. I want you to be happy. He . . . hasn't always known how to be happy, Joan. I wish you might show him . . ."

Dixon came back just then with a man from a nearby garage. Together they did things to the engine. When they got it in working order, Dixon announced that in a few minutes it would be ready. "Shall I look for Mr. Hallam?"

"I'll go," Joan said, "I'll be glad of the walk."

She sped up the path which led through the hemlock grove. It was only a thread of path and when she reached the top of the hill she found it hard to follow. Under the dark trees with their wet nerveless branches was deep gloom. After a time she came out on the rocks and saw the sea beyond. Clouds were piled high on the horizon and thrown upon them was the red stain of the afterglow. Far to the right a lighthouse glimmered in the gathering dusk. It was very still, with the ominous stillness which comes before a storm. Not a soul was in sight. Joan was gripped by a feeling of panic. She was desperately afraid of storms.

Then, suddenly, the silence was broken by the rackety noise of a motor engine, and cutting across the darkening waters came a long gray boat with bright brasses. A man stood up in it, steering. He had a straight, boyish figure, and the wind blew his hair back. Joan had a sense of having seen him before. She leaned forward looking at him, a white and slender figure against the darkness behind her.

The man in the boat saw her and raised his hand in a gesture of warning. She turned and met the rush of a mighty wind. The tops of the trees were flattened by the weight of it . . . the strength of it seemed to push her back as if it would topple her into the sea.

She began to run. As she came again into the grove, the branches of the hemlocks swept back and forth like gigantic brooms. The air was filled with a ghastly greenness. She stumbled over underbrush and caught her cape on the bushes. It was dreadful to be there alone in all that noise and chaos.

"Drew," she called, "Drew, Drew, where are you?"

Her breath was almost gone when she at last reached the road and saw Nancy peering out from the car. Dixon hurried to meet her.

"I couldn't find them," she panted, as she came up.

"They are coming now," Dixon told her.

She saw them then, running down a path to the left of the one she had followed. Rose had her hat off. Her cheeks were reddened by the wind and her eyes shone. Her blown-about hair gave her a charming air of disorder. Drew had hold of her hand, helping her. They were laughing like two children.

They romped up to the car. "We went farther than we thought," Drew said, "we had a great time getting back."

Joan was standing in the road. "I went to find you, and I . . . couldn't . . ." her voice shook.

He gave her a sharp glance, "Frightened?"

She nodded, unable to speak.

With a sudden movement he held her close. "You poor little thing."

The storm came booming down like great guns. There was thunder now and lightning, and the rain rushing in sheets. The car as they sought its shelter swayed and shook. But Joan was not afraid. Her lover was beside her. His strength was hers, and his tenderness.

It was not until that night when she was safe in her room at the Granitehead hotel that she thought of the man in the boat. How quick he had been to warn her, and where had she seen him? She lay for a long time wide-eyed in the darkness before she placed him. The boy of her dream had been like that . . . with his hand up, and the wind blowing his hair, and the red light in the sky above him.

COOL OFF
By Cooling Your Blood

It is when the heat gets into your blood that you begin to "feel the heat". Take a sparkling, invigorating glass of Andrews Liver Salt at such times. Taken while it is still effervescing, Andrews will have an almost immediate cooling effect, because it is not only a delicious, thirst-killer, but a means of cooling your blood.

You will feel cooler for hours after taking Andrews—and more vigorous, too. Andrews, indeed, is a splendid conditioner when taken occasionally the year round, say about twice each week.

If you pursue common-sense principles in your living, eating and sleeping habits and take Andrews occasionally, you will escape all the minor mal-adjustments which occur in every normal system.

Keep cool—and fit—by taking Andrews. At all druggists. In tins, 35c and 60c. New, large bottle, 75c. Sole Agents: John A. Musten Co., Ltd., Toronto. as

For Saturday, August 4

The planetary configurations ruling on this day seem to have some very intriguing if not adverse angles. While employment and contacts with those in authority may be expected to flourish, yet in other directions there is omen of perplexity, anxiety and possible loss through treachery or misrepresentation. A minor, though beneficial, is probable, but in all be watchful and cautious.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an interesting year but one calling for alertness, shrewdness and sagacity to circumvent some peculair, irregular or mystifying conditions. There may be loss through treachery, intrigue or misrepresentation, but there may also be a beneficial change, and employment may offer some good opportunities for advancement or preferment.

A child born on this day may be gifted in some unusual or strange way, although generally impractical or visionary. Still it should succeed in employment and be popular.

HEALTH BOARD WELCOMES M O H

Milk Most Important Angle of the Health Situation.

110 PRODUCERS.

Dr. G. Murray Fraser was officially welcomed as the new Medical Officer of Health and City Physician at a special meeting of the Board of Health this morning under chairmanship of Aldermman Walter Stocker.

"We want you to take complete charge of the health of the city and anything pertaining to it," were the general instructions laid down for the new M.O.H. by Mayor Roland Denne on behalf of the Board.

Dr. Fraser briefly outlining his policy agreed with the Mayor's suggestion and stated his intention of assuming complete control of the local health situation. He expressed the intention of making a thorough inspection of milk producers and retailers as well as restaurants, bakeries, and establishments holding eating house licenses.

"The milk question I feel is about the most important angle of the health situation" Dr. Fraser stated.

The Mayor—"What we want is the co-operation of the milk producers and retailers."

Dr. Fraser—"Exactly. It is not my intention to go out and bully them. We simply desire to help them in producing a high quality products under proper conditions."

The M.O.H. intimated that there were approximately 110 milk producers in the rural district and 36 distributors in the city who would come under his jurisdiction.

Mayor Denne instructed the M. O.H. to take samples of water from the Otonabee River at Burnham's Point to ascertain whether or not the water was fit for bathing in. His Worship expressed the opinion the water was polluted, and suggested the M.O.H. might find it necessary to declare the place as a restricted area so far as bathing is concerned.

A report was tendered by Dr. Fraser bearing upon his visit of inspection to Queen Mary Isolation Hospital which was the first official act of his upon assuming office on Wednesday.

He reported among other things needing attention was the septic tank at the institution a matter which he was informed had been already taken in hand by the Board of Works.

"Generally speaking," Dr. Fraser stated, "the Isolation Hospital is in very satisfactory condition."

Discussion outstanding accounts respecting indigent patients admitted to the Isolation Hospital from outside points and which now amounts to something like $2,000 which remains uncollected, the Board decided that patients from outside points must be refused admittance unless they have the written consent of the M.O.H. and the Reeve of the municipality to which they belong.

OSHAWA AND LINDSAY TEAMS IN TOURNAMENT

Teams contemplating entering the Bridgenorth Tournament should forward their entries at once to M. A. McWilliams, Bridgenorth, or George Dormer, Sugar Bowl. The tournament will be staged at Bridgenorth Civic Holiday, Monday, August 6.

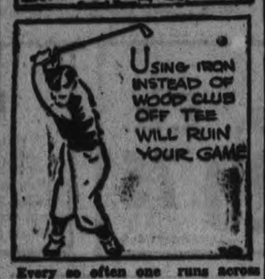
The Bridgenorth tournament is the largest held in the district and annually receives a record number of teams in the various sections. There will be ladies' senior and junior, men's senior and junior, and boys' section.

In addition to the tournament there will be a number of booths on the grounds and the ladies of the Bridgenorth United Church will serve supper.

Besides a large number of teams in the district already entered it is expected that a girls' team from Ballieboro will be on hand and men's teams from Oshawa and Lindsay in the senior section.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES.

ALEX. J. MORRISON



Every so often one runs across a player who uses iron clubs exclusively off the tee.

When you've noticed this about one's game he'll explain that he just can't use a wood club to save his life. Such players have simply acquired a complex.

Wood clubs are really easier to use than iron clubs for distance. But no player can do anything he considers absolutely impossible.

The problem is mental, and in time the same lack of confidence will become connected with long iron shots.

The best thing for such players to do is drive with a spoon.

After regaining confidence through the spoon the brassie can be used.

Both the production and consumption of oats in Canada have followed downward trend since 1920

1933 a total of 398,300 acres were sown to buckwheat in Canada and production amounted to 8,483,000 bushels.

Ol' Rabbit Maranville Is Confident He Will Return To Second Base Berth

BOSTON, Aug. 3 (A.P.) — A young old man of 42, Walter J. "Rabbit" Maranville, who signs himself "as ever, faithfully yours," proves his point to-day long before he gets to the conclusion of a letter just received by Judge Emil Fuchs, president of Boston Braves.

It's date "Rochester General Hospital" and it says:

"My Dear Judge,

"I went to the hospital last Monday afternoon and was operated on at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for the fourth time. I had the plate taken out and the leg put back in a cast. I must let that remain two weeks to give the leg time to heal. It will then be another case of massaging.

"While I went through a great deal, even against your advice, I now feel fine again, and while I appreciate that you did not want me to go through this thing again and be satisfied instead with remaining on the coaching line, you will be surprised when I come back to the club.

"The young fellows of to-day will have to be a lot smarter and better to beat me out of my job at second base, the 'old man's home.' If this leg of mine comes through as promised by the doctors, I will be making the young fellows look foolish until I'm fifty.

"Mrs. Maranville joins me in sending our love to Mrs. Fuchs and yourself.

"As ever, faithfully yours,
"Rabbit."

The Rabbit broke his leg in a training exhibition with New York Yankees in St. Petersburgh, Fla., this spring.

BATEMAN FAMILY RE-UNION HELD AT OAK LAKE RESORT

84 Year Old Mrs. James Bateman Awarded Prize for Being Oldest Member Present.

GOOD SPORTS PROGRAM.

Claiming the distinction of having the largest of the family gatherings which assembled at Oak Lake recently, three hundred and fifty representatives of the Bateman family held their sixth annual picnic and took part with enthusiasm in the full program that had been carefully arranged by the committee in charge.

Tables for the family dinner at noon were placed at the waters edge of Birds Beach so that advantage could be taken of the occasional breezes which stirred the waters of the lake. Bowls of nasturiums were used in decorating the tables and a delectable menu was served. Shortly after dinner a sports' program was carried out under the direction of Ernest Bateman, of Tweed, president, and Lorne Bateman, Springbrook, secretary.

Races and contests, many of them very amusing, were enjoyed, with handsome prizes also being awarded for various other competitions. The results of the races were as follows:

Baby's race, 4 years and under—Donald Geen and Marie Morrison, (tie.)

a coffee 5 to 7 years—Glen Brown.

ical heat 5 to 7 years—Margaret flames.

with mi 10 years—Gerald Seeley kle (tie.)

years—Marjorie Mcy Morrison.

rs and under—Stan-

ars and under — M. Geen.

Girls, 15 years and under—Wanda Bateman.

Boys, 16 to 17 years—Gerald Gunning.

Girls, 16 to 17 years—Edna McMaster.

Men, 18 years and over—Harold Cowan (won for fourth consecutive year.)

Ladies, 18 years and over—Edith Tanner, (also won for the fourth consecutive year.)

Needle and Thread Race—Clayton Fall and Edith Tanner.

Potato Race—Lorson Gunning.

Mens Slow Race—Jim Bateman.

Obstacle Race—Mrs. W. J. Bateman and Mrs. Joseph Bateman, Belleville, (tie.)

Special Prizes

A prize was awarded for the oldest member of the family present and this was won by eighty-four-year-old Mrs. Jim Bateman, of Belleville, who is still very active, and enjoyed to the fullest the happy family gathering. Master Thomas Hope White of Toronto, nine months old, won the prize presented to the youngest present.

When competitors were called for the largest family contest, Mr. and Mrs. Murney Geen, Thomasburg with their eight stalwart sons, were easy winners and as this smiling family lined up to receive the award they were enthusiastically applauded. Jim Tanner, of Weybourne, Sask., and Mr. Lee of Winnipeg, Man., received the prizes for those who had come the farthest distance to the reunion.

Water sports were enjoyed by the visitors after the races and during a short business session it was decided to hold the picnic at the same place and time next year.

It was moved by Jim Bateman and seconded by Cecil Bateman, that Ernest Bateman, Tweed, and Lorne Bateman, Springbrook, be re-elected president and secretary-treasurer, the motion carrying enthusiastically.

Shortly after tea, the pleasant family re-union came to an end.

Tax Collection Has Increased Over 1934

In the statement of taxes paid to July 13 last as compared with tax payments at the same period in the year previous, there was an increase in the amount collected, amounting to $30,192.50, according to a report presented to the Finance Committee of the City Council by Treasurer Frank Adams last evening.

While the amount of 1934 taxes paid to the end of July, which totalled $275,244.30, was $3,425.67 less than the 1933 taxes paid at the same date last year, the percentage of the first installment was .74 more this year than in 1933. The total amount of taxes to be collected this year is stated to be $904,544.11, of which amount $301,514.70 has been paid on the first instalment.

ROCKCROFT.

Mr. Herb Brown, of Porto Rico, and party of four from New Jersey visited their island on Mississauga last week.

Neil Windover and wife are occupying their new cottage.

A party of four went to Eagle Lake Tuesday and brought back a lovely string of lake trout, some of them weighing 4½ and 5 pounds.

Highway work has ceased for a time between Buckhorn and Goodfish.

CLUBS PROTEST BEVERAGE ROOM

Luncheon Room for Lindsay Club Now Beverage Centre.

BOBCAYGEON IS DRY

LINDSAY, Aug. 3. — (Examiner Correspondence).—The members of the United Church and Sunday School of Valentia, Mariposa Township, have forwarded the following resolution to Premier Hepburn: "We, the members of the United Church and Sunday School of Valentia, wish to remind your Government that the late administration made legal the sale of intoxicating beverages in Ontario without consulting the people. May we take the opportunity of appealing to you to do all in your power to curtail the sale and use of such intoxicating beverages as a means of recovery from the period of depression."

At the local weekly Rotarian luncheon the question of the use of the Rotary-Kiwanis room at a local hotel was discussed. One member suggested taking down the Rotary emblem after the luncheon and putting it up again on the occasion of the next luncheon. Some of the members approved of this course, while others thought the presence of the emblem might have an influence on those who frequented the room. Others went on record in their refusal to attend luncheons in the future as long as the room was used as a beverage centre.

Rain Not Needed.

According to reports from the local agricultural office, the farmers in this district are not in need of rain at the present time. The grain has started to ripen and fill and the hoe crops, while not suffering from the lack of rain, will require some moisture in the near future. Record crops are reported by many farmers in th edistrict.

The village of Bobcaygeon, the most important tourist centre in this district, does not come in under the new beer and wine measure, and the proprietors of the hostelries are not able to dispense these beverages to their patrons. A move is now being made to circulate a petition for presentation to the Council calling for a vote of the electors at the next municipal election. Bobcaygeon has been in the local option column for a number of years.

BATEMAN FAMILY RE-UNION HELD AT OAK LAKE RESORT

84 Year Old Mrs. James Bateman Awarded Prize for Being Oldest Member Present.

GOOD SPORTS PROGRAM.

Claiming the distinction of having the largest of the family gatherings which assembled at Oak Lake recently, three hundred and fifty representatives of the Bateman family held their sixth annual picnic and took part with enthusiasm in the full program that had been carefully arranged by the committee in charge.

Tables for the family dinner at noon were placed at the waters edge of Birds Beach so that advantage could be taken of the occasional breezes which stirred the waters of the lake. Bowls of nasturiums were used in decorating the tables and a delectable menu was served. Shortly after dinner a sports' program was carried out under the direction of Ernest Bateman, of Tweed, president, and Lorne Bateman, Springbrook, secretary.

Races and contests, many of them very amusing, were enjoyed, with handsome prizes also being awarded for various other competitions. The results of the races were as follows:

Baby's race, 4 years and under—Donald Geen and Marie Morrison, (tie.)

Boys, 5 to 7 years—Glen Brown.

Girls, 5 to 7 years—Margaret Bateman.

Boys, 7 to 10 years—Gerald Seeley and Billy Nickle (tie.)

Girls 7 to 10 years—Marjorie McGee and Mary Morrison.

Boys, 12 years and under—Stanley Geen.

Boys, 15 years and under — M. Geen.

Girls, 15 years and under—Wanda Bateman.

Boys, 16 to 17 years—Gerald Gunning.

Girls, 16 to 17 years—Edna McMaster.

Men, 18 years and over—Harold Cowan (won for fourth consecutive year.)

Ladies, 18 years and over—Edith Tanner, (also won for the fourth consecutive year.)

Needle and Thread Race—Clayton Fall and Edith Tanner.

Potato Race—Lorson Gunning.

Mens Slow Race—Jim Bateman.

Obstacle Race—Mrs. W. J. Bateman and Mrs. Joseph Bateman, Belleville, (tie.)

Special Prizes

A prize was awarded for the oldest member of the family present and this was won by eighty-four-year-old Mrs. Jim Bateman, of Belleville, who is still very active, and enjoyed to the fullest the happy family gathering. Master Thomas Hope White of Toronto, nine months old, won the prize presented to the youngest present.

When competitors were called for the largest family contest, Mr. and Mrs. Murney Geen, Thomasburg with their eight stalwart sons, were easy winners and as this smiling family lined up to receive the award they were enthusiastically applauded. Jim Tanner, of Weybourne, Sask., and Mr. Lee of Winnipeg, Man., received the prizes for those who had come the farthest distance to the reunion.

Water sports were enjoyed by the visitors after the races and during a short business session it was decided to hold the picnic at the same place and time next year.

It was moved by Jim Bateman and seconded by Cecil Bateman, that Ernest Bateman, Tweed, and Lorne Bateman, Springbrook, be re-elected president and secretary-treasurer, the motion carrying enthusiastically.

Shortly after tea, the pleasant family re-union came to an end.

Tax Collection Has Increased Over 1934

In the statement of taxes paid to July 13 last as compared with tax payments at the same period in the year previous, there was an increase in the amount collected, amounting to $30,192.50, according to a report presented to the Finance Committee of the City Council by Treasurer Frank Adams last evening.

While the amount of 1934 taxes paid to the end of July, which totalled $275,244.30, was $3,425.87 less than the 1933 taxes paid at the same date last year, the percentage of the first installmen; was .74 more this year than in 1933. The total amount of taxes to be collected this year is stated to be $904,544.11, of which amount $301,514.70 has been paid on the first instalment.

ROCKCROFT.

Mr. Herb Brown, of Porto Rico, and party of four from New Jersey visited their island on Mississauga last week.

Neil Windover and wife are occupying their new cottage.

A party of four went to Eagle Lake Tuesday and brought back a lovely string of lake trout, some of them weighing 4½ and 5 pounds.

Highway work has ceased for a time between Buckhorn and Gooderham.

CLUBS PROTEST BEVERAGE ROOM

Luncheon Room for Lindsay Club Now Beverage Centre.

BOBCAYGEON IS DRY

LINDSAY, Aug. 3. — (Examiner Correspondence).—The members of the United Church and Sunday School of Valentia, Mariposa Township, have forwarded the following resolution to Premier Hepburn: "We, the members of the United Church and Sunday School of Valentia, wish to remind your Government that the late administration made legal the sale of intoxicating beverages in Ontario without consulting the people. May we take the opportunity of appealing to you to do all in your power to curtail the sale and use of such intoxicating beverages as a means of recovery from the period of depression."

At the local weekly Rotarian luncheon the question of the use of the Rotary-Kiwanis room at a local hotel was discussed. One member suggested taking down the Rotary emblem after the luncheon and putting it up again on the occasion of the next luncheon. Some of the members approved of this course, while others thought the presence of the emblem might have an influence on those who frequented the room. Others went on record in their refusal to attend luncheons in the future as long as the room was used as a beverage centre.

Rain Not Needed.

According to reports from the local agricultural office, the farmers in this district are not in need of rain at the present time. The grain has started to ripen and fill and the hoe crops, while not suffering from the lack of rain, will require some moisture in the near future. Record crops are reported by many farmers in th edistrict.

The village of Bobcaygeon, the most important tourist centre in this district, does not come in under the new beer and wine measure, and the proprietors of the hostelries are not able to dispense these beverages to their patrons. A move is now being made to circulate a petition for presentation to the Council calling for a vote of the electors at the next municipal election. Bobcaygeon has been in the local option column for a number of years.

Canadians Make Fine Showing in Women's 80-metres Hurdles and Men's 100 Yards.

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHITE CITY STADIUM, London, Aug. 4. — (C. P. Cable) —An athletic "dark horse" in the British Empire games, Scotland shot a bombshell into the opening program of the track and field championships here today by producing the first champion and then following it up with a succession of brilliant performances. Canada and the rest of the Empire was put into the shade.

F. A. R. Hunter, Scotland's best distance hurdler who holds the British title, won the 440 yards hurdles final in 55.2 seconds, beating the favored Australian, C. P. C. Reilly, and Canada's only entry, Long Jim Worrall of Montreal. Worrall was fourth, four yards behind Hunter.

While Canadians made a fine comeback in the women's 80 metres hurdles and the preliminary round of men's 100-yard dash heats, the Dominion suffered a shocking setback when Bert Pearson, former schoolboy sensation from Hamilton, Ont., was eliminated in his dash heat.

HITLER CALLS NAZI REICHSTAG

Address at Memorial Service Expected to be of Political Nature.

EXPLAIN FUTURE AIMS.

By ELMER W. PETERSON,
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—(A.P.)—Adolf Hitler, seeking to consolidate his position as the "New Napoleon," summoned the all-Nazi Reichstag to-day to assemble Monday for a memorial service to the late President Paul Von Hindenburg.

Chancellor Hitler's address, a Chancellery spokesman intimated, will be of a political nature, with a direct eulogy of Von Hindenburg reserved for the funeral services Tuesday at Tannenberg.

From the Reichstag Rostrum Der Fuehrer is expected to utilize what may be his best opportunity to justify in a guarded way to the German people and the world his precipitate action of Thursday, immediately after Von Hindenburg's death.

Hitler's last appearance before the Reichstag was July 13 when he defended to Germany and the world his bloody purging of Nazi ranks June 30.

Some believe he will give assurances that this accession to complete domination does not mean a more radical political program.

The speech is anticipated as a political document of unique importance, revealing the course of Hitler's future leadership. Some observers wondered if this leadership might not take Hitler to a throne, comparing his steps to those of Napoleon.

In designating Aug. 19 as the date of a plebiscite in which he hopes to gain the approval of the German nation for his acquisition of new power, Hitler has sharply limited his opportunities for effective pleas for votes.

The period of national mourning for the late President will extend to Aug. 14. In the interests of good taste, it was pointed out, Hitler cannot campaign too obviously for public favor, making it necessary to seek indirect methods.

Bugle and Drum Led Canadians To Death, Glory

Twenty Years Ago—Ypres, Vimy Ridge and Passchendaele Rise From Mists of Past As Canada's 600,000 Go Into Battle—Waves of Grey-Green—Waves of Gas—Wounds And Blighty—Wounds And Death — Tattered Remnants Return.

TODAY CANADIAN VETERANS BIVOUAC, RECALL FAR OFF THINGS— FINELY DONE.

Written for the Canadian Press by Walter Willison, Former Canadian War Correspondent

Who shall sing the song of them
The wonder and the strength of them,
The gaiety and the tenderness
They bore across the sea:
In every heart's the song of them,
The debt that England owes to them,
The chivalry and fearlessness
That strove, and won her free.

Twenty years ago, a bugle blowing; twenty years ago, a drum beating—Henley's bugle, high and clear and challenging; Drake's drum, full and deep and menacing.

As beacon flares warned of the Armada, so drum and bugle circled the world to tell British men of a greater danger than Britain had ever faced. And men's eyes turned to the Abbey, while they took the long trek and the lonely trail. Unwarlike, peaceloving men moved grimly to gird their armor on.

As the Empire moved, so moved Canada. From the Klondike's "vast and sullen solitudes," from the wide, rich reaches of the Peace River country, from the forlorn Arctic stretches that are north of the mighty Mackensie, from the vastness that lies west of Hudson Bay and east and south of New Brunswick and Acadia, the men of Canada gathered until at Valcartier the first of the Canadian Divisions took form and soon there sailed from out of the St. Lawrence the greatest Armada of all history. For the Lion was aroused. There was the menace of the Word in a bugle. A drum was beating out of Plymouth Hoe. Old admirals were

EX-PREMIER LAYS WREATH ON ALTAR OF SACRIFICE

OTTAWA, Aug. 4 (CP)—Sir Robert Borden, Canada's war-time Premier, to-day laid a wreath on the Altar of Sacrifice in the Memorial Chamber of the Peace Tower in honor of Canadian soldiers killed in the war.

The ceremony here was brief. In depositing the wreath of poppies and maple leafs, Sir Robert said: "In proud and solemn memory of those who gave their lives for Canada and the Commonwealth in the Great War, their comrades of the Canadian Corps Reunion reverently lay this wreath in the Memorial Chamber of the Peace Tower."

WOMAN NAMED MAYOR

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 4 (AP)—The three last mayors of the city of Calera were men as all mayors of all cities in Chile always have been. But the three last mayors had resigned, complaining that the post was too difficult.

To-day the Ministry of the Interior named Senora Lily Wallace de Duus as Mayor of Calera. Senora De Duus is 35 years old, the daughter of English parents, the granddaughter of the founder of the Valparaiso Gas Company, and the wife of Juan Duus, a prominent sportsman.

A Picnic War?

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4. — (C.P.). A young press photographer out to do a job on the "war" between Senator Huey Long and Mayor Walmsley was hanging away early this morning at the office held by National Guardsmen.

DENY ANGLO-U.S. NAVY PACT NEAR

Nothing to Reports of Pacific Fleet Union If 1935 Parley Fails.

JAPAN KICKS AT RATIO.

By Albert W. Wilson, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

LONDON Aug. 4. —(A. P.) — There can be no question of any united action by Great Britain and the United States before or after the 1935 naval conference, stated a government spokesman to-day.

Inquiries at the foreign office brought an official denial to reports published in the United States that the United States and Great Britain were negotiating on the possibility of combining their Pacific Ocean forces in the event of a break-down of the naval conference.

Confirming a report that Great Britain intends to issue the invitations for the conference, the spokesman stated:

"You cannot expect nations to accept invitations to a conference if there are any separate arrangements made or even discussed between any two parties beforehand."

A source close to the Admiralty declared there was no possibility that naval authorities could be undertaken even informal arrangements along the line suggested without knowledge of their governments.

A Government spokesman indicated that Great Britain is not as firmly opposed to altering the 5-5-3 ratio as was secretary Swanson of the United States in his speech this week, adding nevertheless, "but we do not see what we can substitute for the ratio unless some sort of a sliding scale can be created which would remove the so-called stigma Japan attaches to the 5-5-3 agreement. There still must be some way found to keep navies within certain bounds.

Canadians Honor British Great War Dead in London

LONDON, Aug. 4 (CP Cable). — Colonel George P. Vanier, D.S.O., secretary to the Canadian High Commissioner in London and former Commanding Officer of the 22nd Battalion, laid a wreath at the base of the cenotaph to-day in remembrance of British comrades who died in the Great War. Colonel Vanier was accompanied by other representatives of the Canadian Legion.

The wreath of the Canadian Legion had a background of poppies and maple leaves. Rev. S. E. Lambert, padre of Christie Street Hospital, Toronto; Bishop R. J. Renison, former chaplain of the 25th Nova Scotia Battalion, and Major H. H. Hester, of the 2nd Canadian Battalion, went to the cenotaph with Colonel Vanier.

FOREIGN LEGION IS TOO RIGOROUS

English Nobleman Decides Not to Enlist for Years at Last Moment.

GETS MARRIED INSTEAD.

DUNKIRK, France, Aug. 4.—(A. P.)—The rigors of the French Foreign Legion proved too much in advance to-day for Lord Edward Montagu, 28 year old Englishman, and he changed his mind at the last moment after flying here to enlist.

Instead of going to the hot sands of the Sahara, he returned to London and, presumably, the haven of marriage.

Five Years Too Long.

"Five years is really too long," said the young nobleman, who had sought—and found— adventure in North America.

Montagu said he thought of enlisting because of "difficulties" of his family. He was to have been married to-day, he said, and after telegraphing his fiancee near London decide to return.

As he had no papers establishing his identity, he encountered some difficulty in embarking. His sister, Lady Louise Montagu, and a friend flew to France with him yesterday and returned, thinking to see him in uniform.

Lord Edward, the second son of the Duke of Manchester, was one of several persons held as a material witness in the investigation of the slaying of Captain Walter Wanderwell, world adventurer, aboard a yacht at Long Beach, in 1932, just before the start of a South Seas cruise.

Detained in Canada.

Young Montagu was detained three times in less than a year in Canada and the United States in 1932-33.

After the Wanderwell affair, he was arrested at Long Beach at the request of Federal authorities because he overstayed the terms of his visitors' permit allowing him entrance to the United States.

Six months later he was arrested at Victoria, B.C., charged with assaulting a man when a group was marooned on an island.

When he was but 21 the nobleman worked on a ranch in Western Canada for a year. He was first married in 1929.

Dynamite

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 4—(A.P.)—A sack of dynamite and percussion caps found lying near the railroad right-of-way over which President Roosevelt's train passed early to-day led to extreme precautions of Federal and County Officers to avoid any attempt against the Presidental train.

Roosevelt's train passed over the spot, two and a half miles south-west of Spokane, without any untoward incident.

The explosives were discovered by a Union Pacific Agent four days ago, who became suspicious of three men he saw depositing a package. Sighting through a watch tower door, the agent directed searchers to to the spot where the cache was hidden in the brush.

Girl True To Man Held For Murder

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 4 (A. P.)—The grim shadow of the electric chair falls to-day in Robert Edwards' path, but threatens no rift in his romance with the New York school teacher for those love he is alleged to have planned the slaying of Freda McKechnie, 25-year-old church worker.

Although police declared the young mining engineer admitted killing the McKechnie girl, an expectant mother, in accordance with a carefully laid pan, the other girl, Miss Margaret Grain, 23, of East Aurora, N.Y., stood steadfastly by him with offers of aid.

The accused slayer evidenced no sign of interest yesterday in burial of his alleged victim, but kissed and embraced Miss Grain outside his prison cell after being held without bail on charges of murder.

ALL GERMANY IS CELEBRATING

Claim on 20th Anniversary of War, Nation Did Everything to Halt It.

NEW OATHS TO HITLER.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—(C. P. Cable). —Germany marked the 20th anniversary of the declaration of war to-day with celebrations of deep meaning. All across the Reich, from Poland to the Rhine, tributes to the late Paul Von Hindenburg were linked with a new oath of allegiance to Adolf Hitler, the new President.

In Konigsberg, East Prussia, veterans of the war, with flags flying, marched to clanging church bells. With them was a large contingent of permanently disabled ex-soldiers. Addressing the men, a regimental colonel declared Germany had done everything to prevent the outbreak of war. Germany, he said, throws back the "war-guilt lie."

At the mention of Hindenburg, the East Prussian regiment which he led "from victory to victory," to cite one account, dipped its flags as the Reichswehr took the oath to Hitler.

In Kiel, a lighted cross of peace was carried in a parade of naval men and Nazi storm troops. The naval men took the Hitler oath with cheers. Leipsig despatches described how officers and non-commissioned men of the Reichswehr there took the oath with weapons in the left hand and the right raised in the Hitler salute.

GREAT RE-UNION DRAWS SOLDIERS TO QUEEN CITY

Two of Empire's Famous—Allenby and Tyrwhitt—Get Warm Welcome.

SLAIN HONORED.

Lieutenant Governor Takes Salute as Thousands Ex-Service Men March.

TORONTO, Aug. 4. — (C P) — Toronto was carried back through a score of years today as the city lay in the grip of unofficial martial law, enforced by more than 75,000 men who massed to celebrate the first Canadian Corps reunion.

Social barriers were tossed aside as the warriors from all parts of Canada and many from the United States, distinguished by colored berets and armbands, formed into the remaining ranks of their old companies and battalions. They planned the greatest parade of Great War veterans ever staged in Canada, when Lieutenant Governor Herbert A. Bruce will take the salute.

But before they moved to celebrate the reunion, they staged a solemn procession to the cenotaph in front of the City Hall, to commemorate the memory of those whose places in line remained vacant. Numerous wreaths were heaped on the granite pile, followed by a hymnal and prayer service.

Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, Admiral of the Fleet, Sir Reginald Dytrwitt and other noted war characters took part in the procession. Archdeacon F. G. Scott, former senior chaplain of the First Canadian Division conducted the service.

From there the veterans marched to the grounds of the Canadian National Exhibition, headquarters for the reunion, which has been barred to the public today so the former servicemen may drink beer and fraternize in the military camp and the environs of a model French village.

Two of the Empire's great warriors mingled with the ex-servicemen as Field Marshal Viscount Allenby and Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt renewed friendships welded during the hectic days of the war. They arrived in Toronto last night with their wives to be greeted by soldiers and sailors in their colorful uniforms and throngs of Toronto citizens. A guard of honor including men Viscount Allenby commander at Palestine and sailors Sir Reginald led in naval combat welcomed the famous Britons.

Tonight will find the various regiments gathered around the festive board. Every regiment will hold a dinner and the courageous nursing sisters of the Imperial and Canadian forces also will hold their reunion.

BISHOP UNCHANGED

HALIFAX, Aug. 4. (CP). — The condition of Most Rev. C. L. Worrell, Primate of the Church of England in Canada, who is critically ill in hospital here, was reported unchanged this morning. The aged church leader maintains a slight improvement since Thursday night, when death was feared to be only a few hours' distant.

GERMAN BALLOT FOR PRESIDENT JUST A GESTURE

Hitler Will be Only Candidate —Former Organized Opposition Wiped Out.

IN SUPREME CONTROL.

Plebiscite Will Approve Nazi Blood Purge and All Government Action.

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—(C. P. Cable). — Two weeks from Sunday an overwhelming majority of the German people will confirm Adolf Hitler in his new post as leader and Chancellor of the German Reich. Of that, barring some miraculous intervention, nobody has any doubt.

Hitler will be the only candidate in the coming plebiscite to confirm his action in assuming the powers of President Paul Von Hindenburg when that old statesman died two days ago. The organized opposition against the one-time Viennese paper-hanger has been wiped out.

The plebiscite is expected to be a repetition of that of last November when 95 per cent of the people voted "yes" on the question whether the German elector approved the policy of the Nazi Government as an expression of his own will and conception.

The confirmation of Hitler will go further. It will be approval not only of Hitler as the President's successor, but in effect, it will approve the "blood purge" of National Socialism that startled the world a few weeks ago and all steps taken by the Hitler Government since last November.

Power Unchallenged.

Hitler will be in a position unchallenged and almost unchallenable as Chancellor.

He retains all his old powers. As successor to Von Hindenburg he will be head of all the armed forces of Germany.

The government appeal for a nation-wide mourning for the dead president has been followed with fidelity to the remotest hamlet. As this correspondent crossed Germany yesterday from the western frontier flags were flying at half-mast everywhere, even on the humblest buildings.

The Brown Shirts of the Storm Troopers, once so common, have almost disappeared from the streets.

With all its flags flying half-mast, with all its church bells nightly tolling their message of mourning, Germany is moving swiftly to new and unexpected developments. In all her movements of the last two years none have been of greater consequence for the peace of the world.

Real Dry

EMPORIA, Kas., Aug. 4 (C. P.) — Take it from William Hammond, Emporia's earliest settler who came here in 1857, the present drought as compared with the one in 1860 is a puny affair.

No rain fell in 16 months, Hammond said, and grasshoppers dying of starvation filled the ruts of wagon trails to a depth of four inches.

FEW OF WORLD WAR MILITARY WIZARDS LIVING

Ludendorff, the Kaiser's Hannibal, Resides in Berlin—Petain, "Savior of Verdun," in Paris.

JELLICOE STILL ACTIVE.

By HOMER McCOY

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP).—Of the fighting men who directed the operations of the World War armies and sea forces, Paul Von Hindenburg was one of the "last leaves."

Now, 20 years after the beginning of the conflict, only a scattered few survive.

General Erich Ludendorff, the "Hannibal" of the Kaiser's troops, executor of the battle plans Von Hindenburg formulated, resides in Berlin. Political pressure forced his retirement in 1918.

Marshall Philippe Petain, "Savior of Verdun," is now War Minister of France.

Death has cut but little into the ranks of the naval heroes. Viscount John Jellicoe, Admiral of the British Grand Fleet when it met the German High Seas Fleet in the Battle of Jutland, retains an interest in the destinies of the English navy.

Earl David Beatty, who led the battle cruiser division of the rand Fleet at Jutland, and later succeeded Jellicoe as commander of the entire naval forces, has retired.

Currie Among Missing

But most of the military greats of the World War are gone. Canada's Sir Arthur Currie died a few months ago.

Marshal Ferdinand Foch of France, given command of the Allied troops in 1918, died in Paris, March 20, 1929, and two million persons attended his funeral.

Earl Douglas Haig, Commander of the British troops, died in 1928.

Two famous fighters beside Von Hindenburg died this year. King Albert of Belgium—like the monarchs of ancient history he rode with his men on the field of battle—was killed while mountain climbing last February.

Marshal Louis Hubert Lyautey, dubbed the "Maker of Morocco", leader of the French Colonial Troops was buried last Thursday at Nancy, France.

WINNIPEG WHEAT HIGH CONTINENTAL DEMAND

WINNIPEG, Aug. 4 (CP)—Increased continental demand for Canadian wheat went hand in hand with the recording of new high prices for the year on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange during the past week. Unofficial estimates place the Western wheat crop at 270,000,000 bushels, slightly higher than the figures for last year.

At the close of the six-day market period wheat showed net gains of 3⅛ and 3⅜ cents. The October future finished at 88⅞, December at 90⅛ and May at 93⅞ to 94 cents. No. 1 hard wheat was quoted at ⅛ cent under the October future and No. 1 Northern 1⅛ ⅝under. Both grades hold good premiums.

FIERCE DROUGHT HITS OKLAHOMA

Heat Sends Temperatures to 117 Degrees—Streams Dry—Pastures Dead.

40,000 ON RELIEF.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 4. —(A. P.). — Oklahoma is in the grip of the most devastating drought in its history.

Burning heat that sent temperatures as high as 117 degrees, shifting sandstorms and torrid winds have caused suffering and even death for men and animals, have dried up streams and ponds and laid waste to thousands of acres.

Approximately 40,000 Oklahomans now are on Federal relief rolls because of drought. Although the Federal Government is spending an estimated $200,000 a month in addition to the regular relief funds, Oklahoma Congressmen and Congressmen-elect met here last week and recommended a $10,000,000 Federal appropriation for the state. They termed the Gevernemnt's drought-relief efforts a "joke."

Pastures throughout the State are dead and the Government is attempting to purchase the suffering livestock at the rate of 2,500 head daily until 150,000 head have been taken from the blighted areas. Thirty thousand head of starved, thirsty cattle already have been moved from the sun-cracked prairies of Western Oklahoma to more fertile pastures.

Barn In Percy Is Fired By Lightning

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 4. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Struck by lightning some time Thursday night, the barn on the Cornelias farm on the third concession of Percy township, was completely destroyed by fire before neighbors could make any effort to save it. The farm is rented by Harold Skinkle, who lost a quantity of hay and some contents, but no stock. The building itself is partly covered by insurance.

HINDENBURG'S WILL MISSING

Officials and Relatives Comb Offices at Berlin and Neudeck Residence.

SNAGS FUNERAL PLANS.

BERLIN, Aug. 4 (From Havas).—President Von Hindenburg's will has not been found, it was learned from authoritative sources here last night.

A search for the document was reported under way both in the Presidential offices in Berlin and in the residence at Neudeck.

The missing will was given as the principal reason for the indecision existing in connection with certain aspects of the funeral arrangtments.

Certain orders have been given and then countermanded, owing to the fact that some uncertainty exists on points believed to be clearly established in the testament.

Secretary of State Dr. Otto Meissner was said to have searched high and low in the President's office here. Colonel Oskar Hindenburg and his family were reported to be seeking the important document at Neudeck.

HEPBURN HEADS FOR OWEN SOUND

Will Address Rally Choosing Candidate for North Grey By-Election.

NO SIGN OF OPPOSITION.

TORONTO, Aug. 4. (CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn went to Owen Sound to-day where he is to address a large gathering of Grey county Liberals assembled to choose a candidate to contest the North Grey by-election. Government offices are closed to-day and Monday which is Civic Holiday.

The vacancy in the Ontario legislature for North Grey is due to the appointment of member-elect D. J. Taylor, to the post of Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries. Two other vacancies exist, one in Kenora and one in South Wellington. In Kenora Hon. Peter Heenan will seek election and in South Wellington no candidate has yet been selected. The vacancy in the latter riding is due to the death of D. Paul Munro, Liberal member who was killed in an automobile accident.

As yet there has been no indication of activity on the part of the Conservative forces and no sign the election of Liberal candidates in any of the three seats would be opposed.

MISSION WORK IS DESCRIBED

W. M. S. of Janetville United Church Holds Interesting July Session.

GOOD PROGRAM.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

JANETVILLE, August 4. — The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church, held a most interesting July session in the school room of the church on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Blathenwick, the president in charge.

Mrs. N. W. McGill acted as secretary.

Mrs. J. Thornton read a letter from Toronto asking the members for volunteers for taking needy children into their homes for two weeks.

Mrs. Charles Deyell was appointed to take charge of the program for the August meeting, and Mrs. Merv. Armstrong was appointed as leader of the Mission Band, owing to the fact that the former leader, Mrs. Smith, has moved away from Janetville.

A member of the W.M.S. will assist the leader at each meeting.

The program consisted of a clear synopsis of the work done in West China, where our adopted Missionary, Miss Lillian Hinton, R. N., is located, and also an account of boarding and day schools in Chungking, written by Miss Margaret Coon, daughter of Rev. Coon, an ex-pastor of the Janetville Methodist church.

After the conclusion of the program and business, the ladies remained at the church to cut out quilt blocks of uniform size to be made up into quilts for missionary work.

On Tuesday afternoon a joint picnic of the Sunday school and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church was held on Community Park. The weather was ideal for the enjoyment of a number of games and races. An interesting softball game was played between the Janetville and Yelverton boys, with the local team being the winners. A bounteous picnic supper was a special feature of the happy annual event.

The Weather

TORONTO, August 4 (C.P.) — Synopsis: A deep disturbance centered this morning on the Labrador coast has caused showers and thunderstorms in Quebec and the Maritimes, while it nas been fair with moderate temperature in Ontario. Thunderstorms with light precipitation have occurred in Saskatchewan and southeast Alberta and temperatures of over 90 were recorded yesterday in many parts of the west. A trough of low pressure extends from Northern Alberta southeastward to South Dakota, while pressure is relatively high over Northern Manitoba and the Great Lakes.

Lower Lake region and Georgian Bay.—Fair and moderately warm. Sunday: Moderate to fresh winds; fair and somewhat warmer.

Northern Ontario.—Fair and comparatively cool to-day and Sunday.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valley.—Fair and moderately warm. Sunday: Fair and becoming somewhat warmer.

LIBERALS GIRD FOR 8 ELECTIONS

Hepburn and King Discuss Fray in 5 Federal, 3 Provincial Ridings.

CANDIDATES FOR ALL.

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—(CP)—Liberals welded their forces today for eight by-elections, five federal and three provincial. Decision to enter the fray in the eight riding was made at a conferenceof prominent Liberals with Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Dominion Liberal leader, and Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn.

Mr. King arrived in Toronto yesterday and went into conference with Premier Hepburn. The Dominion leader will attend the functions this week-end in connection with the Canadian Corps re-union.

Liberal candidates will be entered in the Dominion ridings of Frontenac-Addington, vacated by the death of Dr. William Spankie, Conservative; Toronto East, vacated by the death of Hon. E. Z. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue; Elgin West, which Mr. Hepburn represented in the commone; Kenora-Rainy River, represented by Hon. Peter Heenan, now Ontario Minister of lands and forests, and York North, vacated by the death of T. H. Lennox, Conservative.

Colin Campbell, mining engineer, is slated to enter the contest for the Liberals in Frontenac-Addington.

The death in an auto accident of D. Paul Munro, K.C., Liberal member, made vacant the Ontario riding of Wellington South. A by-election also will be held in Kenora where Earl Hutchinson surrendered the riding to permit entry of Hon. Peter Heenan into the Liberal cabinet. The other vote takes place in Grey South, made vacant by D. J. Taylor's appointment as Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries.

U.S. TO CONTROL NATURAL POWER SAYS ROOSEVELT

St. Lawrence Will Also Be Developed Claims President, Touring Northwest.

KEEP PRICE RIGHT.

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

Enroute with President Roosevelt to Washington, Aug. 4 (A.P.) — President Roosevelt of the United States crossed the Pacific northwest to-day with an announced policy that the government is going to control natural power resources and expand this section. The St. Lawrence is "going to be developed," he said.

To-day Mr. Roosevelt proceeded with his immediate aides to the federal projects of the Columbia river basin.

On the lower banks of the Columbia late yesterday, overlooking steam shovels and trucks at the Bonneville dam site, the president made his first talk after returning to the continental United States.

"I always believe in the old saying, 'more power to you.'"

"I don't believe that you can have enough power for a long time to come, and the power that we are developing here is going to be power which for all time is going to be controlled by the government."

The president conceived the power projects as "yardsticks so the people of this country will know they are paying the proper price for electricity of all kinds."

Car Catches Fire Trent River Road

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 4. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The two front tires and a bent and twisted frame is all that remains of a car belonging to Thomas Sopha, of Marmora, that caught fire early yesterday morning on the Trent River road, near Woodland's Cheese Factory. Thought to have been caused by faulty ignition, a full tank of gasoline added to the force of the fire, which was noticed in time by the driver, who with his passengers was able to get clear of the burning vehicle. The party were returning home from a social function.

Matthew 25:40—"Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my brethern, even the least of these, ye did it unto me."

The Father of New France

(BY DEAN O'SULLIVAN)

General Murray, the first Governor of Canada under British rule, declared that, if the French-Canadians should ever emigrate, it would be an irreparable loss to the Empire.

Lord Elgin, speaking of the French regime, calls it the heroic days of Canadian history.

Truly the history of no country presents a period so full of romance and chivalry as the early days of Canada. There we find, side by side with the uncouth manners and pagan savagery of the Indian tribes, all the valor and chivalry, all the culture and piety of Old France. Daring adventurers, like Cartier; brave soldiers, like D'Iberville; Christian statesmen, like Maisonneuve, the founder of Montreal; "a knight without fear and without reproach"; kingly governors, like Frontenac, the man of iron will, bearing himself in his rude Council Chamber of Quebec with all the grace and dignity that made him an ornament to the most splendid court in Europe—these were some of the characters that have cast a halo over the early days of our country's history. But as an example for the generation of to-day, especially for those who hold positions of trust; let me select one to whom I made a passing reference in last week's article; one who possessed in his own person all the best qualities of each of these, I refer to Samuel de Champlain, "the Father of New France."

"The character of Champlain," says Withrow, "was more like that of the knight errant of Mediaeval romence than a matter-of-fact soldier of the Seventeenth Century." Reared as he was within hearing of the ocean's roar, his innate love of adventure was fostered by the sight of the billowy and boundless Atlantic. He ill brooked the idle dalliance of a monarch's court. He longed to unveil the mystery of the Western waste, and to plant on the shores of America the Fleur de Lis of France. This was with him no idle wish, no phantom project only to be abandoned. Sanguine as become an adventurer, self-denying as became a hero, no obstacle could deter him from attaining his end. Twenty times he crossed the stormy ocean, although it was then a greater task than to circumnavigate the globe to-day.

As his frail craft sailed up Canada's majestic river no human habitation met his gaze. "The white whales floundering in the Bay of Tadoussac and the wild duck diving as the foaming prow drew near —there were," says Parkman, "no life, but these in all that vast wilderness." Yet nothing daunted the determination and valor of Champlain. When Massachusetts was a wilderness and the Virginian settled feared to penetrate a league inland and couched in terror behind his narrow fort, he was planting the white flag of France on shores which even to this day are comparatively unknown.

The foremost pioneer of the Canadian forests he struck the boldest and deepest blow into the heart of their pristine barbarism. We see him with his little band of comrades fearlessly advancing into the very heart of the forests where never before a white man trod and where the wild cat and the beaver held undisputed away. To view the evening bivouac of Champlain one need only encamp on some of the upper waters of the Ottawa or on some lonely river, still farther distant; places even to this day a solitude. There, around the red camp fire whose ruddy glow revealed the mighty arms of the adjacent forest, with legs crossed, the red man and the white man sat together eating their evening meal, while they listened to the mournful howl of some lonely wolf in the distance or the soft foot-fall of a prowling wild beast, whose glassy eyes glared forth from the neighboring thicket. Brave almost to rashness, he would thrust himself with a single European follower into the very midst of savage enemies. And more than once his life was endangered by the excess of his confidence and of his courage.

It was his zeal for Christianity that led him on in his adventurous career. The great object of his life was to win the wandering pagan to the doctrine of the Cross. Fame, glory and power he esteemed of less account than the extension of the Kingdom of Christ. To amass riches was the desire of many of his contemporaries; to found an empire that might be a fruitful field for the sowing of the Gospel was the goal of his ambition. "He would fain," says Parkman, "win from perdition men living like brute beasts without law, religion or a God." It was this zeal that urged him to act the part of a lay missionary and to transform Quebec into a missionary station where the Indian was treated with kindness and won over to the Christian faith.

His own life and actions were in accordance with his views. Such was his purity that, a century after he had received the reward of his virtue, the Huron braves still spoke with reverence of the continency of the "great French war chief." He treated the Indians with such kindness and fidelity that, though naturally suspicious, they always had perfect trust and confidence in him. He was always sociable with them and shared their joys and sorrows. At their feasts he attended with seeming satisfaction, and smoked the pipe of peace as it went its round. He invited them into his hospitable refrectory and when it came his turn to act as host, he waited on each squalid group with as much politeness as he could bestow on a king. There, in that refrectory, while the appetite of the Indian was being appeased, he heard the Word of God issuing from the lips of holy men and was taught to hope in life beyond the grave.

When we read of the labors and hardships he was forced to endure and the opposition he met with, we instinctively think of the great Apostle of the Gentiles and his "in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils from my own nation, in perils from the Gentiles, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils from false brethren." Yet such was his courage that from the day that he planted the lilies of France at the foot of Cape Diamond until his death he devoted himself to the infant colony and kept it alive, in spite of enemies at home and abroad and discouragements that would have shaken any determination save that of courage founded upon faith. To the last we recognize in him a chivalrous devotion to duty that never faltered in the face of any difficulty, and a high tone of personal honor and truth that raised him in the esteem of his associates and secured for him enduring fame.

The memory of Champlain will ever live in the minds of Canadians. We have his beautiful monument at Orillia, but his real monument is our country. The founder of many towns, the patron of all the missions, the friend of the Indian, the first and best Governor of New France, his name is imperishably written on the foremost pages of her history, as a man of genius, of pure and untarnished honor.

It were well for us on the occasion of this centenary to gather inspiration from the lives of Canada's noble sons. He, whose character I have attempted to portray, teaches the youth of the Dominion, and especially those who are placed in high stations, what excellence there is in a noble honest life, characterized by devotion to duty and forgetfulness of self, while the multiture of Christian people who now dwell in pesce throughout this grand country will ever hold in grateful remembrance the name of the man whose zeal and wisdom redeemed it from the desolation of the wildmerness.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Religious and Social Questions Answered By DR. WYLIE CLARK

I HAVE read your very interesting writings so often and enjoyed them, that at last I made up my mind to write you. I am afraid my letter will be rather long, but you will, I hope, pardon me, as there are so many things I would like to ask you.

I was brought up in a strictly religious home in England. My parents, both being strict Methodists, we always had family prayers —and my dear parents lived the true Christian life—family prayers and my father explaining the chapter we had all joined in reading, and my mother in the evenings playing a hymn, are the most beautiful memories to me. Never was such a thing as cards seen in our house, and we were always told of the dreadful things that would happen to us if we ever touched them, and it was so ingrained into my sister and I that to this day I have never touched them. I always had a feeling I could not.

Then, of course, we were told if we died and had not been washed in the precious blood of Christ, we were lost and would burn forever and ever in a pit of fire and brimstone. I can well remember waking in the night in great fear that I might die before morning, and be cast into the fiery furnace.

My father and mother both died as they lived—true Christians.

When my mother knew she could not get well, she so often spoke of going to join my father and being eternally happy.

Now, Dr. Clark, I would so like your opinion of the hereafter. Do you think that our spirits go to join our loved ones, as soon as released from the body? If so, what about the Resurrection Day—when we are told we shall be judged according to our works?

Surely a just God would not cast a person into utter darkness—after a happy reunion with their loved ones, would He?

Some time ago I heard a member of the Seventh Day Adventists Church say, "There is no such thing as joining our loved ones until we are all judged on the Last Day." He said, "Even David (I don't know why he mentioned David) is still lying in the dust waiting for the trumpet's call." So it is so hard to understand.

But something that happened me when I was a young girl of fifteen makes me think that we do go after death to a place of happiness.

I was very ill with typhoid fever, and the doctors had given me up. They told my mother the crisis would be that night. But they had no hope at all that I would see morning.

My mother and sisters and friends were around my bedside crying, and, of course, terribly upset. But although I knew I was not expected to live, I was quite happy, and begged my loved ones not to cry, as it hurt me to see them, as I was quite ready. Then, I remember looking upwards and seeing angels—and the faces of loved ones who had passed on.

I told them what I saw, and could not understand why they could not see them, too.

However, towards morning, I slept and did not awaken for twenty-four hours. Then the crisis was past, and after some weeks I completely recovered, and up until the last few years have enjoyed splendid health, and although thirty years have passed since I had that wonderful and beautiful vision, it is still fresh in my memory, and I am sure always will be.

I had not the slightest fear of death then. To-day, I am not sure.

I would so like you to tell me what you think, Dr. Clark, please. I am sure it would comfort me.

I would trespass on your kindness again. Do you think it wrong to play cards

Thanking you in advance, and hoping to get a word of comfort from you, through The Examiner.

Right Activity

MANY to-day are confronted with the belief that they have nothing to do; that there is no activity in which they can be busy. Even though this may seem to be a fact humanly, it cannot be fundamentally true. In the book of Genesis we read, "God created man in his own image." Man, therefore, was created to express God, and can never be inactive. In order to prove this in human experience we must learn the truth about the real man as set forth in the first chapter of Genesis, and also gain the true sense of activity.

One sure way to destroy the belief of inactivity is humbly to do the thing at hand. If there be one who is believing himself unemployed, let him look about to see what task, be it ever so humble, he may find to do in the present hour. Is there a bit of cleaning or renewing that may be done about the house or place of business, or is there a letter that might be written to bring joy to another.

But, one may say, could such tasks help me to find employment? The answer is, yes. As one joyously keeps himself employed with any right thing he may find to do, either for himself or for another, knowing that God is the source of all activity, and doing the work with a grateful desire to express good, his right thinking is reflecting God. So doing, he is keeping in touch with God's law of activity; and when he has finished every task he can see at hand, he will surely see the next step to take toward working out the right sense of activity. Many times, willingness to do the humble work at hand is the very step needed to open the way to greater achievement.

If one has finished every task he can see to do, the need may be for a period of consecrated study and meditation on the things of God. God has promised that He will never forsake us. Our part is to maintain, through Christ-like thinking, conscious unity with Him.—Christian Science Monitor.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

With hearts responsive
And enfranchised eyes,
We thank Thee, Lord!

FOR all things beautiful, and good, and true,
For things that seemed not good yet turned to good;
For all the sweet compulsions of Thy will
That chased and tried, and wrought us to Thy shape;
For things unnumbered that we take of right,
And value first when first they are withheld;
For light and air, sweet sense of sound and smell;
For ears to hear the heavenly harmonies;
For eyes to see the unseen in the seen;
For vision of the Worker in the work;
For hearts to apprehend Thee everywhere;
We thank Thee, Lord!

For all the wonders of this wondrous world;
The pure pearl splendours of the coming day,
The breaking east—the rosy blush—the dawn—
For that bright gem in morning's coronal,
That one lone star that gleams above the glow;
For that high glory of the impartial sun,
The golden noonings big with promised life,
The matchless pageant of the evening skies,
The wide-flung gates—the gleams of Paradise—
Supremest vision of Thine artistry;
The sweet, soft gloaming, and the friendly stars;
The vesper stillness, and the creeping shades,
The moon's pale majesty; the pulsing dome,
Wherein we feel Thy great heart throbbing near;
For sweet laborious days and restful nights;
For work to do, and strength to do the work;
We thank Thee, Lord!

—From "A Little Te Deum of the Commonplace," by John Oxenham (Rosicrucian Order, San Jose, Calif.).

A PRAYER.

Lord, grant unto us that ours may be the stillness, the vision, and the love which Thou givest to those who seek Thee truly, believing that the world's unrest, and the passions that distract us, shall pass to silence overcome by Thee.

Lord, may that grace be given us to find Thee out of our seeking, to know Thee when Thou comest with healing quiet into our lives; and to be Thine for ever, when the way of shadows ends at the door of the Father's house, where love and peace are given our hearts again for evermore.—Dr. Yauchlan McLean Watt.

A BENEFICENT HONEYMOON.

Elisha Helps the Needy

Scripture—II Kings 4:1-44

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Elisha's miracles were mostly works of mercy like those of Jesus. One of these was performed for a widow whose sons were about to be sold to pay her debts. Elisha enabled her to multiply a pot of oil into many vessels full which she sold and paid her debt.

A Shunamite woman and her husband showed hospitality towards Elisha by building a prophet's chamber on their wall and furnishing it as his guest room. Elisha rewarded them by promising them a son in their old age, a promise God fulfilled.

This son grew to be a young lad when one day, while helping his father in the field, he suffered a sun stroke and died. His mother rushed at once to Elisha, who, in answer to her appeal, came and restored the lad to life.

On another occasion the people brought Elisha a gift of twenty barley loaves which he blessed and multiplied into enough to feed a hundred men, much as Jesus did in feeding the multitude in the wilderness.

THE AROMA OF BEER.

The Rev. Ben Spence, who has been grievously withdrawn from public observation for some time past, has returned to the front page. He was unfavorably impressed with the aroma of the new Ontario's beverage rooms. We can understand his feelings. The smell of other people's beer when one is not drinking beer oneself is unpleasant even to us, who are among the most tolerant of God's creatures. It is not the worst smell that we know of. The smell of other people's oranges and bananas in railway trains when we are not ourselves eating oranges and bananas is far more painful, and the smell of other people's mint-flavored chewing-gum in theatres when we are not ourselves chewing (which is often) is positively agonising. Nevertheless we have never thought of starting a movement for the abolition of oranges or bananas or chewing-gum; for a great many people seem to derive pleasure from these things (specially in public places), and it is against our principles to seek to deprive our fellow-citizens of the few pleasures that are left them in these difficult times, even though the resultant odors should be unpleasant to us.—Saturday Night.

MINING INDUSTRY FLOURISHING.

Recent shipment of the first brick of gold from the Algoma Summit Mines in the district of Sault Ste. Marie directs attention to the progressive development of a long neglected area where there are now three producing gold mines and six others that may reach production by the end of this year.

"Never in the history of this district's gold mining activities has the future looked more rosy," the Sault Daily Star reports in its news columns.

Two mills send between $40,000 and $60,000 a month to the Mint, and from these units of the industry Sault Ste. Marie benefits to the very appreciable extent of $180,000 yearly in wages and approximately $240,000 spent in the purchase of supplies.

If the other six properties become producers Sault Ste. Marie visualizes employment of two hundred men with monthly wage bills of $24,000 and an additional expenditure of $15,000 monthly for supplies.

On this same subject of gold production in Canada, the current annual special issue of the Northern Miner estimates a yield of more than $105,000,000 for 1934. Eighty mills are in operation, doubling the number of a year ago, and scores of properties, from coast to coast, are preparing to enter the list of profitable producers.

The larger, well established gold mines are making record profits, and Canadian metal mines of all classifications will distribute this year more than $43,000,000 among shareholders.

"Canadian nickel producers are shipping at all time record rates. Canadian copper mines are producing at near capacity. Dividends have been restored in this grouping," says the Northern Miner.

"Canada has improved, in 1934, its status in the production of minerals. To-day it stands first in nickel, first in asbestos, first in platinum, second in radium, second in gold, second in zinc, second in cobalt. Canada stands third in copper, fourth in lead and fourth in silver amongst the world's producers.

"For a people of 10,000,000 population the mineral production is remarkable—and growing rapidly. The value of metals produced per capita in 1933 was $23.33; in the current year the figure may be $30.00."

RELIEF AND MR. HARRIS.

When a Toronto press photographer took a picture of Charles Harris and his wife and two children, Peterborough representatives in the "hunger march," with a banner bearing the inscription, "Peterborough feeds its children on 25 cents a week per child," he may have been doing the cause of the unemployed a good service.

Twenty-five cents a week does seem to be an inadequate allowance, but in the case of Mr. Harris it turns out that he has not been as neglected as his banner might suggest.

From taxes paid by the citizens of Peterborough, many of whom are having a prolonged struggle to avoid resort to relief, even while paying the city rates, supplemented by Government contributions, Mr. Harris has received during the last eighteen months $619 in direct relief and $46.80 in cash for city work.

Heads of families not far removed from the unemployed condition of Mr. Harris and others more fortunately placed will regret not that he has received so little, as he regards it, from the relief funds, but so much.

If they could control the economic system they would see to it that men like Mr. Harris were fully employed and not forced to apply for aid from their fellow-citizens. After all, that is the source of the relief funds provided from the city taxes, and if Mr. Harris thinks that the public generally can support the expansive program of relief proposed by the "hunger marchers" he has little conception of the difficulties many people near the border line are faced with in keeping steady eyes toward the troubled times.

There is far more concern and sympathy for the unemployed than the Harris banner conveyed in the "hunger" march, but if the Dominion Government's contribution is to be reduced during the months ahead, it may be that the city and province may not find even the present schedule of relief easy to maintain.

"HUNGER MARCH" BY-PRODUCT.

Premier Hepburn's confidence in the efficacy of a basic principle of democracy which recognizes the right of every citizen to present an appeal to the Government was agreeably realised in the circumstances attending his interview with the delegation of "hunger marchers."

Citizens who are out of work and dependent on a public dole may have lost faith or patience with an economic system that seems to have left them out of its reckoning and, temporarily at least, deprived them of the inalienable right to a living wage for their labor.

At the same time the vast majority of the people of this province are determined to maintain their heritage of freedom and equality as British citizens, especially in their respectful relations with their elected representatives. And this conviction is daily strengthened by all the verified reports of political repression, civil strife, stark murder, and the suspension of the ordinary process of law in European countries where democracy has been superseded by various forms of dictatorship.

The liberties and rights of the subject are fundamentals of British citizenship. They were bought with British blood, not merely as empty principles, but as vital practices.

In the recent controversy in Toronto with the approach of the "hunger marchers" as its nub, the Hepburn-Roebuck ideals found a contrasting background and fell against the attempted repression of the municipal authorities of Toronto on the right and the Soviet attachments and affirmations of some of the leaders of the "hunger marchers" on the left.

Between these two mutually antagonistic groups the Government asserted the citizen's right of petition, and for approval of their idealism they may look neither to the spirit of Toronto's municipal moguls nor to the spokesmen of "hunger marchers," but to the sound and pervasive spirit of democracy throughout Ontario.

Official Toronto regards the reception of the "hunger marchers" as an encouragement of the "Red element." The leaders of the "hunger marchers" suspected the Hepburn-Roebuck policy as the acquiescence of demagogues. Only those who know Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Roebuck can understand the integrity of this recent expression of their democratic convictions. In their political ideals the rights of petition and free speech are not mere shadows, but are veritable substance, and in facing the problem of men's rights to employment, which must eventually be secured, they do not yield those other rights which the founders of this country brought with them from the Old Land.

Coming and going, the rights of the "hunger marchers" were guaranteed by Premier Hepburn, his concluding assurance promising to his visitors immunity from any local relief board's belated intimidation.

If the leaders of the "hunger marchers" chose to wind up their demonstration in Toronto by acclaiming the Soviets they struck the note Mayor Stewart expected to hear, but on the other hand they reminded the citizens of Ontario of the true conditions under the Soviets where there is neither freedom of assembly, freedom of speech, nor freedom of the press, just to mention several of the liberties which British people prize most.

CHEAPER MONEY.

Canada has just borrowed $50,000,000 in New York for one year at an interest rate of two per cent. This, believed to be the lowest interest rate in the history of the Dominion's financing, has a very special significance. Apart altogether from what it reveals of the country's credit standing, what it tells definitely is that we have entered an era of cheaper money, something that is bound to make a lot of difference in Canada's financial future.

In the course of his budget speech last session Mr. Rhodes spoke of the possibility of a 3½ per cent. basis for the Dominion's medium or long-term obligations. That his hope was a most reasonable one is indicated not merely by this latest loan, but by the whole trend of the Governments financing during the past three years.

Taking the interest now being paid on all of Canada's direct debts outstanding, the average rate is 4.62 per cent. Eliminating the Victory Bonds which will mature on November 1 this year and which will be converted at a substantially reduced rate, eliminating also the five and 5½ per cent. tax-free issues which will not mature until 1937, and assuming that these war-time issues are replaced by four per cent. securities (a very modest assumption), this average would be reduced to 4.36 per cent. The reduction may not appear to be great, but considering that in 1931, before the Conversion Loan was issued, the average interest rate was five per cent., and that hundreds of millions of dollars are involved, the net saving in interest charges annually becomes a considerable sum. Indeed, over $858,000,000 of War and Victory Loans bonds have been converted into new securities since 1930, with a saving in interest charges of more than $9,000,000 a year.

A great deal has been heard of what has been done in England and in Australia in the matter of savings through conversion loans. England and Australia have done a great deal. On the other hand, it is but fair to keep in mind that Canada, without any great fuss, has secured a lot of saving too, seems in a fair way to secure a lot more.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The New Deal seems to have been broadly interpreted by the children of the White House.

And John Willys, 60, taking a bride of 37, the day after his divorce may have been affected by the 1934 stream-line notions.

Not that T. P. Lancaster, M.L.A., is worrying about his political status, but the Liberal protest is not the most approved kind of wedding present.

No reference by the milk referees to the ancient recourse to the pump suggests that some customs are abandoned.

The insurance people will probably spend another anxious week-end holiday.

Hon. Howard Ferguson can still take a holiday in the security of knowing his job is safe.

And don't rock the boat on Monday; likewise Sunday.

John Harris achieved the distinction of getting his picture in the papers. That's more than many a hard hit taxpayer can say.

With June marriages in Canada 25 per cent. more than last year, Dan Cupid evidently hasn't heard about the depression.

New York City has planted more trees since Jan. 1 than any other city in the history of the world.

Baroness Northcote, adopted daughter of the late Lord Mount Stephen, has left $1,825,000 to assist in the migration of British children to Australia. Some of this money might have been ear-marked for use in promoting juvenile immigration to Canada if such a movement had not been virtually suspended as a result of government action.

MILITARY ORGANIZATIONS.

TO UNDERSTAND the significance of German military organization is as important as to be informed about her leaders. The military organizations of Great Britain are grouped about the Empire. The army and navy of the United States protect the nation. But the military organizations of Germany are ranged about some leader.

The Reichswehr is the standing army, with long enlistments. The Versailles Treaty had the say of how large. One hundred thousand men have comprised its size. Two hundred thousand is the present determination. This organization has never been satisfied with the change of the Monarchy to a Republic. To increase the size from one hundred thousand to two hundred thousand will add to the unrest of the German people and will not lessen international tension. The sentiment of this army is with the Hohenzollerins. General Werner von Blomberg is at its head. He is Minister of War. The Reichswehr was created during the period of the Weimar Republic and is the most reactionary force in Germany.

Germany has a secret state police. The Geheime Staats Polizei has its headquarters in Prussia. It is under the command of Heinrich Himmler. Its branches run out into every one of the states of the Reich. The chief purpose of this organization is not to ferret out crime but to peer into every hole and corner for opposition to Hitlet. It is everywhere. No one knows who. Germany has no free press, nor free speech, and almost no free thinking. With this organization always on the go the Germans are in bondage in their own homeland and that at the hands of their own kith and kin.

The Polizei have a uniform, but except on State occasions seldom are in formal dress. It is green. When in operation the men dress in the garb of the ordinary citizen. They hide their Polizei identity, as workmen in the industries, and among business men, and in the harvest fields. They are everywhere men are at work in groups. The professional man does not escape their contacts. They know what is being taught in the universities and in the schools. And what people are thinking about in their homes. The scrutiny is merciless. The Polizei make oath not to spare their own relatives. How long a race will bow to such tyrannous dictatorship will be determined by the quality of the youth of the nation. The men or women who are accepted as fit to enter this service are trained as spies. They must make oath to be completely obedient to their commanders. The commanders bow at the feet of Hitler or his representative to make oath. Their subservience is without mental reservation, or equivocation.

Schupo. is the name of another organization set apart for just as severe espionage as the Polizei. It is a state organization. It is an active force of 200,000 men. Green is the color of the uniform. It is their duty garb. They go armed. They are graduated from an Officers Training School. Every morning they get orders from the top. As a body of trained, disciplined, rugged men they are not surpassed by any similar group in Europe. They, too, are at the beck and nod of Hitler.

The Sturm Abteilung are familiarily known as the Storm Divisions or Storm Troops. The "Examiner" readers have become familiar with the name 'The Brown Shirts'. This is the great Nazi military machine.

Before the recent blood bath, the Brown Shirts numbered 2,500,000 men. They are the flower of German youth. The commander was Ernst Roehm. It is with humiliation that his name is written here. He was a most capable leader. Opposition with no intent to do bodily harm was his undoing. He planned a swift coup d'etat without the shedding of blood. The presence of a million men before the gates of Berlin before Hitler could summon a defence would have led to the resignation of the Nazi government. But the secret scheme of Roehm became known. He was arrested. Within a few hours was executed. Viktor Lutze is now in command. He ordered the Brown Shirts to disarm. They did. Had another leaders than Roehm been equal to the occasion the Brown Shirts could have ended the regime of Hitler and the Nazi government.

The Brown Shirts were in name, but not in spirit, Nazi. Hitler had them in Nazi training. German youth, like youth in all the nations, insist on doing some thinking for themselves. The youth of today is surpassing the youth of former days in taking an interest in public affairs. The two million and more of Brown Shirts were not unanimous for Hitler. Had Roehm been a fighter and organizer and inspirer like Napoleon, a Democratic form of government would be in operation today in Germany. Lutze reduced the Brown Shirts to 800,000. Hitler still thinks that he can make thorough going Nazis out of the remaining 800,000.

To make his own personal safety more secure, Hitler has exalted the Storm Troops from an unofficial organization to a semi-official. He has also about him the Schuts Staffel. Its has an enrollment of 200,000. These men have been picked for their personal loyalty to him.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Reid Williams

BIRTH OF THE PRINCESS PATS

Twenty years ago today, while the world was awaiting the decision of the British government as to peace or war, a Montreal citizen acted. Arthur Hamilton Gault, son of a former senator of the Dominion, offered to raise and equip a regiment of light infantry for service in France, should the decision be for war.

The offer was accepted by the Borden Government; the name "Princess Patricia's Light Infantry" was selected out of compliment to Princess Patricia of Connaught, daughter of the then Governor General, who herself worked the colors for the regiment and personally presented them to the regiment at a grand ceremony on Parliament Hill. The recruiting of the regiment was record-breaking. Offers of enlistment came from all over Canada, a majority from former soldiers of the King' Within seven days the ranks were filled, and thus the first unit of the Canadian Expeditionary Force wa the first overseas regiment to be greeted in England.

The "Pats" left Quebec September 27; landed at Plymouth October 14; and was the first Canadian regiment to land in France. Its first battle was St. Eloi in March, 1915, when the commanding officer, Col. Farquhar, was killed and Major Hamilton Gault wounded.

Thereafter the "Pats" were in the thick of things for the full four years. It was their band which headed the march into Mons on November 11, 1918. When the regiment embarked for England in February, 1919, its term of service in the field had exceeded that of any fighting unit from overseas and of most battalions raised in Great Britain after the outbreak of the war. It had 369 awards: three V.C.'s, 9 D.S.O.'s (2 bars), 139 D.C.M.'s and 48 M.C.'s. Its traditions are now carried on by the permanent unit bearing its name, at Winnipeg.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

ATHABASCA, ALBERTA.

Athabasca was named for the Athabasca river and was originally a Hudson's Bay post and river transportation point. It was known as Athabasca Landing and many of the old-timers still refer to it as the landing.

The word is Cree and carries many definitions, depending upon inflection of speech. It may mean "place of many reeds," or it may mean "good landing place." Others again claim it comes from the Cree word "Athapescow" or "Elk." Old maps spell the word as "Araubaska".

ALL OF US

By Marshall Mallett

NO MORE PRIVATE WORLDS

We make private worlds for ourselves. We think we can escape from the irritating world by going indoors and turning the lock on life—and then we'll be safe and secure and happy.

But if you try to escape, you can't do it. When you run away you run straight into a self-made prison, and if you shut the doors tight enough and lock all the windows and pull down the blinds and stuff every crack, in time you go a little mad or entirely mad' . . . That's what is wrong with insane people, and that's what is wrong with permanently unhappy people of all kinds. People who whimper or snarl and complain that the world is not cut to their measure.

"But what can an unhappy mortal do?" you may ask.

"He can unlock his doors," says Phyllis Bottome, "and stand open to life." And if he does that he will be happy and useful, with a clean wind blowing through his house.

"The way I look at it now," says a man named Arnold in Phyllis Bottome's "Private Worlds," "is that there mustn't be any private worlds! Letting oneself be cut off by pride—or shutting oneself up completely in a dangerous intimacy—or hiding because of fear—well, those things aren't the escapes they look like. There is in all of them a sort of solitary confinement—even in the intimacy; one's got to belong to the outside world as well! Then one's all right! I don't mean that one need go on about talking—but one mustn't keep the best of oneself up one's sleeve. One must stand open to life. . . . One needn't bother about individuals letting one down. What is it Nietzche says: "In the end man experiences only his true self" It's the way one takes what one goes through, not what one goes through, that is to be trusted or distrusted'

"When you come to think of it, you can't do anyone more good than he'll let you, either! No patient in this hospital, for instance, can be cured if he becomes inaccessible! the private world is complete then, and has unhitched itself forever from mankind."

The man who speaks these words was once a madman, shut away in himself' He hated and distrusted the world and would not come out. . . . But at last, through the trust of other men, he came to trust himself and to live easily and freely once more, in the wide world instead of his private world.

If you live in a private world, I think Phyllis Bottome's novel will open a few doors and windows for you.

ROAD CONVENTION PLANS PROGRESS

Attendance of Several Provincial Ministers of Highways Already Assured.

MONTREAL, Aug. 4.—Hon. J. E. Perrault, K.C., Minister of Highways and Mines for the Province of Quebec and president of the Canadian Good Roads Association, in commenting today upon the prospective representation from the various Provincial Governments at the Association's twenty-first annual convention to be held at the Manoir Richelieu, Murray Bay, Que., on September 11-13, expressed his pleasure at having received from Hon. T. B. McQuesten, the new Minister of Highways for Ontario, assurance of his full sympathy and co-operation with the objects and activities of the association and of his intention to attend the convention with one or more of his departmental officials and staff engineers.

Hon. G. Shelton Sharp, Minister of Highways for Prince Edward Island, and first vice-president; Hon. A. S. MacMillan, the new Minister of Highways for Nova Scotia, and second vice-president, and Hon. D. A. Stewart, Minister of Highways for New Brunswick and a past president of the association, have all signified their intention of being present, while it is expected that Hon. W. R. Clubb, Minister of Public Works for Manitoba and also a past president, will attend. Representation of the three remaining provinces—Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia—has not yet been settled, owing to elections or cabinet reorganizations in all three since the last convention of the association, but it is hoped that either the new ministers or their deputies will be delegates.

At previous conventions, held in rotation so that each of the nine provinces has had its turn in entertaining the organization, the attendance has ranged from three hundred to six hundred registered delegates, embracing highways ministers, their deputies and chief engineers or other departmental officers, motor vehicle manufacturers or officials, road contractors and supply men, municipal officials, officers of provincial and local good roads and motoring or tourist associations, and representatives of general transportation interests. The selection as the scene of this convention of the Manoir Richelieu, with its superb location on the historic St. Lawrence River and its beautiful setting at the foot of the picturesque and romantic Laurentian Mountains, is confidently expected to attract an attendance of at least four hundred this year.

FLIER REPORTED SAFE

DAKAR, Senegal, Aug. 4 (C.P.-Havas)—Victor Smith landed near Fort Etienne, French West Africa, to-day on his Cape-to-London flight.

The flyer, who up to yesterday had been unreported for four days, was apparently making steady progress.

Fort Etienne is in Mauritania, the strip of French West Africa cut off from Senegal by the British colony of Gambia.

Red Revolt in Fukien Smashed By Chinese

SHANGHAI, Aug. 4. (AP).—The Chinese government claimed to-day its troops has smashed a Communist rebellion in Fukien province and saved the city of Foochow from threatened capture.

Censorship, however, was sharp and details of the fighting were not available.

Earlier unconfirmed reports received at Hong Kong said the Communists had broken through government forces to capture the city of Shuikow and were menacing the important port of Foochow.

A British warship arrived at Foochow this afternoon.

Walked 300 Miles Searching For School

STRATFORD, Ont., Aug. 4 (CP) —Donald Simpson, graduate of the Stratford Normal School, has been teaching for the past two years and had intended to return to Normal School, but with the change in regulations, recently, he had to start out looking for a new school—and he walked 300 miles to get it.

He heard about a vacancy at Loring last Saturday via the thumb route, reached there early this week, and secured the school. He arrived back home to-day.

3,000,000 Shares Gold Range Mines

It is officially estimated that Peterborough is represented at the big Canadian Corps Reunion in Toronto by over 500 ex-servicemen. The majority of the men left the city early this morning by rail and road.

The special train chartered by the Red Patch Club left the Canadian National Railway station at seven o'clock bearing with it a complement of approximately 300 passengers, the majority of whom were ex-servicemen.

A bargain fare excursion run by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company took out over 300 passengers on the two morning trains, according to James Skinner, ticket agent, while the afternoon train was expected to take out another heavy complement of passengers bound for

Actual Scenes of Bloody Fighting In Austria

Civil war is reported spreading in Austria, where a Nazi putsch bringing the assassination of Chancellor Dolfuss, resulted in scattered battles that left hundreds slain, with thousands wounded and imprisoned. Here are photos radioed via London and New York showing top, Nazi prisoners led from the Vienna radio station which they captured for a brief interval, to broadcast the "downfall" of the Dollfuss government, after a bloody fight in which several were killed; bottom, Heimwehr men lifting a wounded radio official through window to ambulance.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WINNIPEG WHEAT

WINNIPEG, Aug. 4. — (CP).—Humming cables that carried the story of a further advance in the price of wheat at Liverpool, which in the past few weeks has assumed the leadership in the world's drive to higher wheat prices, sent wheat futures values mounting in the early trading of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Buying orders poured into the market and futures, easily resisting the selling of traders who sought to cash in on the gains, near the close traded buoyantly at levels 1¾ cents higher, the October option at 90⅝, December 91¾ and May 95¾ cents.

Renewed buying of Canada's wheat, following yesterday's lull in demand, also was reported today. Though observers did not set a definite figure on the movement, it was expected the renewed buying of Canadian wheat would exceed 500,000 bushels.

TORONTO MINING

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—(CP)—Four gold and two silver stocks accounted for the bulk of the business on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange in the closing session of the week.

Buying in the big gold group and the base metals was at low ebb. Noranda traded in broken lots at $40, unchanged and Hudson Bay was up 10 to $13.10. Wright Hargreaves at $9 was off 10 cents.

Selling pressure was active in Gunnar Gold and the price was hammered to $2.09, off 21 cents before steadying. It recovered part of the loss. God's Lake at 2.51 was up 2 while Read Authier gained about 10 cents and Little Long Lac pushed up to $7 for a gain of 20 cents.

Oil shares showed none of Friday's buoyancy or activity. Home oil fell back 10 cents to $1.07 and Ajax at $1.08 was down 2. In the penny section Lamaque contact and Ventures were down a little and Big Missouri was higher at the close.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (A.P.)—Ignoring world-wide strength of the wheat markekts, shares yielded readily to light selling in the New York stock exchange to-day, a few issues registering new 1934 lows. Losses of 1 to 4 points were numerous, and the closing tone was heavy. Sales approximated 300,000 shares for the two-hour session.

Such interest as there was in the street seemed to be largely on the bear side. Traders were clearly concerned over the trend of corporate profits. In rails, it was pointed out, June goss was up about two per cent, but net declined more than 10 per cent. The Chrysler report for the second quarter continued to cause comment, showing gross sales up 6 per cent, but profits off 37 per cent from the same period of last year.

In Canadian issues, aside from steadiness in McIntyre and Dome quiet offerings appeared in International Nickel. On the curb Lake Shore and Hiram Walker sold down fractionally. Dominion government bonds were steady while the Canadian dollar was unchanged at 101,75 cents.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS.

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—(C.P.) — A vigorous scramble for Ford "A" stock on a price rise of 1⅝ to 21 was about the only feature of the industrial section of the Toronto exchange to-day. One block of 2,000 shares went through. The general tone was soft, Oil, Distillery and Food issues losing some ground in slow trading.

Loblaw "A" and Consolidated Bakeries were off ¼ each. Nickel lost ¼ and Brazilian ⅛.

Loss of a point came out in Walkers common and Distillers Seagram and Industrial Alcohol were down fractions. Brewery shares were sluggish with Walkerville selling off slightly. Steel of Canada sagged ¼ to 33¾.

International Petroleum fell back ⅝, causing sympathetitc declines of smaller fractions in the others. The McColl issues moved against the trend, the preferred adding 1⅝.

CHIEF GETS STUCK

TRURO, N.S., Aug. 4. (CP)— Chief of Police John W. Fraser got stuck in the mud off Cobequid Bay to-day because he didn't make allowance for the swift running Fundy tides. For a long time he has had the desire to swim from Spencer Point to Noel and back. He started out but before he was half way across, the tide turned, and Chief had to stand a long beat on the mud flats before he could continue his swim.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 4 (CP) —A negro was lynched last night by members of his own race because, officers said to-day, he had insulted a negro girl.

A group of about ten negroes tied Grafton Page, 30, to a tree limb near Bethany, 22 miles from here, stripped him and then beat him to death with pine knots, officers reported.

NEAR DEATH

BANFF, Alta., Aug. 4. (CP).—Margaret Batten, of Deep Creek, Wash., fell 45 feet into Johnson's Canyon, 20 miles west of here on the Wintermere highway and escaped with two head cuts and slight concussion. The girl was returning Thursday from the falls higher up the canyon, when a stair hand rail gave gave and she was thrown into the chasm.
